He came to Nebraska with the Rock Island railroad and was here when the town of Murdock was founded in 1891, arriving on July 7th of that year. Mr. Mooney was a great respecter of the Rock Island and its treatment of employees, and always stood up for "his road."

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Mooney was blessed by two sons and two daughters, they being Mrs. Lacey McDonald, of Murdock; George Mooney of near Wabash, Mrs. Edgar Hess, of Siebert, Colorado, and Edgar Mooney of Washington.

Red Cross to Start Drive for Membership

Relief Work of Organization Raises to Proportions of the War Time Activities.

The American Red Cross in this city as well as every chapter in the United States is about to start a membership campaign that will carry the greatest significance of any since the greatest war.

Relief work of the Red Cross in the last few years has mounted as the country was swept into the great depression and this winter points to the greatest tests of the Red Cross and all relief agencies to care for the needy, the unemployed and preserve the morale of the people so sorely stricken as the American nation has been since 1929.

The membership fees that are paid into the Red Cross go toward aiding the work, while only a dollar for the membership a great response will bring several million to aid the work of relief.

The local chapter will start the drive soon and all who can should press into the army of membership and aid in every way in making for the care of the needy from the biting blast of winter and the privations that lie ahead of the nation in the coming months.

LEGION TO HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION OCTOBER 20

Hugh Kearns post, American Legion will hold its annual election of officers on Thursday evening, October 20th. Among those to be elected are commander, two vice commanders and an executive committee of nine members. Under the by-laws, effective ever since the post was organized, the commander-elect appoints his adjutant, subject to approval of the executive committee, and that body elects the finance officer from among its own membership. The in-coming commander, also names one member of the board of trustees each year, subject to approval of the post, and names the various committees to function during his regime.

All members of the post who have telephones will be called early next week and advised of the meeting day and those who have no phone will be advised by post card.

It is desired to have a large and representative attendance present at the meeting.

Nominations for the various officers to be elected are made from the floor and written ballot taken to determine the winners.

The local post is to be host to the district convention the latter part of November or early in December, and while district conventions now are more of a "conference of post officers" than in 1926, when Plattsmouth did herself proud with a full day of entertainment, there still remains an evening's entertainment to be provided for, with the afternoon given over largely to business meeting, and a special convention committee is expected to be named by the new commander to get busy at once with plans for the convention.

THE MAPLE

A maple seed was waffled in a spot of earth and soil; Where solar light and heat had been; Which started a seedling to grow and toil.

The world passed by and saw it raise; As its branches were tossed by the breeze; Their thoughts were concerned and in a haze, As to whether the fledgling might freeze.

Its maple grew and flourished fine; The foliage most tender and green; Tradition may scorn the trees on the Rhine; For the maple whenever its seen.

Only a maple with rich gorgeous leaves; Since autumn has changed its trock; In the spring of the year it surely retrieves; Itself; As its shade protects the flock.

The maple stretched forth its tiny twigs; Until it became a great tree; The birds of the air build nests like wigs; And sought shelter that seemed perfectly free.

Man seeks a refuge near his side; To the maple he may repair; And in its foliage hide; From the storms that rage in air.

W. B. BANNING HERE

Hon. W. B. Banning, of Union, democratic candidate for the state senate in the second district, was Road paving in Cass county this year will run about ten miles. Not so bad, for "depression" times.

VISITS IN THE CITY

J. D. Marell, superintendent of schools at Union, was in the city for a short time Thursday afternoon and evening, looking after some business matters. The Union schools are closed for a short time owing to the scarlet fever epidemic that is raging in that community and which made it inadvisable to have the school closed until a definite check is made of the disease. It is hoped, however, that the school may soon resume their usual activities.
