Three Inches of Snow Brings Winter Here

Change From the Balmey Weather of Past Several Months Occurs Saturday Night and Sunday

From Monday's Daily— This section of Nebraska was visited by the first touch of regular Nebraska winter on Saturday night and Sunday when a three inch snowfall brought with it a decided change in weather from that which has prevailed over a period of some two months when November and December made record breaking standards for the pleasantness and mild weather conditions.

The snow that started to fall on Saturday evening continued practically through the night and Sunday morning and left a three inch mantle of the fleecy flakes over this section of Cass county.

The snow made the going difficult for the autoists and checked the usual Sunday flow of the travel along the highways and many small accidents were reported along the roadways where cars had slid into ditches and minor collisions with the result of bent fenders and smaller damage.

The temperature this morning registered eight degrees above zero but with the snow on the ground the conditions seemed more wintry and sent the pedestrians scurrying along the streets.

MRS. WEVER DENIES STORIES

From Tuesday's Daily— Mrs. Inas Wever, who is on trial here in the district court, on leaving the Douglas county jail Monday for this city, expressed her scorn for the witnesses who are to form the state's case against her and also was confident of her acquittal. In an interview given to the representatives of the press at the jail she denied many of the statements that are to be testified to by the state's witnesses and particularly that which she is alleged to have made in the barber shop to Roy Cavender as to her family troubles. Mrs. Wever denied having been in the barber shop and that she had known Mr. Cavender.

Mrs. Wever Monday spoke with scorn of Cavender and many of the 45 other state witnesses who are scheduled to appear against her.

"I don't know him," she said. "I've never even been in his barber shop. And there are many of the others whom I know only by sight or have never seen before. They made themselves ridiculous at the preliminary hearing. I didn't know them and I'm certain George didn't either."

"I don't think the people who have been saying things about me realize the seriousness of it all—what it would mean for me to be convicted."

"But I will not think about that," she continued. "Thinking about it makes things so much worse and after all I didn't do anything wrong."

Mrs. Wever's only apparent worry as she took leave of her friends at the jail seemed to be over the unpaid bills left by Wever.

"George left bills I didn't know anything about," the little housewife said. "I'm worried about them, mostly because I don't know how many there really are. He should have told me. There's an $18 grocery bill I was told about the other day, and we owe $70 on our furniture. George told me it was clear. His funeral cost $500, and there will be the cost of this trial." She looked disturbed. "George left only $1,300 insurance," she concluded.

Mrs. Wever is confident of acquittal. When released, she said she plans to go back to Lincoln with her own people.

"I'll get a job and the folks will take care of Billy," she said. Billy is her 6-year old adopted son. "I'd like to get work as a housekeeper. Then I could keep Billy with me. That would be best for both of us."

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Michael Hild with Mesdames John Parkening, J. B. Kaffenberger, Wallace W. Warner, Charles Gradoville and Frank Rehn, as associate hostesses.

The committee in charge reported that two quilts had been completed for use in the hospitals as required and that the local auxiliary would purchase 1,500 poppies this year that were made by the disabled veterans in the Lincoln veterans hospital.

The report of the Nebraska City district convention was given by Mrs. Robert Will and Mrs. Adelaide Boynton.

It was voted to give a card party in the near future and the committee in charge of this will be Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Mrs. John Palack and Mrs. H. L. Gayer.

The auxiliary voted $10 to the public school and $10 to the St. John's parochial school to be used in the school work.

VERY HAPPY EVENT

From Tuesday's Daily— This morning a message was received here by Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sitzman, conveying the pleasant news that they were again grandparents, a fine little daughter having arrived this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sealock at Omaha. The mother and little one are doing nicely and the occasion has brought a great deal of pleasure to the members of the family circle. Mrs. Sealock was formerly Miss Margaret Sitzman of this city. The little one has been christened Dorothy Jean.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

From Tuesday's Daily— Last evening Fred Duda, Sr., one of the well known residents of the west part of the city, was very pleasantly surprised by a number of the relatives and friends on the occasion of his fifty-third birthday anniversary.

The evening was spent in visiting and a general good time interspersed with music by the Kostka orchestra and dancing enjoyed by members of the party. At an appropriate hour the guests were treated to a very much enjoyed luncheon that added to the pleasures of the occasion.

Mr. Duda was born on January 19, 1877, in Bohemia, and has for the past twenty-two years been a resident of Plattsmouth, the family being numbered among the highly esteemed residents of the community. It was a great pleasure to the guests of honor that at the birthday anniversary his granddaughter, Joan Duda, eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Duda, was able to be at the passing of the birthday of the grandfather.

SUFFERS SEVERE FALL

From Monday's Daily— Philip Thierolf, one of the prominent merchants of the city, is confined to his home today as the result of a fall sustained last evening near Sixth and Vine streets while he was en route home from the business section of the city. Mr. Thierolf was passing near the New Way Hamburger cafe at Sixth and Vine streets when he slipped on the snowy and icy walk and fell, striking on the back of his head and shoulders. The injured man was assisted by his feet by George Stoll, one of the employees of the hamburger cafe, and who assisted him on home, altho at that time Mr. Thierolf was not feeling the effects of the fall and later his condition grew more serious and Dr. T. P. Livingston was called to treat him. Mr. Thierolf was feeling very much effects of the fall today and was confined to his bed and the full extent of his injuries could not be determined. Mr. Thierolf was severely injured by a fall several years ago and which has caused him more or less trouble since that time.

NOTICE AUTO OWNERS

The thirty days of grace allowed for auto owners to secure their new 1931 auto license plates will expire on February first. It will be necessary after that date to check up those who do not have the proper license numbers on cars and trucks. It is urged that all see that they secure their licenses and avoid unnecessary trouble.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Copy for this Department furnished by County Agent

Overhauled Sewing Machines. Many women in the county are fully convinced that a poor working sewing machine is unnecessary any more easily be corrected by a general overhauling. Under the supervision of Paul Hoff, Extension Engineer, 34 women took their sewing machines apart, cleaned them thoroughly, reassembled and oiled them and to their amazement found that the machines ran smoother and easier than they had for years.

In many cases this did not correct all the troubles so some time was spent studying the workings of a machine, after which each woman put into practice what she had learned by adjusting her own machine. Balancing of the tensions and adjusting the dog feed and compression foot are simple difficulties which every woman can learn to adjust herself. The Farm Bureau is sponsoring two more clinics, January 29 and 30 at Alvo and Louisville. Anyone interested in taking their machine should make arrangements with Miss Baldwin.

Successful Chick Brooding. Seven people with Nebraska Type 10 x 12 brooder houses raised 86% of the chicks started, to eight weeks old. The goal set for 80% or 40 good pullets at eight weeks for each 100 chicks started.

In the case of No. 1 there was a greater death loss the second four weeks than the first which was due to an overcrowded condition. This type house with a sun parlor is large enough to accommodate 300 chicks of the heavy breed or 325 of the light breed. You will not in the case of No. 2 that all the losses were in the first four weeks. Those losses were due to small and weak chicks when they were purchased from the hatchery.

No. 3 and 4 are two different bunches of chicks belonging to the same person. The first was an early hatch about Febr. 5th. No. 4 was hatched about May 1st, after the first month was moved to another building. The owner says, "The fact that the last chicks were not as strong and vigorous as the first and I neglected the heat and sanitation is why I had such better luck on the early hatched ones."

No. 5 attributes his losses to having too many in the house causing an overcrowded condition. No. 6 did not have the brooder stove regulated properly before the chicks were put in the house and as a result about 70 were overheated the first night.

Small and weak chicks were the principal causes of losses in the case of No. 8. About half of the house was insulated on the sides and roof, and all of them had double flooring with paper between. The exact figures are not available showing a comparison between the fuel used in the insulated and non-insulated houses. However the owners of the insulated houses report that it is much easier to keep an even temperature and that it saves a large amount of fuel.

About a half square foot of floor space per chick is recommended. This is not wasteful but rather economical as shown in the table above where the houses were overcrowded as in the case of No. 1 and No. 5.

In conclusion, the demonstration brings out the following points: 1. Have the brooder house on clean ground where the farm lock has not been allowed to range.

2. A large per cent of losses are due to poor quality chicks. Buy chicks as near home as possible. Inquire from whose flock they come and see for yourself if the flock is of the standard you wish to have baby chicks from.

3. Do not overcrowd the house, as your losses will cut down the profit.

4. Keep an even temperature with proper ventilation.

5. Use plenty of feed troughs so that they can eat at any and all times. Use troughs, hoppers, and fountains that keep the chicks from getting their feet and droppings into the feed or water.

6. Use plenty of clean, dry litter and saw, straw or shavings, and change every week.

The average cost of the houses with four of them being insulated was $80. Blueprints for this type house can be secured from the Farm Bureau office.—D. D. Waincott, Cass Co. Extension Agent; Jessie H. Baldwin, Ass't Co. Extension Agent.

ADDRESSES WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. E. H. Wescott, chairman of the community service department of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, was at Fremont Monday where she was a guest of the club of that city. Mrs. Wescott spoke at the luncheon given at the Pathfinder hotel and in which she discussed the woman's club as a factor in community service and gave a great many very interesting phases of the work of her department in the different communities. Mrs. Wescott was also called upon to give one of her always charming vocal number and which was very much appreciated by the members of the club.

HAS CLOSE CALL SERVICES AT MYNARD

John L. Hild, one of the prominent young farmers west of Mynard had a very close call from serious injury on last Sunday afternoon while driving on highway No. 75 south of Murray. Mr. Hild was just turning into the driveway at the John Hobscheidt farm and as he started to swing out a car approached from the south and one also from the north and before the car of Mr. Hild had cleared the highway the car from the north, driven by Geo. Stites of Union, had crashed into the rear of the car of Mr. Hild and which was hurried around and overturned. The car of Mr. Hild had the whole side practically demolished by the impact and being buried into a large concrete post and it was only good luck that saved the driver from most serious injury. The car of Mr. Stites had the front bumper, one fender and a front tire damaged in the wreckage.

The Cass County Ministers' and Laymen's league will conduct on Sunday, Jan. 25, 1931, Rev. C. O. Troy of Plattsmouth and Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union will be the principal speakers. Fifteen minutes allotted to each speaker. Rev. O. G. Wichmann of Plattsmouth will read the scripture lesson; Rev. R. Murphree of Louisville will offer the opening prayer; Rev. R. Pinkham of Weeping Water, President of the Cass County Ministers and Laymen's League will act as chairman of this meeting. This is to be another Gospel Service full of inspiration and enthusiasm and encouragement for God's people. Let every Christian in Cass county remember this service in prayer and let us have a fine co-operation and a large attendance. H. R. KNOSP, Secretary.
