What comes next to amuse the people?

No man can get ahead and stay ahead unless he has a head.

What has become of the old expression, "Hold your horses?"

"Fly-it-yourself" is the latest thing in aviation. A lot of people will fall for it.

Many a good name has been given the tar-and-feather degree by idle gossip.

Never hit a man when he is down. Hit him when he's up a tree—and then run.

The marathon talking that was staged some time back was sure a hum dinger.

Hollywood divorces might indicate that a lot of the petite stars marry their leading men.

"State air is actually injurious," says a doctor. Yet the kid next door goes right on practicing it.

Plattsmouth merchants have certainly given those who need and buy, bargains in goods they need.

The stairways and porches at the Coronado are receiving a nice coat of white paint and look nice and clean.

Galusha M. Cole, of Pasadena, Calif., celebrated his 103rd birthday on August 15th. That's three soft years he's had.

A Brockton, Mass., man went to Italy and married a girl he has seen numerous times, but hasn't been able to see her since.

If the Cannon breaks the Glass that's not news, but if the Glass breaks the Cannon that may be election news in Virginia.

An Iowan wants all the states to have the same dry laws. Yet they say that every American does some traveling in these times.

Limited telephone service between Buenos Aires, Argentina, and London has been opened, the charge being $34.25 for a three-minute call.

Evidence has arrived from Mr. and Mrs. Egenberger that they are having plenty of fish, a couple of dandies having reached Col and Mrs. Bates. Many thanks.

A rather depressing thought is that there is now growing up a generation of which no member knows how it feels to be tapped on top of the bare head with a finger wearing a heavy thimble.

Down the street they went—with a basket of groceries between them. Each dressed in a sport outfit and wearing socks. No—you'd never guess them to be a mother and her young daughter.

Even the grand old law of retribution skips a lick now and then. So far as our research department has been able to ascertain, nothing very tough ever happened to the lady who first thought up watermelon rind pickle.

It's hard to settle down after vacation but sometimes harder to settle up.

Over 22 million motor cars—are running over our roads and streets in America.

August has certainly given us plenty of heat, but intermixed with some cool nights.

Next Monday is Labor day and Tuesday the school bell will call the children up the hill.

When he gets around to writing his memoirs, Sylvester Baldwin ought to pay some pretty compliments to Lady Luck.

The report that Tunney is coming home from Italy to fight civil suits has been denied. He isn't even coming home to fight.

Homeward bound will be many of those on vacations. And they no doubt will be themselves again after getting rested up.

But few women would enjoy going anywhere if it wasn't for the pleasure it affords them to talk about it after they return home.

"Deacon" Moorhead of the Hopkins Journal says he has never heard of Hopkins men wearing their pajamas out in public—they just wear 'em out.

Nice big crop of weeds, so plentiful, they are almost on Main street. Cut the weeds, they sure are needing it, and don't let them go to seed.

An Austrian recently played a violin for 24 hours without stopping. We've known plenty of people who have just fiddled around half their lives.

Toys of warlike nature and cadet corps have been banned in LeLocke, Switzerland, which claims the record of being the least military town in the world.

The population of the United States is expected to reach 120,000,000 in the 1930 census. Why, we thought there were that many kids on our street alone.

A Mays Landing, N. J., hen battled with a horned owl, to save her young, and won. Now the rooster likely thinks he has something else to crow about.

A North Carolina leghorn hen died after living thirteen and a half years. Just think—if she laid an egg a day all her life, that would be 4927 and a half eggs, or about 410 dozens. But—she didn't.

Editor Lee Mayfield, just back from California, says: "The fellow who remarked that those needing a vacation the most are the ones who have just returned from a vacation, sure knew what he was talking about."

"Some of the things said over the wires," declared a telephone girl to a lineman making repairs, "aren't fit to hear." "Aw," pointed out the lineman, "you can't expect to work around electricity and not get shocked now and then."

RUSH FOR CITIZENSHIP PAPERS.

The unexpected increase in demand for naturalization papers, was not so much on account of aliens desirous of obtaining a legal status as it was to take advantage of existing rates before the price is raised. In Boston alone several thousand have made application within a short period. The real surprise is to discover the large number of residents we possess who are not citizens but ought to be. More or less of these have lived in our midst for years with but few knowing of it. These aliens are often found prominent in business and social life, enjoying the protection of our laws without in the least making themselves known. Then it has happened that when trouble knocked at their door, they have invoked the protection of their own country. A suggestion might be, that when an alien has resided in the country for say a period of a dozen years, without interruption, then automatically such should become a citizen, being required to register this fact in a court of record. Rather a singular fact it is, that during the twelve year period, any children born to him, by virtue of our constitution, are American citizens.

Referring to the rush to secure citizenship papers, a Boston dispatch says: "About seven thousand persons obtained their naturalization papers at Young's Hotel, federal bureau, during the monthly rush recently. Some of these became full-fledged citizens, while most of the applicants were taking only their first papers. The haste was caused by the state's announcement that the cost of naturalization would be increased. "The period brought forward many persons who have been residents of this country many years and who have failed to take out their papers more through lack of attention than oversight.

"One person, a resident of the north end, informed Arthur D. Grandison, deputy clerk of the naturalization department, that he had been in this country since 1856. "The first man in line Saturday said he arrived in the United States in 1865, the time of the Civil war. "At present only figures for Boston are available. Figures for the rest of the state will be available soon.

"It appears that there is much uncertainty among those aliens who failed to make applications as to whether they will be sent back to their native countries. Many inquiries are being made to the commissioner of immigration at East Boston.

15-YEAR-OLD FIRE

Back in the days when big white horses pulled the fire trucks it started—and has been burning ever since. Policemen of the wide-girthed, brewery era pushed back their melon helmets and watched it. Firemen poured water on it, but they could not put it out.

Then the street cleaning department came along, and built a series of pipe lines to the fire, with four pumps pouring 1,500 gallons of water into it each minute. The pumps are still pumping, the gallons of water are still flowing. The fire that started 15 years ago on the city dump on Riker's island up above Hell Gate has not gone out yet.

This permanent conflagration has virtually become a matter of civic pride. No other metropolis in the world can boast of such a steadfast fire, a fire that has gone right thru two city departments, and impinges now a third, and a fourth. It has also produced some curious phenomena, among them the following:

Item, over the fire the accumulated dumpage has built up 140 acres of "made" land.

Item, the "made" land has become in part a market garden of quite exceptional fertility.

Item, the vegetation grows so luxuriantly that officials of the department of street cleaning (which runs the pumps) suggests to officials of the department of correction (which runs the truck farm in connection with the city reformatory) that tropical flora be planted there. The ground is always hot, they say, because of the peculiar fire beneath, which is almost of voting age. The ground is so hot, in fact, they say, that even the worst snow fall of the year vanishes in 24 hours.

But the fire is so erratic—bursting forth as it does from totally unexpected places at all hours—that the County Medical society has complained about it. The society yesterday asked Commissioner Alfred A. Taylor of the street cleaning department to do something about it. A fire that is old enough to be in high school is old enough to go out.

Commissioner Taylor called the matter to the attention of Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy for investigation. Patrick Hines, district superintendent of the street cleaning department, called at the Municipal building yesterday. He has charge of the four pumps. "But Fire Marshal Brophy was out. Mr. Hines met some newspaper men instead. "I wish to report a fire," he declared. And did so. —New York Times.

SINCLAIR SEEKS RELEASE

Friends of Harry F. Sinclair, the multi-millionaire oil magnate who is now serving a sentence in the District of Columbia jail for contempt of the Senate and jury shadowing, have appealed to the President in an effort to secure his release.

They claim that confinement in the prison has impaired his health and made him mentally despondent. The warden of the jail states, however, that so far as he can tell Sinclair's health is as good as it was when he entered prison and his color is even better. He says the oil magnate has not lost a day on his job as a prison pharmacist and seems in good spirits.

The claim that Sinclair's health is poor and his mind depressed may be based on fact, but it is hoped that an investigation will be made before action on the petition of his friends is taken.
