Next Saturday to be Big Day in Plattsmouth

Pancakes for All During Day—Special Cake Eating Contests at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Plattsmouth is going in for a good time next Saturday, November 5th. This will be another big day sponsored by the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce. You know what a good time we had at the recent corn show, well, we want to make this equally enjoyable, though different. This is to be a Pancake Feed and its going to be all free. Co-operating with the makers of Fidelity Pancake flour and Gold Bond breakfast syrup, the retail section have arranged to serve free to everybody all day Saturday all the pancakes, syrup and coffee you can eat. And through the generosity of Geo. Hetrick of the Plattsmouth Produce Co., and Phil Hoffman of the Home Dairy, we will serve Plattsmouth butter with these cakes. So there you are, delicious cakes, pure rock candy cane and maple syrup, Plattsmouth made butter, and coffee, all for nothing all day Saturday, November 5th.

This is a good will proposition. You will not be asked to buy a dime's worth of anything. We want you to come in Saturday and enjoy our hospitality, and get better acquainted, and have a good jolly time at our Pancake Feed. We expect to have some band music during the day and we will have an interesting program of local Cass county talent broadcast through the Gerner public address system.

There will be a cake eating contest staged in the morning at 10 o'clock and also in the evening at 8, with prizes to the winners.

VALLEY TIES PLATTSMOUTH

The Valley town football team which a week ago lost on their own grounds to the locals, succeeded in gaining a 7 to 7 tie with the Plattsmouth team Sunday. The game was hard fought and the locals scoring in the third quarter for seven points, looked good for a victory until rally of the visitors and a penalty for undue roughing was laid on the locals.

In their passing attack the visitors gained more ground and made many of their efforts good. The line work of Plattsmouth was far the best and attempts to gain through the line was without success.

The Plattsmouth touchdown was made by Kent, Omaha star, who was away on an end run and with excellent interference carried the ball to the danger zone of the visitors and where with Kent carrying the ball, it was forced over the line for the touchdown and the kick for the extra point was good.

As the game was in its last quarter a pass by Valley advanced the ball into the local territory and then the locals drew the penalty that advanced Valley twenty-five yards. Going around the end the visitors secured a first down and from where the ball was carried over the goal line and later the place kick was good and the score stood 7 to 7.

The cold weather and chilling wind made the lot of the fans far from pleasant but the larger portion remained until the close of the game.

VISITS IN IOWA

Mr. and Mrs. Julius A. Pitz have returned from a short visit with relatives and friends at Buffalo Creek, Iowa, where they were guests of relatives of Mrs. Pitz. They found the crop conditions in that section of Iowa excellent for the past year and while the prices of farm products are at the lowest ebb for many years, a fine crop of all kinds of grain and corn was enjoyed by the Iowa farmers.

Local People Have Close Call in Auto Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brubaker and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brubaker, Daughter in Wreck.

Sunday evening while Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brubaker of Murray, were driving home from Omaha, shortly after 7 o'clock, they had their car damaged in an auto accident in the vicinity of Fort Crook. With them in the car was their little daughter, Beverly Ann, 5, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brubaker of this city.

The Brubaker car was going south on highway No. 75, at the same time a long string of cars also going north. One of the cars in the north-bound line of traffic swung out to pass the forward car and crashed into the car of Mr. Brubaker. The glass in the Brubaker car as well as the fenders and running board was damaged.

As the crash came Edward Brubaker held his coat over himself and wife as the shower of broken glass descended and in this way escaped any serious cuts. Mrs. G. E. Brubaker had a leg sprained in the wreck and the little daughter suffered a cut on the chin that was quite painful.

The car that crashed into the Brubaker car was a Plymouth coach, driven by a young man named Bachelor of Nebraska City, who with his lady companion was seriously injured in the wreckage.

The traffic was heavy at the time of the accident and the vicinity of the wreck was blocked with cars for a few moments until it was ascertained that there had been no one dangerously hurt.

A Plain Statement by Congressman Morehead

Present Congressman Places Facts Before the Voters of the First District.

As a man, I cannot help but resent the uncalled-for attacks of my opponent on Mrs. Morehead. Whatever I may have done that has been worth while, my wife deserves much of the credit. She has worked by my side and I owe her a debt of gratitude that I can never repay for her counsel and advice. To say that she conspired with me to defraud the government, is a statement that those who know her, will be quick to resent. I regret that my opponent has felt it necessary to attack her, or other members of my family. I wish he could have confined his attacks to me personally.

Moreover I feel that most people will resent the statement that my son drew government money. Of course he did, but the only money he drew was his pay as a soldier during the World war in which he served for twenty-three months, here and overseas. Is it a crime for a soldier to be paid?

I have no objection to any statements of my opponent, when he tells the true facts. I doubt if many voters are interested in the statements that have been made. But, if even a single voter wants to know the facts, I am more than willing to give them. The government in Washington, over many years, has planned what it costs to run the office of a congressman. The amount is payable monthly. If it could be paid when required it would be better, but if the money is not drawn in a certain month, it lapses and cannot be drawn. There are times when the full amount is not needed. There are times—when congress is in session—when more than the monthly rate is needed. By having Mrs. Morehead draw part of the pay during the slack times, that money could be used during the busy times, the only way that it could be done, and the money was used that way. As a matter of fact, neither Mrs. Morehead nor myself ever profited a penny in the pay allotted for office help. On the contrary during my term as congressman, I have spent for office help some $2,200 more than the government has allotted. And moreover, Mrs. Morehead, as she has done so often in our married life, has worked with me, has toiled at my office, without any other compensation, than the knowledge that she was helping me to represent my district more effectively.

And we hear about junketing trips. I have never taken one at the expense of the government. We hear about stationery accounts. The government allots $125 per annum for that purpose, and contrary to my opponent's statement, the only one permitted to use committee stationery, is the chairman of that committee. Let us examine his charges. There are two ways to use this yearly allowance. One is to charge all supplies. The other is to pay cash as items are purchased, and draw the money. It takes less bookkeeping to do the latter. That is what I did. To say, as he has said, that the cost of stationery, ink, and such items for my office averaged $6.68 a year is so ridiculous as to be laughable. To say that I franked my letters of speeches, is just as ridiculous. Ask anyone who received mail from me. They will tell you that I placed postage stamps, that I paid for, on my letters, which, I regret to say, is not the universal custom in Washington.

But even more important to the voters of this district is my past record. Some, if not all of the voters, may remember when I was governor of Nebraska, when the salary was one-third what it is now. It was the custom then, and had been for many years, to make up for the low salary by paying a certain amount for upkeep of the governor's mansion. The legislature made the usual appropriation for me, and I refused it. While I thought then that it was morally right to accept the money, I also thought then, as I do now, that it was at least a technical violation of my oath of office. This record is a matter of history. Those who know that record will see, I am sure, believe that I or Mrs. Morehead, ever conspired to defraud the government.

I realize that my opponent, whose greatest achievement in politics was as a registered lobbyist to force an anti-German language bill onto the people of this state, is aligned with a sinister crew. It is the same crew who boast of electing Governor McMullen, then injuring him, that boast of electing Governor Weaver, then defeating him, and who dynamited Senator Wherry of Pawnee county out of the road while posing as his friends. They expect to finish their present activities by my defeat. But I cannot help but believe that my record has been too long and open for their success. And I also firmly believe that right-thinking and decent people will resent the despicable efforts to blacken the name of Mrs. Morehead, who should not have been dragged by these vultures, into my campaign.

Pancake Lovers to Have Treat on Saturday

Pancake Day to See Dainty Cakes, Butter, Syrup and Coffee Served Free All Day Saturday.

The dwellers of Cass county and Plattsmouth who are lovers of the dainty pancake and its accompanying butter and syrup, will have a treat afforded them on next Saturday, when from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. these dainties will be served free of cost.

The pancake feed will be held in the vacant store room in the Masonic building where all the facilities for the preparing and serving of the cakes will be arranged.

As a part of the feed there will be pancake eating contests held at 8 o'clock in the morning and at 10 o'clock in the evening. Those who are planning to enter the contest should commence training at once so that they will be in the best of condition to wage war on the pancake.

Sheriff Captures Cargo of Liquor Last Evening

Five Gallons of "Hooch" Is Captured Together with the Car of Gus Whitely.

Late Monday night Sheriff Ed W. Thimman and Deputy Sheriff Ray Becker made the capture of the car of Gus Whitely, which was at the time occupied by Mrs. Whitely, the car also containing some five gallons of liquor.

The car was captured in a little used street near the Whitely home and the officers were compelled to chase the car some distance before it was overhauled and captured.

On reaching the car the officers found only the wife of Mr. Whitely in the car and the search revealed the presence of the five gallons of the "hooch."

The officers also captured Frank March who was reported to have escaped from the car and a search was made in the locality for Mr. Whitely but without result and he could not be located altho the officers spent some time in the search.

The officers while on their search found a five gallon jug that residents of the neighborhood said had been dropped in their yards a few moments prior by a fleeing man. The jug was empty and from the jug to the road a well defined trail was spread where the whiskey had been poured out as the man ran from the scene of the capture.

This is the second time the car has been captured, some three months ago being taken near Murray and while no liquor was found at the time the officers claimed that it had been thrown out of the car. On the trial of the case a disagreed jury was dismissed and on the retrial of the case Mr. Whitely was acquitted.

Pay rolls build cities and every new industry secured adds just that much more. That's why Plattsmouth welcomes going concerns and goes out in search of them.

In the course of the evening many Halloween games were played and in these Beatrice Arn was the winner while the prize winning costume was voted to Frances Hadraba. Dainty refreshments were served at an appropriate hour by Mrs. Mrasek who was assisted by Miss Margaret Mrasek. William Baldwin, War Veteran, is Awarded $10,400

Secures Payment of Claim for Disability Incurred in Service in World War.

William Baldwin of this city, veteran of the world war, Tuesday received from the U. S. Veterans bureau a settlement of his claim for permanent disability in the sum of $10,400.

This claim of Mr. Baldwin was for disability which was contracted in the United States army while in service in France and has been pending before the government for the past few years.

As the result of his heart trouble and asthma, due to service connected disability Mr. Baldwin also has suffered an affliction of the spine, all of which are of a permanent nature and incapacitates the veteran from manual labor.

The check for the amount of the claim in full was received yesterday by Mr. Baldwin and closes his case as far as the government is concerned. The amount is one that should care amply for the needs of the veteran for his lifetime and protect him from the want and privation that is suffered by so many disabled veterans.

The many friends of Mr. Baldwin will be pleased to learn of his successful settlement of his claim and which will assure him comfort and care.

TAKEN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

From Wednesday's Daily
Federal officers, operating out of the Omaha office of H. D. Wilson, federal prohibition enforcement officer, yesterday took Walter Burke of this city into custody.

The charge filed against Mr. Burke at Omaha was that of the sale of intoxicating liquor. The alleged sale was made some two weeks ago at the same time that sale was secured against a number of other local people.

While in the other cases of violations here the parties were arraigned in the local courts, but in the case of Mr. Burke the officers took the defendant on into Omaha to be arraigned there before Commissioner Mary Mullen for trial in the federal court before Judge Woodruff.

OLD RESIDENTS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wellman, of Denver, Colorado, are here to enjoy a visit at the home of Mrs. J. F. Clugy as well as with other of the old time friends in this city. Rotary Club Has Visit from the District President

Ray Meyers of Council Bluffs Meets Here at Observation of Rotary Ann Meeting.

From Wednesday's Daily
Last evening the Plattsmouth Rotary club had two exceptionally pleasant features afforded them at their weekly meeting, a Rotary Ann social and the visit of District President Ray Meyers of Council Bluffs.

The meeting was in the nature of a large dinner party served in the large dining room of the Brown cafe and attended by the members of the club and their ladies.

The meeting was largely devoted to the reception of President Meyers and his message. The district president whose territory covers Nebraska, western Iowa and South Dakota, had a very interesting message along the line of the Rotary work. He took up and discussed in detail the various objects and aims of the great international organization. He also stressed the necessity of international co-operation in trade and all lines of contact among the peoples of the world. The speaker discussed the plans for the remainder of the Rotary year in all of the lines and departments of Rotary.

The Rotary quartet composed of Frank A. Cloldt, Harry G. McClusky, R. W. Knorr and L. D. Hlatt gave two very beautiful selections, "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "I Love a Lassie."

HAVE HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The members of the Awont campfire held a very pleasant Halloween party on Saturday evening at the W. A. Robertson home on North Sixth street. The party was held in the spacious basement of the home and which had been arranged in the general witching atmosphere of the season. Streamers of black and orange, lanterns, black cats, witches, had been used to present the proper settings for the party. The decorating committee was Rachel Robertson, Mary Jane Mark, and Mary Kathryn Wiles.

The girls of the campfire arrived in costume for the party and as the ghostlike figures arrived they were given many a thrill in the stunts that had been prepared for them by the committee.

The campfire was especially happy to have with them Waunita Johnson, who has been very ill for the past several weeks and is now able to resume her usual activity.

The jolly party enjoyed the games of the Halloween season, bobbing for apples and other amusements that served to pass the time most delightfully.

The refreshments were then served by the committee composed of Elva Johnson, Marjorie Ann Tidball, Mrs. Alice Woster, guardian of the campfire, assisted the girls in their party.
