

GREENWOOD

Bert A. McElwain, the jeweler, has been feeling quite poorly of late, but still hustles and gets about looking after the business just the same.

Paul Renwax, who has been working for the Rock Island railroad in Kansas, was spending a few days with the Greenwood folks last week.

Wayne Landon and wife, with their little son, Dean, were guests for the day and dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Landon.

Wm. Knaupe was in Greenwood from his home near Murdock and was looking after the purchase of some baby chicks from the Leesley hatchery.

Fred Anderson is having the barber shop treated to a new coat of paint. The shop belongs to Oscar Reese, of Ashland, who sent a man named Dean Honey, to put the building in good condition and he is doing just that.

Mrs. Ella Marshall, of Ashland, was a visitor for the evening on last Saturday night with her sister, Miss Catherine Coleman of Greenwood. They also took dinner the following day and had a very fine visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wright.

All Had a Good Time A delegation of Legionnaires of Greenwood drove to Plattsmouth on Monday of last week to conduct a patriotic ceremonial at the granting of final citizenship papers to a class of thirteen applicants by District court.

Following the ceremonies, the local boys were guests of a group of Plattsmouth Legionnaires at a noon-day luncheon served in the private dining room of the Majestic cafe. Among those present were Phillip Reese, Phil L. Hall, Dewey Headley, Dr. W. H. McFadden, M. E. Petersen, George Bucknell, Earl Stradley, Emory McDowell, George Trunkenbolz and Oscar Reese, of Ashland.

A large picture of the Greenwood delegation, taken in front of the Cass county courthouse, appeared in Friday's Omaha Bee.

Much Interest Manifest Much interest is being manifest in the revival meetings which are being held at the Christian church one night last week, some forty visited the meetings from Ashland and among whom were the boys and girls glee club, which attracter a great deal of attention. There were also a number from Bethany, which added much interest to the meetings.

Makes Address at Fremont Phil L. Hall was a visitor at Fremont last Wednesday evening, where he was attending a meeting of the Region Bank association and where he was booked for an address on Better Banking Methods.

Good Roads Meeting The meeting held here last Friday evening to formulate plans for the gravelling of the west end of the Plattsmouth - Louisville - Greenwood road was largely attended, many of the landowners along the route in Salt Creek and Greenwood precincts, together with some from further east and delegations from the towns of Louisville and Murdock as well as a number of the business men about town.

Selling Many Chicks The Leesley Hatchery, which established such a good record last year and the year before for fine chickens and good treatment of their customers, are enjoying a very fine business this year, and have now a few chicks on hand. They hatched some 2,600 baby chicks last week, which will soon be gone. They are being sold at ten cents each, $10 per hundred, and find ready customers and many waiting.

On last Monday Carl Schlapoff, of near Murdock, came and took away 500, while Henry Heil, Jr., also secured 300. They have been sold all over the county and many places over the state. The hatchery carries the Peet Moss Litter for the brooders, which is an excellent article for that use.

Accents Salesman Position Ivan Brunkow has accepted the position of salesman for the McNess company and was allotted the south portion of Sarpy county. Ivan remains at home and looks after the delivery of the milk in the morning and afterwards gets out and looks after the work in the salesmanship line. He is well pleased with his position and likes his work.

Mrs. W. F. Laughlin Poorly Mrs. Wm. F. Laughlin has been quite poorly for some time and Mr. Laughlin took her to the St. Elizabeth hospital at Lincoln last Tuesday evening, where she was given a clinic, he returning on Wednesday morning to ascertain her condition and to arrange for treatment and if necessary an operation. Their many friends are hoping that she will soon be able to return home, restored to her former good health.

Greenwood Visited by Burglars On last Tuesday night a gang of burglars and car thieves visited the St. Paul and quaint town of Greenwood and gave the citizens much to talk about the following day. They first stole a car belonging to John Smith, of Ashland, who is a brother of Ernest Smith, which they drove to Greenwood, and being attracted by the shiny new Chevrolet of Dr. W. H. McFadden, made a trade "Sighten unseem" with the sleeping doctor who had just gotten in from a night's work. They also entered his home and took his time in the shape of a reliable watch. They entered the two cafes, attempted to enter the drug store and also the store of E. L. McDonald and the oil station. They made a raid on the store of Cope & Anderson, and it was difficult to tell just how much they did get, but they secured shoes, work clothing, confections, tobacco and cigars.

John Smith was down the next morning and secured his car. It was learned that the car belonging to Dr. McFadden was abandoned at Grafton some time during the early morning. It was later brought into Lincoln, where the doctor was able to get it after checking up on its condition with a representative of the insurance company.

Special Jobs Devised to Aid Unemployed

Cincinnati Committee Uses Systematic Approach as Key to Problem.

Cincinnati, O.—Unemployment, a serious problem at this time in most cities, can be solved when approached on a systematic and permanent basis, the experience of Cincinnati's Committee on the Stabilization of Employment, now a little more than one year old, has indicated.

This committee, the first of its kind, has pioneered in a field rich in possibilities, according to Cincinnati officials, and already has attracted the attention of other communities seeking to improve their own service to willing workers temporarily unemployed.

One of the Cincinnati group's achievements is a standing offer to employ, at any time, any bona fide resident of the city who is in need, and pay the worker 30 cents an hour for doing odd jobs at churches, schools and other public and semi-public institutions. No qualified applicant has been refused this aid.

The stabilization committee was organized in January, 1929, when a group of citizens, representing governmental, industrial, labor and social interests in the community, were called together by Col. C. O. Sherrill, city manager. Their first observations showed that fully one-half of the unemployed in Cincinnati was the result of seasonal cyclical fluctuations in industry. The committee was subdivided into smaller groups, each centering its activity on a limited phase of the problem, and the task of finding a remedy started.

The first work was a house-to-house employment census to displace guesswork by facts. Of 106,583 employable persons, it was found, 88 1-2 per cent were regularly employed, more than 5 per cent were part-time employees and nearly 8 per cent were unemployed.

Last fall action was necessary to keep unemployment at a minimum. The subcommittee on temporary employment called on representatives of more than 100 local organizations for temporary jobs and from this evolved the 30-cent-an-hour offer, as a plan of emergency relief. The wages for these workers is paid from a special fund made up jointly by the city and the Community Chest. The institutions to which workers are sent also agree to furnish the noonday meal.

During 1929 the Federal-State-City Employment Service, under the administration of Fred K. Hoehler, placed 15,970 persons in positions not classified as temporary. These placements were made at an average cost of $1.4, as against an estimate of private employment agencies of $4.09. The service is free to the applicants. Of these persons, 1122 were placed in new jobs in the month of December, when industrial activity in Cincinnati, as well as in most localities throughout the Nation, was at a low point.

REQUESTS INDIAN PAYMENT Washington—Approval of the Johnson bill to authorize payment of $300,000 compensation to the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands of Sioux Indians in North and South Dakota land acquired by the government in Indian affairs committee Wednesday by Representative Royal C. Johnson of Aberdeen, S. D., and O. B. Burtness of Grand Forks, N. D.

The original sale of the land was arranged to cover 8,000,000 acres. Later it was found the land comprised 11,000,000 acres and Johnson introduced the bill to authorize payment for the additional territory.

EARTH SHOCKS ARE FELT San Francisco—Slight earth tremors were reported from several points in central and eastern California seismograph at Berkeley recorded a slight shock at 1:57 p. m., "not far away." Dishes and windows were rattled but no damage was reported. Chandeliers and doors swung, window panes cracked and dishes rattled at Stockton, Calif. A slight tremor was felt at Sacramento. The towns of Carsonville and Minden were shaken in Nevada.

Kansas Farms Falling Under 'Big Business'

250,000 Acres of Wheat Land Now Controlled by Corporations Is Report.

Topeka, Kan.—Farming corporations have gained a toe-hold in Kansas during the last three years and today more than 250,000 acres of wheat lands are thus controlled.

Notwithstanding an undercurrent of opposition to this system of farming from those who foresee loss of the farmer's individuality, reports indicate the syndicates have met with success. A bill to prohibit corporations owning or leasing farming lands received only passing notice in the recent special session of the State Legislature.

Three years ago the first farming corporation began operations in western Kansas. During this period this concern has paid stockholders 12 1/2 per cent dividends annually and has set aside an equal sum for surplus, it is reported. Seven other corporations have been organized and put into operation within the last two years. The largest leases and owns 60,000 acres of wheat land. From 11,000,000 to 12,000,000 acres of land is planted to wheat annually in Kansas. It would take but 200 corporations to control the entire wheat acreage of the State, according to figures compiled by the Kansas State Agricultural College.

One of the managing heads of the oldest farming corporation declares that it is possible to cut operating costs down nearly one-half as compared to the individual farmer, whose costs on a strictly wheat farm will average not less than $9.50 an acre.

Under the efficiency system in vogue among these centralized farming operations, one man can accomplish several times as much as an individual farmer on small acreage. In fact, most of the farmers who have leased or sold their lands to the corporations are now working for the bigger aggregations of capital during the six months' busy season and seeking work in the towns and cities during the slack months.

Opponents of the corporations argue that some of the wheat-growing counties will eventually be depopulated of its farm population, only hired men remaining during the busy season and leaving for centers of population as soon as the crop is harvested, should this method of farming become extensive.

STUDENTS GO ON STRIKE Shelton—More than 150 pupils of Shelton, Ired by the failure of the school board to re-elect Miss Mildred Andrews as head of English department, went on a strike Tuesday and paraded the town, carrying placards which read, "We Want Andrews or No School."

There were about a dozen of the students were back in school Wednesday, but they continued to campaign for the restoration of Miss Andrews.

The walkout was carried out in an orderly fashion. After marching thru the business section the students stopped near the high school and gave spirited yells for the teacher. Only three high school pupils remained in their seats when the strike was initiated. Eighth grade pupils joined in the walkout.

The decision of the school board on Miss Andrews was made Monday night. The board was deadlocked, three favoring her reappointment and three opposed. A majority vote is required for election.

It was expected here Monday night that the board would reconsider its action as a result of the strike.

HEROISM SHOWN BY GIRL Sioux City, Ia.—The heroism of their seven year old daughter, Dorothy, kept the family of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Tanberg intact when fire starting from a lighted candle swept their home Wednesday night. Dorothy, taking care of the house and her three little sisters, while their mother drove "Daddy" to work, braved the fire to carry one little sister and tug another out of the burning home. When the fire started, Irene, five, playing with Dorothy, ran from the house to safety, but Dorothy stayed to carry out Betty Jean, two, and dashing the smoke and flames, dashed back for four year old Evelyn, who was still clutching her doll when Dorothy re-entered the house to rescue her.

MINISTER RETAINS PLACE Osceola, Ark.—The commission investigating "the rumors as to the soundness in the faith" of the Rev. Hay Watson Smith, pastor of the fashionable Second Presbyterian church of Little Rock, reported late Wednesday that it had found that Dr. Smith was "not sufficiently out of line with doctrines of the Presbyterian church as to bar him as a minister in the church in good standing."

The report was accepted as the action of Arkansas presbytery in session here.

Middlewest in Grip of Summer Time Weather

Mercury Moves Upward Over Big Area—Southwest Is Badly in Need of Some Rain

Chicago—Chicago and the middle-west perspired Thursday from temperatures which sent the mercury to new record-heights for so early in the season. With memories of the recent all-time record blizzard fresh in their minds, Chicagoans took off their top coats and vests and turned on their electric fans as the mercury soared to 90 degrees at 3 o'clock, setting an all-time April heat record.

Many other middlewestern cities reported that their April heat records were broken. St. Louis reported a temperature of 92 degrees; Milwaukee 90; Kansas City 92, Omaha 92; Peoria 92 and Des Moines and Dubuque, Ia., 92.

The government weather bureau here reported that such high temperatures prevailing during the day in most of the lower Missouri valley and in the Mississippi valley. The heat wave was moving eastward, the meteorologist said.

Kansas City—Hot, dry winds sweeping northward thru the wheat belt lifted temperatures to mid-summer levels again Thursday and made drought conditions more acute in the southwest. With southwestern farmers hoping for rain after one of the driest springs in years, the federal weather bureau held out little hope for an immediate break in the drought.

There was said to be slight chance for more than scattered showers in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa, although the forecast was for somewhat cooler and more unsettled weather than in the past few days. Dust storms that filled houses with grime were kicked up as the winds rode over dried out top soil in fields sown to wheat and other crops.

At Wichita, Kas., a southwest wind reached a velocity of forty-eight miles an hour. A twenty-two mile blow whipped Kansas City. Wire communication generally was hampered by swinging circuits. The mercury rose to 91.5 degrees in Kansas City the highest for April 10 since 1896.

Topeka, Kas., reported 91 and Salina, Kas., 92; Dodge City, 85; Wichita, 86. The official heat record for the country was captured Wednesday by Hays and Phillipsburg, Kas., with readings of 93.
