Plattsmouth, Phone 42

Mrs. Edmiston, formerly Miss Maude Christensen, was born in Peru, Nebraska, November 19, 1881. She died on September 2, 1932, being fifty years, nine months and fourteen days old. She was united in marriage with W. V. Edmiston December 7, 1899. This union was blessed with nine children, two of whom died in infancy. There survive her husband, seven children and ten grandchildren.

During her illness she was with her daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Edmonds, until taken to the hospital. After the funeral the remains were taken to College View where burial was made.

Every House Now Occupied

Every available residence in Nehawka is occupied and some are thinking of living in tents. Especially when the grading crews get working in this vicinity on the highway there will be a decided scarcity of places to live. With so many vacant buildings in other towns it is rather pleasant to know that all are occupied here.

A New Departure in Building

Vincent Straub has a considerable cottonwood grove and instead he wants a corner. Forest Cunningham with his saw mill and Robert D. Taylor with his trucks and an abundance of axes have agreed to take the logs from the farm and return it as lumber for a crib. They go to the farm, cut and haul the logs to the mill and return them to the farm, converted into lumber for the crib. The boys are ready to do the work. This is breaking the tight squeeze of unemployment.

Will Attend State University

Nehawka has their proportion of students at the state university this year, and a very representative class of citizens at that. Among those who are attending from this town are Miss Polly Pollard, Jane Sheldon, Vilas Sheldon, Verne Schumaker, Deleen Carper and Carl Christweiser.

Will Make Sawdust

Forest R. Cunningham and Robert D. Taylor have a sawdust machine with which they are able to convert wood of any kind into sawdust at the rate of over a half a car load per day of ten hours. They find ready sale of the sawdust which is used for smoking meat and for other commercial purposes. The machine is composed of thirty circular saws which are set close together and the rapidly revolving discs cut the wood, leaving nothing as the entire piece of wood is eaten up by the saws and turned into sawdust.

Will Hasten Paving

The Yant Construction Company who are handling the paving of the O street road, which is known as highway number 24, have arranged to put on two eight hour shifts for the paving between Lincoln and the Cass county line. This will get the work done and out of the way of the cold weather which comes with the winter.

George Trunkenboltz was over to Lincoln and also to Omaha on last Monday where he had an opportunity to talk the matter over with the officers of the company.

Mr. Trunkenboltz, who has traveled quite extensively during the past few weeks over the corn belt, says that never in his experience saw such a good crop of corn. Speaking to grain men, he said they expressed themselves that corn would sell higher during the next two months only to recede in price when the gathering of the crop got to be well under way. And that the prices would not rule very high on this crop unless some unforeseen contingency arose.

Visited in Iowa

Henry Wessel, wife, and son Carl were visiting in Iowa for the past few days, they driving over to Des Moines on last Saturday where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arno Wessel. They stopped at Omaha on their way over and picked up Mrs. Arno Wessel's mother, who also visited there with them and also returning.

Has Flood Damage Repaired

R. Kettlehut, who lives north of Nehawka where a branch of the Weeping Water sweeps through his farm and feed lots, and the excessive heavy rain swept the buildings and flood gates away. Mr. Kettlehut has them now repaired and has the hogs in again where there is plenty of water.

GLAM MADE OF KIDNAPING

Clearfield, Pa.—Police action in the case of Garret Schenck, who claims he was kidnaped and held captive for seventy-six days after the death of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., depends upon Schenck. District Attorney Cortz Bell of Clearfield said that Schenck wants to prosecute the private detective who is alleged to have kidnaped him, and a warrant charging kidnaping will be sworn out Tuesday "unless Schenck changes his mind."

Schenck, forty-six year old fishmonger of Hopewell, N. J., is free in Clearfield, but says he will not leave until the case has been cleared up. From Saturday night until Monday he was voluntarily in the custody of Sheriff McCloskey of Clearfield county. His captors treated him "all right," he says, but he was constantly in fear of what might happen to him. He was too frightened to sleep, "because the guards had guns there, and I was afraid that if I went to sleep, I wouldn't awake alive."

The captive was released after he persuaded one of the guards to tell Mayor McCloskey of Johnstown of his plight. A raiding party found him alone in the cabin.

ROOSEVELT HAS VISITORS

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Frances P. Sayre, the former Jessie Wilson, daughter of the late president and vice chairman of the Massachusetts state committee, and Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island called on Governor Roosevelt Sunday. They expressed to the democratic nominee their belief that party differences in New England states would be adjusted and a united democracy would win the states for Roosevelt.

Gerry, pre-convention supporter of Alfred E. Smith, said he believed feeling engendered by the defeat of Smith at Chicago would subside.

Mrs. Sayre said it was her belief the gubernatorial candidacy of Governor Ely would unite the divergent factions in Massachusetts and the "positive position" of Mr. Roosevelt would win the state's electoral votes. Mr. and Mrs. Sayre were overnight guests at the Roosevelt country home. Governor Roosevelt spent Labor day here, leaving Monday night for Syracuse to attend the state fair on Tuesday. Wednesday he will motor to the Vermont state fair at Rutland. Mr. Roosevelt Sunday was presented the first of medallions to be given to each contributor of a dollar or more to the national democratic campaign fund.

for they sure enjoyed it, but as well enjoyed getting back to Weeping Water. The dog did not want to come home, but was compelled to, for Wally knew it was best for the pup. They stopped in Idaho, where they visited with Wally's brother, Arthur Johnson, who makes his home there. They then went to Seattle, where they visited with relatives, thence on to Portland, taking the Columbia river drive, which Wally describes as wonderful. Thence on to San Francisco, and after three days there went to Los Angeles, which they both describe as one of the most beautiful cities in the world. The dog did not like this city. They returned home via Texas and Oklahoma. On the trip they drove six thousand miles without a flat tire, which they consider very good. They are resting after the trip and are feeling very fine over the trip. The dog would have liked to have gone another six thousand miles.

Gets Grand Champion.

The 4-H club of Weeping Water, which is under the guidance of Mrs. J. M. Rannie which were at the state fair exhibiting their work were able to secure the Grand Champion prize. The booth was decorated by Max Raines and Keith Norton under the direction of County Agent D. D. Wainwright. This is a credit to Cass county and its 4-H workers.

Attended the Rough Rounin.

Miss Agnes Rough was a visitor in Nebraska City last Sunday where she with some forty of the Rough family were enjoying a family reunion at Morton park, where they all enjoyed the occasion very much. The family is going to make their meetings an annual affair and will form an organization with officers which will look after future meetings and the places to gather. Mrs. Margaret Baum Clarke, one of the family making her home at Louisville, Ky., especially enjoyed the meeting.

See the Capitol.

Arthur H. Jones and wife were guests for the day on last Sunday at the home of their son, Clifford and family, of Lincoln, and where they enjoyed the day very pleasantly, as well as seeing the capitol building, which Arthur pronounced as the most wonderful building he has ever seen.

The County Fair.

There will be many attractions at the county fair and on Wednesday, which has heretofore not had as large an attendance there will be some special features and among which there will be some airplanes with stunt flying at 1:30 and again at 4:30 in the afternoon. The same plane will give rides for one dollar per person which is the cheapest ever offered and those who desire to see these air stunts and also enjoy a ride for one buck had better not miss Wednesday, the second day of the fair. There will also be a show near the Missouri Pacific station which will be there for the entire week and with the amusement on the streets for a complete carnival will be here and the exhibits which are coming in great volume will make the event of the county fair for 1932 one of the greatest ever put on in this county.

ALVO GIRLS INJURED

Lois and Edna Schneike, both of Alvo, were injured late Monday night in an auto accident at 17th and R streets, Lincoln. The car in which they were driving collided with one driven by Helen Ledford of Lincoln. Both of the cars were badly damaged. Miss Lois suffered a gash on her left wrist and Miss Edna was knocked unconscious, but yesterday was feeling much improved and had regained consciousness.

While running from her home to the scene of the accident, Mable Bonwell, 43, of 315 No. 18th street, fell down some steps and suffered a fractured leg.

MARRIED AT NEBRASKA CITY

The wedding of Wallace Edward Arnold of this city and Miss Dorothy Estelene Good, of Shenandoah, Iowa, occurred on Saturday afternoon at Nebraska City. The marriage ceremony occurred at the residence of Rev. D. A. McCullough, pastor of the First Methodist church.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Arnold of this city and one of the well known and popular young men of the community. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold will continue to make their home in this city.

The usual newspaper paragraphs about bad news for children in connection with opening date of school have begun to make their appearance. In which we believe the paragraphs are mostly wrong. We are several summers removed from school days, but venture that school opening is welcomed by seven-tenths of the kiddies, boys as well as girls.

Labor Has a Holiday Today Country Over

General Observance Beginning With President Hoover at His Rapidan Camp.

From Monday's Daily
Washington.—Most of America's million forgot workaday cares for a final bit of reveling in summer's holiday spirit over Labor day. With fair weather promised generally, except for showers in the extreme south, happy humanity overran the beaches and mountain resorts throuout the land. The myriads seeking relaxation from the daily task were led in their outward trek over the week end by President Hoovers and others high in national councils.

In the calm of his Rapidan camp, the chief executive planned no ceremonies to commemorate the day. With Mrs. Hoover and their guests he was intent upon enjoying to the full, like millions of others, the two-day restful vacation before returning to the toil of autumn days. On this eve of the Labor day that had its inception with the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Hoover and others studied the task of providing work for the 11,000,000 estimated by the labor federation to need jobs. To this end energies will be rededicated Monday by the great and small throuout the land.

A strictly American institution and a holiday by act of congress and virtually all the state legislatures, the day has grown to be more than a time for ceremonies by labor organizations and stands as the yearly turning point for much of America's business and social life. It is the end of the summer resort season and the beginning of harvest time for the businessman as well as the farmer, for the clerk and for the laborer. For the young it brings back into actuality the school room, and to society it is the dawn of another glittering season.

To the labor organizations it is the signal this year of steadily pressing their campaign for a five-day week and a shorter work day as aids in curing economic ills. In this they have been pledged the co-operation of Secretary Doak, who speaks Monday at Syracuse, N. Y., in opening the state fair.

WILL BOOST CITIES

Radio station WAAW of Omaha, which is operated from the Omaha grain exchange, is preparing to offer each Saturday from 12:45 to 1 p. m. a period that will be devoted to the various cities of the state of Nebraska.

The radio station will give a sketch of the towns as arranged by local people who are familiar with the facts of the community in which they reside and which WAAW will give to the world via the air route.

The radio station has gotten in touch with Plattsmouth people and who will prepare the facts for the use of the station in setting forth the advantages of Plattsmouth and other cities of the state will be similarly advertised over the air.

Something doing in Plattsmouth this Fall. Watch for announcement. You'll be surprised at what the old town can do.
