FIRE PREVENTION WEEK COMING
 October 6 to 13 has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week. During that time public and private organizations and authorities will make an effort to instruct citizens in the fundamentals of doing away with our terrible fire waste.

In past years the fire rate has always gone down during the week, only to rise again to "normal" immediately after. It is the old case of a lesson going in one ear and out the other.

Fire is perhaps the greatest single menace to progress we must face. Every year it destroys property which, in terms of monetary value, would support whole governments, cover the country with paved highways, provide greater educational facilities or do any number of other great services. And on top of this must be placed the still greater destruction in human life.

During the Fire Prevention Week we will learn of the danger of neglected wiring, carelessly disposed matches or cigarettes, piles of refuse, poor building construction and so on. But unless our citizens carry the lessons learned through the other 51 weeks of the year nothing will be gained.

Make Fire Prevention Week the start of Fire Prevention Year.

GROOM PERRY IN SENATE RACE
 E. B. Perry, Lincoln, attorney and former district judge, who has been prominent in the republican party for years, is the latest potential candidate for senator on the republican ticket, according to word from Lincoln.

Judge Perry, it is said, is ambitious to succeed Senator George W. Norris and is being groomed by his friends to run against Norris in the 1930 primaries.

A special Lincoln newspaper, republicans of Gothenburg, the home of State Treasurer W. M. Stebbins, are ready to start circulation of petitions to place his name on the republican primary ticket next year as a candidate for senator.

Mr. Stebbins has not yet said whether he would run for senator, but he has been sounding out many party leaders to ascertain how they stand on the senatorship.

INTANGIBLE TAX CASE UP OCT. 1
 Lincoln, Sept. 19.—Advancing an appeal by Nebraska from a Douglas county district court decree which held the intangible tax law unconstitutional, the supreme court Thursday docketed the hearing for Oct. 1.

The litigation was originally launched against Sam K. Greenleaf, Douglas county assessor, by Peter Mohrens, representing the Taxpayers league.

Upon final determination of the case, Governor Weaver recently stated, may hang the necessity for calling a special session of the legislature to solve both the taxation and banking problems at the same time.

Wave 'Bloody Shirt' in Bank Probe, Charge
 Lincoln, Sept. 19.—State Senator H. G. Wellensiek of Grand Island, bitter opponent of the proposed guaranty fund repeal in the last legislature and the author of several relief banking measures as chairman of the finance committee, Thursday condemned the guaranty fund investigation "for stirring up things that had better be forgotten."

The Hall county solon expressed himself along these lines in no uncertain terms while briefly visiting the state house Thursday.

Nebraska localities visited by bank failures, he contends, have been particularly "stirred up" by the results of the investigation.

"Public confidence has been shaken in those places and the investigation serves to dig up a lot of old financial skeletons that should remain in their graves," the senator asserted.

Calls It Mistake.
 Though he believes former Governor Shallenberger is conducting the probe along business lines, Wellensiek thinks the net results will be largely "a blank."

"When it's all over, we'll have just this before us," he said, enumerating as follows:

"We will not know any more as to what caused the banks to fail than we did before.

"No money will be recovered for the depositors, or at most the recovery will be in negligible amounts.

"No bankers will be sent to the penitentiary, and if any of them do it won't be long until the pardon board lets them out again."

Assaults Borrowers.
 To this Senator Wellensiek added that while he was willing to admit everything charged by Director Shallenberger of the banking investigation relative to the illegal and dishonest acts of some bankers, he would also like to hear something on the borrowers who obtained money thru collusions with the bankers and are attempting to evade repayment.

"The man who was in cahoots with a banker to defraud an institution by excessive and illegal borrowing is as culpable as the banker himself," the Grand Island solon asserted, "but he doesn't seem to get much attention."

RANGERS TRIAL AMBUSH GANG
 Gogger, Tex., Sept. 19.—Charges of the young widow of District Attorney John A. Holmes, murdered from an ambush last Friday, that local officers had not assisted him in his fight against crime "because they were afraid," were followed Thursday by Sheriff Joe Ownbey's announcement that he had "located" a suspect but would not arrest him until more evidence had been obtained.

Rangers said they had affidavits concerning a plot between city and county officers, that they knew the motive for Holmes' slaying and intimated they expected to make an arrest soon.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Crane and Cal Baird depicted the rangers' announcement concerning the conspiracy affidavits.

Wheat and Corn Waging Contest for Supremacy
 Corn Belt Moving Westward as Farmers Abandon One-Crop Policy

Ames, Ia.—The corn belt of the United States is migrating westward. States where golden fields of wheat were supreme have yielded ground to "General Corn," advancing columns of tasseled stalks. Adjustments by farmers to soil and climate and to changing grain prices, and abandonment of the one-crop idea are responsible for this movement, authorities explain.

Five years ago wheat was entrenched in South Dakota, with corn running second. But corn has climbed into first place. The Federal Department of Agriculture estimates four acres of corn were planted to every three of wheat last year, Minnesota's wheat acreage was practically double that of corn. Here again an economic struggle was waged between the two grains. Wheat ceased to be profitable under the one-crop system. Last year's reports showed more than twice as many acres in corn as in wheat in Minnesota.

Both wheat and corn have gained strength in Nebraska, where it has been a race of expansion, with corn showing the larger gain.

Corn has been gaining a foothold in other western states. Colorado has been increasing both corn and wheat acreage since the beginning of the World War. Montana is boasting of a rapidly expanding acreage in corn. Iowa's acreages in corn has risen until it has considerably larger acreage than any other state in the Union. Fifteen years ago, Illinois had the throne, but the Corn Belt leadership shifted westward to Iowa, which today claims the largest percentage of tillable land of any state.

Kansas, far-famed for its wheat "kings" and "queens," stands out as a notable exception to the western shift of the corn belt. While wheat has been having severe competition elsewhere, it has been gaining ground in Kansas.

How far the corn belt will extend westward and northward in the future is an open question. Short seasons will prevent it from going much farther north, unless experiments in process to develop early maturing strains are successful, economists point out.

Moisture, one of the prime necessities, is tending to check the westward march. Practically no corn is grown where less than eight inches of rainfall is received during the summer months, experts explain. Changes in relative prices are other factors which may definitely influence the position of corn and wheat in their contest for supremacy.

P. E. O. HEAD SELECTED
 Chicago.—Mrs. Edith M. Wallace of Seattle, Wash., was elected supreme president Thursday of the P. E. O. sisterhood, an international organization of college women mainly interested in helping girls get a higher education. She succeeds Mrs. Ola B. Miller of Iowa City, Ia.

Having altered their constitution so as to accept the gift of Cotsey college at Nevada, Mo., donated by Mrs. Virginia Cotsey Stockard, the founder, the major portion of Thursday's session of the twenty-ninth biennial convention was given over to organizing forces to assume jurisdiction of the college. The college was presented to the organization two years ago, but it remained for this biennial to formally accept the donation.

A resolution has been presented to the convention that would make the personnel of the college board of directors be composed of the seven international officers of P. E. O., supplemented by an advisory committee made up of one P. E. O. member at large, one faculty member from the University of Missouri and one citizen of Nevada, Mo.

IOWA JUDGE IS NOT CANDIDATE
 Des Moines, Sept. 19.—Decision of William S. Kenyon, judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, former senator, and a member of the national law observance and enforcement commission, not to enter the republican primary race in Iowa for the nomination as United States senator, Thursday came as no great surprise to those who have kept close watch of the senatorial situation in Iowa.

The decision was phrased in a letter received into Thursday from Judge Kenyon by former Governor N. E. Kendall who informed the Associated Press.

Judge Kenyon had originally planned to make his decision on his arrival in Fort Dodge, Ia., his home, late this month, but changed his mind due to a "deluge" of inquiry from the press and others.

The decision leaves but two active candidates in the race for the republican nomination for senator—Governor Hiram Blaine and Representative L. J. Dickinson of Algona.
