Held Interesting Session
The Ladies Aid of the Christian church held their regular meeting on last Wednesday at the church parlors, where they looked after the business of the society and also had a very pleasant and enjoyable session as well as enjoying a very fine program. Mrs. J. E. Hatchett was leader of the excellent program, while Mesdames C. M. Read, Jennie Jenkins and George Parks were hostesses.

Feeling Much Improved
Mrs. William Sporer, who returned home last week from Savannah, Mo., where she was receiving treatment at the institution there, is feeling much improved. She is being cared for by Mrs. Grace Kennedy, who is a very capable nurse.

Speaking about the institution at which Mrs. Sporer was receiving treatment at Savannah, she has to say that it is a great place and very well equipped for treating people and a beautiful town as well as a hospital. Mrs. Sporer is pleased that she went and believes she has received great good from the treatment.

Young Folks Again in Contest
The Senior Christian Endeavor of the Christian church are again in a contest for membership and attendance at their five meetings which are just ahead of them. They are to conclude with a banquet and all who shall be in attendance three out of the five meetings shall be eligible to participate in the supper.

Harold Lancaster Injured
While some of the boys were playing, one young man grasped the head of Harold Lancaster, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis E. Lancaster and lifted the lad from the chair, injuring his neck, which has caused the young man much suffering. Deputy Sheriff Lancaster came down and took the son to Plattsmouth, where he was treated by Dr. Joe Stibal. It is hoped that he may soon be enjoying his accustomed health again.

Farmers Elevator Company
The Farmers Elevator company held their postponed meeting January 9th, when they took up the business before them and after having cared for such matters as claimed their attention, with the single exception of the leasing of the plant for the coming year, adjourned.

Entertained for Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Will S. Smith entertained on last Tuesday evening at a six-thirty supper at their home and had as their guests Messrs and Mesdames E. S. Tutt and R. W. Tyson. A most merry time was had.

Mrs. Sarah Eliza Young Passes
Mrs. Sarah Eliza Young, age 87, who has been making her home at the Soldiers and Sailors home at Milford, Nebraska, has been in poor health according to the reports from there, and on last Sunday passed away, the funeral being held at the home and the remains brought to the Young cemetery, where interment was held on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Young was well known and is one of the oldest of residents of this part of Nebraska, she having taught school here when the Murray school was on Main street and there was no Murray here. She also taught school east of town.

She was married to Frank Young many years ago, he preceding the wife in death by some eighteen years. Two children were born to this union, Alba Young, who resides some place in the west and Mrs. Mabel Cook, of Omaha. There are four grandchildren, Frances Cook and Mrs. Nita Kroll and a great-granddaughter, of Omaha, and the two daughters of Alba Young, whose maiden name was Sarah Eliza Law, was born in the state of New York February 10, 1847, and came to Nebraska when a young woman.

Many at Brendel Funeral
Among those from out of town, who came to pay tribute to the memory of their friend and the friend of humanity, the late Dr. J. F. Brendel, were Dr. Bert Latta, of Clay Center, and his father, Dr. Oscar Latta, of Lincoln; Dr. Bert Morrow, of Lincoln and Dr. Joseph Morrow, of Seward; Dr. J. R. Dwyer, of Omaha; Drs. Kruse and Thomas, of Weeping Water; W. R. Kidder and wife, the latter a sister of Mrs. Brendel, of Sargeant; Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Bates, the latter a sister of Mrs. Brendel, of Rising City; Margaret Kidder, Sargeant; Mrs. Minnie Wood and daughter, Mrs. Allu and husband, Lincoln; Herbert Bates and wife, of Lincoln; Lawrence Bates, of Omaha; Warren Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Petersen, Omaha; Arthur L. Baker and daughter, Orpha, and A. L. Cocker and wife of Omaha.

Mrs. Bertha Shrader Better
Mrs. Bertha Shrader, who was struck by an automobile several months ago and who has been in a hospital in Omaha since that time, where she suffered a great deal, is showing good improvement at this time. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Nickles and Mrs. Henry C. Long were over to Omaha to see the patient and found Mrs. Shrader much improved, so much so that they were encouraged and have hopes that she will some day be able to be up and about again.

Death of Aged Lady
From Monday's Daily
Mrs. Sarah E. Young, of Murray, one of the old residents of that portion of Cass county, died Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Milford. Mrs. Young had made her home there during the winter season for several years, returning to Murray for a visit in the summer.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Home at Milford and the body brought to Cass county, where services will be held at the Young cemetery south of this city, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Advertising will keep the wheels of business turning, even in "depression times." Don't overlook that fact, Mr. Merchant.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our deepest appreciation of the many acts of kindness shown us in our bereavement, as well as for the tender sympathy expressed and the beautiful floral remembrances.—Mrs. J. F. Brendel and son, Richard, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Brendel, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brendel and Mr. and Mrs. William Seybold.

"Jesus at Work"
Mark 1:21-35.
The first chapter of Mark's Gospel contains a wealth of history, is crowded full of Christ's teaching, preaching, healing and labor, from Sabbath morning until late in the night; early morning finds him in a lonely place in prayer.

We take further note that Jesus' life was centered around four towns—Bethlehem, where he was born; Nazareth, where he spent his youth; Jerusalem, where he died, and Capernaum, headquarters of his ministry, where he worked so many miracles, gave so many blessed teachings. He probably lived with Peter and Andrew, they having moved here from Bethsaida.

It is Sabbath morning and where else would Jesus go than to his "Father's House," where all God's children should be. Dressed in the garb of a Rabbi, the rulers call on him to lead the service. And how gladly Jesus embraced the opportunity.

Did the rulers make a mistake in selecting this stranger? Was ever an audience thrilled by a speaker like these people? No! Christ is the world's greatest teacher, most winsome, most convincing, most inspiring. "Out of a perfect relation with God flows his teaching like a crystal stream. It flashes with light—it quenches the thirst of the soul. It cuts deep channels, lays bare the heart, breaks it in penitence and tears. No words from human lips were ever like these."—Rev. Robert F. Fulton.

Was the teaching of Jesus amazing and astonishing?

The next scene was a dramatic climax. As the living words flow from the lips of the teacher-preacher, a demon-possessed man, who may have sat under the teaching and preaching of some scribe or Pharisee for years listening or sleeping through the service, where nothing but tradition was repeated, and precedents and the opinions of Rabbis. But as this man spoke with "authority," with no appeal to human authority, no subtle logical distinction, nor clever sayings, there was a great commotion in the audience.

The old church member woke up; he protested against the kind of preaching that was going on; he would not have the old order disturbed. "Get out!" "Let us alone" is his cry. (When the morning star arose, the powers of darkness were greatly agitated: light and darkness met; more demons passed in Christ's time—some eighty times referred to in the New Testament—than at any other time.) Jesus had come to destroy the works of the devil. The battle was on.

The man of authority demands "silence," then "commands," and he is obeyed. All power is his. Thus must our teaching and preaching be—with authority—to be effective.

Some one may say: "I have not the power that Jesus had." Why not? Did he not say, "Ye shall receive power?" (Acts 1:8). When Jesus calls men into his service, does he not give them "power and authority?" (Luke 9:1). Hence we conclude: If our teaching and preaching does not arouse the powers of darkness, stirs not the imaginations of men, brings no change in conditions and lives of men, that we have been mistaken in our calling. Of the Apostles it was said: "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also." (Acts 17:6). Wonderful testimony for the power of the Gospel.

Why should a teacher or preacher say "if you please?" They are servants of God and need not apologize, but simply say, "Thus saith the Lord." (II Sam. 12:7).

Going home from the service in the synagogue Jesus finds work awaiting him. Peter's mother-in-law was laid up with a great fever; here a physician is needed. Is Jesus equal to the occasion? Read Ver. 31 of the lesson, for an answer.

Jesus has shown his power in teaching, preaching and healing. The complete cure of this woman is proven when she served her guests. Fever patients recover usually very slow.

This was a good Sunday's work. Go thou and do likewise.

The Sabbath came to a close at 6 p. m. Had the people been amazed at Jesus' teaching and astonished at his healing power, they now took advantage of his presence and the time when work may be done, and they sure kept the Master busy.

The report of this day's work had been broadcast, and the result was a most pathetic scene, when all the blind, the deaf, the dumb, the crippled, the insane, those afflicted with horrible sores and most rebuking agonies, some stumbling along as best they could, some led, some carried on litters, some in the arms of strong men—all the misery of the city and surrounding country at the feet of this Healer—this lowly Nazarene!

Imagine the narrow, crooked street in Capernaum, the crowding of friends to get to Jesus; and behold the majestic, calm, self-possessed, serene person of the Savior. Some afraid his healing power might not hold out; we can hear their groans and prayers intermingled with sobs. So, ever since, the whole world of wretchedness has been pressing toward the Savior. This glorious tribute we can give to the Great Physician, as Mathew (8:16) says: "He healed them all."

Luke in his narrative of the day, says: (Chap. 4:20) "Every one of them." A glorious day for Capernaum. But now the human asserts itself. Rest is sweet—after such a strenuous day.

But before Capernaum is awake, Jesus sought the blessed communion with his Father. The early morning hours are the best for meditation and prayer. The first ought to be given to God, and—the best. It is good that we can pray for renewed strength when exhausted at the evening time, but it is better to pray in the fullness of our morning prayers that God may guide and direct the renewed energies.

"O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come."—Psalm 65-2.

Saturday, meeting many of the old-time friends there with whom he was acquainted before leaving there some 18 years ago. On Monday, Mr. Greene had material hauled from the Murray lumber yard to be used in the work. The hardware is being supplied by the Murray Hardware company.

Mrs. Harriett Royal, who has been making her home with Mrs. Anna Ellington, of Plattsmouth, for a number of weeks, was a visitor in Murray over the week end, coming last Saturday evening and remaining until Tuesday evening, and while here visited at the homes of Mrs. Ralph Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Smith and as well at the home of Mrs. Sadie Oldham and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Young.

Change in Meeting Place
Meetings of the Women's Missionary society will be held in the homes while the public school occupies the church. As a result it is necessary to confine the meetings to the members until June.

The first meeting will be held on Friday of this week, January 13th, at the E. S. Tutt home.

Made a Merry Day of It
The members of the Christian church were solving the problem of fuel for the church with the cutting of wood south of the church on land owned by Mesdames D. Ray Frans, of Union and G. H. Gilmore of Murray. They hauled the wood to the church yard, where they sawed it into proper length for use in the heating of the church building. The Ladies Aid society of the church, not to be outdone by the men, showed their interest in the cause by preparing a splendid dinner at the church for all the workers, who came in to eat, but hurried back to resume their work as soon as possible.
