

GREENWOOD

John J. Mefford was in Louisville last Thursday, where he attended the funeral of the late Mrs. G. W. Mayfield.

Mrs. P. L. Hall has been quite ill for a number of days, but was feeling somewhat improved the latter part of the week.

D. S. Rogers and family moved last week to the John Ballenger place and are now located for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Wallace Borden and the family moved last week to Waverly, at which place they will make their home in the future.

Mrs. Blanche Bright moved last week to the Mrs. Jane Coleman place, where she is now nicely located for the remainder of the winter.

Ray Friedrichs was a visitor in Omaha on last Thursday and on his return home drive via Murray, where he had some business matters to look after.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Etheredge went to Lincoln one day last week to attend the installation ceremonies of the three Rebekah assemblies of Lincoln, Havelock and Bethany, and where they enjoyed all sessions.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Etheredge were enjoying a visit on last Sunday from Mr. and Mrs. George Bobbitt, of Lincoln. The occasion was a very pleasant one as the ladies are cousins and enjoyed getting together to talk over old times.

Two children of Ross Casey and wife have been very sick, one a boy of 3 or 4, while the other is a baby, some 8 months of age. The lad had pneumonia, and while he is reported as some better, is still very sick, and the baby is also in a critical condition.

Charles Helmers, of Lincoln, was a visitor for a few days last week at the homes of his sisters, Mrs. Arthur Anderson and Mrs. Rudolph Stein, as well as renewing acquaintance with many of his former friends here. Mr. Helmers has been residing in Lincoln for the past thirteen years, but previous to that time spent his entire life here.

While Jacob Witt has a home of his own in the corporate limits of the town of Greenwood, he recently rented a place outside of town and has moved there, not that it was less expensive to live in a rented place than in his own, but because some have objected to him living in town and at the same time having a position in the country. Mr. Witt is road overseer for a certain district and he is required to reside within the district where he works.

Attended Funerals at Louisville
Fred W. Etheredge and wife and Rev. W. E. Goings were in Louisville last Wednesday, where they attended the funeral of their friend, Miles N. Drake. The following day they went back to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. George W. Mayfield, a Cass county pioneer resident, who died Tuesday at the age of 97 at the Masonic Home in Plattsmouth, where she had resided for five or six years. Rev. Goings had charge of the funeral of Mrs. Mayfield, who had been a member of the Christian church at Louisville for many years, and whose husband, the late G. W. Mayfield was a minister of that denomination as well as a pioneer newspaper publisher.

Many Busy at School
Many of the people of Greenwood are finding employment at the school building as the work of placing it in condition for the holding of school again is being pushed along at a rapid rate. The carpenter work is about all done and part of the painting. A force of men were giving attention to the walls which had been blackened by smoke and in some places damage by water made replastering necessary. One room was very little damaged, but as the heating plant was out of commission this room could not be used. The Christian church building and the old school house are being used to carry on school activities while repairs are being made to the school house.

Goes to Sleep Driving
A Chevrolet dealer from out in the western part of the state, while driving a new car of that make from Omaha en route to his home town, fell asleep at the wheel while near the home of John Lambert and the car went into the ditch, turning over. The car was badly damaged and the driver seriously injured, sustaining a broken leg and severe cuts about the throat and chin. The man was brot to town and given emergency treatment by Dr. Talcott, after which he was sent to a Lincoln hospital. The car was later brought to the Mathews garage, where it remained till the first of the week, when it was taken on to the home of the dealer.

Town Team Wins Game

The Greenwood town team of basketball players went over to Ashland last Tuesday evening, where they engaged in a game with the Ashland town team, winning by a score of 28 to 20. Lee Knolle, the Greenwood coach, was the outstanding player on his team, being responsible for 12 of their points. Herold and Barger, of Ashland, made 6 points each.

The Greenwood team is open for engagements with town teams in this part of the state and a date may be arranged by addressing Ramon Newkirk, at Greenwood.

Mumm, had charge of the installation ceremonies.

Greenwood and Murray Schools are Active

Despite Buildings Suffering from Fire, the Work of Teaching Is Carried On.

The communities of Murray and Greenwood which suffered from fire in their school buildings, are operating the schools as usual. The work of taking up emergency quarters was carried on in fine shape by the school boards and teachers, Miss Alpa Peterson, county superintendent, reports.

Murray was the greatest sufferer as the school building there was completely destroyed by the fire that broke out a few days before Christmas. The destruction of the building has made necessary the placing of a part of the school pupils in the Presbyterian church building and others cared for in the library building. This has proven very satisfactory and the schools have operated on the regular schedule. So far there has been no plans for the immediate rebuilding of the school building.

The Greenwood schools are being taught in one of the church buildings that formerly was used for school purposes. The necessity of using these temporary school rooms will not be for long as the school building which was badly smoked up is being renovated and redecorated and it is expected that the next week will see the school back in the old home.

BANNING CHARGES TAX BILL 'STOLEN'

Lincoln, Jan. 11.—Senator W. B. Banning of Union, veteran democratic legislator, Wednesday night charged that Representative Frank J. Kloppling of Wayne, another democrat, had "stolen" his tax bill and introduced it in the house.

"I worked for two months on that bill and was getting final approval on its form from the attorney general," said Banning, "and then Kloppling gets a copy of it from the legislative reference bureau and introduces it in the other house just to get publicity."

Banning declared he would introduce his own measure in the senate in a few days after last-minute changes. The bill would levy a tax on the privilege of doing business and on sales.

Representative Kloppling said he had worked on a tax bill for months.

DEMAND FOR RANSOM

San Francisco.—Mrs. B. F. Schlesinger, mother of Lee Schlesinger and wife of a department store magnate, confirmed reports she had received a letter saying her son, believed drowned in the Columbia river, was being held by kidnapers. Mrs. Schlesinger would not disclose the amount of ransom asked but said it was a "posterous figure."

SKETCH OF MRS. SARAH E. YOUNG

Sarah Eliza Law was born in Hamden, Delaware county, New York, February 10, 1848, and grew to womanhood and received her education there. In 1867 she united with the Methodist church and had since lived a Christian and upright life. She came west in 1869 and located at Plattsmouth where she reviewed her studies as a teacher in the schools and was one of the first teachers in the locality where Murray now stands and where she had since made her home. On February 14, 1870, she was united in marriage to Francis M. Young, who preceded his wife in death at Omaha on July 1st, 1912. Mr. and Mrs. Young in later life had united with the Presbyterian church at Murray and were workers in the church until their deaths.

Mrs. Young had for the past eight years resided at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Millford, Nebraska, visiting the old home at Murray in the summer season for several months.

Mrs. Young passed away Saturday evening, January 7th, at the Home at Millford.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mable L. Cook of Omaha, one granddaughter, Mrs. Nita Kroll of Omaha, one grandson, Francis Cook, of Ashland, and one great-granddaughter, Betty Kroll of Omaha.

Services were held at 10 a. m. on Tuesday at the Home at Millford, conducted by Rev. Fowler and at 2 o'clock at the Young cemetery south of this city where interment was made.

ELMWOOD HAS STIR

There was some real excitement in town around two or three o'clock on Tuesday morning. Don Parish, night watchman is very vigilant and alert on the job. At that time he discovered a light in the Green drug store. The light seemed to go on and off occasionally. This led him to believe that there were burglars in the store. He immediately notified central who called Harry Green, Guy Miller, Chas. West and others and they hastened to the store to assist in capturing the burglars in case they should be there. Harry Green drove up in the car and let the lights shine into the building. He unlocked the door and all went in while Don watched on the outside. No traces were discovered. They looked all around and while they were still looking around the light went off. This created some excitement and after investigation it was revealed that a light in the prescription section of the store was turning on and off, presumably caused by the hard wind that was blowing.

While there were no burglars all had a little excitement and while ready to face the culprits should there have been any, are glad that they did not have to face any dangerous weapons.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

NEW YORK BALLOT FRAUDS

New York.—Seven Manhattan election officials were indicted by federal grand juries investigating charges of election frauds. At the same time federal investigators reported an examination of voting machines in seven election districts in the fourth assembly district showed the reported vote for democratic candidates was boosted as much as 100 apiece by adding to their actual totals votes cast for minor party candidates. The January grand jury indicted Nathan Silver, democratic chairman of the board of elections in the Fifth district of the Fourth assembly district. A bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

Of the other six men indicted, three were republican election officers and three democrats. All are charged with conspiracy to falsify election returns, a charge carrying a penalty of not more than ten years' imprisonment.

Set Minimum Prices for Wheat, Hogs, Butterfat

Allotment Bill Is Approved by the House by 203-150 Vote; Rice and Peanuts Included.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Embarking on the greatest experiment in farm relief since the ill-fated equalization fee and export debenture plan, the house Thursday passed the $1,000,000,000 domestic allotment bill, which is backed in principle by President-elect Roosevelt. The vote was 203 to 150.

Voting for the bill were 139 democrats, 63 republicans and 1 farmer-laborite. Opposing it were 51 democrats and 99 republicans.

The Jones bill now goes to the senate where it faces a rocky road. President Hoover is expected to veto the bill if it reaches him.

Expectation was general that if the measure does not become law at this session, President Roosevelt will recommend it to the incoming democratic congress.

Fix Minimum Prices.

Under the bill, minimum fair prices are fixed for wheat, cotton, hogs, tobacco, butterfat, rice and peanuts.

The difference between the current price at the farm and the "sale price" would be obtained by taxes upon processors of the commodities for distribution among the farmers who reduced production by 20 per cent.

The secretary of agriculture would determine the proportion of domestic consumption and distribute to the participating farmers cashable "adjustment certificates." Taxes on processors would be collected by the treasury department.

Opponents contended the plan would require an army of employees to administer, especially to police the farmers participating, would upset the economic position of the commodities involved, and would cost consumers over $1,000,000,000.

Proponents countered the plan was workable and in effect would bring the farmers up to parity with others and most of the cost would be absorbed by middlemen.

Marketing Period.

Going into effect 30 days after passage, the bill provides for an "initial marketing period." After this temporary period the machinery of the bill would operate on the 1933-34 crop year.

During the initial marketing period the "fair exchange" values would be 75 cents a bushel for wheat, 9 cents a pound for cotton, 75 cents a bushel for rice, 5 cents a pound for hogs, 3 cents a pound for peanuts and 26 cents a pound for butterfat. In the 1933-34 marketing year the fair price for hogs would be 6 cents a pound with a sliding scale depending upon the rise or fall in the number of factory employees.

The tax on processors is fixed at 3½ cents a pound from the time the bill passes through April; 4 cents from May to July and 4½ cents until the 1933-34 marketing season. Under the bill the processors tax would be reduced as the price of the commodities rises at the farm.

As a safeguard against driving consumers to substitutes for the commodities directly affected, the bill provided for compensatory taxes on processors of silk and rayon and an import tax of 5 cents a pound on short-staple cotton.—Omaha Bee-News.

Vote Contest is Dismissed by the House

State Senate Concurs in Bimetallism; Legislators Hurry Work, Adjourn for Week-end.

Lincoln—Nebraska legislators hurried through their work Friday and went home for the week-end.

While the senate approved bimetallism, balked at a six-day legislative week, and concurred in house amendments to a bill approving the "lame duck" amendment, the house dismissed an election contest and called it a day. Both branches will convene again at 2 p. m. Monday.

The contest was for the seat of Representative William H. Meier (D.) of Lincoln. Charges of secrecy and "railroading" were turned down by the house as it overrode the claims of John S. Bishop, a Lincoln republican, to the place. The official count gave Meier 12 more votes than Bishop.

Only two "noes" were heard when the senate voted to memorialize Congress for a bimetallism program of expansion and silver coinage. Another resolution by Senator Crist Anderson (D.) of Bristow to institute a six-day working week for the senate was squelched by members who called for less "talk" and more action.

Discuss Machine.

But the proposed use of the legislature's $35,000 electric voting machine, which never has been tried in actual session, started a discussion which lasted most of the time in the senate.

Attorney General Paul Good reiterated his opinion that use of the machine would be perfectly legal but the senators were timid. Senator Fred G. Hawxy (D.) of Pawnee City voiced the popular apprehension:

"We are going to pass some important legislation in the next few weeks that probably will involve a change in our revenue system. We'd feel pretty cheap if the supreme court declared it illegal. Let's be on the safe side."

So the whole question was referred to a committee.

A bill to make the traveler pay the state's gasoline tax was among those introduced in the senate. It would raise the tax from 4 to 6 cents but exempt persons buying in their own county from paying any tax.

Would Fire Architects.

Another new measure would put a stop work order on Nebraska's $10,000,000 capitol by accepting it as it stands and discharging architects who are getting about $30,000 a year for putting finishing touches on the building.

It became apparent, meantime, that a proposal to repeal the intangible tax law probably would be the first matter before the house committee on revenue and taxation.

Nominations for members of the state game and normal boards were submitted today by Governor C. W. Bryan to the senate and referred by it to committees.

The nominees are Frank J. Munday of Red Cloud, John F. Rohn of Fremont and Fred W. Anderson of Cozad for the normal board, and Dr. M. M. Sullivan of Spalding and J. B. Douglas of Tecumseh for the game commission.

Fraud Order Issued on the 'Drake Estate'

Six Midwesterners, Including Three Iowans Are Named—No Criminal Prosecution.

Washington, Jan. 11.—After years of delay, the postoffice department today pricked the enormous shimmering bubble of the "Drake estate," when Solicitor Horace J. Donnelly of the postoffice department issued a fraud order barring from the mails any missives from those alleged to have been soliciting funds in this country from victims who thought they were entitled to share in the estate.

The action taken shortly after Amos Hartsock, Laurens, Ia., and Oss Berry, Mitchell, S. D., testified at a hearing here before Donnelly. It is assumed their testimony had close relation with the issuance of the order.

No Criminal Prosecution.

The order does not entail criminal prosecution.

Tells of Early Indians

Dr. Fay-Cooper Cole, head of the department of anthropology at the University of Chicago, points out differences in the head of the modern Indian (plaster cast) and the skull of the long-headed wide-nosed Indian of the tribes which were Illinois' first residents since the last glacial period, which was 10,000 to 12,000 years ago. The most fertile field for anthropologists in Illinois has been the "Lewistown region" in the vicinity of that city, about 200 miles south east of Chicago.
