Hall is Again Named Head of State V. F. W.

Resolutions Adopted Ask Jobs for Men if Bonus Payment Not Possible.

Kearney, Neb., July 5.—Colonel Phil Hall of Greenwood was re-elected commander of Nebraska Veterans of Foreign Wars at one of the closing sessions here today of the organization's twelfth annual state encampment.

It was the first time in the history of the Nebraska organization that re-election has occurred.

Lincoln will entertain the veterans in 1933.

Florence Smith of Lincoln was chosen president of the state auxiliary.

Other officers of the veterans' organization are Major Henry Jess of Fremont, senior vice-commander; Herman Mattson, Jr., of Kearney, junior vice-commander; H. Anderson of Fremont, quartermaster adjutant; Dr. E. W. Erman, of Omaha, department surgeon; Frank Major of Kearney, chaplain; Simon Simon of Omaha, judge advocate, and Bruce Nelson of Omaha, member of the council of administration.

Officers of the auxiliary are Lydia Beldon of Omaha, senior vice-president; Mrs. H. Strong of Alliance, junior vice-president; Dorothy Benson of Lincoln, secretary; Celia Grossman of Lincoln, treasurer; Mabel Robinson of Lincoln, chaplain, and Elizabeth Perrin of Fremont, conductress.

A demand for bonus payment legislation was renewed, but somewhat modified as compared to a previous stand. The convention unanimously approved a resolution asking congress that if the full cash payment of the bonus can under no conditions be made to all world war veterans at this time, steps be taken immediately to provide employment for all unemployed veterans, or immediate cash payment to those who are without employment and have dependents to support, and to the disabled veterans in need.

Other resolutions adopted include one asking for a survey of compensations and other allowances paid veterans of all wars, with a view to "harmonizing and standardizing payments" and putting them "on equal basis without decreasing existing awards."—World-Herald.
