

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

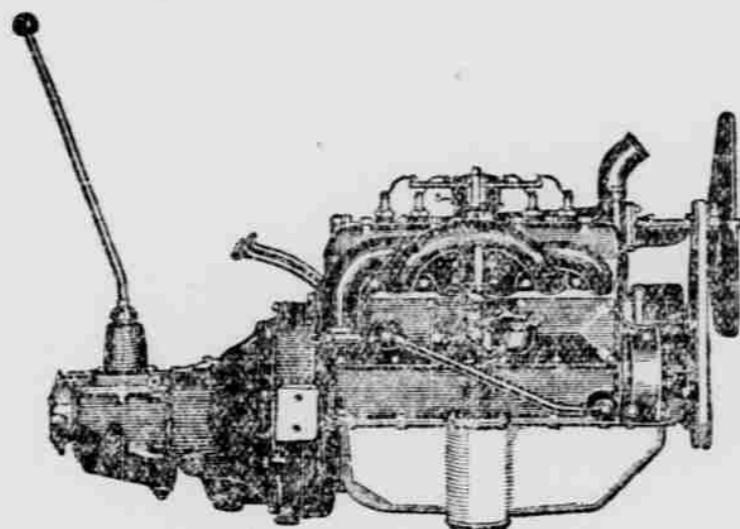

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

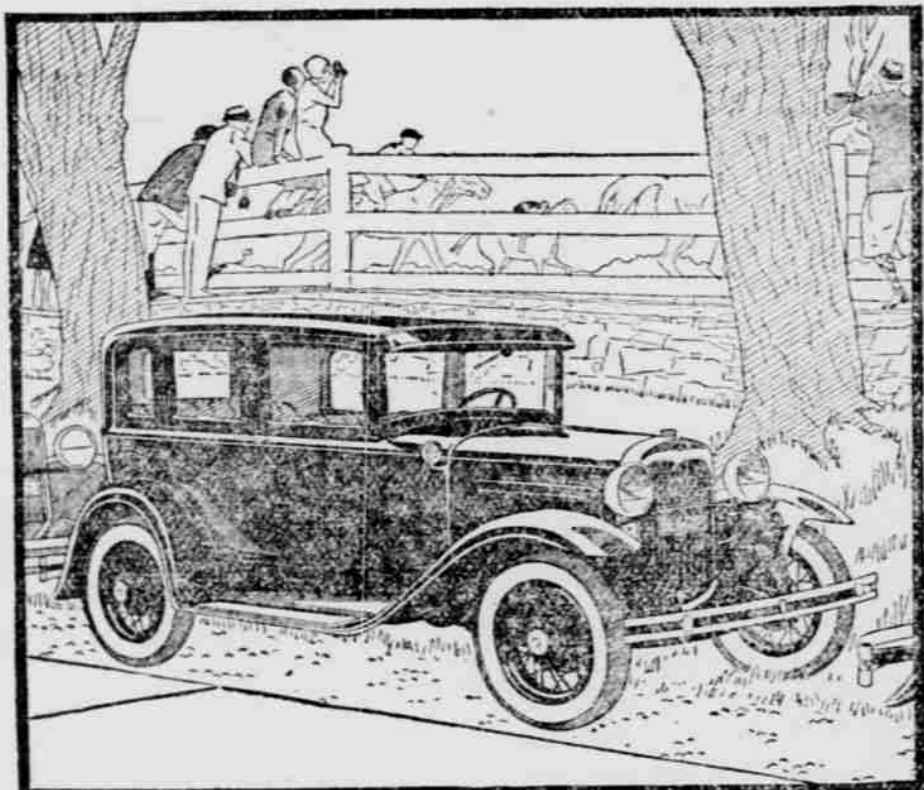

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

Parents Attend Golden Wedding of Their Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel King, of Bluffs, Attend Golden Wedding -- of J. C. Rhoades and Wife.

When most couples celebrate their golden wedding anniversaries, the family trots out the youngest grandchild or great-grandchild for the photographer, as a sort of contrast. Not so when Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rhoades of Pacific Junction, celebrated their golden wedding Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Fred Kern, 630 South Fifty-fifth street, Omaha, Nebraska.

At the Rhoades' golden wedding observance the featured guests were Mrs. Rhoades' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel King, of 1016 Avenue A, Council Bluffs, who have been married 66 years.

Mr. and Mrs. King, who have just returned from California, witnessed their eldest daughter's golden wedding, which they said is a bigger thrill than to celebrate a mere golden wedding of their own.

Mr. King is 90, and Mrs. King is 82.

Mr. Rhoades is 73, Mrs. Rhoades is 65. Mr. and Mrs. King have seven children, all living. Mrs. Rhoades, Albert King, of Norton, Kan.; Chas. King, of Council Bluffs; Mrs. Cora Yarger, Council Bluffs; Mrs. Stella Garrison, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ida Dawson, Council Bluffs; Mrs. Maude Sheely, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades also have seven children, W. E. and E. A. Rhoades, Pacific Junction; Mrs. Kern; Moses Rhoades, Sidney, Iowa; James Rhoades, Los Angeles; Mrs. Cecil Etheridge, Pacific Junction; and Mrs. Lucile Estes, Council Bluffs.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades have 26 grandchildren, who number among the 38 great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. King.

The three grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. King, who were present at the golden wedding were the three Kern children, Pauline, 29, senior nurse at Methodist hospital; James, 14, and Clara May, 8.

A large family gathering was avoided because of the feebleness of Mr. King.—Glenwood Opinion-Tribune.

PLAN BANQUET IN HONOR COMMANDER KIRKPATRICK

The Martin Graves Legion post at Bellevue is arranging a big banquet for next Tuesday night, July 1st, in honor of their post commander, R. A. Kirkpatrick, of Omaha, who has been elected to succeed the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft as president of the National Americanism Congress.

Attendance at the banquet is open to Legionnaires, their wives and immediate families, and the South Omaha and Plattsmouth posts have been extended special invitations. The cost will be $1 per plate, and Randall Blatt of Bellevue, who is in charge of arrangements says it will be the biggest chicken dinner ever held in that neck of the woods, which is known for the fine feeds served at the regular Fellowship dinners held there throughout the winter season. Available equipment will enable them to accommodate nearly three hundred diners, he says.

Those from Plattsmouth desiring to attend should notify Post Adjutant Elmer Webb not later than Sunday afternoon, so reservation can be made.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, who has been thus signally honored, is well known among Legionnaires here. He was a speaker at the district convention here in 1925 and the Memorial day speaker in 1928. He is a long member of Omaha post and speaker on Americanism and Historical Incidents at the various radio programs sponsored by the Legion in Omaha. Due to differences of opinion over activities policy, he withdrew his membership from that post and joined the Bellevue post, which he has served very ably as post commander.

Transportation will be arranged for any without cars who wish to attend the banquet, but reservation must be made not later than Sunday afternoon.

BRING HOME GRANITE BOULDER

Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kahler have further added to the beauty and attractiveness of their fine home by bringing in from the country and setting up in their yard at the northwest corner of the house a great red granite boulder weighing 2,732 pounds, the gift to Mrs. Kahler of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tennant, who live two miles east of Louisville on the Plattsmouth road. It took seven men and Mr. Kahler's ingenuity to load the boulder and bring it to town.

Near the boulder on the ground will be placed two big toad stools which Mrs. Kahler herself moulded of potter's clay and which were then burned by Mr. Kahler at the Kahler Pottery company's kilns. On top of the boulder will be perched a big stoneware frog. This arrangement will fit perfectly into the landscaping plan of the premises.

Mr. and Mrs. Kahler make a hobby of their homes and have created a verdant garden of their own, where they spend many happy closed and screened in their front porch, so that they have a maximum of comfort and enjoyment. Such homes are a credit to Louisville.—Louisville Courier.

We wish in this way to express our thanks to all those who came to us and helped in any way in our great sorrow in the death and burial of our dear son and brother, Henry, for the use of their cars and the beautiful flowers, words of comfort and sympathy, every act of kindness, and the beautiful songs. May God richly bless each one and may such a sorrow never come to any of you.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dooley, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dooley, Clifford and Clair, Mrs. Earl, Miss Lenore Reed and Relatives.

THANK YOU OUR FRIENDS

During the time that Mrs. Briggs was ill and at the hospital both before and after, we were in receipt of many acts of kindness from our friends, the spoken word, the cards and letters of sympathy, the flowers and the kindly visits. We appreciate these acts, and the friendship which prompted them more than we are able to express. Thank you again, and may you always have health and friends.—Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Briggs.

We advise you to get your Fireworks now. Omaha people are driving to nearby towns and buying them in large quantities this year. Avoid disappointment by buying now. See the large display at Bates Book Store.

KILL 30, WOUND 100 IN BOLIVIAN STRIFE

Lima, Peru, June 26.—A wireless message picked up from Antofagasta and published in La Prensa here, said Bolivian troops Wednesday had killed 30 and wounded 100 rebels in an engagement about 500 miles from La Paz.

Louisville Has Made Forward Strides in Year

City in Growth in Population, in Industry and General Appearance Much Better.

Hardly seven years ago the city of Louisville was the scene and picture of destruction. Following the flood which nearly washed the little city clear out of the county, Louisville started a campaign of rebuilding and reconstruction which at this time has made it one of the most beautiful and delightful cities in Cass county and which was visited Thursday by a representative of the Journal, Edgar Wescott. Due to the near complete destruction of their homes and business houses at the time of the flood, which the city experienced in 1923, the people of Louisville were forced to practically build their city anew.

At this time, due to close co-operation among themselves and with their neighboring towns Louisville has built itself up to the point where it is now looked upon as one of the most progressive cities in the county. As one walks down the business streets of Louisville there seems to be the spirit of friendliness and business in the air. People go out of their way to speak to you, and no matter how much of a stranger you may be when you arrive you won't be a stranger long.

Business houses of Louisville are well kept, their outside appearance as well as their inside appearance is well maintained, the stores are well stocked and serve well in the supplying of the wants of the people of the city. The residential districts of the city are well maintained, several new homes lend their appearance to the already beautiful and well planned districts. Newly graveled streets add to the comfort and safety of transportation in the city, as well as adding greatly to the beauty of the city.

Besides these improvements Louisville has been ever watchful for opportunities to bring industries into their city, approximately a year and a half ago the Ash Grove Portland Cement and Lime company set up a cement plant just opposite the city. This has been one of the biggest things that has ever happened to the city of Louisville in the way of improvements. Due to the fact that the Ash Grove people have in their employ only men who would be desirable to such a community, their presence has been helpful in both a business and social way.

At the present time there are plans being considered which provide for the construction of a new bridge across the Platte river at Louisville. This will be another major improvement for the city, and the city should derive a great deal of good from the construction of the bridge.

It might be wise for the other cities in Cass county to watch Louisville, to try and catch that spirit of progressive building which they seem to have, and in a measure endeavor to pattern after the constructive atmosphere which appears to be so strong in that community.
