Steady Employment is the Hope of Industry

Topic Up at Meeting of Cabinet—Five Day Working Week Finding Some Support

Washington—Some key industries are co-operating toward a boost business plan under which workers would be guaranteed long time employment. How soon an announcement can be expected is indefinite but it might come within a short time. The movement for such employment assurance has been encouraged by the United States chamber of commerce, which has experts intent on devising an unemployment relief program for submission to President Hoover before Sept. 1. The president meanwhile continues his conferences on the business and employment situation. The topic was up at Friday's cabinet meeting.

Also, Senator Dickinson of Iowa emerged from a discussion of the problem with Mr. Hoover with the statement that "an administration plan" is in the offing. He did not go into details. Neither was there any word whether the efforts of the key industries' representatives are being detailed with the president's announced activities.

One factor getting administration attention involves the five day week, which some major industries are understood here to be coming to favor. But promise of difficulty has been seen because these industries are reported to be counting on five days pay for the week, while organized labor wants six days' pay.

The plan for employment guarantees insofar as details have filtered out, at present calls for industries to assure a stated number of their numbers that they need not fear for their jobs with profitable pay for a specified length of time. The president has left no doubt among his associates that he considers steps toward guaranteed employment of dominant importance, both in combating existent depression and as a buffer against future slumps.

Many business and labor leaders believe that if workers in a number of leading industries were told their jobs are safe it would be a major step toward restoring confidence. In this connection it was said in informed business circles a sense of insecurity has caused millions regularly employed to cut their normal expenditures, although the fall in commodity values has put them in a better financial position than when the depression began. The steady increase in savings, despite the business slump, has been cited by businessmen as proof that people are afraid to spend.—State Journal.

Student Soldiers Return to Fort Crook Today

This Afternoon the Members of the C. M. T. C. Hike Back to the Army Post After Shoot

From Friday's Daily—
The members of the Fort Crook C. M. T. C. had one big day Thursday when they were put through the strenuous shooting practice at the government rifle range north of this city.

The members of the provisional companies were on the range shortly after their arrival Thursday morning, staking out the shelter tents on the range and where the camp for the night was made. As soon as the camp was established the work of firing was started and kept up until retreat last evening.

The chief conversation at the camp last evening was that of "what was your score?" as well as that other mooted question, the army, "the command," but the commanding officer of the camp decided that the rest was more vital than the pass and the student soldiers accordingly were kept in the camp.

The members of the camp made some very good showings in their practice and from their work will be awarded the medals and citations for the marksmanship that they amply have shown.

The boys at the camp stated that they have been well fed during the camp but the meals yesterday after the exercise and the hard work on the range, seemed the best that they had had since coming to camp and the array of food that the cooks had prepared soon disappeared before the youthful soldiers whetted appetites.

This afternoon just after the noon meal and a short rest period, the command, "fall in," started the members of the C. M. T. C. on the hike back to their camp at Fort Crook and giving the boys another touch of the old army life—seeing the world on foot with a rifle as a companion.

URGE PAVED ROAD

A delegation of Cass county residents, representing a number of the communities of the county, were at Lincoln Thursday where they were discussing with the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, the importance of the paving of the "O" street road or No. 24. H. A. Schneider, president of the Plattsmouth Chamber of Commerce was the chairman of the committee and presented the views of the delegation.

The Cass county residents presented the fact that the highway is some twelve miles shorter than the highway in Otoe county which has also been mentioned as a route for the paved road from the Missouri river to Lincoln.

The highway is one that serves residents along the north line of Otoe as well as southern Cass county and its paving in part or whole is looked for as one of the 1932 good roads movements in Nebraska.

The members of the delegation were: C. E. Teft, W. L. Hobson, J. J. Meier, Troy L. Davis, Weeping Water; W. B. Banning, George Stites, Union; H. A. Schneider, Plattsmouth; Marion Tucker, Raymond; Rollard, Nehawka; Clapp, B. Clements, Elmwood; Elmer Hallstrom, Fred Carstens, Avoca.

MURRAY WINS CLOSE GAME

The Murray Red Sox and the Fort Crook soldiers staged another thrilling seven inning game Thursday at Weeping Water and in which the Sox were the winner by the score of 5 to 4, and wot a game.

The soldiers started in like a flash and in the first frame had two scores while the Sox were unable to tally. In the second Cholcher, Sox catcher, hit safely and scored on the blow of Louis Svoboda. In the third the Sox tied up the score when J. Svoboda was safe on an error and scored when Pierce doubled. The fourth saw the two teams both scoring with the Sox adding two points to their scoring. Newman hitting safely and J. Svoboda also securing a bingle, Newman scoring when Stone hit safely and Cholcher scoring Svoboda with a safe poke.

The sixth inning saw the Fort Crook team loading the bases with no one out and the game looked to be blowed, but a fast double from Hopkins to Svoboda cleared the atmosphere, with Hopkins striking out the succeeding player.

With the score knotted in the last of the seventh, Stone hit to get on base and was scored when Livingston bunted down the first base line to score Stone and ending the game.

OBITUARY

Harvey Henry Madsen was born at Plattsmouth June 11, 1903. He passed away at Laramie, Wyo., Aug. 1, 1931. His age was 28 years, 1 month and 19 days.

Most of his boyhood days were spent with his grandmother at Avoca, Nebr., where he attended the public school until he was 14 years of age. He then went to live with an aunt in Omaha. Some time later he left for the western coast, where his health failed him. He again returned to Avoca and was soon after taken to an Omaha hospital, where he remained for four weeks. Thinking he had regained strength enough to go to a more suitable climate, he left Avoca on July 21st, with his mother for Salt Lake City, Utah, where they expected to make their home. His condition became serious on the way, necessitating his entering the Laramie hospital in Wyoming, where he remained until his death. The cause was valvular heart trouble and tuberclosis, the doctors stated.

Harvey gave full assurance of his hope beyond and made his peace with God, long before death. He felt his time was not long for this world and often mentioned his satisfaction in spending his early years with his grandmother here, who cared for him so loyally.

He leaves to mourn, his father and mother, one sister, his grandmother, Mrs. Florine Durham, four aunts, four uncles, and a goodly number of cousins.

WOODMEN PLAN FIELD DAY

A Woodmen of the World field day, in which all Woodmen of southeastern Nebraska and their families and friends are invited to participate, will be held Sunday, Aug. 30, at Naeve's park, between Omaha and Plattsmouth on highway No. 75.

Festivities will commence at noon with a basket lunch. Shortly after lunch, a large class of candidates will be obligated. Other features will be an athletic exhibition, men, women and children and a short speaking program.

A barbeque lunch will be served at 5 p. m. Free dancing in the large pavilion will be held from 7 p. m. to 11 p. m. Invitations have been extended to state officials, commissioners of Douglas, Sarpy and Cass counties and to the city commissioners of Omaha to attend the outing. Delegations from Lincoln, Ashland, Blair, Nebraska City, Wisner, Syracuse and Tekamah are expected to attend.

WHAT TO DO WITH CONTAINERS?

In the confiscation of much contraband liquor, beer, etc., the county has come into possession of a great many bottles, and jugs of varying size and quality. Now the question arises what to do with the aforesaid jugs, bottles, etc., whether to destroy them or follow the rulings of the law that they be sold. The principal of the sale of the bottles for someone else to start in on the manufacture of more liquor, seems to be rather a paradox, the general plan of the county officers is to have the containers destroyed and placed out of the way of temptation. However with the fact that Deputy Sheriff Young is one of the best auctioneers in the state, if the bottles are offered for sale there should be some warm bidding for the bargain counter offerings of the jugs and bottles.

MAKE RAID NEAR LOUISVILLE

From Saturday's Daily—
This morning Deputy Sheriff Rex

Young, Pat Reed, Constable Tom Svoboda and Officer David Pickrel, motored out to the vicinity of Louisville where they made a raid at the home of Mrs. Clara Novak, southwest of town. A search of the premises revealed over 100 quarts of beer as well as a copper boiler used in the manufacture of the beer as well as hose, cappers and a large amount of empty whiskey bottles. The contraband as well as the owner was brought on into this city to be lodged in jail until the disposal of her case. The charge of possession will be lodged against Mrs. Novak if was stated at the court house this afternoon.
