Showing Improvement.

C. W. Clarke, at the hospital at Omaha, is making some substantial progress, notwithstanding the fact that he has been there for some time and had a hard proposition before him. During the time following the operation when he was not allowed to eat, he became by reason of the operation and the doctors being so careful with his diet, very much weakened and it has only been of late that he has showed any gain. He is still very sick, and in a very critical condition, and great care has to be exercised in his case but it is hoped that he may soon be stronger and better able to combat the disease. His many friends are hoping the time will not be long until he will be able to return home again well and strong.

N. U. Chapter Quits National Fraternity

Acacia Makes Announcement Without Giving Reasons for Its Withdrawal

The chapter of Acacia fraternity at the University of Nebraska announced today that it is withdrawing from the national organization.

Officers of the chapter were requested to discuss reasons for the change. Announcement was made by letters mailed to all other fraternities at the university.

The national society is a Masonic organization. Its chapter at Lincoln is one of the oldest fraternities at N. U.

Philip Harper, David City local president, said that the arrangement had not been completed, but said that in a few days announcement of reorganization plans would be made.

Harold Holtz, alumni member of Acacia at Lincoln, laid the withdrawal to a desire for independence and a belief that more can be accomplished by the local chapter alone.

"I predict decentralization on the part of other groups than our own before long," declared Holtz. "Organization as it exists today is too top-heavy to be efficient either for the local group or for the national body."

Questioned as to whether rumors current about the campus that Acacia was withdrawing in order to petition another national organization for membership had any foundation, Holtz answered that all affairs of the fraternity had been placed in the hands of a governing committee and that no official action of any sort had been taken.

The organization will maintain its house at 1505 H street, Lincoln, but whether or not it will continue under its old name has not been decided yet, it was said.

The Cass county members of this fraternity embrace Attorney W. A. Robertson and County Attorney W. G. Kieck of this city and Carl Ganz of Alvo.

Among the distinguished members of the Lincoln chapter of Acacia are Judge H. H. Wilson, Dean Roscoe Pond of the Harvard Law school and member of the national crime commission, Ex-Governor George L. Sheldon, formerly of Nebraska and now of Wayside, Mississippi; Judge W. G. Hastings of Omaha; J. R. Cain, Jr., Omaha; Samuel Whiting of Lincoln and Edwin D. Crites of Chadron, the last three being past grand masters of the A. F. & A. M. of Nebraska. Judge Earl Meyer of Alliance; Dr. George E. Condra of the U. of N.; State Superintendent Charles W. Taylor, Dr. E. H. Barbour of the U. of N.; George R. Chatburn, dean of men at the University; John Westover of Lincoln, and Ed Weil of Lincoln, former captains of Nebraska Cornhuskers; James B. Harney of New York, former vice-presdent of the Nebraska Gas & Electric Co.; Ivan Baker, representative of the Westinghouse interests in Japan. The late William Jennings Bryan was also an Acacia.

CRIME CROSS-ROADS

We are at a cross-roads in our policy toward crime and the criminal. For a number of years there has been a definite trend away from basic American ideas, namely, unhampered freedom for citizens who live within the limits of their constitutional rights and fundamental laws. A new era has sought to correct every evil by passing more laws which apply to the law-abiding as well as the law-breaker.

In the face of the known fact that crime is a psychological condition that must be treated as a disease, we pass laws against inanimate instruments of crime, such as revolvers and pistols, thinking thereby to correct the criminal.

We might just as well pass laws against skating, duck hunting, fishing, etc., on the theory that some persons would thereby be prevented from contracting colds which might lead to tuberculosis.

The person who has committed a crime and the person who has contracted a disease must be treated individually. We should not endeavor to make 10,000 normal persons live up to regulations for one sick or one criminal.
