Christian Church Revival Services Attract Many

Rev. A. W. Farmer of Clay Center, Conducting Services Rest of Week, Except Saturday.

The revival meetings at the Christian church continue to attract large crowds. The church was filled almost to capacity Sunday evening, the Methodist church of our city having dismissed their evening services and came in a body to hear this young minister, Rev. A. W. Farmer of Clay Center, Nebr., who is conducting the meetings.

Rev. Farmer brought a wonderful message which was enjoyed by all who were in attendance, he using as his text, "What Happened on Calvary," he also rendering the pantomime, "The Old Rugged Cross," with Miss Dorothy McCarthy as the accompanist.

The meetings will continue another week, at 7:45 each evening, as previously announced, with the exception of Saturday evening.

Following are the texts he will use this week: Monday evening, "Make Me a Little Cake First," a sermon on stewardship; Tuesday evening, "What is Salvation;" Wednesday evening, "The Temple of God;" Thursday evening, "Spirit of Stewardship;" Friday evening, "God's Workshop."
Some fifty members of the church brought their dinners to church Sunday, and spent the entire day in honor of Rev. Farmer. All who were in attendance enjoyed the occasion very much.

ENJOY FINE TIME

Last week the Westminster Guild held a very pleasant social meeting at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Lohnes. Miss Eleanor Olson was the hostess. The lesson was in charge of Miss Ruth Wurga. After the lesson the game committee took charge. Many games were played and first and second prizes were awarded for those who showed the most skill in each game. This was followed by the singing of Christmas carols. The hostess served very delicious refreshments which closed the evening.

HERE FOR CONVENTION

From Wednesday's Daily
Dr. Charles M. Gradoville, who is engaged in the dental department of the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Knoxville, Iowa, was among the out of town attendants at the Legion convention. Mrs. Gradoville and the three younger children, Robert, Norman and Paul, were also here and enjoyed the visit with relatives and friends. They returned this afternoon to Knoxville.

Another Community Sale at McMaken barns—3 blocks north Helsel's mill at 1:30 next Saturday. There will be livestock, household goods, or anything. No listing charge this week.

Damages to Pay

Judgments for damages are higher now, and money is harder to get. If your car is in an accident, are you prepared to pay? Be safe, not sorry!

LITTLE FIRES

Many fires are small, but the damage done costs far more than a little insurance protection on your property.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS

Supplementing the usual Christmas observance by the churches, the plan this year is to have a community program a little bit unusual and more comprehensive than ever before. A program entirely home made that will delight the young and please the old. Here it is—

Saturday, Dec. 10—Reception to Santa Claus at 10:30 a. m. on Chicago avenue, followed by a parade to court house grounds, where Santa will distribute candy to all boys and girls. From 11 to 12, 2 to 4 and 7 to 9, Santa will be stationed at his headquarters in Masonic building, where he will be glad to see all his friends, old and new.

Saturday night, Dec. 10—The decorative lighting system will be turned on, which together with the Christmas trees and gaily lighted windows will make of Main street a fascinating thoroughfare.

Saturday, Dec. 17—Another Santa Claus day. This time Santa will come to us from nobody knows where. He will make a mysterious appearance at 10:30 Saturday, Dec. 17th, and will be stationed again at his headquarters in the Masonic building. This time he will have a present for every boy and girl who calls to see him. He has made arrangements with all the business places in the city to hand out gifts to the boys and girls on his order. Said order will be in the nature of a Santa Claus gift ticket which he will give out himself to all the children who call on him at his headquarters during the day.

Wednesday, Dec. 21—Christmas music and drill. An unusual program has been prepared for this particular evening in which the chorus of the city will be assisted by the High school band, under direction of Demmie Hiatt. The exercises will center at 4th and Main, where the big Christmas tree with its many lights will form an appropriate background.

At 7:30 a bugle will sound and from the west the Methodist and Christian choirs will move towards the intersection singing "Silent Night." When they have finished another bugle will sound and from the south the Presbyterian and Mynard choirs will move towards the intersection singing "Little Town of Bethlehem." When they have finished, another bugle will sound and from the east the German Evangelical and Episcopal choirs will move towards the intersection singing "O Come All You Faithful." When they have finished a fourth bugle will sound and from the north the K. C. Apollo chorus will move towards the intersection singing "Adestes Fideles."

When all four singing units have arrived they will join as one united choir in singing "Joy to the World, the Lord has Come," accompanied by the High school band.

Following this the Camp Fire girls under leadership of Mrs. Marjorie Lohnes and Mrs. Clem Woster will give a very pleasing drill at this same location. This whole evening's program is sponsored and arranged by the Plattsmouth Woman's club, under direction of Mrs. James T. Begley, chairman of the Music department.

CLASS ATTENDS COURT

From Monday's Daily
The commercial law class of the Murdock high school was here today to take in the session of the district court. The class of eighteen young men and women were in charge of Francis Parish, principal of the high school and instructor of the commercial department. The students were also accompanied by Mrs. Eunice McHugh, who assisted in the transportation of the young people. The trial of the case was followed with the greatest interest by the young people and who found it very instructive in every way. While here Mr. Parish was a luncheon guest at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vallery and family.

VISITS IN THE CITY

George E. Hager, former county attorney of Lancaster county, one of the leaders of the legal profession in that county, was here for a short time Tuesday. Mr. Hager was called to look after some litigation in the district court and while here visited with a number of the old friends. Mr. Hager was a resident here some thirty-five years ago, locating here when just entering on the active practice of law and was engaged with C. S. Polk, later going to Lincoln, where he has since been in practice.
