PEACE IN UNIONS SOUGHT
Tampa, Fla.—There will be no more jurisdictional strife among building trades unions if an agreement drawn up Tuesday by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor's building trades department is adopted, W. J. McSorley, head of the division said.

A national board or a series of regional boards would be set up under the agreement, to settle any disagreement over which set of craftsmen shall do new types of construction work, Mr. McSorley explained. If regional boards are selected, then a national board or court of appeals would be appointed to which any union might appeal if displeased with a decision.

Another feature of the agreement is that there shall be no cessation of work while the dispute is being adjusted. Architects and engineers will not be represented on the new board.

When entertaining, use Dennison decorative material, favors, etc. The Bates Book and Gift Shop carries the entire Dennison line.

Announcement:---
I wish to announce the leasing of the Murray Farmers Elevator, of which I have been the manager for the past year, and will conduct the same, paying the highest prices for grain and extending the greatest courtesy to all customers consistent with conservative practice. We shall also handle the reliable grades of coal, which will be sold at as low a price as safety in business will allow.

Bring in your grain—we will give you the best treatment and the best prices at all times.

FORMER KAISER PRAISED
Berlin—Loud cheers greeted the wish that the Kaiser might ride once more into the capital thru Brandenburg gate expressed Tuesday at a celebration by the die hard monarchists who call themselves the "upright." The celebration by the monarchists combined observance of the former Kaiser's birthday which is Jan. 27 and the foundation day of the German empire which is Jan. 18.

The great hall of the Berlin singing academy was filled with admirers of the old regime and the arrival of the former Kaiser's son, Prince Oscar, and the latter's eldest son was greeted with acclamation. The various monarchist speakers referred respectfully to the "good old times" and extolled the "blessings" under Wilhelm's rule as compared with present day worries and vexations.

Little 'Panama' to Carry Water to Idaho Farms
70-Mile Canal to Solve Irrigation Problem in Western State of Idaho

Hotse, Ida.—A miniature Panama Canal, 70 miles long, which is traversing solid lava beds, is being dug in southern Idaho to carry water from the Snake River to thirsty farms that must have it if they are to produce satisfactory crops.

This construction project, a Government undertaking sponsored by and named for the late F. R. Gooding, Senator from Idaho. The new canal is to be completed in time to carry its water for the crop season of 1931. Its cost is estimated at about $2,000,000.

The canal is a joint undertaking between the United States Bureau of Reclamation and American Falls Reservoir District No. 2. It is one of the largest earth and rock moving jobs ever in the West and some of the largest excavations ever seen in Idaho is assembled along the canal route. When completed the canal will carry water from the American Falls reservoir. The Gooding project of $9,000,000 has suffered repeatedly from neglect. Sufficient water, however, will come through the new canal to reclaim 20,000 acres of additional land from the sagebrush, but the new area will not be brought under cultivation until there is sufficient demand for it.

All but 15 miles of the canal is now under contract. Long stretches of the canal are through solid rock, which is one of the chief reasons for its high cost. A number of heavy cuttings also are required. The four construction companies working on different parts are taking time in draining excavations. Thousands of pounds of dynamite are used to loosen the rock and the huge shovels holding from one cubic yard to seven cubic yards ladle out the blasted pieces. The job does not end with digging the huge ditch, what is left is to be excavated to the bottom, for southern Idaho has learned that its agricultural success depends upon water conservation. Thus an important task is to prevent seepage along the canals. To achieve this, a mixture of sand and cement is forced into the cracks of the rocks under high pressure to prevent leakage.

One-half of Idaho's population is supported directly or indirectly by irrigation. The irrigation systems of Idaho have added $250,000,000 to the taxable wealth of the State in the form of new farms built up by newcomers.

MARBLE WORKER DIES AT POST
Lincoln, Jan. 21.—George Rennie, marble setter's helper, fell dead while working in the corridor of the state capital Tuesday. He had not been previously ill, but had been cheerful and a song died on his lips as he fell. His fellow workmen carried the body into the lavatory and called in an ambulance.

Rennie had been employed for about six years by Sunderland Bros. of Omaha and had made Omaha his home during that time. At the time of his death he was employed as helper in the work of setting marble wainscoting on the second floor corridors of the capital. He was about 46 years of age and was said to have been a world war veteran. Fellow workmen said they believed he was born in Scotland. He had mentioned his mother living in Scotland and a brother in Iowa.

INDIANS HUNTING FOR LOST FLYER
Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 21.—In the faint hope that Marie Graham, missing Western Air Express mail pilot, may have found refuge with Plute Indians on their reservation in Beaver county, Utah, Sheriff Niles Jensen of Beaver was asked Tuesday night to send a posse to the reservation far up in the hills.

These Indians, according to reports from Utah, are inclined to be unfriendly toward the whites, and while they would probably not harm Graham, if he found his way to them, they might refuse to help him get back to civilization.

Vet Hospital Increase is Legion Urge

Cite Conditions of Nebraska Veterans in Resolution to Be Presented at Washington.

Lincoln, Jan. 21.—A petition to the United States veterans bureau for enlarged facilities at the new Lincoln hospital, will be presented at Washington by American Legion veterans in the form of definite figures on the mental and physical condition of former soldiers now in Nebraska.

Though the request will not stipulate any definite amount, the Lincoln delegation believes an added $1,500,000 should be appropriated for the hospital.

Figures prepared by an American Legion committee Monday and incorporated in a resolution to be submitted at Washington, disclosed that 26 veterans, now neuropsychiatric patients, are confined in jails of the state because of inadequate government facilities for them.

Seventy-one other ex-service men, suffering from mental afflictions, are confined in "overcrowded" state hospitals for the same reason, the resolution says.

Fourteen veterans, now mentally stricken, are cared for in private sanitariums at great expense to the respective families.

49 Are at Large.
Forty-nine men, the Legion reveals, are mentally deficient but are still at large with attendant danger to themselves and others.

To these men, they say, "Early hospitalization would probably restore normal mentality and to whom continued neglect will bring incurable insanity."

Many other Nebraska men, the government bureau will be advised, are now confined in hospitals far from their homes when they should be given treatment within the state.

In its plea to the bureau, the Legion added this:
"As the need for additional hospitalization facilities is imperative in the state to remove our afflicted comrades from common jails, state asylums, private sanitariums and so safeguard the public from the menace of having the mentally afflicted in their midst, to rehabilitate our comrades and return them to natural and useful lives and bring back those of our comrades who are now forced to live afar from their families, this appeal is made."

CAR PRODUCTION IS LARGE
Washington—Automobile production in the United States attained a new high record of 5,385,367 last year as compared with 4,358,759 in 1928, but production for December fell to the lowest point since February, 1922. Reports issued Monday by the department of commerce showed a factory output of 119,950 motor vehicles in December, only 2,000 above the previous low in February, 1922, when production totaled 117,871 and more than 100,000 below the December, 1928, total of 234,116. The December production consisted of 91,234 passenger cars, 27,233 trucks and 1,483 taxicabs.

Production of cars last year was at its high peak during the first six months of the year and reached its highest point in April, with an output of 621,916 cars. In August production dropped below 50,000 again and continued to decline steadily thru the closing months of the year.

Booth Family Must Turn Over the Property

Order of Court That It Be Conveyed to the Salvation Army—Is End of Litigation.

London, Jan. 21.—Executors of the late General Bramwell Booth, former Salvation Army head, were ordered today by the chancery court to turn over to General Higgins, who now heads the Salvation Army, Army property valued at five million dollars.

The property which had been sequestered by the Booth family pending outcome of the litigation which General Higgins started because of General Booth's disposition of Salvation Army assets as a family trust, consists mainly of real estate, buildings, halls and shelters.

American Salvation Army property which is administered by a vested board of five trustees is not affected.

The court's decision brings an end to long discussion in the Salvation Army ranks which began before General Booth's death over the question of his successor, a controversy which resulted in calling an international conference of Army leaders which finally sequestered General Booth and elected General Higgins.

Commissioner George Mitchell, international secretary of the Salvation Army's work in Europe and in the British dominions, died here today. He began his career with the Army as a messenger boy more than 40 years ago.—World-Herald.

Bible School Lesson Study!
Sunday, January 26th C-18 By M. S. BRIGGS

Make a Better World.
Last Sunday morning as we were going for the mail and to return via Bible school, we met a professional man, a physician, who was on a mission of mercy, and stopping, he pulled off his glove, and it was near zero, at that extending his hand in a warm clasp, he greeted the writer with a cheery Good Morning, saying "how are you?" We responded "fine." He then said "This is a good world, with lots of goodness there in," saying "I am not telling you, but merely calling it to mind."
It will be better and will not have that business which is so often pushed into our face, if all men "Would follow the teaching of Jesus Christ the very Son of God."
I do not know that this Christian is a member of the church, but with his steps pointing to a service of mercy, and his thoughts in the line which he expressed, he was a Christian just the same.
