Cass County Club Leader Wins a Prize
 Lucile Christenson of Alvo Is Awarded Prize Offered by the Burlington Railroad

As recognition of excellence in leadership in 4-H Club work in this county, Lucile Christenson of Alvo will receive from the Burlington Railroad a cash award of $15, this prize to assist in defraying the expense of a trip to Lincoln to attend a club leader's conference which is held during 4-H Club Week, June 3 to 8. The Burlington is awarding these leadership prizes in each of the counties in which this railroad operates in Nebraska to encourage club leaders in their efforts to improve agricultural conditions in their respective counties.

County Agent L. R. Snipes advises that conferences for volunteer club leaders are now held at Lincoln each year by the State Extension Department at the time of the boys and girls annual short course at the State College of Agriculture. To qualify for the Burlington prize awards for trips to these conferences, leaders must have received at least one Certificate of Achievement and one Award of Appreciation for leadership activities in club work of the preceding year, this recognition coming to the leader through the State Extension Department which means the winners of the leadership award in the various counties.

Club leaders who devote themselves to this work are most deserving of credit, for effective 4-H Club work depends so largely upon efficient local leadership; and undoubtedly 4-H Club work is one of the most important pieces of agricultural educational work being carried on in this country today. Any recognition of public-spirited citizens who devote themselves unselfishly to the advancement of 4-H Club work is a definite contribution to the welfare of the community.

'Hot Stuff' is Everything the Name Implies
 Story Gives Star Great Chance to Display Her Abilities—Louise Fazenda Adds Laughs.

Alice White, the well known emissary of whoopee, adorns the screen at the Parmele theatre the rest of this week in her latest optical opus, "Hot Stuff."

Miss Whit, who is devoting her cinema life to resting the eyes of the tired business man and spreading the gospel of joy, has an ideal vehicle for her purpose in "Hot Stuff," which, while a story of college life, will appeal to children of all ages, from 7 to 77 and up. It is not necessary to be collegiate, nor to even wear a raccoon coat, to thrill to the escapades of Alice, as the wise little co-ed, and her don't-give-a-whoop pals.

Alice makes it easy for the ignorant, as well as the learned, to react favorably to her antics. In other words, this gal has a whole load of IT and not a little ability to act, along with it. She is one fascinating damsel, and her box-office magnetism must be getting more and more powerful, thus bringing great delight to the hearts of the First National executives, under whose auspices Alice romps before the camera.

"Hot Stuff" was adapted from "Bluffers" a college story by the collegiate author Robert S. Carr. It deals with two very devilish students, a boy and a girl, who pretend to be a lot worse than they are, and when each discovers the other's secret, they naturally fall for one another like a ton of brick.

Mervyn LeRoy, the youthful director who gave us "Harold Teen," "Oh, Kay," and other successful pictures, directed "Hot Stuff," and again demonstrated that you do not have to sport a long beard and crutches to be a clever motion picture director. Mervyn has learned rapidly, in the two years he has been handling the megaphone, and is a boy who will bear watching.

There are others in "Hot Stuff" who can take a bow, along with the star and director.

Louise Fazenda has a comedy role, the old maiden aunt, and nothing more need be said, for when Louise troupes she troupes and how!

William Backwell, the handsome young chap who will be remembered in "Harold Teen," plays opposite Miss White, and does very acceptably.

Doris Dawson, one of the Wampus Baby stars of 1929, also has a part and lends her beauty and charm to the story. There are many others, too numerous to mention, but worthy of it.

"Hot Stuff" is just what the title implies—peppy, jazzy entertainment. If you don't like it, see your doctor, quick!

A PLACE OF BEAUTY

One of the attractive homes of the city, especially at this season of the year is that of Attorney A. L. Tidd on Oak street. Here the eye is delighted with the most charming display of the garden flowers of the late spring and early summer, the beautiful roses, the bright peonies and just passing away is the stately iris. Mr. Tidd has given a great deal of study to the cultivation of flowers and fruit and his interest in this is attested in the beautiful surroundings that make his home one of the most delightful to view of any in the city.

The home is worth the time of any one to look over and shows what the care and cultivation of flowers can do toward making a city beautiful and a hundred persons exercising this care of the lawn and grounds of their homes would go far toward rivaling the far famed floral beauties of the California cities.

Many Sounds New to Talkies in This One

What the ocean says to sea waves, or the frolicsome surf whippers to the bathing beauty it loves will be revealed at last.

Love vibrations will be heard as well as seen. The mating call of the taxi-cab and the moans of the pedestrian, together with other noises innumerable, accompany a rollicking film adaptation of Kenyon Nicholson's play "Two Weeks Off," which will be shown at the Parmele theatre for three days starting Sunday.

The picture was produced by First National Vitaphone, and it contains a greater variety of sounds than any so far offered on the screen. Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall are co-featured, with Eddie Gribbon, Gertrude Astor, Kate Price, James Finlayson and other popular players in the supporting cast.

Hitherto, in most sound pictures, sounds that do not have significance in the action are barred. In "Two Weeks Off" the sounds are registered exactly as they are heard in real life. Speech and the sound of surf, the cacophony of down-town city traffic and the hum of the crowd furnish backgrounds for the action and dialogue of the story.

As for the "love vibrations," the 200 pound comedienne, Kate Price, supplied them. She thought that the roaring sound in the microphone was an electrical vibration caused by a "hot" comedy love scene. Director William Beaudine and his sound experts assured her that it was merely the sound of panting!

Country Club to Have Tennis Courts is Plan

Move to Build Courts Being Urged by the Enthusiasts of the Country Club

The lovers of the popular summer sport of tennis who are members of the Elks country club may soon have the opportunity of fully enjoying this sport if the present plans of the directors of the club are carried out.

The plans now being made are for the construction of two courts so that it will be possible at almost any time of the day for the lovers of this sport to enjoy their favorite pastime and which bids fair to make a close second for golfing as the athletic features of the club.

There has been a number of requests from those who enjoy tennis to have the courts installed and which will bring to the club a number who are not members if they can enjoy this sport on a properly prepared and maintained court.

This feature with one of the finest golf courses in the state and the large and attractive club house will make the country club a very popular place during the coming summer and one that will draw out large numbers of the residents of this city and vicinity to participate in the activities of the club which are to be so varied as to make possible pleasing almost anyone.

Hundreds Visit Canistota, S. D., to See 'Healer'
 Mrs. Arthur Parsons Formerly of This City Tells of Great Experience

Mrs. Logan Covert of this city has just received word from her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Parsons, formerly Miss Opal Lahoda, in which she tells of her experiences at Canistota, South Dakota, to which place she was led by the reports of the work of Dr. N. S. Ortman, a "healer" who has gained much fame in this part of the west.

Mrs. Parsons in her letter states that for several years she was suffering from a disease of the bone of the leg just above the knee joint and which was so severe that she was compelled to use crutches to get around and with but little hope of recovery. From her home at inland, Nebraska, she gained word of the fact that many had claimed to have received successful treatment from the hands of Dr. Ortman at Canistota, and to this place Mrs. Parsons was taken by her family.

On arrival at the South Dakota city it was found that there were hundreds there to seek relief in this form of treatment and many days were necessary before it was possible to reach the side of the "healer" and each day as some of the patients left there were many more arriving and the place was teeming with those who were suffering from all forms of physical ailments.

The former Plattsmouth woman was assisted in the presence of the man whose ability to heal with the touch of his hand had been brought to her and in her letter to her mother she claims that just a few touches of the "healer" brought relief and she was able to leave the presence of the "healer" unassisted and as she came out in the presence of the many who were waiting, they gathered around her to learn of her experience as she came out of the treating room unassisted and without crutches. Mrs. Parsons is very delighted with the result of her treatment and in the letter to the family here expressed her unbounded joy at the fact that she was able to be around again.
