

MURDOCK DEPARTMENT.

PREPARED EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE JOURNAL.

TRUCKING

Live Stock and Grain
WALTER STROY
Phone 1403, Murdock, Nebr.

Cass county, Nebraska, where the father homesteaded four miles north of Elmwood, in 1869, and where the family experienced all the hardships known to the early settlers in Nebraska and played their part in that pioneer life.

On January 1, 1873, the deceased was united in marriage to George E. Buell, who preceded her in death on November 12, 1926.

To this union three sons and three daughters were born. Two of the daughters died in infancy. She leaves to mourn her departure, three sons, Frank E., Charlie M. and Fred B., and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, all of Elmwood and vicinity. Also one sister, Mrs. S. M. Cox of Oregon City, Oregon, and two brothers, George B. Woodard, of Albany, Oregon, and James N. Woodard, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and also seven grandchildren and many near and dear friends who cannot be numbered.

Mrs. Buell joined the M. E. church at an early age. She worshiped many years together with loved ones and friends at what was known as the Carter school house, located in their immediate vicinity in those early days. Later she transferred her membership to Murdock and a few years ago to Elmwood, where she proved as faithful and helpful as ever until the final summons came and her sweet, humble spirit left this temporal house of clay and took its flight to the realms of eternal day.

Ten years ago she and her husband retired from the farm and moved to Elmwood to make their home, where they lived peaceably and happily together five more years, making a total of 53 years of successful married life. Their oneness of purpose and their continually striving together for one great end made their home not only a place of refuge and shelter, but a place of comfort and happiness for loved ones and friends.

The last five years were a bit more lonely, but she never had her many friends and especially her dear Lord and Savior proved to be her constant comfort and joy in whatever circumstances she found herself. Her life was not without the usual troubles and heartaches, but she bore them bravely without complaint or bitterness. She was always fairly well. She never suffered severely or long at any one time. The evening of January 4th last, while on her way to church, she was hit by a passing automobile one block west of her home in Elmwood and was severely bruised. In four or five weeks she had sufficiently recovered to be up, when things seemed suddenly to have taken a turn for the worse.

During the past few weeks she was tenderly and lovingly cared for at the home of her son Fred, by her children, who were all at her bedside at the time of her death.

She will be greatly missed by her loved ones and her friends. Her life has been lived. Her useful earthly life is ended. She kept the faith, she finished the course and there awaits her and every one who finishes the course in faith and obedience, the crown of everlasting life. It is for us to take up the task that she and other precious ones have so nobly begun.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, March 3rd, at the Methodist church in Elmwood. Rev. J. A. Klein delivered the sermon and Rev. Chas. Lewien offered prayer. The interment was made at the Washburn cemetery.

"The City Four Square" was sung by Mrs. Opal Clements, Misses Ethel West and Pearl Cozman and Catherine West. The favorite song of the family, "I'm a Soldier in the Army of the Lord," was sung by Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, Mrs. Opal Clements sang Grandma Buell's favorite song, "The Old Rugged Cross." The floral offering were beautiful and were nicely arranged by Mrs. W. D. Skeen.

The Journal, which is indebted to the Elmwood Leader-Echo for much of the information contained herein, desires to add its condolences to the surviving members of the family in the loss of a noble and kind mother and to the neighbors and friends who are deprived of again seeing her cheerful and smiling countenance.

Swastika Club Meets

The Swastika club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Zoz on Friday afternoon, February 27th. The meeting was called to order by the president. Plans were made for the local achievement program, which will be held in the near future. Plans were also made for the singing contest. The lesson demonstration was planning of the kitchen cabinet.

Answers Final Summons

Mrs. George Buell, after a long illness, passed away at the home of her son, Fred, south of Murdock one day last week. Mrs. Buell was among the earliest residents of this great state, and had seen the country transformed from raw prairie into the highly cultivated farming community which it now is. Her good work and kindly influence in this community will be greatly missed.

Lilla Heith Woodard was born at Middleton, Conn., Sept. 16, 1856, and died on Sunday, March 1st, 1931, at the age of 74 years, 5 months and 15 days.

When three years of age she came with her parents to Toulon, Ill., and later westward to Tippecanoe, Iowa, and from that place they came direct to Murdock, Nebr.

She was a member of the Christian church, the treachery of false brethren and false teachers, the falling away of some, the love of others waxing cold; and looking further over the later history of His church. He saw a sadening picture of low morality, low ideals, avarice, ambition, dissension, and seeming failure. And therefore He warned His disciples beforehand that thus it must be, that in the visible church the evil must ever be mixed with the good and that earnest men must not lose heart nor be impatient because they cannot make the church as pure as they would have it. The parable is interesting from the light it throws upon our Lord's person. He is the chief character throughout and is endowed with divine attributes. He is the householder, the sower of the seed, the antagonist of Satan, the Lord of the world. The angels are His ministers and do His bidding. In the kingdom of heaven He is the king and has the power to doom to heaven and hell. The field belongs to Christ; the seed is His word; the enemy is the devil; the tares; see Math. 13:19. While men slept—this detail may indicate the subtlety of the evil one in introducing evil into the church in ways that cannot be traced. The tares in the church are no evidence that the church has no good foundation, but that she has an enemy that hates her. Were it not so, he would not molest her. The wonder is that the church has survived in spite of all the evil he has done to destroy her. We have one great consolation, that the tares will not destroy the wheat. As the servants see the tares among the wheat, they become very solicitous for the harvest, and we are glad that they asked the Lord before they cut and gathered the tares. Had the church at all times asked the Lord first, taking their troubles to Him in prayer, we surely would not have the many schisms and denominations in the world. No sooner has a number of men started a new church and set up her machinery, than there are found tares sprouting and in so many years, another church is started; hence the seventeen kinds of Methodists, eighteen different bodies of Lutherans, etc. Men make serious mistakes when they attempt to remove the tares; that is the one thing that the Lord will do himself, using the angels as helpers.

There and at that time the just Lord will mete out to everyone his due portion. In this world it is possible for God to change tares into wheat. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, who will remove men of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He will lead men the way to God, work repentance, a goodly sorrow for sin and bring salvation in Christ Jesus to the sin sick soul and bring peace and joy to them that believe and witness with their spirit that they are the children of God.

The next parable will deal with the growth of seed.

Parables of Jesus

WHEAT AND TARES. (Math. 13: 24-30).

This parable starts out with sowing, like the first, but points out a different side of the Kingdom. In the first parable, we find that the field is the world; here it is the church on earth. It is thus regarded as a visible society embracing good and evil. This parable is one of the greatest, most characteristic and most fruitful. In it Christ looked from the present to the distant future. He foresaw that scandal and offenses would soon arise, which would cause great searchings of heart; the denial of Peter; the treachery of Judas; the deceit of Ananias, the quarrels among the Apostles, the parties in the church, the sensuality of the Corinthians, the treachery of false brethren and false teachers, the falling away of some, the love of others waxing cold; and looking further over the later history of His church. He saw a sadening picture of low morality, low ideals, avarice, ambition, dissension, and seeming failure. And therefore He warned His disciples beforehand that thus it must be, that in the visible church the evil must ever be mixed with the good and that earnest men must not lose heart nor be impatient because they cannot make the church as pure as they would have it.

The parable is interesting from the light it throws upon our Lord's person. He is the chief character throughout and is endowed with divine attributes. He is the householder, the sower of the seed, the antagonist of Satan, the Lord of the world. The angels are His ministers and do His bidding. In the kingdom of heaven He is the king and has the power to doom to heaven and hell. The field belongs to Christ; the seed is His word; the enemy is the devil; the tares; see Math. 13:19. While men slept—this detail may indicate the subtlety of the evil one in introducing evil into the church in ways that cannot be traced. The tares in the church are no evidence that the church has no good foundation, but that she has an enemy that hates her. Were it not so, he would not molest her. The wonder is that the church has survived in spite of all the evil he has done to destroy her. We have one great consolation, that the tares will not destroy the wheat. As the servants see the tares among the wheat, they become very solicitous for the harvest, and we are glad that they asked the Lord before they cut and gathered the tares. Had the church at all times asked the Lord first, taking their troubles to Him in prayer, we surely would not have the many schisms and denominations in the world. No sooner has a number of men started a new church and set up her machinery, than there are found tares sprouting and in so many years, another church is started; hence the seventeen kinds of Methodists, eighteen different bodies of Lutherans, etc. Men make serious mistakes when they attempt to remove the tares; that is the one thing that the Lord will do himself, using the angels as helpers.

There and at that time the just Lord will mete out to everyone his due portion. In this world it is possible for God to change tares into wheat. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, who will remove men of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He will lead men the way to God, work repentance, a goodly sorrow for sin and bring salvation in Christ Jesus to the sin sick soul and bring peace and joy to them that believe and witness with their spirit that they are the children of God.

The next parable will deal with the growth of seed.

Trucking!
We do trucking of all kinds.
Specials on Stock: Pick-up loads to Omaha, 25¢ per 100 lbs.; Full loads, 20¢ per 100. Day or night service. Call No. 2020.

RAY GAMLIN
Murdock, Nebr.

TRUCKING

Live Stock and Grain
WALTER STROY
Phone 1403, Murdock, Nebr.

Cass county, Nebraska, where the father homesteaded four miles north of Elmwood, in 1869, and where the family experienced all the hardships known to the early settlers in Nebraska and played their part in that pioneer life.

On January 1, 1873, the deceased was united in marriage to George E. Buell, who preceded her in death on November 12, 1926.

To this union three sons and three daughters were born. Two of the daughters died in infancy. She leaves to mourn her departure, three sons, Frank E., Charlie M. and Fred B., and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, all of Elmwood and vicinity. Also one sister, Mrs. S. M. Cox of Oregon City, Oregon, and two brothers, George B. Woodard, of Albany, Oregon, and James N. Woodard, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and also seven grandchildren and many near and dear friends who cannot be numbered.

Mrs. Buell joined the M. E. church at an early age. She worshiped many years together with loved ones and friends at what was known as the Carter school house, located in their immediate vicinity in those early days. Later she transferred her membership to Murdock and a few years ago to Elmwood, where she proved as faithful and helpful as ever until the final summons came and her sweet, humble spirit left this temporal house of clay and took its flight to the realms of eternal day.

Ten years ago she and her husband retired from the farm and moved to Elmwood to make their home, where they lived peaceably and happily together five more years, making a total of 53 years of successful married life. Their oneness of purpose and their continually striving together for one great end made their home not only a place of refuge and shelter, but a place of comfort and happiness for loved ones and friends.

The last five years were a bit more lonely, but she never had her many friends and especially her dear Lord and Savior proved to be her constant comfort and joy in whatever circumstances she found herself. Her life was not without the usual troubles and heartaches, but she bore them bravely without complaint or bitterness. She was always fairly well. She never suffered severely or long at any one time. The evening of January 4th last, while on her way to church, she was hit by a passing automobile one block west of her home in Elmwood and was severely bruised. In four or five weeks she had sufficiently recovered to be up, when things seemed suddenly to have taken a turn for the worse.

During the past few weeks she was tenderly and lovingly cared for at the home of her son Fred, by her children, who were all at her bedside at the time of her death.

She will be greatly missed by her loved ones and her friends. Her life has been lived. Her useful earthly life is ended. She kept the faith, she finished the course and there awaits her and every one who finishes the course in faith and obedience, the crown of everlasting life. It is for us to take up the task that she and other precious ones have so nobly begun.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, March 3rd, at the Methodist church in Elmwood. Rev. J. A. Klein delivered the sermon and Rev. Chas. Lewien offered prayer. The interment was made at the Washburn cemetery.

"The City Four Square" was sung by Mrs. Opal Clements, Misses Ethel West and Pearl Cozman and Catherine West. The favorite song of the family, "I'm a Soldier in the Army of the Lord," was sung by Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, Mrs. Opal Clements sang Grandma Buell's favorite song, "The Old Rugged Cross." The floral offering were beautiful and were nicely arranged by Mrs. W. D. Skeen.

The Journal, which is indebted to the Elmwood Leader-Echo for much of the information contained herein, desires to add its condolences to the surviving members of the family in the loss of a noble and kind mother and to the neighbors and friends who are deprived of again seeing her cheerful and smiling countenance.

Swastika Club Meets

The Swastika club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Zoz on Friday afternoon, February 27th. The meeting was called to order by the president. Plans were made for the local achievement program, which will be held in the near future. Plans were also made for the singing contest. The lesson demonstration was planning of the kitchen cabinet.

Answers Final Summons

Mrs. George Buell, after a long illness, passed away at the home of her son, Fred, south of Murdock one day last week. Mrs. Buell was among the earliest residents of this great state, and had seen the country transformed from raw prairie into the highly cultivated farming community which it now is. Her good work and kindly influence in this community will be greatly missed.

Lilla Heith Woodard was born at Middleton, Conn., Sept. 16, 1856, and died on Sunday, March 1st, 1931, at the age of 74 years, 5 months and 15 days.

When three years of age she came with her parents to Toulon, Ill., and later westward to Tippecanoe, Iowa, and from that place they came direct to Murdock, Nebr.

She was a member of the Christian church, the treachery of false brethren and false teachers, the falling away of some, the love of others waxing cold; and looking further over the later history of His church. He saw a sadening picture of low morality, low ideals, avarice, ambition, dissension, and seeming failure. And therefore He warned His disciples beforehand that thus it must be, that in the visible church the evil must ever be mixed with the good and that earnest men must not lose heart nor be impatient because they cannot make the church as pure as they would have it.

The parable is interesting from the light it throws upon our Lord's person. He is the chief character throughout and is endowed with divine attributes. He is the householder, the sower of the seed, the antagonist of Satan, the Lord of the world. The angels are His ministers and do His bidding. In the kingdom of heaven He is the king and has the power to doom to heaven and hell. The field belongs to Christ; the seed is His word; the enemy is the devil; the tares; see Math. 13:19. While men slept—this detail may indicate the subtlety of the evil one in introducing evil into the church in ways that cannot be traced. The tares in the church are no evidence that the church has no good foundation, but that she has an enemy that hates her. Were it not so, he would not molest her. The wonder is that the church has survived in spite of all the evil he has done to destroy her. We have one great consolation, that the tares will not destroy the wheat. As the servants see the tares among the wheat, they become very solicitous for the harvest, and we are glad that they asked the Lord before they cut and gathered the tares. Had the church at all times asked the Lord first, taking their troubles to Him in prayer, we surely would not have the many schisms and denominations in the world. No sooner has a number of men started a new church and set up her machinery, than there are found tares sprouting and in so many years, another church is started; hence the seventeen kinds of Methodists, eighteen different bodies of Lutherans, etc. Men make serious mistakes when they attempt to remove the tares; that is the one thing that the Lord will do himself, using the angels as helpers.

There and at that time the just Lord will mete out to everyone his due portion. In this world it is possible for God to change tares into wheat. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, who will remove men of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He will lead men the way to God, work repentance, a goodly sorrow for sin and bring salvation in Christ Jesus to the sin sick soul and bring peace and joy to them that believe and witness with their spirit that they are the children of God.

The next parable will deal with the growth of seed.

Parables of Jesus

WHEAT AND TARES. (Math. 13: 24-30).

This parable starts out with sowing, like the first, but points out a different side of the Kingdom. In the first parable, we find that the field is the world; here it is the church on earth. It is thus regarded as a visible society embracing good and evil. This parable is one of the greatest, most characteristic and most fruitful. In it Christ looked from the present to the distant future. He foresaw that scandal and offenses would soon arise, which would cause great searchings of heart; the denial of Peter; the treachery of Judas; the deceit of Ananias, the quarrels among the Apostles, the parties in the church, the sensuality of the Corinthians, the treachery of false brethren and false teachers, the falling away of some, the love of others waxing cold; and looking further over the later history of His church. He saw a sadening picture of low morality, low ideals, avarice, ambition, dissension, and seeming failure. And therefore He warned His disciples beforehand that thus it must be, that in the visible church the evil must ever be mixed with the good and that earnest men must not lose heart nor be impatient because they cannot make the church as pure as they would have it.

The parable is interesting from the light it throws upon our Lord's person. He is the chief character throughout and is endowed with divine attributes. He is the householder, the sower of the seed, the antagonist of Satan, the Lord of the world. The angels are His ministers and do His bidding. In the kingdom of heaven He is the king and has the power to doom to heaven and hell. The field belongs to Christ; the seed is His word; the enemy is the devil; the tares; see Math. 13:19. While men slept—this detail may indicate the subtlety of the evil one in introducing evil into the church in ways that cannot be traced. The tares in the church are no evidence that the church has no good foundation, but that she has an enemy that hates her. Were it not so, he would not molest her. The wonder is that the church has survived in spite of all the evil he has done to destroy her. We have one great consolation, that the tares will not destroy the wheat. As the servants see the tares among the wheat, they become very solicitous for the harvest, and we are glad that they asked the Lord before they cut and gathered the tares. Had the church at all times asked the Lord first, taking their troubles to Him in prayer, we surely would not have the many schisms and denominations in the world. No sooner has a number of men started a new church and set up her machinery, than there are found tares sprouting and in so many years, another church is started; hence the seventeen kinds of Methodists, eighteen different bodies of Lutherans, etc. Men make serious mistakes when they attempt to remove the tares; that is the one thing that the Lord will do himself, using the angels as helpers.

There and at that time the just Lord will mete out to everyone his due portion. In this world it is possible for God to change tares into wheat. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, who will remove men of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He will lead men the way to God, work repentance, a goodly sorrow for sin and bring salvation in Christ Jesus to the sin sick soul and bring peace and joy to them that believe and witness with their spirit that they are the children of God.

The next parable will deal with the growth of seed.

Trucking!
We do trucking of all kinds.
Specials on Stock: Pick-up loads to Omaha, 25¢ per 100 lbs.; Full loads, 20¢ per 100. Day or night service. Call No. 2020.

RAY GAMLIN
Murdock, Nebr.

TRUCKING

Live Stock and Grain
WALTER STROY
Phone 1403, Murdock, Nebr.

Cass county, Nebraska, where the father homesteaded four miles north of Elmwood, in 1869, and where the family experienced all the hardships known to the early settlers in Nebraska and played their part in that pioneer life.

On January 1, 1873, the deceased was united in marriage to George E. Buell, who preceded her in death on November 12, 1926.

To this union three sons and three daughters were born. Two of the daughters died in infancy. She leaves to mourn her departure, three sons, Frank E., Charlie M. and Fred B., and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, all of Elmwood and vicinity. Also one sister, Mrs. S. M. Cox of Oregon City, Oregon, and two brothers, George B. Woodard, of Albany, Oregon, and James N. Woodard, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and also seven grandchildren and many near and dear friends who cannot be numbered.

Mrs. Buell joined the M. E. church at an early age. She worshiped many years together with loved ones and friends at what was known as the Carter school house, located in their immediate vicinity in those early days. Later she transferred her membership to Murdock and a few years ago to Elmwood, where she proved as faithful and helpful as ever until the final summons came and her sweet, humble spirit left this temporal house of clay and took its flight to the realms of eternal day.

Ten years ago she and her husband retired from the farm and moved to Elmwood to make their home, where they lived peaceably and happily together five more years, making a total of 53 years of successful married life. Their oneness of purpose and their continually striving together for one great end made their home not only a place of refuge and shelter, but a place of comfort and happiness for loved ones and friends.

The last five years were a bit more lonely, but she never had her many friends and especially her dear Lord and Savior proved to be her constant comfort and joy in whatever circumstances she found herself. Her life was not without the usual troubles and heartaches, but she bore them bravely without complaint or bitterness. She was always fairly well. She never suffered severely or long at any one time. The evening of January 4th last, while on her way to church, she was hit by a passing automobile one block west of her home in Elmwood and was severely bruised. In four or five weeks she had sufficiently recovered to be up, when things seemed suddenly to have taken a turn for the worse.

During the past few weeks she was tenderly and lovingly cared for at the home of her son Fred, by her children, who were all at her bedside at the time of her death.

She will be greatly missed by her loved ones and her friends. Her life has been lived. Her useful earthly life is ended. She kept the faith, she finished the course and there awaits her and every one who finishes the course in faith and obedience, the crown of everlasting life. It is for us to take up the task that she and other precious ones have so nobly begun.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, March 3rd, at the Methodist church in Elmwood. Rev. J. A. Klein delivered the sermon and Rev. Chas. Lewien offered prayer. The interment was made at the Washburn cemetery.

"The City Four Square" was sung by Mrs. Opal Clements, Misses Ethel West and Pearl Cozman and Catherine West. The favorite song of the family, "I'm a Soldier in the Army of the Lord," was sung by Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, Mrs. Opal Clements sang Grandma Buell's favorite song, "The Old Rugged Cross." The floral offering were beautiful and were nicely arranged by Mrs. W. D. Skeen.

The Journal, which is indebted to the Elmwood Leader-Echo for much of the information contained herein, desires to add its condolences to the surviving members of the family in the loss of a noble and kind mother and to the neighbors and friends who are deprived of again seeing her cheerful and smiling countenance.

Swastika Club Meets

The Swastika club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Zoz on Friday afternoon, February 27th. The meeting was called to order by the president. Plans were made for the local achievement program, which will be held in the near future. Plans were also made for the singing contest. The lesson demonstration was planning of the kitchen cabinet.

Answers Final Summons

Mrs. George Buell, after a long illness, passed away at the home of her son, Fred, south of Murdock one day last week. Mrs. Buell was among the earliest residents of this great state, and had seen the country transformed from raw prairie into the highly cultivated farming community which it now is. Her good work and kindly influence in this community will be greatly missed.

Lilla Heith Woodard was born at Middleton, Conn., Sept. 16, 1856, and died on Sunday, March 1st, 1931, at the age of 74 years, 5 months and 15 days.

When three years of age she came with her parents to Toulon, Ill., and later westward to Tippecanoe, Iowa, and from that place they came direct to Murdock, Nebr.

She was a member of the Christian church, the treachery of false brethren and false teachers, the falling away of some, the love of others waxing cold; and looking further over the later history of His church. He saw a sadening picture of low morality, low ideals, avarice, ambition, dissension, and seeming failure. And therefore He warned His disciples beforehand that thus it must be, that in the visible church the evil must ever be mixed with the good and that earnest men must not lose heart nor be impatient because they cannot make the church as pure as they would have it.

The parable is interesting from the light it throws upon our Lord's person. He is the chief character throughout and is endowed with divine attributes. He is the householder, the sower of the seed, the antagonist of Satan, the Lord of the world. The angels are His ministers and do His bidding. In the kingdom of heaven He is the king and has the power to doom to heaven and hell. The field belongs to Christ; the seed is His word; the enemy is the devil; the tares; see Math. 13:19. While men slept—this detail may indicate the subtlety of the evil one in introducing evil into the church in ways that cannot be traced. The tares in the church are no evidence that the church has no good foundation, but that she has an enemy that hates her. Were it not so, he would not molest her. The wonder is that the church has survived in spite of all the evil he has done to destroy her. We have one great consolation, that the tares will not destroy the wheat. As the servants see the tares among the wheat, they become very solicitous for the harvest, and we are glad that they asked the Lord before they cut and gathered the tares. Had the church at all times asked the Lord first, taking their troubles to Him in prayer, we surely would not have the many schisms and denominations in the world. No sooner has a number of men started a new church and set up her machinery, than there are found tares sprouting and in so many years, another church is started; hence the seventeen kinds of Methodists, eighteen different bodies of Lutherans, etc. Men make serious mistakes when they attempt to remove the tares; that is the one thing that the Lord will do himself, using the angels as helpers.

There and at that time the just Lord will mete out to everyone his due portion. In this world it is possible for God to change tares into wheat. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, who will remove men of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He will lead men the way to God, work repentance, a goodly sorrow for sin and bring salvation in Christ Jesus to the sin sick soul and bring peace and joy to them that believe and witness with their spirit that they are the children of God.

The next parable will deal with the growth of seed.

Parables of Jesus

WHEAT AND TARES. (Math. 13: 24-30).

This parable starts out with sowing, like the first, but points out a different side of the Kingdom. In the first parable, we find that the field is the world; here it is the church on earth. It is thus regarded as a visible society embracing good and evil. This parable is one of the greatest, most characteristic and most fruitful. In it Christ looked from the present to the distant future. He foresaw that scandal and offenses would soon arise, which would cause great searchings of heart; the denial of Peter; the treachery of Judas; the deceit of Ananias, the quarrels among the Apostles, the parties in the church, the sensuality of the Corinthians, the treachery of false brethren and false teachers, the falling away of some, the love of others waxing cold; and looking further over the later history of His church. He saw a sadening picture of low morality, low ideals, avarice, ambition, dissension, and seeming failure. And therefore He warned His disciples beforehand that thus it must be, that in the visible church the evil must ever be mixed with the good and that earnest men must not lose heart nor be impatient because they cannot make the church as pure as they would have it.

The parable is interesting from the light it throws upon our Lord's person. He is the chief character throughout and is endowed with divine attributes. He is the householder, the sower of the seed, the antagonist of Satan, the Lord of the world. The angels are His ministers and do His bidding. In the kingdom of heaven He is the king and has the power to doom to heaven and hell. The field belongs to Christ; the seed is His word; the enemy is the devil; the tares; see Math. 13:19. While men slept—this detail may indicate the subtlety of the evil one in introducing evil into the church in ways that cannot be traced. The tares in the church are no evidence that the church has no good foundation, but that she has an enemy that hates her. Were it not so, he would not molest her. The wonder is that the church has survived in spite of all the evil he has done to destroy her. We have one great consolation, that the tares will not destroy the wheat. As the servants see the tares among the wheat, they become very solicitous for the harvest, and we are glad that they asked the Lord before they cut and gathered the tares. Had the church at all times asked the Lord first, taking their troubles to Him in prayer, we surely would not have the many schisms and denominations in the world. No sooner has a number of men started a new church and set up her machinery, than there are found tares sprouting and in so many years, another church is started; hence the seventeen kinds of Methodists, eighteen different bodies of Lutherans, etc. Men make serious mistakes when they attempt to remove the tares; that is the one thing that the Lord will do himself, using the angels as helpers.

There and at that time the just Lord will mete out to everyone his due portion. In this world it is possible for God to change tares into wheat. This is the work of the Holy Spirit, who will remove men of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He will lead men the way to God, work repentance, a goodly sorrow for sin and bring salvation in Christ Jesus to the sin sick soul and bring peace and joy to them that believe and witness with their spirit that they are the children of God.

The next parable will deal with the growth of seed.

Trucking!
We do trucking of all kinds.
Specials on Stock: Pick-up loads to Omaha, 25¢ per 100 lbs.; Full loads, 20¢ per 100. Day or night service. Call No. 2020.

RAY GAMLIN
Murdock, Nebr.

TRUCKING

Live Stock and Grain
WALTER STROY
Phone 1403, Murdock, Nebr.

Cass county, Nebraska, where the father homesteaded four miles north of Elmwood, in 1869, and where the family experienced all the hardships known to the early settlers in Nebraska and played their part in that pioneer life.

On January 1, 1873, the deceased was united in marriage to George E. Buell, who preceded her in death on November 12, 1926.

To this union three sons and three daughters were born. Two of the daughters died in infancy. She leaves to mourn her departure, three sons, Frank E., Charlie M. and Fred B., and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Rosenkoetter, all of Elmwood and vicinity. Also one sister, Mrs. S. M. Cox of Oregon City, Oregon, and two brothers, George B. Woodard, of Albany, Oregon, and James N. Woodard, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and also seven grandchildren and many near and dear friends who cannot be numbered.

Mrs. Buell joined the M. E. church at an early age. She worshiped many years together with loved ones and friends at what was known as the Carter school house, located in their immediate vicinity in those early days. Later she transferred her membership to Murdock and a few years ago to Elmwood, where she proved as faithful and helpful as ever until the final summons came and her sweet, humble spirit left this temporal house of clay and took its flight to the realms of eternal day.

Ten years ago she and her husband retired from the farm and moved to Elmwood to make their home, where they lived peaceably and happily together five more years, making a total of 53 years of successful married life. Their oneness of purpose and their continually striving together for one great end made their home not only a place of refuge and shelter, but a place of comfort and happiness for loved ones