TAKE HIGH STANDING

Three Plattsmouth young people who are entering the University of Nebraska this year as freshmen have ranked high in their examinations in English which they are required to take. The young people have been placed in class C, the highest ranking grade, and their first record is very pleasing to the local school. The young people who took the examination were James Begley, Miss Vestetta Robertson and Robert R. Livingston. These three students have had high standings in the high school work and promise some real results with a fast and well balanced team. The locals are expecting to be in the best of shape for the contest and have their regular line up to face the invaders from the Omaha suburb. The fans should not fail to attend this good fast game.
