Mayor Dahlman of Omaha, Dies from Heartstroke

Mayor of Nebraska Metropolis For 21 Years—Had But One Defect for City Head.

James C. Dahlman, mayor of Omaha with but two years interlude since 1906, was called by death Tuesday night at 11:45 at the Elms hotel at Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he has been for the past ten days taking treatment at the springs.

The distinguished Nebraskan was stricken Monday and gradually sank until he peacefully passed away last night.

Mayor Dahlman has been active in the political life of Nebraska for more than forty years, having been elected sheriff of Dawes county in the eighties and on coming to Omaha was immediately in the ranks of the democratic leaders of the state serving as national committee man for many years.

With the campaign of 1906 in Omaha when he defeated E. A. Benson for mayor and gave the democrats their first executive since early in the nineties, Mr. Dahlman has been the political leader of his party in the state metropolis. His only defeat for mayor was in 1918 when E. A. Smith was elected to the office. Mayor Dahlman ascribing his defeat to the fact that so many of his younger supporters were in service.

For more than 30 years prior to death he had been unconscious following a stroke of apoplexy suffered early Monday morning.

lowing a stroke of apoplexy suffered early Monday morning.

Mrs. Dahlman, who was at the bedside when the end came, is bearing up well, it was reported by Dr. E. C. Robichaux, the physician who had been attending the mayor. A daughter, Miss Dorothy Dahlman, was notified at Omaha.

For more than 30 years Mr. Dahlman had been a fighting figure in Omaha and Nebraska politics, and it was while he was girding himself for still another battle that death came.

Just 10 days ago he filed for re-nomination, and the following day he left with Mrs. Dahlman for Excelsior Springs, where he had been wont to recuperate from strenuous days in other campaigns and where now he had hoped to rest and prepare himself for the new fight.

Had Contracted Cold.

The mayor contracted a severe cold while attending ceremonies in connection with the laying of the cornerstone for the new county hospital in October. He never fully recovered from that. Recently, too, the press of official duties had been heavy. So when he decided to take a brief rest before entering again the lists where for so many years he had met and conquered the stoutest foes, none who knew him suspected that he would return not bearing his shield, but on it. Nor did he suspect it.

But this mayor was 73. His heart was weary. In the night the stroke came, and 46 hours later he slept his last.

Mayor Dahlman himself at first made light of his final illness. The stroke appeared light, and he was not made unconscious. He insisted that his friends in Omaha be not told of his illness, as he felt sure he would recover rapidly. He wished they should not be alarmed about him.

Riding in a plane is just as safe as riding in an automobile, as every air-minded person knows, but when a couple of fliers are reported missing they never look for them in the skies.

Al Jolson is Tremendous Hit in 'Singing Fool'

To Be Shown at Parmele Theatre for Four Days Starting Wednesday Night.

"The Singing Fool," Al Jolson's newest film production, is a triumph of up-to-the-minute motion picture art.

In the first place the Leslie S. Barrows story is written out of a deep familiarity with the life of the stage and of New York night clubs—and what is greater, an understanding of those qualities which make all humanity akin. Then, too, Byron Haskin has produced a marvel of photography, the glamor of the scenes of revelry being created with certainty and real magic.

As for Jolson, he is revealed as an actor of unquestionable sincerity and amazing power of emotional expression. In many of his scenes his sorrows are tragic in their intensity, and exercise an unusual effect on the feelings of the audience. This is the more remarkable when one considers that Jolson has always been looked upon as a comedian, though to the more discerning there has invariably been the touch of pathos which made it evident that he would be able at some time to interpret the tragedies of life as well as the lighter moods.

This Warner Brothers Vitaphone production will be at the Parmele theatre for our days, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

TO THE PUBLIC

Reasons why you should use butter instead of substitutes.

Butter prices are now the lowest in ten years and with a surplus of 40,000,000 pounds in storage this is certainly an opportunity for every user of Oleomargarine to treat himself and family to a pound of real butter, a food so rich in vitamins that are essential in promoting growth in children and preserving health in grown-ups.

Nebraska ranks fourth in butter production, yet 15,000,000 pounds less of butter was consumed in 1929 than in 1928.

We should become alarmed at a situation that is directly hurting a $50,000,000 dollar yearly industry in Nebraska.

Consumption of Oleomargarine climbed from 250,000,000 pounds in 1927 to 350,000,000 pounds in 1929 in the United States.

If these substitutes for butter were as good a food product as butter no fault could be found with this great consumption of substitutes, but by using them we lay ourselves and our families open to so-called NUTRITION DEFICIENCY and at the same time injure our own dairy industry by consuming products made from imported fats and packing house by-products instead of the products of our own Nebraska farms.

Today our dairymen are getting less for butter fat than they have been receiving for the past twenty years.

Today the farmer and dairymen is getting only 26 cents per pound for butter fat, a year ago it was bringing exactly double this price or 52 cents per pound and this in spite of a 2,000,000 pound decrease of production in 1929 under 1928.

In responding to this appeal to use butter instead of these inferior substitutes you are truly increasing the nutritional value of your diet, attaining better health, adding to the purchasing power of the dairy farmer and greatly aiding our own community industry, the Farmers Co-operative Creamery of Plattsmouth.

Please think this matter over carefully and then decide to patronize a Home Industry and help the farmers who are "HELPING PLATTSMOUTH SUCCEED."

SELECT ARCH DEACON

Rev. L. W. Gramley, rector of Trinity Episcopal church in Norfolk, Neb., will be the first arch-deacon of the Episcopal church in Nebraska, Bishop E. V. Shaylor announced Monday at a meeting of the Church Service league held at Trinity cathedral.

Official appointment of Mr. Gramley will be made Wednesday at the annual meeting of the cathedral of the diocesan council, Bishop Shaylor said.

In his new work, Mr. Gramley will act in the capacity of assistant to Bishop Shaylor and will conduct all rural mission activities. The office has been created in other dioceses of the church, but its need was not felt here until recently, the bishop said.

Mr. Gramley has been rector of the Norfolk church for seven years. He will move his headquarters to Omaha as soon as his successor is chosen.

New Cold Record for Winter with 25 Below Zero

Coldest Day in Seven Years Recorded at Burlington—Jan. 5, 1924
With 27 Degrees Record

From Wednesday's Daily—
A new cold record for the winter and one that has not been touched since January 5, 1924, was recorded at the Burlington station this morning when the mercury showed twenty-five degrees below zero, which is as cold a record as has been noted in the past seven years.

On January 5, 1924 the temperature showed twenty-seven degrees below zero and the reading today is the lowest since that time and one that made the residents who were out step along very lively as well as causing a great deal of woe to the auto and truck drivers of the community.

Despite the intense cold that has prevailed for the past week the transportation service to and from the city has practically been maintained on time and the through trains on the Burlington and Missouri Pacific have shown but little loss of time from the intense cold weather that has gripped this section of the west.

TO SPONSOR PLAY

Yesterday the Social Workers of the Methodist church met to discuss the plans for the production of the big amateur play "Corporal Eazen." Committees were chosen and they are all now at work on the various phases of the production. The show is to be staged Thursday and Friday, January 30 and 31, and the Social Workers are making every effort to make it one of the biggest productions ever put on in the city. At the meeting yesterday, Miss Lucile Smith, representative of the Universal Producing company, who is here to stage the production, outlined in detail the plans for handling the work. The Social Workers are very enthusiastic about the whole production and are promising the public a real treat.

"Corporal Eazen" has been staged by local organizations throughout the United States with most unusual success and the Social Workers feel quite fortunate in being able to obtain such an entertainment for the local community.

Following is the list of people who are serving on the various committees: Mrs. Rae McMaken, general chairman; Mrs. J. E. Wiles, Mrs. A. H. Duxbury, Mrs. H. E. Sortor, Mrs. R. E. Bailey, Mrs. Roy Perkins, Roy Perkins.

FLOWER CLUB MEETS

The Social Workers' Flower club met at the home of Mrs. Joe Martin in Plattsmouth on Wednesday, January 15th, with Mrs. Klema as associate hostess. At the business meeting the club voted to take up some study work, and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in piecing quilt blocks.

Plans were made for an all day meeting with Mrs. Vera Gilmour on Wednesday, January 29, with a covered dish luncheon at noon. All members come compared to work on the quilt.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, which all enjoyed.

SEEKING SLIDING PLACES

The entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce of which J. W. Holmes is the chairman, is seeking a fine place in the main section of the city where the youngsters may enjoy the opportunity for coasting without danger to themselves and where they may take advantage of the winter snow to coast and slide.

The two locations that are viewed by the committee are North Fourth street from the Herold apartments south to Pearl street, as well as South Ninth street from Main to Marble. The streets in question are well suited to the use of coasting parties but will require guards, especially on the North Fourth street location where the coasters will be required to cross Main street. This feature the young people must arrange themselves as the city cannot afford the guarding forces necessary and to this end Mr. Holmes is taking the matter up with the Boy Scout troops of the city to see if some arrangements cannot be made to care for the guarding of the streets while the coasting is in progress.

As soon as the committee can make the definite arrangements as to the coasting locations announcement will be made through the Journal as to the places and the facilities for handling the coasting parties.

DEATH OF LA PLATTE MAN

One of the old time residents of La Platte and well known in this city, John O'Leary, died yesterday at his home at 914 North 42nd street Omaha, passing away at the age of seventy years.

Mr. O'Leary had made his home at La Platte for many years and was active in the affairs of the village, serving as the postmaster there for some twenty-one years and was perhaps the best known resident of that community. Ten years ago the family moved to Omaha where they have since resided, after a residence of some fifty years in La Platte and during which time he conducted a general merchandise store and served his community in a commercial way.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Della O'Leary, three daughters, Mrs. Margaret and Mrs. H. P. Pierce, and four granddaughters, all of Omaha.

The funeral of Mr. O'Leary was held this morning from the St. Cecilia's cathedral at Omaha and the interment made in the St. Mary's cemetery.

MORE SUB ZERO WEATHER

From Tuesday's Daily—
After a moderating period on Sunday and Monday, the mercury took a nosedive last night and this morning the early risers found the temperature at twelve degrees below zero and at 8 o'clock at the Burlington station the mercury registered eleven below the zero mark to take rank as one of the coldest days of the past week.

The second cold snap forming in the Rocky mountains near Saturday has been sweeping eastward to reach here during the night and continuing crisp and cold for the day with clearing weather.

PLATTERS AT ASHLAND

The Plattsmouth high school basketball team will go to Ashland on Saturday evening for the annual clash with the high school team of that place. The date of the game being set for Saturday, there is a very large number of the fans planning to attend the event and to cheer on the black and white warriors who will strive to add Ashland to their list of victims and revenge the game of last year when Ashland defeated the locals by a 7 to 6 score, one of the smallest scores that has been played on the local floor.

THE TAX TOLL

Some economist with a genius for statistics should figure out the average number of days each citizen works to pay his taxes.

In 1927, about 6.12 per cent of the gainfully occupied population of this nation worked for some branch of government. Assuming that this percentage is still about private business, it would seem that about one-sixteenth of the time of our citizens is required to keep the government payroll going. This would be 23 days per annum.

In addition to the payroll, the government spends vast sums on building, warships, schools, roads, the army and navy, hospitals, courts of the law and for supplies of all natures. It pays out millions annually in pensions and for interest on bonds.

In all probability, the payroll is less than half of government expense. Perhaps Mr. Average Citizen, whether he knows it or not, contributes the earnings of well over a month of his working time each year to keep his government going.

If you don't believe our race is getting harder all the time, just reflect that it was only a few years ago that the girls were wearing flannels.
