At first he did not realize the seriousness of the accident and kept on working until it began to swell and at 8 o'clock called Dr. E. H. Worthman who placed it in a sling. HAVE TURNED ON THE GAS

Natural gas was turned on in Louisville this week and a number of families will soon be using natural gas for the first time. The popular question now is "Are you going to put in gas?" Local hardware stores have neat displays of gas ranges and water heaters but many seem inclined to hold back until their neighbors give the new fuel a try-out. New Business Urge Reported from Midwest

Outlook Called Definitely Brighter Especially in Building Trades and Industries

Chicago—What appear to be definite signs of increased business activity in the middle West are found in the latest statistics coming to hand. Important among these is the brighter outlook for the building materials industry. The starting in the near future of the work on the new post office and the Field estate building in Chicago will cause a heavy demand for cement, sand, gravel, stone, form lumber, brick and hollow tile.

Structural steel inquiries and orders were numerous in this territory and more important tonages are expected to come within the next few weeks.

The prevailing low prices for copper have brought many orders for finished products into the market, and various plants are operating on capacity schedules. Increased activity also is noted among a number of paper companies.

The wholesale merchandising field has maintained a good volume of orders from merchants putting in their fall and winter stocks. Activity in retail establishments has been quiet, although preparations for the return of children to school is expected to bring about increased sales.

Grains have gone to new low prices on the Chicago Board of Trade. Restricted European buying and heavy shipments from Russia were depressing influences. Domestic supplies of wheat continue to pile up and the stocks are the largest in history and nearly 50,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago.

Security prices on the exchanges in the middle West have shown a tendency toward easier levels, but here and there selected issues have advanced in response to special conditions. On the Chicago Exchange, Bendix Aviation has been the outstanding performer, moving up almost without interruption in response to the company's announcement of new products which are expected to bring additional revenues to the company.

Another Natural Gas Line Projected for Year 1932

Eastern Authorities Tell of New Line of Continental Co. to Supply New England

From the current issue of "Time," published in New York, is a special article on the great natural gas pipelines that extend from the Texas and Oklahoma fields to Chicago, passing through Cass county and which is laid under the waters of the Missouri river at this point, being owned by the Continental Construction Co.

The article which is given below touches on a matter that has been generally rumored in this section for the past few months, that of the construction of another of the large pipelines from the southern fields to the east and which was to follow the right of way of the first line of the Continental Co.

Engineering work has been done here recently along the line south of this city to the Missouri river traffic bridge on which structure the pipeline of the Missouri Valley Co. is laid and this has led to the belief that the new line of the Continental company would cross over the river here on the bridge instead of the underwater crossing of the line that bridges Chicago with the natural gas.

The article from "Time," is as follows:

"Last week tests were still being made on the 24-inch pipe running from the Texas Panhandle to Chicago, covering 950 miles, expected to be in operation by the end of the

The school year started out under the best of circumstances and it is hoped that all will make the best of progress possible during the coming nine months' intensive training period.

Will Feed Hogs Also
Uncle Dan Kelley and the boys on the farm, who have an abundance of rough feed as well as plenty of the very best of grain and who are now feeding a number of cattle will add to their holdings a number of hogs, thus demonstrating faith in the business of providing foodstuff for the public and not believing (as some evidently do) that the world has gone to the bow-wows, for as surely as the sun shines and the earth is round, there is a brighter day ahead for the farmers and all of us, the dawn of which economists say is now in sight. Let us all do our part to speed the arrival of that day.

Would be of Great Advantage

The current year's graveling program in Lancaster county has brought a gravelled highway to the county line one mile west of Greenwood, leaving a gap in the road that may easily influence people who would otherwise come to Greenwood to do their trading, to go elsewhere unless they have an all-weather road to travel over. This mile of highway in Cass county and should be looked after by all means. The people of Greenwood are willing to join with
