VERY GENEROUS RAINFALL

The last twenty-four hours has seen a rainfall of .80 of an inch in this community, placing the soil in the best of shape for wheat, with plenty of moisture before the freezing weather sets in.

The Aweont campfire met at the public library on Nov. 11, which was Armistice day.

We opened the meeting by giving the campfire hand sign. We then sang "America" led by Betty Ann McCarty, the song leader.

The "American Creed" was given by one of the new members, Elva Johnson. Rachel Robertson gave a little talk on Armistice day.

We planned for the "Big hop" like on Saturday afternoon. Mary Jane Marks gave a report on what we're supposed to bring and who our partners are in making fires.

Our guardian mentioned that we could have free shoe and underwear fund. With this we will have to raise $75.

After that we sang "Over There" which was suggested by Mary Katherine Wiles. Then we sang "That's a Camp Fire Girl." Then the meeting was adjourned.

Building to Treaty Limits Not Planned

Navy's Highest Officer Explains His Stand—Feels a Careful Re-Placement Better.

Washington—The navy's highest officer said Friday it never was intended to build the fleet up to London treaty limits by the time that pact expires in 1936. Besides that, he added, "no right thinking" naval officer would want that to happen. Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations made the statement. He was explaining that President Hoover's reduced budget plan, announced Thursday, means a substantial number of vessels will be placed in reserve. "Certainly not, we never intended that it should be," was the admiral's reply who asked if the navy could be built up to treaty tonnage by 1935. "Why, no right thinking American naval officer would want such a thing. We are suffering now from having rushed construction all at one time so that our ships become over-age all at once," he added. The British fleet is substantially up to the treaty limit. The United States fleet, at the present rate of construction, will be 250,000 tons short of parity in effective under age ships by July, 1935.

"What I want to find is the eventual strength at which the fleet will be fixed and then build up steadily to it, replacing each year a few vessels so that we shall always have a large number of modern ships," Pratt said.

Other treaties may alter the American tonnage, the admiral explained, but in any case he regarded it essential to get construction on a steady base to go on unchanged year after year, at a speed that will meet replacement needs in every category of combatant vessels. It might take fifteen years of slow building to reach this point, he suggested.—State Journal.

GOES TO WEST COAST

W. B. Banning of Union Thursday morning, left for Omaha, where he boarded the Union Pacific Flyer for Portland and the coast. He will attend to business matters, which are the reasons for the trip, at Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, B. C., and plans for a stop at Bellingham, Wash. or a little visit with his uncle, S. H. Lewis. He also hopes to find time to run down to Yakima, Wash., and see some of the big apple orchards before his return, which he expects to be in about two or three weeks. Hallas Banning drove him up to Omaha in time to catch the train.

Louisville Store Robbed by Two Hoboes

F. F. Crowell Store Loses Several Pairs of Shoes, Suit Cases and Other Articles

From Thursday's Daily
Sometime Wednesday night the front door of the store building of F. F. Crowell, at Louisville, was forced and the robbers made away with a number of articles from the store.

The loss as far as could be estimated by Mr. Crowell consisted of eight pairs of shoes, two suit cases and some overalls, altho the stock was mused over to a greater or less extent.

It was thought by Deputy Sheriff Rex Young and Pat Reed, who were called to the scene this morning after the robbery was discovered, that it was the work of some hoboes passing through the town. Tracks from the store led to the railroad yards and where it is thought the men were able to catch a train and make their way out of town.

The store that was robbed is a general store and a varied stock that was hard to check over to determine just what had been taken or the value of the articles.

SEEK CIGARETTE PEDDLERS

Friday afternoon two strangers were reported to be circulating around the city negotiating to dispose of a quantity of cigarettes, which aroused the suspicions of several and the matter was reported to the authorities. Deputy Sheriff Young, Pat Reed and Chief of Police Jess Elliott were out in an attempt to round up the parties, who had evidently left the city. Several parties were questioned, but were not the men sought. It was thought that perhaps the men were members of some gang that had been involved in store robberies in this part of the state.

TAKE CASE TO FEDERAL COURT

The action for $50,000 damages filed by Clay Snodgrass against the Missouri Pacific railroad and the Franklin Brothers Co., contractors, which was filed here several weeks ago, is being transferred to the U. S. district court. The plaintiff is a resident of Missouri where the cause of the suit occurred, the filing being made here while the construction company was engaged in some work for the railroad near Wabash. The cause of action was personal injuries sustained in the wreck of a railroad motor car.

TO OPEN OVERPASS

The overhead crossing on highway No. 75, north of Nebraska City at the Mullis corner, will be opened for traffic in a few days, it was announced at Nebraska City Thursday. The Yant Construction Co., of Omaha, contractors on the job, are now busy in making the last touches on the viaduct, the workmen now placing the handrails, which will require but a few days. The rain of Wednesday prevented the men from working and as soon as their work is through on the hand rails, the rails will be painted and the bridge all completed.

Standard Floor Sanding Co.

6647 Bedford Avenue
Telephone WALnut 4765
Omaha, Nebraska

Shabby, worn floors will mar the appearance of any room and detract from the beauty of your furnishings, whether they be of the most simple variety or in the luxurious class. Especially is this true of homes that have been built for some years, floors often detract to the point of causing uneasiness and dissatisfaction with everything one owns.

Every season or a couple of times a year the housewives try to improve these worn floors and spend hours and hours of hard labor with very little if any improvement noticeable. What they need is resurfacing.

Resurfacing of the floors, increases the value of any home, regardless of its age, and the saving in eliminating floor coverings will go a long way toward having this work done.

Dirty, worn, partly varnished and sometimes painted—these floors will naturally "kill" the otherwise attractive features of a room or the entire house.

We are pleased to advise our readers that clean, smooth floors can now be had through the methods of the Standard Floor Sanding Co. in a short time and without cluttering up your home with a lot of workmen—without confusion—and without the heavy expense that was necessary with the old method of hand scraping. And yet, hundreds of home owners who have these floor conditions to tolerate go on from year to year believing them to be something inevitable because "they cannot afford new floors." In reality, nothing could be further from the truth. The low cost of having this work done now will surprise you.

The Standard Floor Sanding company works on the principle that every customer must have the best and most expert service that can be given them, regardless of whether it be one room that is being refinished or the entire house.
