

Alvo News

Several Alvo folks attended the funeral services of Mr. Swarts, who was buried at Elmwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Skinner and family motored to Shenandoah last week and enjoyed the big jubilee at the radio studios.

John Banning received a car load of coal for the Alvo school, which was unloaded and stored in the school house bunkers by George Hardnock.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Fischer and daughter, Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fischer and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fischer Sunday.

Eugene Barkhurst and the family were guests for the day last Sunday of friends and relatives at Nebraska City. Mr. Barkhurst and the family drove down to Nebraska City in their car.

Joan Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook, and a member of the Elmwood band, enjoyed the day Sunday at Lincoln, when the band gave a concert at the Veterans' hospital in the afternoon.

Carl Hoffman, of Elmwood, with the wife and kiddies, were over to Geneva, going last Saturday and returning Sunday evening. Although their visit was of short duration, a very good time was had.

Kendell Kitzel and Vern Bennett, who have been in the north for some time, going up to work in the harvest fields, with the completion of work in that line, have returned home, arriving in Alvo last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frisbee and son Milo and Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher and sons, Noel and Oryl Lee, of Eagle, and Miss Ruth Miller, of Murdock, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coatman Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stroemer and Margaret Jean, Mrs. Herman Bornemeler and son Dick, Joan Cooke, Maxine Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. Ganz and family, Wesley Cook and Catherine Edwards attended the football game on Saturday, October 8th.

Mrs. Sam Cashner, of Perry, Oklahoma, arrived in Alvo Wednesday to visit with friends and relatives. She will return home with Mrs. Alma Stone, who will return to her home in California, taking the southern route through Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewell, who have been preparing for the opening of the new cafe—the first door west of the Nelson store, had their household goods moved from Elmwood and are now ready for the business in their line whenever it comes.

County Commissioner Fred H. Gorder was a visitor in Alvo, looking after some matters for the county and while here on last Wednesday, sold his corn which he has in partnership with Turner M. McKinnon. They were cleaning out the crib that they might find some place for the present crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hardnock, Sam Hardnock Jr. and Mrs. Loyal Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John Weichel and daughter Thelma, Mrs. Jennie Rouse and Mr. P. J. Linch were in attendance at the funeral services of Mr. Swarts at Elmwood Friday. Mrs. Rouse was one of the deceased's first school teachers.

Carl Rosenow and Edgar Edwards, two mighty hunters, went out in the early morning last Friday and taking advantage of the half light just as dawn broke, were able to get in touch with a flock of geese and got five of them. The lads were well pleased with their take and sure had some good eating.

Mrs. H. M. Wyatt, who has been visiting for some ten days or two weeks at the home of her sons at Colby, Kansas, and with their daughter at Seleny, Colorado, returned home last Saturday and while they are pleased to be home again, they surely enjoyed the visit in the west with the children.

Elmer Olson, wife and mother were enjoying a visit at Chicago, where they spent three days during the past week and while they were able to travel on free transportation, they went during the time when there was excursion rates, thus getting better rates for Grandmother Olson, who has to travel on a ticket. While they were away, the work of Mr. Olson was looked after by L. M. Scott.

Attended Bankers' Convention
Last Wednesday, October 12, being Columbus day, all the banks in the county were closed, and the Alvo bankers, C. D. Ganz and S. C. Boyles and their wives went to Greenwood to attend the annual meeting of the Cass County Bankers association. A splendid business session was enjoyed with enlightening talks by leading state bankers and the social part of the meeting included a fine chicken supper served in the parlors of the Greenwood Christian church. A more detailed report of this meeting will be found elsewhere in today's Journal.

Enjoyed a Fine Time

In keeping with the practice of the Methodist church, the committee that was appointed for the purpose, made arrangements for a Harvest Home supper at the church basement on last Friday night and which was responded to by a large number of the people of Alvo and vicinity. A program had been prepared which was enjoyed by all. Also the excellent supper which had been prepared was a feature that touched all who were in attendance.

Departed for the North

The mother of Mrs. Woodard Davis, who has been staying for some time at the Davis home departed on last Wednesday for Minneapolis, where she will visit with other relatives for some time. Mrs. Davis, who is agent for the Rock Island at Alvo, was relieved by Miss Mary Foreman, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis departed on Wednesday afternoon for Des Moines via the Rock Island train, where they expected to meet a brother of Mrs. Davis and the party would then go on to Minneapolis to visit for a short time in the northland.

Caucus of Both Parties

The caucus of both of the political parties was held last Tuesday evening and nominations made for the various precinct offices to be filled at the forthcoming general election November 8th.

The democratic nominees are: J. H. Foreman, assessor; R. W. Stewart, Justice of the Peace; Wm. Kitzel, for road overseer. The republicans placed in nomination: John Skinner, for assessor; Charles Godbey, Justice of the Peace; Art Skinner, road overseer. Six very good men. Go to it, boys, and see who will be elected.

DIERKS COMPANY RECEIVED

Kansas City.—The Dierks Lumber and Coal company and its principal subsidiaries, the Choctaw Lumber company and the Pipe Valley Lumber company operating in Arkansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, were placed in receivership by order of Federal Judge Reeves. Herbert Dierks of Kansas City, president of the company, and Walter A. Graff, president of the financial house of Baker, Fennessy & Co., were named receivers.

The application for receivership, described as a friendly action, was filed by the U. S. Epperson Underwriting company to give time to consider a plan for readjusting the company's debts. The company, organized in 1886, and its subsidiaries, operate pine lumber manufacturing plants in Arkansas and Oklahoma. A subsidiary operates a chain of sixteen retail lumber yards in Nebraska.

The Dierks Lumber and Coal company is a closed corporation with a capital authorization of $10,000,000 in stock. Dec. 1 of this year $596,800 of a bond issue of $6,370,000 falls due, the remainder between then and 1941. The company lists its assets as of 1931 at $15,000,000 with an allowance for depreciation.

Borah Makes Appeal to Expand the Currency

Hits Demand of Veterans for Full Payment of the Bonus—Raps Both Candidates.

Malad, Idaho, Oct. 12.—Denouncing the gold standard dollar of the present as "not an honest dollar," Senator William E. Borah tonight appealed for an expansion of currency to "give the American people a medium of circulation to replace that in hoarding."

At the same time, he assailed demands of the veterans for full payment of the bonus, declaring they already had received six billion dollars since the war.

He said he was "not an authority on the money problem," but had turned to the established authorities on these matters for guidance.

"What I found was," he said, "that they knew no more than I did. But they were authorities on the collection of interest."

Voices Plea for Silver.
Voicing a plea for restoration of silver as a purchasing medium in the orient, he declared, "in all calumny and deliberation I consider that the action of the international bankers in demonetizing silver and virtually destroying the purchasing power of over 800 million people was one of the most brutal acts ever committed in modern history."

"I have long opposed cancellation of foreign debts," the senator said, "but I would not hesitate to trade these debts for prosperity for the American farmer."

Criticizing the policy of the federal land banks, he said a bill was passed by the last congress providing 75 million dollars for banks to permit a more liberal attitude in treatment of farmer debtors.

"I have yet to see any evidence of that liberalization," he said.

Raps Both Candidates.
The senator did not mention the presidential candidates of either of the two major political parties by name, but rapped at both in his address.

He declared it is not an "honest dollar" which requires three times as much produce to buy as it did three years ago. He appealed for large lending companies, such as insurance firms, to adjust the farmers' debts to a level where they can pay off. He declared the agricultural debt in America on paper is 12 billion dollars but when considered in the light of the present commodity prices, it is two times that amount.—World-Herald.

McGINLEY WILL PROBATED

Nebraska City.—The last will and testament of Miss Rose McGinley, contested by legatees who would have been her heirs, was admitted to probate Wednesday afternoon by a district court jury after two days' trial.

Miss McGinley, who had been a resident of Otoe county for nearly half a century died last March, having made her will in 1926, naming Daniel Sullivan as executor. She left thirty-two grand-nieces and nephews. Much of her estate of $40,000 was left to various Catholic charities, including $5,000 to St. Thomas orphanage, of Lincoln; $1,000 to the bishop of Lincoln for educational purposes, and $1,000 to Father Flanagan's home at Omaha.

The case was tried in District Judge Begley's court, with Edward Moran of Nebraska City representing the minors connected with the case, John J. Ledwith, Lincoln, appearing for the charities and Pitzer and Pitzer representing the executor.

Mrs. Haning Tells of Threats at Liquor Trial

Says Raided Six Times After Refusing to Buy Liquor of Defendants.

Omaha.—Mrs. Louise Vinciguerra Haning, upon whom the police once bestowed the title "queen of Omaha bootleggers," returned here Friday from the Fremont county jail to testify as a government witness in the liquor conspiracy trial of Tom Dennison, political leader, and fifty-eight others.

Mrs. Haning, now serving time in the Fremont jail on a liquor charge, testified that Joe Vaccaro, a defendant, had told her in May, 1931, that she would have "to buy from the company or you can't work in Omaha."

She further testified that she stopped buying from Vaccaro and Carl Mangiamelli, another defendant, in October of 1931, and that she was raided six times in forty days thereafter. On each occasion, she said, the raiders were led by Joe Potach, then a police sergeant and now a defendant.

In the morning session, Joe Mandolfo, confessed bootlegger, was on the stand for the government. Under a rain of defense objections, nearly all overruled, Mandolfo told of receiving an invitation to join the alleged syndicate. His testimony was in the main directed against Alfio Laferia, defendant, whom he said tendered the invitation.

At the start of the afternoon session, Dennison, seventy-two years old, complained of being "very tired." "I hope I don't have another stroke," he remarked. He had sought a postponement of the trial on grounds of ill health. The trial will be resumed Monday.

Must Confine Charges.

Late in the day, Judge James W. Woodrough ruled in effect that the prosecution will not be permitted to introduce into the picture any murders or acts of violence and must confine itself to the indictment and the overt acts alleged therein.

His ruling came after the government had called to the witness stand Don L. Kooker, who was brought to Omaha by Roy Towl, then police commissioner, as chief investigator of the Harry Lapidus murder.

Edison Smith of the prosecution handed to Kooker for identification a letter and two other documents. It was indicated that the letter was the one mentioned in the prosecution's opening statement as having been written by Tom Crawford, chief government witness, at the instigation of Dennison to be mailed back to Omaha police and containing threats against Lapidus. The government contends that at the time the letter was written Crawford was a trusted lieutenant of Dennison.

The defense entered objections to the introduction of the letter and Judge Woodrough, sending the jury from the room, declared he could not see why any testimony or evidence bearing on acts of violence or other matter not contained in the indictment should be permitted.

The prosecution fought hard to retain the evidence and declared it would submit a brief in behalf of their point. The judge declared he would be glad to have further information on the point but for the time being ruled out of the evidence.—State Journal.

OVER 1,000 MINERS ARRESTED; HOWL 'WHEN DO WE EAT'

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 12.—Moving to prevent possible disorders, national guardsmen swooped down on the headquarters of striking miners here today and technically placed 1,200 of them under arrest.

The miners had gathered to observe the anniversary of the Virden, Ill., massacre of 34 years ago, and were jammed in a second floor hall across the street from the Christian county courthouse when 180 troopers entered.

Howls of "When do we eat" were sent up and a short time later four trucks of food brought a change in the miners' attitudes, and in groups of four and five they were released and escorted in automobiles to the edge of the town, after they promised to leave.

START HUNGER STRIKE

Hollingsfors, Finland.—Eleven laus (fascist) leaders, charged with plotting a revolution, went on hunger strike, declaring they would eat nothing until they were freed. Their cases are before the appeal court. The laus movement recently staged an armed revolt against the government which was put down.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Falischman were host and hostess at their home last Sunday to a number of their friends and relatives and entertained for a very fine dinner and during the day, Mr. and Mrs. John Falischman and family, of Louisville, Charles Gade and family, of Ashland, and H. A. Shipman and Mrs. Iola Birkirk and children, of Havocok.

Many Enjoyed Dance

There was a dance at the Manley hall on last Friday night following the meeting which the candidates of the democratic party held here. A large and enthusiastic crowd of visitors was present and everyone expressed enthusiastic approval of the entire ticket. The dance was also enjoyed into the wee small hours of the morning.

Gave Very Fine Party

The Altar society of the St. Patrick church gave a very interesting Tango party at the Manley hall on last Wednesday, with a large crowd of friends of the church were gathered and enjoyed a very fine time.

Most People Employed Now

The labor of Manley and vicinity is generally employed at this time, some all of the time and others part of the time and the feeling is more satisfactory now. The work is expected to continue until the corn shall have been picked and as there are large yields on all farms, there will be a good deal of work to get it out.

Democratic Hold Caucus

The democratic caucus of Center precinct was held in Manley on last Tuesday, with a large crowd gathered at the hall to select the nominees for the democratic ticket and there was much interest evinced in the proceedings. At the balloting for the nominees to appear on the official ballots, there were a total of 98 votes cast. Wm. Sheehan, Sr., was the nominee for precinct assessor, and Wm. Sheehan, Jr., for road overseer, while John Greber was named as the candidate for Justice of the Peace. The meeting was very harmonious.

At the republican caucus, which was held at the same time, the crowd while not so large was very well represented, there being 37 votes cast, and the nominees chosen were as follows: A. H. Cahlerking, assessor; Joseph Miller, road overseer, and George Coen, Justice of the Peace. The large attendance showed that the voters were well interested and indicates a large vote at the coming election November 8th.

DECLARES HUSBAND SLAYER

Denver.—Detective Captain Armstrong announced Mrs. Stella Ross, held in jail here after her return from Caldwell, Ida., told Denver authorities that her missing husband, Harry Ross, killed a man.

Mrs. Ross was quoted by Armstrong as having told how her husband fatally stabbed his brother-in-law, a man identified only as "Clarence." The woman also related, Armstrong said, that Ross once shot at her "but he never was a good shot and missed me."

Police are holding Mrs. Ross while they search for Ross and Erwin C. Thompson, Iowa vacationist, who disappeared here this summer. The Rosses and Thompson lived in a house in south Denver. Mrs. Ross was arrested recently in Caldwell driving Thompson's automobile. Officers were sent to drag a portion of the Platte river, near where the Rosses lived, to determine whether her husband and Thompson had been slain and their bodies thrown into the river.
