STILL CONTINUES POORLY

From Wednesday's Daily— The reports from the Clarkson hospital at Omaha today are to the effect that there seems to be little change in the condition of J. H. McMaken, prominent resident of this city, who has been at the hospital since Sunday, suffering from a very severe attack of gland trouble. While Mr. McMaken has been able to get some rest, he is running a high temperature and which has caused a great deal of apprehension to the members of the family. Mrs. McMaken is at the hospital with her husband as much as possible and assisting in his care. So far his condition has been such that it has been impossible to perform an operation on the patient.

Huge Distillery Uncovered Near Louisville

Federal Officers Led by General Rowan Raid Place—Local Officers Working on Case

From Wednesday's Daily— Another large distillery which has been used in supplying Omaha illicit booze dealers with their supply, was revealed yesterday in the vicinity of Louisville when federal officers headed by General William Rowan, prohibition director for Nebraska and Deputy State Sheriff Hanson, attached to the Omaha area, raided the place.

The distillery was located eight and a half miles southwest of Louisville and was in a wild and uncultivated section of land where the plant was supplied by spring water from a small creek that ran near the old cattle barn where the plant was located.

The locality of the still has been watched by Sheriff Reed and Deputy Sheriff Young and who had traced the parties that had been suspected of being parties that carried the stock to Omaha where it was disposed of two men and one woman were under suspicion in connection with the case, altho at the time the raid was made, no one was found at the place. Local officers had hoped to be able to apprehend the parties operating the still but were disappointed in the fact that no one was present when the raid took place. It is thought that the operators of the stills had lookouts that gave them the tip and allowed the persons to make their escape.

Two stills, one of two hundred gallon and one of three hundred gallon, were discovered concealed in the old abandoned cattle shed on the unused farm.

Besides the stills, the officers found 105 gallons of whiskey, 10,900 gallons of mash, 600 pounds of sugar and two coke furnaces.

Would Mark City for Airmen on Their Flights

Roof of One of the Larger Buildings May Be Selected If Plan Develops as Hoped For

It has been urged for some time that this city have some distinguishing mark that can be seen by air mail pilots and other navigators of the air, passing through this locality and the general plan that has been suggested is that of having the name of the city painted on the roof of one of the buildings in the business section.

This sign will require the outlay of some $10 as the price that has been made to James W. Holmes, who as postmaster, has been much interested in the proposition owing to the wishes of the postal department for markings for towns. The city government does not feel justified in making this and the Chamber of Commerce has prepared a plan that may solve the matter of cost and allow the name of "Plattsmouth" to be emblazoned on the roof of one of the local buildings so that he who flies may see. It has been suggested by the Chamber of Commerce officers that different societies over the city pay the cost of a single letter which would be $10 and in this way the cost could be made very reasonable for all and still give the desired result of giving the city recognition in the way of air markings.

A number of places have been suggested as proper for the placing of the sign, but chief among these has been that of the Masonic temple, the Legion community building and the Bekins building and any of these would make a good spot with the Masonic temple probably the best suited for the purpose.

While the idea of the subscription plan is a new one, the Plattsmouth Women's club has already signified their desire to help in the cause and now if there are ten other organizations similarly minded the sign is a sure go.
