

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT THAT ENGINE OF YOURS

Maybe new pistons and rings, or a tune-up, or a carbon and valve job would restore the pep and power it used to have. Anyway, our inspection costs you nothing. Let's take a look. Drive in today!

Borah Knows but Refuses to Tell Anything

Declines to Reveal Whom He Will Support in the Presidential Election.

Chicago. — Senator William E. Borah has decided whom to support in the coming presidential election, he said, but he is not ready to announce his decision.

He will not support President Hoover on the republican platform; there is "no possibility" that he will come out for Franklin D. Roosevelt, the democratic nominee; he will not back William D. Upshaw of Georgia, the prohibition candidate; there is "no third party" as far as he is concerned.

"I have made up my mind," he said, "but I haven't turned in yet. I will take an interest in my state election. My position is the same as I expressed it in the senate recently on the republican ticket. I don't think any more of its economic planks than I do of its prohibition plank.

Informed that a second member of the bonus army had died in Washington during the night of gunshot wounds incurred last Thursday, Borah made no comment.

He did say he considered the march on Washington was a "mistake in policy to attempt to force congress to pay the bonus now," but there was "no legal reason why the veterans should not be there."—State Journal.

PROHIBITION AGENT SLAIN

Chicago.—A federal prohibition agent, Eugene Jackman, negro, was shot and killed when he attempted to arrest an unidentified negro from whom he had arranged to purchase a gallon of liquor. J. R. Fletcher, negro agent in the narcotics division, who accompanied Jackman, was fired upon three times by the slayer, but was not injured. The assassin abandoned his car at the scene of the shooting and escaped on foot. The license number of the car was traced to Drew Clark of Chicago. A police guard was placed at his home.

The shooting resulted from Jackman's attempt to purchase a gallon of gin from the bootlegger, Fletcher told police.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Gifts for Building the Tabernacle

Ex. 35: 21-29

The text of meeting, in last Sunday's lesson, was the beginning of the church. Today's lesson is an advanced step for a more permanent place of worship. This tabernacle served the Israelites until the building of Salomons temple. The purpose of this lesson is to familiarize the Bible student with exterior interior contents and purpose, the symbolism of the various parts. It should create a decided impetus toward generous giving to the Lords Cause. Stewardship of time, strength, ability and influence as well as money, is taught. The plan was furnished by the great architect, God himself. Our limited amount of space does not permit of a complete description and its works of art. The size of the outer dimensions are: 150 ft. long by 75 ft. wide; the tabernacle itself was 45 ft. long by 15 ft. wide, divided into the Holy Place, and the Most Holy Place. The Holy Place was 20 by 15 ft., and the Most Holy Place 10 by 15 ft. The outer court was for the worshippers, the Holy Place for the priests, the Most Holy Place for the High Priest, who would enter once a year on the day of atonement. In this place was the ark of the Covenant, a chest 45 by 27 by 27 inches, covered with gold inside and outside. Its contents was the two tablets of stone containing the ten commandments. Arons budding rod, a pot of Manna, and the book of the law. The lid was solid gold, also called "The Mercy Seat". Two cherubims on the lid and between them flamed out the awful light of the Shekinah, the visible presence of Jehovah. The Holy Place contained three objects, a small altar overlaid with gold on which special incense was always burning, representing the prayer of the worshippers offered to the Divine Majesty within the veil. On the north side a small table, on which twelve loaves of bread were placed once a week, representing the twelve tribes of Israel. To the south stood the golden candle stick with seven branches, the perfect number, burning continually. In the court was the altar of burnt offerings, with a laver for washing the priest's hands. Here the sacrifices were offered, and its position signified that it is only through the shedding of atoning blood that sinful man can approach a sinless God.

A description of the curtains, coverings, veils with its beautiful works of art; the embroidered ring with cherubims and flowers, but no animals, would take too much space. In its symbolism and its religious use, this pioneer cathedral was most impressive to the people of it's day.

Would that the same could be said of all our modern churches! When Moses called for gifts, they came, every one "whose heart was stirred". Not all came, the unappreciative, the unspiritual, the worldly minded, the miser, could not see the need of such a costly structure. And all of this radiant beauty was to draw away from this Sin-cursed world into the presents of God, this being but a shadow of that city and it's temple not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. The man that gets no joy and inspiration when worshipping in the House of God, does not know what true worship is. Nothing is to good for God. And God does not want any gift that is not given gladly. They all brought Jehovah's offering; it was no longer theirs. They regarded it as God's as soon as the call for it was made. The giving was not confined to men only. The question arises: where did the people get those precious stones, the silks, gold, silver and brass? God told them to ask for them from the Egyptians. There was work for all, as there is work for all in the church. Modern Missions for example are employing school teachers, doctors, nurses, farmers, carpenters, printers, as well as preachers. The high priest also was adorned with beautiful robes, a breast plate with twelve precious stones, each inscribed with the name of one tribe. Thus he carried the people on his heart when he appeared before God. So does every true Shepherd bring his congregation before the lord daily, as a priest, he pleads with God for them.

Two men deserve special mention as artisans, Bezaleel of the tribe of Judah and Ahellab of the tribe of Dan. They were men of genius and superintended at the work. The astonishing part was, that the people had to be restrained in giving, there was brought in too much. May we remember also, that we are held responsible in what way and for what we spend what God has given us.
