Playing Good Ball. The high school team of Weeping Water has been putting up some excellent ball this far this season, and have played eleven games, during the spring season, thus far, and have won every game. The last one was played with the Lincoln high school team and counted as one of the best games in the state but they, like the rest, had to doff their caps to the justly famed Weeping Water. This leaves the Weeping Water high school team standing just one thousand and four hundred and one percent and able to defend the title, and we may look for an excellent record with the finishing of the season.

STATE NO LONGER IS FISH HAWKER. Lincoln, May 27.—The state is going out of the goldfish business for keeps and hereafter the state supply will be available only for parks and cities. State Game Warden Frank O'Connell announced Monday. A desire upon the part of the new game commission to refrain from competing in a business manner with private interests and the fact that the goldfish business has not been profitable, combined to stimulate abandonment of the work, he explained.

From now on, he said, hatcheries will handle only the larger fish which will be available for park use.

Canada Meets Price. That surplus still is the prime factor in the glutted market, every price reduction and freight rate cut here has been met by competing prices in Canada and the Argentine, and prevailing estimates Monday held that 330,000,000 bushels would be carried over at the end of this crop year, throughout the world.

The immediate factor Monday was the weakness of the Liverpool grain market and a contributing cause was rain in the Canadian wheat belt, insuring a favorable start of the spring wheat crop. Already the harvest is under way in the American southwest, beginning new competition with the old crop in storage.

FLIGHT AGAIN DELAYED. Old Orchard, Me.—Cross winds and rain toward mid-Atlantic Monday caused another day's delay in the proposed flight of the Green Flash to Rome. Lewis A. Yancey, navigator of the plane, said that no attempt would be made to take off Tuesday.

It was not believed that the French plane, Yellow Bird, would start, but final decision rested with Armino Lotti, sponsor of the flight to Paris, who flew to New York on Monday to better observe weather reports.

No work was done on either of the large monoplane, the Green Flash, remained in the hangar and the Yellow Bird rested on the sands outside.

Lincoln, May 27.—Whether an appearance bond for a man appealing from conviction in the United States district court must also be a supersedeas bond is the point at issue in the case against Frank St. Clair and H. G. Maggi, which went to trial late Monday before Federal Judge Woodrough. The government is suing on the $2,500 bond signed by Mr. Maggi, Lincoln attorney, when St. Clair unsuccessfully appealed from a conspiracy conviction. Wheat Prices Tumble with the Large Surplus. Monday's Mark 50 Cents Under Last Year; Argentine and Canada Meet Decline. Chicago, May 27.—Dollar wheat, once the hope and of late the dread of the farmer, became his ambition again Monday as a flood of selling swept grain prices to record low levels.

May wheat was submerged to 98 1/2 cents on the Chicago board of trade, a drop of 2 1/2 cents from Saturday's closing price and the lowest price for May delivery since September, 1915, when a sale at 92 cents was recorded. Six years ago cash wheat sold at 94 cents in July.

Wheat Monday was for sale at prices 50 cents a bushel less than a year ago and more than 30 cents under the peak of the season in February. Since then, wheat has been on the toboggan, the slide greased by an immovable surplus of the commodity left over from last year's enormous North American crop.

That surplus still is the prime factor in the glutted market, every price reduction and freight rate cut here has been met by competing prices in Canada and the Argentine, and prevailing estimates Monday held that 330,000,000 bushels would be carried over at the end of this crop year, throughout the world.

Rotary International Starts Annual Meeting

Dallas, Texas, Scene of Gathering of Rotarians—Dr. J. S. Livingston Attends.

Dallas, Texas, May 27.—Bearing a message of international friendship and goodwill from communities all over the world, the representatives of more than 3,000 Rotary clubs which have been organized in 48 countries were gathered in Dallas today. As business and professional men representative of their cities, they have come to exchange their ideas and experiences in the daily conferences from which the coming year's program of service will emerge to be carried back into all corners of the world.

The first of these assemblies, Tuesday afternoon, will present one of the most novel series of international craft conventions ever seen. A hundred groups of delegates, divided according to their daily vocations, will meet tomorrow to discuss the improvement of relations between employer and employee, between buyer and seller, and between competitors and the desirability of international associations of merchants and professional men of various lines. As conveners of these craft assemblies, the Dallas Rotarians will in most cases entertain these informal gatherings in their own places of business.

These assemblies follow the formal opening of the convention Tuesday morning by I. B. Sutton, of Tampico, Mexico, international president, whose presidential message will review the activities of the past year and point to some of the problems confronting the Rotary leaders of the next administration and whose selection will be announced Friday morning, after the convention ballots are counted.

Most of the thousands of visitors had arrived by Monday evening, in time for the first of a series of splendid entertainments. Governor Dan Moody of Texas and Mayor J. Waddy Tate of Dallas extended an official welcome to the Rotarians gathered in the Fair Park Stadium. President Sutton responded briefly and the "Procession of Flags" of each of the 48 countries in which there are Rotary clubs wended its colorful way into the stadium, to the music of the national anthems from a concert band.

The president of the Dallas Rotary club, Norman R. Crozier, who is superintendent of schools, invited five hundred high school girls to form the cast of this pageant of patriotism. Each flag was escorted by nine young ladies, costumed in the typical dress of the country represented by the flag they carried. When all were gathered in the stadium around a great Rotary wheel, they formed a vivid picture of the spirit of international understanding which Rotarians endeavor to foster for the advancement of world peace. At various times in its picturesque history, Governor Moody said, the state of Texas had been under six flags—Spanish, French, Mexican, and the flags of the Texas Republic, of the Southern Confederacy and the United States of America.

Now, he said, the Texans are hosts to thousands whose allegiance is divided among 48 flags, but who share common aspirations for the establishment of world wide friendship and peace.

This pageant brought together for the first time the delegates and visitors to the twenty-third annual convention of Rotary International. This afternoon the voting delegates met to discuss proposed resolutions, while many of the others entertained by the presentation of "Rotary School" by the Rotary Club of Nashville, Tennessee. Among the dozen or more resolutions debated today, which will be voted on Thursday, was one proposed by the Rotary clubs of Great Britain and Ireland to discontinue use of that part of the Rotary motto which declares "He Profits Most Who Serves Best" because they feel it injects a motive of profit in the "Service Above Self" which should be entirely unselfish.

Another resolution proposed would establish the convention custom of the past decade as a regular rule, requiring every third or fourth convention to be held in the United States. Annual conventions have been held in Edinburgh, Scotland; Toronto, Canada, and Ostend, Belgium, in the past ten years. The 1930 convention will be held in Chicago, to celebrate the silver jubilee of the organization, but the 1931 convention would be held outside North America if this resolution is adopted.

The Wichita party landed at Love Field, Dallas airport, today in a fleet of airplanes to advertise the importance of their city as an airplane manufacturing center. The Schnetzky delegation also came by plane.

Special trains kept rolling in all day, and many of them will continue south and west after the convention, on visits to Mexico and the Pacific coast, and to eastern national parks. Sections of the New England, New York and other eastern parties have made plans for extensive tours of Mexico, and these proposed visits have drawn to Dallas an unusual number of Rotarians from Mexico who will accompany their guests across the Rio Grande next Friday night.

The European delegation, which arrived Sunday spent its "touring time" on a trip through the south, and has made arrangements to catch the Berengaria sailing from New York on June 5. Some, however, will remain over for the week of official conferences of the International Assembly, composed of outgo-
