

Alvo News

Henry S. Ough was carrying the mail last Wednesday afternoon for Joseph Parsell, while the latter was taking a short vacation.

Elmer Rosenor, the hustling salesman for the F. E. Dickerson store, was looking after some business matters in Lincoln on last Wednesday.

E. T. Fisher, who has been feeling quite poorly for some time, was a visitor in Omaha one day last week to consult the specialist, Dr. Dwyer.

In a ball game which was staged in Alvo between the town team of this hustling city and the team of Palmyra, the Alvo team was able to score first and won.

John W. Banning sold material for the construction of a brooder to George Sheesley, and which he is using at the farm for the caring of his large flock of chickens.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dinges were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Dinges, parents of Mr. Dinges, at Unadilla. They drove over for the day in their auto.

George Braun and wife, of South Bend, were visiting for the day in Alvo, on last Wednesday, and were guests while here at the home of Mrs. Braun's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yeager.

S. C. Kellogg was over to Plattsmouth one day last week and bought a few cars which he had brought over to the farm. He will use them for his transportation, and will no doubt enjoy their use.

The stores of E. L. Nelson and F. E. Dickerson have just been neatly dressed as far as the windows go, by some representatives of an Omaha firm, with an advertisement of the Butter Nut coffee.

Elmer Bennett, the hardware man, was looking after some business matters in Lincoln on last Wednesday afternoon and while he was away Phillip Coatman was looking after the business at the store.

L. B. Appleman shelled his 1928 crop of corn, which makes excellent seed, and delivered it to the Rehmeier elevator, where it is being offered for seed. Better seed about getting some for it is the best.

Will E. Heier, living north of Alvo, was feeling rather badly with some stomach trouble for a few days during the past week. But just like him, he would not give up and kept going until he had worn it out.

It is reported that W. C. Timlin has a large amount of corn planted and that some of it is looking through the ground some two or more inches. With a little warmer weather it looks like the corn should grow rapidly.

E. D. Friend was in a few days since and purchased materials from the Balling lumber yard for the construction of a house, which he will use on the farm for the expansion of the chicken industry, in which they are engaged.

The Senior class of the Alvo High school, who gave their play some time ago and which met with such favor they have been persuaded to give the play a second time on last Tuesday day they presented the same to a well filled and mighty pleased house.

John Coleman, who has been working on the new home of Simon Rehmeier for some time past, has completed the work there and is at this time painting the home of F. E. Dinges, and will put the place in extra good condition with his brush and paint.

J. W. Banning and wife were over to Union on last Sunday, where they visited with relatives for the day and also attended the Easter service at the Baptist church of that place, the discourse being especially for the Knights Templar of the Masonic lodge of Nehawka.

George Willis, who has been working on a farm about Alvo and vicinity, was troubled for some time with appendicitis and was taken to the hospital at Lincoln last week, where he underwent an operation for relief. He was getting along fairly well when last heard from.

Messrs Lyle Miller, Joseph Vickers and John Elliott were over to Omaha on last Monday, going with a view of purchasing some feeders for their yards, but not finding anything to suit, they returned and will try it another time, when they hope better stock will be in evidence.

The new home which Simon Rehmeier purchased some time since and which he has been having painted and decorated, together with the addition of a few other conveniences, has been completed by John Coleman and during the past week Simon moved into the new home.

J. W. Banning, while about his work some three weeks since, had the misfortune to injure one of his knees, which has been giving this gentleman much trouble, and has caused him to use a pair of crutches to assist in getting about. He is hoping that he may be able to get about without them soon and be entirely well again.

John B. Skinner removed the body of his father, T. P. Skinner, who was buried on May 1st, 1908, in the cemetery three miles north of Alvo, to a lot in the Alvo cemetery. This was made necessary by the fact that in the old cemetery where the father was buried there was no place where the body of the mother could repose beside the husband upon her death. It was then that a lot was secured in the Alvo cemetery and now with the removal of the father's body to the same burying ground, they are resting together. This makes it very beautiful, as they lived and labored together throughout the years of their lifetime and it is fitting that their remains should rest together until the resurrection.

Compliments the Census Mrs. H. L. Bornemeter, who has had charge of the taking of the census for Greenwood precinct, has about completed her work. As yet it is not known whether the town of Alvo has gained or lost during the past ten years. Many of the towns have suffered a loss in population, but it is hoped that in this instance the hustling little city in which we reside has gained.

Land Mark Disappears
Some fourteen or fifteen years ago Phillip Kahler came to Alvo and built the blacksmith shop which he operated up until the time of his death a few years ago. The structure came into the hands of A. B. Stromer some time since and as it was of no use to him, and there being many vacant business rooms in town, he concluded he would wreck the building and did so, and will use a portion of the lumber for the building of something which he can use. Thus disappears a land mark of Alvo which has stood for a number of years.

Married at Omaha
Miss Thelma Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Fisher, and Mrs. Ross Casey, of Arkansas, who has been working on the new road near Greenwood, were united in marriage at Omaha by the Rev. C. W. Savage, who is known as the Marrying Parson on account of the large number of weddings he has performed. The date of their marriage was April 15 and they were couple number 6,177 to be joined in wedlock by the Rev. Savage. The newlyweds are making their home at Greenwood, near where Mr. Casey is employed at this time. Miss Fisher was born at Louisville, and has resided in Cass county all her life. She is a very winsome young lady and one who has a host of friends in this portion of Cass county. The many friends of this young lady and the Journal are extending best wishes for their prosperity and happiness.

Sing at Sharon Church
There was a meeting of some importance at the Sharon church south of Fairlie Home and the quartette composed of Mrs. R. M. Coatman, Mrs. Vera Lancaster, John D. Foreman and Ben Minchau were called upon to furnish a number of songs. R. M. Coatman, with the car, took them to the meeting on last Wednesday afternoon.

Enjoy Track Meet
The High schools of Greenwood, Eagle and Alvo enjoyed a track meet last week at Alvo, in which some very close contests were staged and much good running developed. The winners in the order in which they finished were Greenwood, first; Eagle, second, and Alvo, third.

Barber Regulations Law Put Under Fire
Attorneys for Emma Lane, beauty parlor operator and cosmetologist of Omaha, convicted there of having violated the barber regulation law by cutting hair without having first taken an examination and secured a license, filed with the supreme court Thursday a printed argument in support of their contention that the law does not contemplate that she do anything of the kind. It is a test case to determine this point, the barbers insisting that beauty parlor operators can't cut the tresses of feminine customers without barber licenses which can't be procured without a designated apprenticeship.

The lawyers put directly in issue the constitutionality of the barber law, and point out that there is an inharmonious between it and the cosmetology law and that as the latter was passed last, its provisions govern. They also insist that the barber law is unreasonable and goes beyond the realms of the police power. On this point they say that the right of the legislature to declare what is a proper public policy under its authority as police power is limited so that its action may not be arbitrary, but must rest upon tangible and clear public purposes to be served, which has a reasonably substantial tendency to further the interest of the public welfare and must be really designated to accomplish a legitimate public purpose, with protection of the public health as the chief benefit.

It follows, they urge, that the state, under the guise of protecting the public may not arbitrarily interfere with private business or impose unusual and unnecessary restrictions upon lawful occupations. They say that the beauty parlor operations have built up so large a hair cutting trade that the barbers grew envious, and seek to secure this for themselves by making requirements which the women must have to take the barber examination impossible and prohibitory. They cited the law to show that before a woman could cut hair she would have to spend eighteen months as an apprentice in a barber shop and six months in a beauty parlor. Complaint is also made that each law provides for a double inspection of the parlors.

Asserts Convict Dead Victims of Rank Bungling

Deputy Warden Testifies All Who Died Could Have Been Saved; Day of Threats.

Columbus, O., April 24.—Closing another day of investigation to uncover the cause of the Ohio penitentiary first state officials tonight were told for the second time in two days that all of the 318 prisoners who lost their lives could have been saved.

The statement was made by Deputy Warden James P. Woodward, who, like Albert Nice, chief of the Columbus fire department, expressed the opinion that delay in unlocking the cells was responsible for the appalling death toll. Nice's statement was made to the investigators yesterday.

Woodward's testimony came after a day of marked unrest among thousands of prisoners, many of whom demanded the removal of Warden P. E. Thomas. The latest threat of violence came this evening after Governor Myers Y. Cooper let it be known that he would take no action concerning Thomas until the investigation is completed. Late tonight, however, the prisoners were quiet.

Answering a direct question by a member of the board of inquiry, Woodward said:
"If they had gotten the keys over there and started at the top of the cell block and worked down, they could have gotten all of the men out."

Developments as an aftermath of the tragedy were rapid today. At times it was feared that three thousand prisoners would break for liberty.

Leaders of the men said, however, they intended only "passive resistance" until the removal of Thomas. Resistance included refusal to obey orders or to work.

Guard Captain Blamed
The convict witnesses blamed Guard Captain John Hall, 72, for the great loss of life, saying he had failed to order release of the trapped men.

At the prison early this morning a revolt of several convicts was quieted but soon thereafter the convicts in the idle house, where practically all cell door locks had been broken, demanded release into the yard. Seven hundred gallons of hot coffee were served and for a short time the men quieted.

At dawn plans were made to release some of the soldiers on duty outside but the orders were quickly rescinded and additional troops called when the unruly leaders in the idle house, other cell blocks and the yard urged the prisoners to "take a chance" on a break. For a time rioting was feared. Even calm voices of ministers and of the more cool headed prisoners failed to prevail.
