MYERS SELLS CAFE TO M. CRAIG

A deal was made the first of last week whereby C. E. Myers traded his cafe business here to M. Craig of Plattsmouth, taking residence property in that city in on the deal. Possession was given at once and Mr. and Mrs. Craig are now operating the cafe. They will occupy apartments immediately over the cafe for the present at least.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig are not entire strangers to Glenwood people, being the parents of Roy Craig of this city and also having formerly been in the restaurant business here, operating a cafe in the Mershon building on the west side of the square some 10 years ago.—Glenwood Opinion.

Bellevue College to Again Serve as School

Iowa Minister to Lease Buildings and Conduct School for Study of Church Problems.

Bellevue college buildings and property, seven miles north of this city, idle and unoccupied for the most part since 1922, have been leased to Rev. Theodore B. Turner of Corning, Ia., who plans to operate a modern educational institution there. He is a brother of Governor Dan W. Turner of Iowa.

Trustees of the college have approved contract for the lease, which will run for five years, and the deal awaits the formal signatures, for which Rev. Mr. Turner is expected to arrive in Omaha early next week. According to Dr. A. B. Marshall, Bellevue, chairman of the board of trustees of Bellevue college, the plans call for giving of short courses for business or professional persons, though the details have not yet been worked out.

"School of Applied Christianity" is one name being considered, Rev. Turner announced today at Corning. Adults and young people of all denominations and both sexes will be admitted for short courses of training in problems affecting churches. It will be run largely on the vacation plan.

"There will be no degrees and no diplomas," he said today. "We will aim in short courses to give practical and efficient guidance on many problems which are perplexing the churches."

The move has the sanction of the national board of education of the Presbyterian church, he said. Plans for financing also remain uncertain. This summer the plant and grounds will be used for young people's conferences. The new courses will open in September.

Rev. Mr. Turner was formerly an instructor at Grinnell college, Grinnell, Ia., teaching physical education chiefly. A score of years ago he held records in distance running while a student at Princeton. Ordained as a Presbyterian minister, he has for a number of years spent most of his time managing extensive property holdings in and near Corning.

ROCK CREEK STATION ROBBED

From Monday's Daily.—The Rock Creek filling station east of Murray was burglarized last night and some $20 worth of goods of various kinds taken from the station and the small confectionary stand maintained by the station. The screen door of the building was torn loose and the glass on the inside door broken and which permitted the opening of the door and the entrance to the building. The station is closed usually near 10 o'clock at night and the robbery is thought to have occurred late in the night or early morning. The articles taken covered cigars, cigarettes, a carton of gum, a box of Hershey bars, two gallons of oil, a gallon measure and five inner tubes. The burglary was discovered this morning when Charles Barrows, manager of the station, arrived to open up for the days business.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon read at all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, April 26, was "Probation after Death." The lesson shows that the experience commonly called death is not to be regarded as a friend, and that mortals do not by that means become freed from materiality, but that whatever errors of thought and life that they may cling to still have to be overcome by right understanding of God and obedience to divine law. A part of one citation that was read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 290) is as follows: "The sin and error which possess us at the instant of death do not cease at that moment, but endure until the end of these errors. To be wholly spiritual, man must be sinless, and he becomes thus only when he reaches perfection." The following is one of the Biblical references read: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God.—For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God."

The Sons of Herman will meet next Sunday, May 2nd. There will be election of officers. Please attend a28-2d-1w ADOLPH GEISE.

River Bill is Ready to Present to the Senate

To Spend Fund for Survey of Water Resources in State—Plea to Kill Fails.

Lincoln, Neb., April 28.—The senate today advanced House Bill 432, the measure which, as it passed the house, appropriated five thousand dollars to be used in co-operation with other states in furtherance of constructing a channel in the upper Missouri river. It had been completely rewritten, however, by Senator H. Wellensiek of Grand Island, one of the leading opponents of waterways development in the senate, to provide that the money be used to pay the expenses of a state commission which is to be created to investigate the entire subject of water resources in the state, including navigation, irrigation, flood control and power development.

After rewriting the bill, Senator Wellensiek offered the motion to kill the measure, but was defeated in this move by a vote of 20 to 10.

Although supporters of the original measure asserted that the amendment in effect destroyed its real purpose, that of assisting in bringing about more rapid work in construction of the channel, they nevertheless strongly opposed its death.

"Is Partial Indorsement." Senator William Randall of Omaha pointed out that even the amended bill carried partial indorsement of the waterways program.

"This bill will stand as a record that Nebraska favors the river development," he said, "even if it isn't clean cut as we had hoped for."

He pointed out that Iowa recently appropriated 10 thousand dollars to be used strictly for the promotion of river work.

Senator Charles Allen asserted that if the legislature refuses to pass the bill it will be "a direct slap in the face of the federal government."

"They don't need much encouragement back in Washington," he said, "to drop the work out here and spend the money somewhere else, and that's just what will happen if this state doesn't wake up."

"Inseparably Connected." Irrigation and navigation are inseparably connected, he asserted.

In asking that the bill be killed, Wellensiek declared that Nebraska "should go on record as opposing spending any more money on waterway development, either here or elsewhere."

He and Senator Wherry of Pawnee City contended that development of river navigation would benefit only the river towns, and would operate to the detriment of inland cities by increasing railroad rates.

"Every ton of traffic you take away from the railroads is going to result in an increase in their rates later on to make up for the loss," Senator Wherry asserted.—World-Herald.
