Hunt Water Under Earth in Nebraska

Sources in Platte Valley to Be Sought, According to Dr. Condra of Nebraska U.

Lincoln, July 28.—The University of Nebraska conservation and survey division, in co-operation with the United States geological survey, is soon to begin work on the underground water sources of the Platte valley. Dr. George E. Condra, director of the Nebraska survey, announced Monday.

L. K. Wenzel, hydrologist for the United States geological survey, has arrived in Lincoln and will act as official representative of the federal government, joining with the water resources survey of the local conservation and survey division in a detailed investigation of the ground water sources.

Start at Lexington. The work will begin in the vicinity of Lexington, Dr. Condra stated, and the federal expert will engage in the co-operative investigation as soon as assistants can be obtained from among graduates of the University of Nebraska.

A party of surveyors will then be sent out to Lexington where a study of the depth of water table, the direction and rate of underflow of the Platte valley will be made.

Plan 3-Day Trip. O. E. Meizner, geologist of the division of ground water, is expected to arrive in Lincoln Aug. 5. Dr. Condra announced, when the two geologists will make a three-day trip through the Platte valley to outline fully the nature of the investigation to be made.

According to Dr. Condra, all the studies are to be closely correlated with the activity of the state bureau of irrigation, under the direction of R. H. Willis, and the study being made by the federal water department, under direction of Dr. A. L. Lucas, assistant professor of geology at the University of Nebraska.

LINCOLN WATER SHORTAGE STILL ACUTE

Lincoln, July 28.—Lincoln's water shortage emergency has not yet passed, said Commissioner William Schroeder Monday. The drain on the reserves Sandy was heavy. For the most part, he conceded, Lincoln people have been cutting down on waste since he broadcast his appeals.

An extra drain on the city's supply has developed with a breakdown of the state agricultural college's private system, a week ago. Never before Schroeder declared, has the municipal plant been so taxed.—Omaha Bee-News.

MOONEY ASKS FOR PARDON

San Francisco—Thomas Mooney Monday mailed a new pardon petition to Governor Young on the eve of a state supreme court hearing for John Macdonald, recanting witness whose testimony twelve years ago helped send Mooney and Warren K. Billings to prison for life for the San Francisco 1916 preparedness day bombing. The plea was mailed a few hours before supreme court justices denied Mooney's request to attend Tuesday's hearing.

Chief Justice H. Waste said the court deemed "unnecessary" the presence of either Mooney or Billings, being concerned solely with Macdonald's testimony and its bearing on the pardon application of Billings.

Macdonald, located recently in Baltimore, repudiated testimony he gave during the bombing trials and said he perjured himself, having been coached by police to identify Mooney and Billings after their arrest.

Calls Tariff Law Economic Torture to U. S.

Senator Harrison Avers Smoot Ought Not Be Taken Seriously; Cites Retaliation!

Washington, July 27.—Replying to Senator Smoot's recent statement that foreign communications on the new tariff act should not be taken seriously, Senator Harrison (dem., Miss.) today said the Utah republican's "hush-money argument is neither ingenious nor logical."

"The facts are," Harrison said in a statement issued through the democratic national committee, "that more than 35 countries have filed protests with us against the enactment of the many increased rates in our tariff law."

"Those increased rates," he added, "written in most instances without any thought of equalizing the differences in cost of production here and abroad, but merely to satisfy the avaricious appetite of certain special interests in this country, have caused not only an impairment of good relations with the people of many countries but has actually influenced retaliatory measures in the imposition of high tariff rates and boycotts."

Precipitates Economic Chaos. Harrison said, "No one factor has been more influential in precipitating economic chaos in so many businesses in this country, than has the agitation consideration and enactment of the Grundy-Smoot tariff law."

"The farmers," he continued, "are feeling it because they cannot sell their exportable surplus abroad. The low prices of wheat and cotton are illustrative. The automobile and related industries as well as other industries are finding themselves in the same predicament. The tariff act has caused such a restriction and curtailment of operations, a slowing down in investments, as to create increased unemployment and business depression generally."

"Puts U. S. in Strait-Jacket." "The assertions of Senator Smoot and the republican national committee to the contrary notwithstanding, it is natural that these foreign countries which have heretofore bought of us our surplus products and added to our general prosperity should protest when we write a tariff law that is designed to prohibit our people from purchasing goods abroad."

"Through enactment of the Grundy-Smoot tariff act we have placed ourselves in a strait-jacket. If we are to breathe easy, we must extricate ourselves from this instrument of economic torture."—World-Herald.

POLICE AND SHERIFF RACE

Newberry, Mich.—When the sheriff of Grand Rapids checks, the police force double checks, or why else a 300 mile race across land and water to reach a prisoner, Blain Ashcraft, wanted in connection with the robbery of a Grand Rapids bank and the shooting of a merchant last month, was arrested and incarcerated here.

The Grand Rapids police were notified, "We'll be there," they chorused. On the way they caught sight of each other. A race began. Sheriff Patterson reached the Straits of Mackinac first, and had the satisfaction of seeing two detectives gazing disconsolately across the water while he set sail for the upper peninsula. An hour later his car broke down. The police got there first. Sheriff A. B. Turnbull of Luce county listened to conflicting claims. He decided neither had won, so both took him home.
