Why doesn't New York solve its financial difficulties by abolishing all official salaries and making the job-holders bid for the privilege?

TO OUR LOVED ONE

Bonnie Jean Capwell was born at Weston, Nebraska, August 14th, 1926, and died at the Omaha Methodist hospital, Friday, March 4th, 1932, age five years, six months and twenty days. She was the youngest three children of Ivan and Genevieve Hendrix, deceased, and is survived by her brother Joe, and sister, Twila Faye Hendrix, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Capwell of Plattsmouth, her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Samek of Weston, Nebraska, and many other relatives.

When only eleven months old, Bonnie Jean lost her own mother, Genevieve, at which time she came to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Capwell who loved her as their own. Her own father died just two years ago.

Bonnie Jean was such a happy little soul, so full of the very joy of life that her death is most tragic. Her bright smile and shining brown eyes reflected love and devotion to all who knew her. Of her own accord she chose to call us "mother" and "daddy" and took our last name as well, and wrapped her sweet life around our very hearts and souls. Her life was so full of promise, and her going has left such an empty space that cannot be filled, and it seemed to us so unnecessary and cruel. But our sight is so limited, for we can only know and see but little here. However, we are so glad to have had her for the four short years she was with us. With her we learned to live and life took on a new purpose and meaning, for you have never lived until you have felt the clasp of tiny, warm, baby hands around your neck in loving devotion. She blest us so. God's sweet gift was so appreciated that it is most difficult to reconcile her leaving us with His love and tender regard. But this one thing we know, she is now safe in the loving care of Jesus and her own dear father and mother; and neither sorrow nor pain, neither sin nor blot nor stain of life can ever touch her angel soul—She is protected forever.

Bonnie Jean started going to Sunday school before she could scarcely talk, sitting on her daddy's knee in the Young Men's Bible class and lifting up her little, sweet voice in singing the praise of our Saviour whom she has gone to meet. Later, she attended the beginner's class and would never miss of her own accord, and loved her teachers devotedly. In September of last year she attended kindergarten where she was so happy and fond of her little friends and her teacher, Miss John. She was but little more than two when she learned to lip this little prayer:

"Jesus, Tender Shepherd, hear me,
Bless thy little lamb tonight
(pronouncing it "Widow Wam")
Through the darkness be thou near me.

Keep me safe 'til morning light." She was so patient. No matter how ill she was, when asked how she felt, would always say "fine" when we knew she must have felt otherwise.

We loved our little pink blossom so, our little sweetheart, our precious lamb, our dear Bonnie Jean. We would have gladly died for her sake, but this privilege was not given us. We are glad we were able to make her happy and we are conscious of her sweet spirit hovering over us, trying to make us feel her love and nearness and her warm and sweet little hands. We thank God for this sweet gift of life. Our hearts are broken by this separation, and our hope is that when the slender thread of life is broken for us, we shall have lived so that we shall soon meet her where there can be no more parting. There is much more we could say of our darling little girl, but this will have to be enough. How she blessed us. Dear Jesus care for our little one until we come.

(This tribute is made by her Daddy and Mother who will never cease to love and yearn for their Darling Bonnie Jean.)

DEBATE BEFORE ROTARY

The members of the Rotary club Tuesday noon at their luncheon, had the pleasure of hearing the question of compulsory unemployment insurance presented from both the affirmative and negative views. The question was presented by two members of the high school debate squad, Miss Madge Garnett, affirmative, and Edward Wehrbein, negative.

The young people who have made such a fine representation for the local school on the debate platform, gave a fine presentation of the question that has been so much in the public eye in the last few months.

The debaters were accompanied by their coach, Gerald Kvasnicka, head of the history department of the local school.

The meeting was under the leadership of Dr. P. T. Heineman and who had arranged the interesting meeting.

FIND ABANDONED CAR

The office of Sheriff Ed W. Thimgan was notified Monday that a new Chevrolet coach was apparently abandoned on the highway just west of Orecopolis, the car having been there for several days. Deputy Sheriff Ray Becker and Constable Tom Svoboda motored out to the scene and found that the car was there as reported but had suffered from the deprivations of someone. The two front wheels and tires had been taken from the car. The doors of the car were locked and the officers unable at the time to find out to whom it might belong. The car bore an Iowa license number. The car was brought in by the wrecker of the Bauer Co., and taken to the garage where the door was forced open. It was found that the car had a flashlight, ladies shoe and several other articles scattered around in the interior of the coach.

LEARNS OF DEATH OF FATHER

From Tuesday's Daily
Mrs. George E. Hutton of this city, yesterday received the sad news of the death of her father, John W. Getz, 83, who passed away Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the home in State College, Pennsylvania. The deceased was one of the long time residents of State College. Mr. Getz is survived by two sons, Charles Getz, of State College, David Getz of Altoona, Penn., and one daughter, Mrs. Hutton of this city. There are also three grandchildren, John Hastings Getz of State College, Mrs. Carl Graves and Virgil Hutton of this city. Mr. Getz has been in failing health since the death of his wife two years ago. The funeral and interment will be at State College.

SMALL FARM FIRE

From Wednesday's Daily
This afternoon the farm home of Claude Mayabb, west of this city was discovered to be on fire, flames being discovered in the upper part of the residence. With hard work the fire was extinguished and the home saved from any further damage. That the fire was extinguished was a matter of great good fortune as with the stiff northwest wind the place would certainly have been burned to the ground.

DEBATE HERE FRIDAY

The Plattsmouth high school debaters who have made such a fine showing during the year, will meet the Benson team of Omaha here Friday afternoon at 3:15 as a feature convocation program before the high school assembly. Those of the general public who are interested are invited to be present.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The W. C. T. U. at their meeting Monday afternoon observed Frances E. Willard memorial day, the sessions being devoted to the tributes to the memory of the great leader of the national organization for many years.

Mrs. Minnie Grimstead Himes of Humboldt, was leader of the devotions of the afternoon and led the Union in prayer.

Mrs. J. E. Wiles was the leader of the program and gave a most interesting sketch of the life of Frances E. Willard, touching on the many incidents of her long battle for prohibition.

Mrs. Himes was called upon and gave an extended discussion of the life and work of Miss Willard, her home, the great efforts she had made in the cause of prohibition and its final triumph which was due to her faithful and determined leadership. She also told of the statue to Miss Willard at Washington, the national capitol where others of the nation's great have been recognized.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Troop served much enjoyed refreshments to bring to a completion an afternoon of much pleasure and profit for all of the members of the party.

Low Everyday Cash Prices

If you could do all your week's eating in two or three days, the "Friday and Saturday bargains" that some stores advertise might be an inducement to attract your patronage, but nature has decreed we must eat every day in the week—and that's where we come in with LOW everyday prices. With the exception of Butter, Sugar and a few highly fluctuating commodities, prices quoted in Black & White ads are good every day during the current week!
