STATES HIS POSITION!

Plattsmouth, Nebr., July 26. Plattsmouth Journal:

As a candidate for State Senator on the democratic ticket on August 12 primary, I believe my public is entitled to my views on current events of this district.

First, I live within my income and expect to keep the state within its income.

Second, I am against voting bonds and going into debt in order to build good roads as fast as the federal money comes in.

Building good roads is like raising a family. One at a time is plenty fast, or at least the cash on hand for that year is all I am willing to spend for good roads and the years are going to keep coming, so is the money and so is good roads, and usually so does the family.

Third, I am against building any more highways until we have our rural mail routes well taken care of. With federal and state aid on the rural routes it should not take very many years.

Fourth (Perhaps this should have been first), I am for the Bank Guarantee law which the Supreme Court has decided is constitutional. The state banks owe $2,900,000 in back taxes. What would happen to you if you refused to pay your taxes?

What should happen to these bankers? Should we donate $2,900,000 to the bankers in back taxes and vote to pay it ourselves and the rest of the $8,000,000 which so far the depositors have not received?

I am against doing this! It was the bankers and not the state who told depositors that the state was back of deposits. As a matter of fact the state is back of it, but is mighty lax in enforcing collections.

Living within my income and the law compelling candidates to pay for publishing their views, compels me to say, "Meet me at the democratic primary August 12, 1930."

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE WALTER OLSEN.

"MIKE" FOR COMMANDER

Marcus L. Poteet, of Lincoln, well known figure in American Legion circles and who is the commander of the 12th district of which the Plattsmouth post is a part, is being suggested for state commander of the Legion at the forthcoming state convention at North Platte. "Mike" as he is well known, has been a frequent visitor here and has a host of friends in the local Legion post who would be more than pleased to see him named for the state leader. As Mr. Poteet is the only one of the veterans suggested from this part of the state for the office there is little doubt that the posts in this locality would be back of the Lincoln man for the office. Col. Phil L. Hall of Greenwood, who was the choice of Cass county at the last convention has not as yet announced whether he would allow the use of his name in the state convention.

There is no slack business period for the merchant who advertises his goods the year 'round.

Nebraskans Offer Farm Ills Remedy

Suggestions Include Lifting Immigration Bars; Giving Favorable Price to China.

Lincoln, July 29.—While the federal farm board expounds the theory that decreased acreages may relieve the wheat slump, scores of Nebraskans who contribute to the federal-state statistical bureau with reports on agricultural condition, have widely divergent views on farm relief and wheat gluts.

Here are a few of the ideas as expressed by "crop reporters" throughout the state to A. K. Anderson, chief statistician of the American bureau:

"Discard the property tax. Quit spending so much money. Diversify more and market more orderly. Farmers should work more and spend less for automobiles. Complete reduction of prices should be made on farm machinery."

"Flexible Tariff.

"An immediate use of the flexible provision of the tariff act. If farmer could buy as he sells, he would take care of himself. Buying more wheat by the government might help, but even this is questionable as means of relief because—how would the government get rid of what it purchased?"

"Only dishonest men will approve of the American farmer being forced to buy on an American market at American prices and sell on a world market basis. Honest men can find the solution—politicians never."

Sell to China.

From a more remote corner of the state came this bit of advice which suggests lifting the bars of immigration to provide a larger consuming public:

"Remove immigration restrictions. Let all honest desirable people enter who wish to come to this country. We would have 25,000,000 more to feed and that would wipe out farm surpluses."

The same writer advocates selling the nation's wheat surplus to China, and giving that nation one-half as favorable terms as those on which the United States settled war debts.—Omaha Bee-News.

STRIKE ARRESTS

Baltimore—Nine persons were arrested Saturday in disorders connected with a strike of garment workers, bringing to fourteen the total taken by police since a walkout started Wednesday. The strike, called by the Baltimore cloakmakers' union, started when operators, after granting a number of demands, insisted on a provision giving them the right to reorganize their staffs at the end of every year.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE

Announcement of the marriage of Second Lieut. James Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richardson of Nebraska City, a graduate of West Point Military Academy last June, and Miss Marilyn Ford of Brownville, has been made here. The wedding took place at Hiawatha, Kas., Friday, July 18, the judge of Brown county officiating. The announcement comes as a surprise to friends of the couple in this city where the groom is quite well known from his high school days.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ford of Brownville. She was educated in the Brownville schools and Peru State Teachers' College. Frequent visits to Nebraska City have won her numerous friends and acquaintances there. Following his graduation Lieut. Richardson was ordered to Fort Brady, near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and he and his bride will go there to live September 1.

After their marriage Lieut. and Mrs. Richardson drove to Kearney where they spent last week with Lieut. Richardson's sister, Mrs. Boaz Golden. They returned to Brownville the first of the week and are expected to return to Nebraska City Wednesday or Thursday.

HONOR GRANDMOTHER OZBUN

From Monday's Daily—

At Greenwood park in Des Moines yesterday, July 27th, were gathered some one hundred and sixteen descendants of Mrs. Elvira Ozbun, mother of Mrs. M. S. Briggs, whom it will be remembered has visited in Plattsmouth often and also made her home with her daughter for a number of years to pay honor to this pioneer and evince the pleasure that is theirs that she is with them and able to enjoy such an occasion.

These occasions have been celebrated annually for a number of years and are counted as one of the days which the large family seek to make a happy event, and are generally at the Greenwood park at Des Moines near where the larger portion of the families reside. This year Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Briggs were not there as the delicate health, the long distance and the excessive summer weather made it not convenient to attend. None were present from Nebraska though there are some seven or eight families of the relationship residents here: Mrs. Elvira Ozbun was born in Indiana, September 27, 1837, and will be ninety-three years of age this fall.

VETERAN EDITOR IN RACE

The outcome of the race for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor is being watched with a great deal of interest in Cass county, as one of the former republican leaders of the county is now seeking nomination to that office. This is J. A. Gardner, for many years editor and publisher of the Beacon at Eagle, and who is now conducting a paper at Lewellen. If party loyalty is to be awarded, certainly the republican party could make no more worthy choice, as Mr. Gardner has in season and out supported his party and while they might not measure up to his own ideas as to the conduct of governmental affairs, still he has served loyally and well in the ranks of the party. His qualifications for the office are excellent and as far as his personal record and standing is concerned there could be no better. If the friends of "Jim" Gardner are appreciative of his work in the ranks of his party, Cass county should give him a fine vote at the primary.

CAPTURE DESERTERS

With the arrest Saturday evening at Council Bluffs of John Montgomery, 25, and Richard Mayfield, 22, deserters from Fort Crook, was exploded the theory that Mayfield, a member of the guard detail, had been held in captivity by the prisoners he was sent to guard. The arrest developed the fact that Mayfield had joined Montgomery and Roy F. Comstock, prisoners in their deserting and was not an unwilling victim of the prisoners.

The two men were arrested after they were turned in by William Walters of Council Bluffs, a brother-in-law of Montgomery and at whose home they had sought shelter.

Comstock, aged 17, was able to make his getaway and has so far eluded the efforts to capture him and it is thought may make efforts to reach his old home in Illinois.

The escape of the men was followed by a general search over the territory from Fort Crook to this city by members of the 17th infantry as it was thought that the men had made their way southward after making their escape from the army post.

SURPRISE FRIEND

From Wednesday's Daily—

The members of the ladies organization of the Christian church arranged a very pleasant surprise last evening at the church parlors in honor of Mrs. M. B. Allen, one of their members. The ladies had announced that a quilting party would be held at the church and accordingly Mrs. Allen arrived only to find that she was the guest of honor. Lights were arranged on the lawn of the church and here games were played for the course of the evening, while delicious and dainty refreshments were served in the church parlors. There were some fifty-five present to join in the occasion.
