The Crawford Brothers are painting the Bogaz building, which is better known as the Stine building and where Grandmother Stine made her home for many years.

Frank Joseph and Anna Bauer were over near Greenwood on the 4th, where they drove in the car of Joseph and where they were guests for the day and dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Schroeder, but who is better known as "Pete" Schroeder.

R. D. Frans is making some very important changes in the buildings at the lumber yard, rebuilding and removing the offices and store rooms to a solid concrete foundation. This will make some nicely appointed offices for Mr. Frans, when they are completed.

W. B. Banning, in company with a number of gentlemen from Lincoln, will go over the western portion of the state, where they will take surveys of the lands and country and will make extensive soil testing experiments. This will not be done for several weeks yet.

J. L. Lunk, who with the family have been making their home at Buffalo, Nebraska, during the past year, arrived in Union last Sunday and during the week moved to Plattsmouth, where they will make their home for the present. They were visiting while here at the home of Noah Parker and wife.

While Charles Atteberry was in Omaha and leaving his car parked in front of a place where he had some business keeping him inside for a short time, when he returned, the car was gone. He notified the police, giving them a description of the car, and it was rounded up the following day and returned to its owner.

Among those from this vicinity in attendance at the Ak-Sar-Ben den show last Monday night, which was set aside as Cass and Otoe county nights, were John Irvin, Charles Atteberry, James Fitzpatrick, Ralph Pearsley, P. F. Rhin, Charles Greene, C. B. Smith, Ray Bramblet, Ira Clarke, Earl Merritt and a number of others.

A. L. Becker commenced to lay by his large crop of corn last Monday, and while it has all been raised on new ground, it is making an excellent crop and adds to the value of the land, as with every year the lands are coming more under control. What he is farming was recently in timber and to remove the timber and get in a crop is a big task.

W. H. Wade of Weeping Water, was looking after some business matters in Union and in conversation with the Journal man said that this had been the best spring for his business, supplying the farmers with work horses and mules. During a six weeks of business, he handled over 250 horses and mules, starting out with twelve horses, and after having been engaged in business for six weeks he has four horses and eight mules left.

Business Men Enjoy Dinner
The Union Business Men's club enjoyed a dinner on last Monday noon at the library building, which was served by the ladies of the Methodist church and was all that anyone desired for the excellent banquet that it was.

The matter of the Old Settlers' celebration was discussed and after which the members listened to an address delivered by Mr. John Miller, who is Clerk of the District Court of Otoe county and who spoke on the theme of working together and getting along with each other. Mr. Miller's address was very well received.

Well Pleased with Chautauqua
Union was well pleased with the Chautauqua which made this town for four days last week. The weather was very good most of the time and the attendance was all that could be expected. There was a small deficit, but with the many good lectures, playlets and other entertainments, the people were well satisfied. Friday night was set aside as Plattsmouth night, and a good sized delegation of members of the Plattsmouth Chamber of Commerce drove down for the occasion and were royally entertained, although the threatening storm drove a portion of them home before the conclusion of the program. There were many splendid features during the four days of the assemblage and those who backed the proposition think it was well worth the effort they put forth to have the Chautauqua come.

The same company have again signed up for the coming year, with 24 guarantors, which insures special efforts being made to make it a success the coming year. Let us all hustle for it and boost for it. There is no better class of entertainment offered anywhere.

The Old Settlers' Picnic
Mr. E. B. Chapman was at the banquet which was served by the ladies of the Methodist church, and complimented them most highly on the very fine dinner which they served. He also brought up the matter of the annual picnic of the Old Settlers, which is generally held some time in August, and which is not so far off at this time. This is the fortieth anniversary of the organization of the association, and following the explanation that it was about time for the holding of their meeting, the matter of the election of the officers for the year 1929 was brought up and Mr. Chapman was elected president by acclamation, with P. F. Rhin selected as the vice president and C. B. Smith named as secretary.

W. E. Moore moved that the picnic be held in town and this with many other motions and counter motions provoked much discussion, as a portion wanted the picnic in town, while others wanted it in the accustomed place west of town. The matter was finally settled by a committee being selected, composed of D. R. Frans, chairman, P. F. Rhin, C. B. Smith, Joe Banning and R. D. Stine, who were to feel the pulse of the people and report the findings at the next meeting of the Business

Men's club. At that time the committees will be appointed.

W. A. Taylor and attended by a large number of friends and relatives of the parents. The songs that were sang were "Rock of Ages" and "I will be with You By and By." Word from Folks at the Springs
Excelsior Springs, Mo., July 4, 1929.
Editor Journal:
As per my promise to Bro. Briggs, when our Nebraska bunch (D. Lynn and wife, John Lidgett and wife and the Hon. R. E. Hastings) got to the Springs, he would hear from us, we are sending you a few lines.
We found a splendid road to travel in reaching here, this being the route: U. S. No. 75 from Union to Hiawatha, Kansas; across to St. Joe, then over No. 1 south to the town of Nashua, east to Liberty and from there follow the pavement to the Springs.
In regard to crops, will say there is a better general prospect in the vicinity of Union than we saw anywhere on the trip. While we saw at different places better fields of both corn and wheat, with harvesting under good headway in some sections, there were also a great many fields of corn that had not been introduced to the plow yet and there is a large acreage that is still too wet to be in any crops yet. Still, every one you meet seems to be satisfied with the situation and the outlook.
Here at the Springs we meet people from many states—some here in search of health and others bent on pleasure, all of them greeting you with a smile. It is estimated that there is a floating transient population of between three and four thousand people here most of the time.
We are located at the "Kansas" Modern Rooms, 211 1/2 Thompson avenue.
Very respectfully,
D. LYNN.

SOLVING A SOCIAL PROBLEM
The development of rural electric service is solving a great social problem by making comfortable homes available to persons of modest means living in isolated localities, in the opinion of Dean Gus Dyer of Vanderbilt University.
"With the extension of electric power today," Mr. Dyer says, "it is not a theory, but a fact, that in a country home you can have every convenience that you have in the city, and a thousand things that the city can't have. This is largely the result of electric service development."
The disintegration of the home, a problem that has worried sociologists is the result of overcrowding in great cities. And the trend away from rural and agricultural life was the natural desire of the country dweller for urban comforts and luxuries.
Electricity is here effecting a tremendous social change. Families find in the country the natural advantages of unbounded space, healthful living conditions and lower living costs. And to these electricity is adding the other great advantages of light and power and the thousand and one labor, time and money saving inventions that have become a basic part of modern life.
All over the nation rural electric lines are being built. Problems of cost and maintenance are being solved. Farmers are realizing more and more the boon of electricity, in both the social and economic phases of their existence. Electricity is making another great contribution to progress and civilization.

Quake Rocks

Los Angeles

Four Persons Injured at Santa Fe Springs; Buildings Damaged; Two Distinct Shocks.

Los Angeles, Calif., July 8.—A strong earth movement of several seconds duration shook Los Angeles and suburbs within a radius of 30 miles at 8:45 a. m. today, injuring four persons at Santa Fe Springs, oil town, and doing property damage estimated at 50 thousand dollars at East Whittier, a suburb of this city.

Although large buildings in Los Angeles swayed several inches during the tremor, and the tower of the city hall was reported to have moved back and forth some 12 inches, no damage was done here. The quake was reported extremely severe by residents in the southwest section of the city.

Stronger Along Coast.
Coast line communities, including Long Beach, Hermosa Beach and Santa Monica, felt the tremor more than did the island towns of Pasadena and Glendale. At Long Beach considerable excitement was caused as it was the first quake of any consequence that could be recorded.

The center of the tremor appeared to be in Santa Fe Springs. Those injured there were two children, caught under a washing machine overturned by the shock, and two oil workers struck by objects falling from oil field derricks. Two flowing wells were stopped by the quake.

Damage at East Whittier.
A portion of the East Whittier school wall caved in, and the structure was shifted on its foundation. Two residences there were wrecked by falling chimneys. Plate glass windows in some Whittier stores were cracked.

Within an hour after the first shock, a lesser tremor was felt in Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles city hall is of "quake-proof" construction. It was built so that a sway of the tower 18 inches in each cardinal direction is provided for. The 1,800-pound chandelier in the rotunda of the building swung on an arc of 12 inches during the disturbance.

Elevator operators at the top of the building reported the elevators shook and rattled so much that passengers were forced to hold to the side of the cars for support.—World-Herald.

New Paper Currency is Now Being Issued

Smaller Sized Bills Will Be Used to Replace the Historic Large Sied Paper Money.

Washington—Approximately $3,921,000,000 of the new small paper money had been shipped to federal reserve banks thruout the country Tuesday for issuance Wednesday to replace the larger currency.

The amount that goes into circulation depends on the number of work out bills received by the banks. Treasury officials estimated that $50,000,000 or more of that immediately issued will disappear to be held as souvenirs. They do not anticipate any currency stringency, however, because only bills of small denominations, from $1 to $20, will be included in the first issue.

The new bills, much smaller than the currency that has been in use since the Civil war, are 6 5/16 inches long and 2-11/16 inches wide.

The first issue of the new currency will include United States notes, silver certificates, gold certificates and federal reserve notes. National bank notes will not be put into circulation until next week.

Majority to Reserve Banks.
The treasury said that 75 per cent of the amount of similar denominations now in circulation had been sent to federal reserve banks and that in all 696,000,000 pieces of the new currency will be in the hands of banks thruout the country.

The bills which will appear Wednesday will be (giving their denomination, face portrait, back embellishment): $1, Washington, ornate one; $2, Jefferson, Monticello; $5, Lincoln, Lincoln memorial; $10, Hamilton, United States treasury; $20, Jackson, White house; $50, Grant, the capitol.

Serial numbers will indicate the kind of currency as there numbers will be printed in blue for silver certificates, red for United States notes, yellow for gold certificates and green for federal reserve notes.—State Journal.

and the house was reduced to ruin as the result of the fire. The house was the property of Charles Renner.
From Tuesday's Daily—
Last night at 10:15 the fire department was called to the west part of the city where an empty house at Eighteenth and Granite street was reported to be in flames. On the arrival of the department it was found that the house was burning very rapidly and as there was no fire hydrants near the scene of the fire it was impossible to check the blaze.
