

GREENWOOD

P. A. Sanborn, who has been feeling so poorly for some time past, is reported as being much better at this time.

W. E. Palling was called to Lincoln last Wednesday to look after some business matters, making the trip in his auto.

Mrs. Sadio Reese was a visitor at the home of her brother, F. R. Walling, at Chapman, visiting there last week and enjoying a very fine time.

White & Bucknell, the enterprising merchants, have disposed of nine Heatrols, the parlor furnace, thus far and the demand does not seem to be letting up.

Miss Catherine Coleman, post mistress in Greenwood, was a visitor for the week end last week at the homes of W. P. Bailey and E. E. Buck and families, at Ashland.

George Bucknell and family were at Schubert last Sunday, they formerly residing in that portion of the state and knowing many people there, which made their visit the more enjoyable.

Miss Margaret Moon, who last week departed for Omaha, where she entered Brownell Hall, writes that she is liking the school fine and is getting into the work of study in splendid manner.

Uncle Samuel Aaron, who carries the mail from the Burlington station to the postoffice at Greenwood, has been having a tussle with a carbuncle and while he has it still licked at this time, its effects still remain.

Everett Cope, the efficient and genial salesman at the E. L. McDonald store, was on the sick list for a number of days during the past week, he having had a siege of pleurisy, but was reported much better later in the week.

Mrs. E. L. McDonald, who returned to her home some time since, is reported as being in much better condition than formerly and is continuing to show substantial improvement, which will be pleasing news to her many friends.

Mrs. Mildred Houck, a niece of Mrs. P. A. Sanborn, and making her home at Salt Lake City, Utah, was spending last week at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Sanborn, and enjoying a very fine time as well as Mrs. Sanborn, her aunt.

Cedric Fulmer is looking after the work at the Farmers Elevator, while Mr. Landon is away, and is finding that there is lots of work required in looking after the receiving and loading out of the grain which is being handled through that institution.

W. E. Newkirk was spending the week in Murdock last week and was making some alterations in the office building of Dr. L. D. Lee, in order that the family might live there and thus be near the office in order to give better service to the clientele.

O. F. Peters, who has been at the matter of painting his home for some time, was able to complete the work on last Wednesday and has his home looking fine as well as has it insured by the good coats of paint which he has been applying against the ravages of time.

Graders who are to put the roadbed in condition for the graveling along the right-of-way of the Burlington south side, are continuing their work at Charles City, Iowa, and will immediately begin putting the road in the best condition.

Complete Their System

The Burlington road, which has been working on an interlocking system that will care for the yards at Greenwood and Waverly as though they were part of the yards at Ashland and Havelock, completed the system one day last week, which works to perfection and the throwing of the switches at Ashland and Havelock permit of complete control of these two yards without the aid of anyone at either of the places. This will dispense with two men in the office at both these places and effect a saving to the company of the salaries of some four skilled operators and railway men.

Seeing the South

On last Sunday E. A. Landon and wife departed in their car for the south and will visit for some time at the homes of friends in Oklahoma and will also go over into Missouri and Arkansas, where they will investigate some of the scenery of the Ozarks. They are expecting to be absent for about ten days and count on enjoying every minute of the time while they are away.

Installing New Gas Tank

The gas tank at the Matthews & Peterson garage, which has been in service for some time past, recently sprung a leak and was wasting so much gas that it was dug up and replaced by a new one, the work being done by Arthur Stewart.

Making Improvement at Home
Earnest F. Smith has been having some very material improvements made at their home in the way of placing a full basement under the building and a concrete foundation, which is adding materially to the better condition of the house. The work was done by Gust Brackhage.

Entertained the Dorcas Society
Mesdames Phil L. Hall and W. H. McPadden were hostesses at a meeting of the Dorcas society of the Christian church on Thursday of last week. A large number of the members of the church and society were present and much good work was done in the interest of the society and the church and the ladies were pleased with the social hour and the delightful luncheon which was furnished by the genial hostesses.

Home from the South

S. S. Petersen and Bert Appuhn, who have been spending about ten days at and near New Hampton, in Worth county, Missouri, where they spent the time on the farm of Andrew Stevens and partook of the work on the farm as well as seeing the surrounding country, also attending a sheriff's land sale at Albany, where they tell of farms selling at from 25 to $70 per acre, and many of them well improved. This looks to us as ridiculously low. The boys tell of enjoying their trip very nicely.

Grand Champion of Nebraska

Little Naomi Ruth Rikli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rikli, who is one of the very finest of babies and who last year took the distinction of champion baby, covering all of the points which are considered, this year at the state fair was awarded the distinction of being the grand champion baby of Nebraska. Cass county raises good babies as well as good stock and cattle and raises good crops, also.

This little lass is surely a fine baby and the judgment of those who awarded this was the very best.

Chicago Board Opens Trading in Stocks

Floor Crowded and 65,075 Shares Are Turned Over in First Day; Exceeded All Honors.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 16.—For the first time in 81 years of existence, organized trading in stocks was started today by the Chicago board of trade and total sales for the day were 65,075 shares. This, officials of the board of trade said, exceeded their anticipations.

Allied Mills, Inc., of which 34,900 shares were traded, furnished the bulk of the business and ended the day slightly under the top of 19 1/2 for a gain of a point and one-half. Squard D. company "B" dealt in on a when-issued basis, led the list with a gain of three points on a turnover of 12,100 shares. Electric Household Utilities softened under sales of 5,300 shares and finished two and three-quarters points down.

Trading was started with 20 issues of companies, and officials said the list would be augmented as soon as the exchange's ability to digest the list is demonstrated.

Ceremony marked the opening of the new market and soon after the first deal was completed orders began arriving on the board from commission houses throughout the country whose activities heretofore have been restricted to deals in commodities. Ticker and wire service to 526 cities will be extended, officials of the exchange said as soon as it is warranted. International connections through memberships in the board of trade reach Canada, Holland, England, France, Germany and Japan.

The new market will open at 10 o'clock and remain open until 3 o'clock, giving members the advantage of an extra hour of trading over the big board and curb markets in New York and the Chicago stock exchange here, all of which close at 2 o'clock.—World-Herald.

MALADY KILLS WILD DUCKS BY THOUSANDS

Alliance, Sept. 18.—With the opening of the wild duck season and hunters bagging hundreds of the birds on the large lakes south and east of here, it has been found that many of the birds are afflicted with a parasite that is causing the death of many of them.

They have been found dying by the thousands, the death rate being so heavy that Dr. J. Simpson of Alliance, federal veterinarian, and L. J. Cunningham, deputy state game warden, investigated the cause.

Dr. Simpson reports that this heavy loss has been caused by the parasite coccidiosis, the same malady that caused heavy loss of ducks four years ago. The parasite is localized in the intestines of the birds and is not injurious to the meat and therefore not especially dangerous to humans.

There have been cases where the same parasite has infested the human liver and caused trouble, it is claimed.

Corn Borer Moving West at Fast Rate

Nebraska Crop Expert Warns of Rapid Inroads Made in the Midwest West.

Lincoln, Sept. 20.—Although the European corn borer has made vast inroads into the agricultural sections of Michigan and Ohio, farmers there do not seem particularly disturbed, A. E. Anderson, state-federal statistician, declared here Friday.

The Nebraska crop expert served as a member of the September department of Agriculture reporting board at Washington, and then, in company with W. F. Callander, chief of the division of federal estimates, he made a survey of condition in those states.

Moving Westward.

The borer, he states, has been moving westward at an alarming rate and has covered most of Ohio and Michigan, where some fields are a total loss. In the majority of fields, he says, the insect is not present to the extent of causing damage.

Mr. Anderson regards the spread of the borer, however, as one to be seriously considered by the corn belt area.

"Within a few years," he declared, "it will be something to combat in the entire corn growing section."

Fields inspected by the two officials revealed losses as great as 75 per cent, while the average destruction seems to be about 35 per cent. The latter was a crop which disclosed the presence of as many as six borers to a stalk. The heaviest damage, he said, appeared in the early planted areas.

Spread by Floods.

Difficulty in enlisting the aid of farmers, he explained, had hampered the work of curbing the borer's spread.

Farmers dislike the idea of burning of fields, but this, with deep plowing to turn the roots under, is imperative to stop its spread.

Farmers, Mr. Anderson found, do not become alarmed over the situation until they find badly infested fields and the task of routing the borer is then almost futile.

Spread of the dread insect, he says, has been aided more rapidly by flood waters than any other means, infested stalks, washed along the banks of streams, carrying the borer into uninfested regions.

He estimates the crops he saw as "two-thirds good."—Omaha Bee-News.

May Permit Surety Bonds by Bus Lines

Proposed Substitute for Liability Insurance to Come Up at Hearing.

Lincoln, Sept. 18.—Nebraska bus concerns, those operating on a wide scale, may be permitted to substitute surety bonds in lieu of liability insurance for the protection of passengers and public property, it was indicated Wednesday.

As a start in that direction, the Burlington Transportation Co., railroad subsidiary, filed a request with the state railway commission asking for a hearing on their application to make the change.

In the operating of 19 buses over the state, the company suggests that the surety bond be fixed in the amount of $25,000.

While the commissioners will decide that after a hearing, it was indicated that the figure would be raised to $60,000, comparable with the amount of liability insurance now carried by the various concerns.

The legislative enactment compelling the posting of surety as a safeguard in the operation of busses, permits the companies to provide bonds in the place of ordinary insurance if they so desire.

Substitution of bonds, it was explained, may be contemplated by the companies as a more economic means of protection.

While the Burlington company requested the change, all companies operating in the state will be invited to take part in the hearing, Hugh Drake, secretary, declared.—Omaha Bee-News.

VISIT OFFERS PROBLEMS

Washington—One of the most perplexing questions of procedure which has ever arisen in the United States Wednesday confronted officials who are arranging for the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald to Washington, on either Friday or may be forthcoming from London.

Ambassador Howard ordinarily would outrank the premier at all times during his presence in the United States. The ambassador, as the personal representative of the British sovereign, would outrank all fellow citizens when in the country to which he is accredited except the king himself, or the prince of Wales while on official visit. In Europe such situations are frequent in view of the extensive travel which the heads of governments in power make to other countries.

SENATE PASSES BUTLER

Washington, Sept. 19.—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Smedley D. Butler to be temporary major general in the marine corps.

Manley News Items

Elmer Pearson and family were over to Lincoln for the day on last Thursday, where they were looking after some business.

J. C. Rauth and son Herman and wife were attending the county fair on last Wednesday, as well as the remainder of the fair.

Fred Fleischman and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gade, of Ashland, were visiting at the place where George Coon works and found him feeling very fine.

Mesdames Jacob Miller and Emery DeWulf were visiting for the day on last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Grover Lauritzen in Manley, where all enjoyed the visit very much.

Mrs. Henry Osborne was a visitor at Shenandoah on last Wednesday, she driving over in her car for the day and being accompanied by the sister of Mr. Osborne who is visiting here.

Dr. Thomas and Frank Domingo, of Weeping Water, were in Manley on last Wednesday, looking after the matter of interesting the people here in getting the roads graded from the Red Ball highway to Weeping Water.

The ladies of Manley enjoyed a very pleasant time on last Wednesday, when they gave a very delightful baby shower in honor of Mrs. Clarence Earhardt, there being some twenty-eight of the Manley ladies in attendance.

Ruddy Bergman and wife were over to Omaha on last Tuesday, where they were looking after some business matters and also visiting their little nephew, the new son of Harold Koop and found the young man getting along nicely.

Walter Jenkins and family, of Havelock, were visiting in Manley for the week end and were guests for the occasion at the home of Elmer Pearson and Mrs. Alice Jenkins. Lloyd Jenkins, a grandson of Mrs. Alice Jenkins, and family, were also there.

Eli Keckler, while working on the grader, was thrown suddenly against some of the machinery, with the result that he was injured and bruised so badly he could not continue work and the grading of the street in town had to be turned over to Andrew Schliefert.

Last Tuesday at the home of Theodore Harms, there were gathered Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Blair, of Lincoln, Wm. Harms, of Los Angeles, who has also been visiting at Omaha, and where they all enjoyed a very pleasant visit. Mrs. Harms will depart for her home at Los Angeles early this week.

At the meeting when it was decided to build the new school house, there was appointed a committee of five who are to look into the matter of the erection of the building, they being Messrs. William J. Rau, Oris Schliefert, J. C. Rauth, Frank Bergman and Joseph Wolpert. This is sure a good committee and will look after the work entrusted to them in the best manner.

Three Have Birthdays

Miss Edna Flemming was a very clever and successful director of a party which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dell when she with some forty of her friends celebrated the passing of the birthdays of Mrs. Herman Dell, Mrs. Howard Brunkow, and Errett Mann, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dell.

The other birthday was had and had it ready for the occasion, and when all marched in on Mrs. Dell you may know that she was surprised. We are not going to name the exact date of the celebration except to say that it was on the birthdays of the parties mentioned.

We do not know whether it was Tuesday, Friday or Sunday, or some other day, but a fine time was had by all in attendance.

ASK DECREE BE UPHELD

Memphis—The American Wholesale Grocers association voted unanimously at a called convention here Wednesday to resist with "every proper effort along legal and other lines" the petition filed by packing interests before the United States supreme court by which the packers sought to have modified a consent decree of 1920 which required that they confine their activities solely to the meat packing business.

Modification of the decree, the grocers contend, would make possible a "condition of monopoly that would react to the detriment and injury of public welfare," and, in a resolution adopted by a rising vote, the association called upon wholesale grocery men to aid financially and otherwise in the effort to defeat the proposed modification.

BRIDE TO BE IS SILENT

Plainville, Conn.—Miss Florence Trumbull's pre-nuptial social season is in full swing, but she is being secretive about it. She has been a busy girl, for not only has she had to prepare for her marriage to Maj. John Coolidge, son of former president Calvin Coolidge, which is to take place here next Monday afternoon, but she has had to attend numerous social events given in her honor.

Her friends, who a week ago gave her a kitchen shower, last night gave her a grocery shower, and enough "staple groceries to keep two persons supplied for at least two months," according to a guest, were brought. News of this great did not get to the public until Wednesday, as the daughter of Governor Trumbull of Connecticut is, like him, taciturn regarding her affairs.

WOMAN SERVES IN NAVY. ASKS HELP FOR ITALIANS

New York, Sept. 18.—One of the few women who saw service in the American navy during the world war Tuesday came back from Europe intending to redeem the pledges she made to the recruits she brought into the service more than a dozen years ago.

She is Miss Julia W. Wheelock of Newark, N. J., who entered the American Legion to become its first woman department commander, and who returned from Rome to ask the Legion to help obtain federal assistance for Italian-born soldiers of the world war—who recruits for America and now in Italy in various stages of invalidism.

MARINES GO TO NEAR EAST

Norfolk, Va.—The transport Henderson sailed from Hampton roads for China Wednesday with 500 marines to act as replacements and reinforcements for the Fourth regiment on duty in the far east. Hundreds of tons of supplies carried by the Henderson consisted of food, equipment and ammunition.

The marine unit put in at Corinto, Honduras port of entry on the west coast of Nicaragua, to take aboard several hundred marines who have been on duty in that republic, for transfer to west coast stations.

SEIZE GUNS OF LAW VIOLATORS

Lincoln, Sept. 17.—All guns or other hunting equipment being used by a violator of the game laws when arrested may be confiscated by the state, regardless of whether the fine is paid or not, Attorney General C. A. Sorenson ruled Tuesday.

Prior to the creating of the state game commission there were instances when guns were confiscated and returned later upon the payment of the fine, but the law is definite in saying that such equipment "shall be seized and upon conviction "shall be forfeited to the state."

Weaver Sees River Traffic as Farm Boon

Governor Tells Sioux City Club Hoover Will Carry Through Missouri Project.

Sioux City, Sept. 18.—Predicting completion of a navigable channel in the Missouri river between Sioux City and Yankton, S. D., within the next five years, Governor Arthur J. Weaver of Nebraska, addressing members of the Sioux City Traffic Club Wednesday night, commended citizens of Iowa for their determined stand in behalf of inland waterways.

For the part they had taken, the Governor asserted, the Missouri valley states had gained recognition for the potential possibilities of the Missouri river as a future navigation center.

"The fight has been won," he continued, "through the just demands of this great section for the equalization of transportation conditions, placing them on a parity with other sections of the nation."

Governor Hopeful. Development of the Missouri river, Governor Weaver declared, is not one of regional interest only, but a national as well. That the river project would be undertaken and completed by the present administration was the governor's prophesy.

"When the sound public policy of expending $25,000,000 a year in the Mississippi valley is in force," he conjectured, "there is no reason why the Missouri river should not be completed as a navigable channel."

That this task should fall upon the government, the governor declared, is only just and fair in view of its development of every great harbor, improvement of every southern and eastern river, and the contribution of its moral and financial support of the Great Lakes system.

Aid to Farmers. Public opinion and demand, he continued, served as the wedge that brought action in these other states.

"So demanded by a united public opinion of the Missouri valley states, this may be a realization here as one forward step in farm relief for a section which has the longest haul and the highest freight rate of any agricultural country in the world," Governor Weaver added.

Missouri river valley states, said, should be spurred on in their program for relief, knowing that 4 per cent of all food and feed grains in America are raised within their boundaries.

"The people should know," the speaker added, "that the improvement of the Missouri river, long looked upon as an out-law, is not an impossible or a huge task. Army engineers are unanimous as to the feasibility, and congress has awakened to the merits of the upper Missouri project."

River Outlay Grows.

Three years ago, he pointed out, the government was spending but $1,000,000 yearly on this river, while today the appropriation is $9,000,000. "It is now a major project," he asserted.

Referring back to his statement predicting completion of the river project during the present administration, Governor Weaver cited President Hoover's policies in this regard.

"This is heartening to the middle west," he then commented. Completion of the inland waterways system, Governor Weaver concluded, is a gigantic task, but will be realized by a nation of initiative and courage.

Savings to the people of our country through reduced transportation charges will be one of the greatest achievements of the greatest nation of the world." —Omaha Bee-News.

Majority Leader is Worried Over Tariff Bill Split

Senator Watson Calls Republican Caucus to Determine Strength of the "Regulars."

Washington, Sept. 18.—A call for a republican caucus tomorrow to determine the strength of the party "regulars" in the senate in the context on controversial sections of the tariff bill was issued today by Senator Watson of Indiana, the republican leader.

One group of republican independents, headed by Senators Borah (Idaho) and Norris (Nebr.), is not counted upon to give any support to the regulars, either in the debate on the votes, or a new split, involving senators from the northwest, is the cause of the worry.

This latter group includes Jones (Wash.), McNary and Steiwer (Ore.) and Johnson (Cal.), and the republican leaders cannot afford to lose their votes. They are asking for higher duties on lumber, shingles and several other products.

Earlier in the day, by a vote of 10 to 4, the senate finance committee made public the names of approximately 325 corporations, firms and individuals whose tax returns were requested of the treasury by the committee democrats for use in con-

APPLES MUST WEIGH 48 LBS.

Lincoln, Sept. 18.—Forty-eight pounds constitutes the weight of a Nebraska bushel of apples and it can't be less than that amount, Attorney General Sorenson ruled Wednesday.

His decision was in response to a Scottsbluff firm which advised him they were firm to sell apples by the bushel weighing three pounds less than the poundage required by law.

Their baskets, however, were to be plainly marked with the exact contents in pounds, they advised him. Even this provision, Mr. Sorenson held, failed to comply with the statute.

In writing for an opinion, the Scottsbluff firm complained that it was impossible to fill baskets with 48 pounds of apples and secure the lbs. properly.
