Avoca Residents Organize Roosevelt-Bryan Club

Much Interest Shown in Meeting Last Evening and Many Attend Club Formation.

In the village of Avoca, last evening there was organized a Roosevelt-Bryan club. The first hour of the meeting was devoted to speaking in which was presented the excellent qualifications of Governor Roosevelt for the presidency. His broad visions of public affairs and his sound and expressed plan when president, to co-ordinate all the producing factors of the nation to bring back that prosperity which is so essential to our people. Throughout the village there appears to be a strong undercurrent, that the only possible relief to the citizens of the nation, is through the election of the democratic national ticket.

The state issues were discussed and the outstanding administration of the affairs of Nebraska, contrasted with those of the surrounding states. The great savings to the people made by Governor Bryan since he entered that office in January, 1931, were related. How he forced specifications for tubing in the roads that were being improved by the state from one specific kind that was patented, to several kinds of tubing equally as good, thus giving all contractors an equal opportunity to bid. Therefore the federal government would furnish no money to that part of the road construction as it considered the using of the patented tubing gave an unfair advantage or monopoly to the contractor who was interested in the making of the tubing. After the governor had this change made, the bids were about one half the price of former work and the federal government paid one half of the reduced bid, thereby making a saving to the people of the state of several hundred thousand dollars. This was only one of the instances enumerated wherein the governor had saved large sums of money for the people. His strong business methods in letting the large road construction contracts, saved millions of dollars to the road fund and out of which hundreds of extra miles of road were constructed, graded and paved. Among the roads so built from this saving was No. 1, extending west through Murray to Murdock and Elmwood; also No. 50 extending from Omaha south through Louisville, Manley, Weeping Water and Avoca in this county and on to the south line of the state. Without regard to politics, the people generally of Avoca precinct appreciate the services rendered by our governor, and being broad minded, will not forget that service on November 8th.

Congressman Morehead was highly commended for his courteous and business like methods in office. His promptness in answering every inquiry about matters at Washington, has endeared him to a large number of his constituents without regard to party affiliation. His stern, rugged honesty and kind ways has endeared him to our people in Cass county and bespeaks for him an increased vote at the coming election.

After the speaking followed the organization of the club by selecting the following officers: Dr. J. W. Brendel, president; George Peters, vice-president; Mrs. Emma Rawalt, secretary and Max Straub, treasurer. The club thereupon decided to have another meeting at a date to be named where a prominent speaker could be obtained.
