

Nehawka

W. O. Troop was looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth and Omaha on Monday of this week.

Hershel Jones was called to Weeping Water on last Sunday, where he enjoyed a very pleasant visit with friends and with one friend in particular.

Messrs D. C. Rhoden, George Troop, Ray Atkins and Tommy Troop were in Omaha last Saturday, where they were looking after some business for the day.

Edward Murray and wife were looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth for a time on Monday of this week, they driving over in their auto.

Miss Mildred Burton was a visitor for the past week at the home of her friend, Sarah Mendenhall, where they both enjoyed the visit and the week very much.

Mrs. Charles R. Troop, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Sarah Young for the day on last Saturday, and was a guest of her sister-in-law.

Floyd Porter, of Plattsmouth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Porter, and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woods, is spending the week at the home of his aunt and uncle.

Charles R. Troop and George Troop who are feeding cattle in partnership last Saturday night suffered the loss of one of the fine steers which they are getting ready for market.

Mrs. George Troop, who has been wrestling with a case of the flu, was staying at the home of her sister, in Plattsmouth, where she is now much better and is getting along nicely.

Barton Sutphin, who was so ill for so long with an attack of pneumonia, has entirely recovered and is at this time back in school and working hard to make up for the time lost while sick.

Mrs. Mary Mast and son, Arnold, of this vicinity, with another son, J. E. Mast, of Oklahoma, who is visiting here, were called to Plattsmouth, where they were looking after some business.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Rhoden, Jr. were visiting last Saturday and Sunday at the home of the parents of Mrs. Rhoden, at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. James Jordanson, where they enjoyed the visit very much.

The kiddies at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cox, who were so ill with the flu and which it was feared would terminate in pneumonia, are reported at this time as being much improved and well on the way to permanent recovery.

The Rev. Otto Englebritsen, pastor of the United Brethren churches in town and at Otterbein, was not able to appear at the services at Otterbein on account of the illness of their son, Hershel Otto Englebritsen, who has been having an attack of the flu. The young man is much improved at this time, however.

J. B. Mast, son of Mrs. May Mast, who makes his home at Tonawqua, Oklahoma, arrived here last Friday and has been visiting with his mother and also looking after some business matters, both here and at Plattsmouth. It has been some time since Mr. Mast was home and it was a pleasurable occasion which allowed him to visit with the mother.

John Greer and daughter, Helen, the latter as a driver, were down in Kansas, out in the western part of Nebraska and in Iowa last week distributing sale bills advertising a large number of mules which Mr. Greer has for sale and which will be sold at the sale pavilion at Syracuse soon. Rex Young, Plattsmouth auctioneer, will conduct the sale. The mules were taken to Syracuse on last Tuesday.

Meets with Sad Accident
Late last week, while Curlice Hobb, who is employed at the Nelson Berger farm, with others, were unloading wood, when a heavy piece rolled from the pile and severely mashed one of his hands. Although no bones were broken, the flesh was badly bruised and he will have to take a long vacation before the member will be well again. Dr. Henry W. Walters dressed the injury.

Received Severe Injuries
Last week while Raymond Whitman was at work shredding fodder for stock on the farm and was working with the gears of the machine, he was so unfortunate as to allow one hand to catch in the cog gears with the result that three fingers on one hand were very badly mangled and had to be partly amputated. Mr. Whitman went to the office of Dr. Henry W. Walters, but finding that gentleman out on a call, he hurried on to Union, where the fingers were dressed by Dr. L. J. Barritt and he has been getting along as well as could be expected.

Buys New Automobile
Guy Murdock has added to his means of transportation and that of the family by the purchase of a new 1933 Chevrolet Six sedan, and they are liking their new equipment very much.

Had Enthusiastic Meeting
At the Philpot school house on last Friday night there were a large number of the farmers of this vicinity gathered to organize a branch of the Farmers Holiday movement. They were addressed by W. F. Nolte, district organizer; State Senator W. B. Banning and R. C. Pollard, of the Farmers Oil station.

"It Happened in Hollywood"
That is the title of the three act comedy to be presented by the Junior class of the Nehawka High school on Friday evening of this week, February 3rd.

The cast of characters includes the following: Jarvis, the Pembroke butler, Howell St. John; Messenger, Robert Pollard; Tom Garrity, a press agent, Sterling Ross; Alan Tremayne, with 'movie' aspirations, Martin Jorgenson; Jostie Pembroke, the daughter of the house, Thelma Dill; Princess Dolores, her dearest friend, Doretha Opp; Phyllis Duganne, reporter on 'The Movie News,' Eula Pace; Bert, temporarily a chauffeur, Malcolm Pollard; Doreen Downing, a 'movie' star, Maurine Cisney; Polly O'Connor, a 'comedy' actress, Frances Hansen; Mrs. Pembroke, the mistress of the house, Garnet Waldo; Sir Humphrey, the prince's guardian, Robert Schlichtemier.

The action takes place in the living room of the Pembroke home in Hollywood, act 1 taking place on a May morning, while act 2 is divided into two parts, the first the following day and the second two weeks later. Act 2 takes place the evening of the same day as the second scene in act 2. The student have been rehearsing diligently and a good production is promised.

OBITUARY OF GEORGE HEEBNER
George Heebner was born September 23, 1866 and died at the family home January 29, 1933 at the age of 66 years, 4 months and 6 days. He was the youngest of a family of four children born at the old homestead four miles northeast of Nehawka. His childhood and youth were spent at the old home.

He was married January 11, 1888, to Miss Hannah Westlake, to which union two children were born, Mrs. Louisa Anna Lorensen and William Edward Heebner.

Five years after their marriage they moved to the present home near Avoca where they have since resided. He was always a kind and loving father, especially devoted to his wife, his home and his family.

About 30 years ago he and his wife joined the Christian church at Avoca where they still retain their membership.

His health had been constantly failing for several years. He was confined to his bed for the past nine weeks, yet he was a patient sufferer and always welcomed and greeted his friends and neighbors with a smile and cheerful words. He will be greatly missed by his wife, his children in whom he always showed a great interest.

January 11, 1933, they celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary. Even if he was confined to his bed the day had its meaning.

He leaves besides his wife, two children and five grand children; two brothers, Henry Heebner of Murray and Charles E. Heebner, Nehawka. His only sister, Mrs. Louisa Knabe passed away three months ago.

He realized that a fight was on and so many times during his illness he called on his Master for help to bear his suffering.

"The cross that He gives may be heavy, But it never outweighs His grace, The storm that we fear, may surround us But it never hides His face."

The funeral was held from the Christian church on January 31, 1933 at 2:30 o'clock and interment at the Avoca cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. C. W. Long of Nebraska City.

PREDICT BUSINESS UPLIFT
Chicago.—Leaders of the automotive industry joined at the thirty-third national automobile show here in expressing confidence for improved business during 1933. The theme of statements by them was that the market for automobiles was still open, talk of economic ills to the contrary.

Rueus S. Cole, vice president of the Hupp Motor Car corporation, said: "There is a tremendous pent-up market awaiting automobile manufacturers whose products are in line with popular desires. All that is holding up the buying is a re-assertion that business generally has definitely turned upward. No industry," he added, "will reflect the recovery so rapidly as that of the automobile."

William J. McAneeny, president of the Hudson Motor Car company, said: "Our faith in the future of automotive transportation in this country, and, in fact, the world, is unshaken."

Lawrence P. Fisher, president of the Cadillac Motor Car company, added: "The aggressive attitude as struck by the motor industry may be the impetus necessary for lifting business from its depression."

LOCAL NEWS
From Monday's Daily
John Reed and Miss Constance Sherman drove down from Omaha yesterday afternoon for a brief visit at the Elmer Webb home. Reed is an employee of the U. S. Rubber company and Miss Sherman a stenographer in the office of a large wholesale coal concern in Omaha.

WYMORE UNABLE TO PAY BONDS TO WYMORE
Lincoln, Jan. 27.—The city of Wymore has notified the state treasurer of its inability to pay interest on some paving bonds held by the state school lands board. Other similar cases have occurred lately and a checkup is being made in the treasurer's office to ascertain what local units of government are behind in payment.

UNION ITEMS.

Martin Ross, residing south of Nehawka, was a visitor in Union last Monday, where he was called to look after some business matters for a short time.

Martin Bloom, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Union last Monday afternoon and was looking after some business matters as well as visiting with his many friends here.

C. E. Withrow, father of Elmer Withrow, who is engaged in publishing a paper at Shubert, was an over-Sunday visitor at the farm east of town, returning to his work Monday.

F. W. Robb, who is one of the state bank examiners, accompanied by the family, were in Union from Friday until Sunday, visiting at the home of Mont Robb and daughter, Miss Augusta.

Miss Gertrude Chittenden, one of the instructors of the Union schools, was a visitor at the home of her parents for over the week end, at Clanton, Nebr. She returned in time for the opening of school Monday morning.

A. D. Crunk, of near Murray, who is to farm the David Murray farm south of Union, was a visitor here and at the farm last Monday, bringing down some of his machinery. He will move onto the place the latter part of February.

Mrs. M. C. Duff, of Cedar Creek, mother of Mrs. Charles L. Green, and Harry O'Brien and family, of near Manley, were guests at the Green home Sunday, all enjoying a very pleasant visit. Mrs. Green and Mrs. O'Brien are sisters.

Ray Frans and family were over to Murray last Sunday, being guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilmore, who were home from Lincoln for the day. Dr. Gilmore was called away, however, and did not get to visit with the guests.

The family of C. W. Hoback, who have been quite ill for some time with the prevailing malady of flu, and which nearly developed into a case of pneumonia, is feeling better and seems to have averted the more serious complications.

State Senator W. B. Banning and wife, came home from Lincoln Friday and remained until Sunday, during a brief recess of the legislature. They returned to the capital city on Sunday evening, permitting Mr. Banning to be present when the senate reconvened Monday morning.

Homer Hunter, while looking around at the scene of the serious wreck east of town Sunday evening, found a pocketbook which he brought to Mayor Stites. His Honor notified the parties who were in the wreck and it was found to be the property of one of those who were injured and was delivered by Mr. Stites to the owner.

County Commissioner E. B. Chapman, in company with the other commissioners and State Senator W. B. Banning were in attendance at the meeting of farmers held at the Philpot school to consider the organization of a branch of the Farmers Holiday movement. There was much interest and a large attendance, but a lot of speakers to be heard, in fact so many that the time was taken up with the promulgation of ideas and not much progress made in perfecting the organization, although this is expected to be the main order of business at a later date.

ECHO FROM MASSIE AFFAIR
Honolulu, Jan. 28.—Reawakening echoes of the Massie case that shook the islands a year ago, Henry Chang, one of the five natives and half castes accused of having attacked Mrs. Thalia Massie, was arrested on a morals charge involving a seventeen year old girl. Chang had been at Hawaii following the hung jury in the "Ala Moana" case, as the attack was known.

One year ago, Joseph Kahahawai, one of Chang's co-defendants, was shot and killed, following which Lieutenant Thomas Massie husband of Mrs. Massie, and Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, aristocratic mother-in-law of the naval officer, stood trial together with two sailors. They were defended by Clarence Darrow. Convicted, they were pardoned after serving one hour in custody.

entered the Methodist hospital for a clinic at which it was ascertained his system was being poisoned from ulcerated teeth, the discharge going into the blood stream and contaminating his blood. They came home, but returned on Saturday and on Monday of this week the teeth were removed. It is hoped that this will bring about improvement in his health, which has been poorly of late.

Visited in Plattsmouth
On last Sunday Horace W. Griffin and wife, with the kiddies, drove to Plattsmouth, where they enjoyed a fine visit at the home of Grandpa and Grandma Griffin.

To Hold Administrator's Sale
The live stock, farm machinery and many of the household effects of the late David Murray are to be sold at Administrator's sale at the farm on Highway 75, south of town, Thursday, February 16th. The Journal job department turned out the sale bills on Tuesday and a list of the goods to be offered will appear in a later issue of this paper. There is a large amount of live stock and farm machinery and those in need of such equipment will do well to bear the date in mind and attend this sale. Rex Young, Plattsmouth auctioneer will cry the sale and W. E. Reynolds will act as clerk. Terms will be cash, and bidders are asked to make arrangements with their own banker before the sale if credit is needed to cover their purchase.

Celebrate Passing Birthday
Rue H. Frans and family, Mrs. Jennie Frans and David Kendall and wife were over to the home of Mrs. Rose Kendall and daughter, Miss Rachel, where they celebrated the passing of the birthday of Mrs. Kendall, which occurred on Saturday, but the gathering was deferred until Sunday, when all enjoyed the occasion very much. Many tokens of love and honor as well as congratulations and best wishes for the future were bestowed upon Mrs. Kendall, whose maiden name was Miss Rose Davis.

Pretty Home Wedding
On Wednesday, January 25th, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jacob Ehlers, in Otoe county, Alvin Horn and Miss Clara Ehlers were united in wedlock, the marriage lines being read by the Rev. W. A. Taylor, of Union. A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony.

The best man was Harold Krecklow, of Manley, and bridesmaid, Miss Velma J. Munn, of Nehawka. The bride and groom left immediately for Kansas City, Mo., for a short stay.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, the latter being cut from a large wedding cake.

Two Wrecks on Sunday Evening
Not so far from the same hour last Sunday evening there occurred two wrecks from collisions of autos. The most serious of the two was the one east of town wherein a car containing five people and a truck with six therein came together at the intersection of Nebraska Highway 24 and U. S. No. 75. The cars met head on and ten of the eleven passengers were severely hurt, the eleventh being badly shaken up and bruised. The alleged cause of the accident was from mud and water drained onto the pavement and frozen so that the cars skidded. The truck was not only wrecked but caught fire and burned and the car was badly damaged. The injured parties were taken to St. Mary's hospital at Nebraska City for treatment and are reported as getting along fairly well.

The second accident occurred some three miles north of this point, where two cars came together with a good deal of damage to the vehicles and a shaking up of the occupants, but none seriously injured.

Blomberg Held
Blomberg, as chairman of the group, has thrown all meetings open to the public. In his absence last Saturday Mrs. Pearson ascended to command and put through a resolution to exclude all but dirt farmers.

Blomberg has invited a banker, a railroad official and a newspaperman to address Wednesday's meeting. Mrs. Pearson declared her faction will prevent the presence of all outsiders.

Authorities announced police will patrol the auditorium where the meeting is scheduled to be held.

Mrs. Pearson asserted if railroad officials appear at Wednesday's session she will demand free transportation to Lincoln for herself and members of the holiday group to take part in the "farmers' march." "We'll ask for Pullman cars, too," she declared.

Meanwhile, authorities here have taken steps to bar any further appearance in Sidney of outside organizers and speakers. In a resolution sent to Blomberg this morning the city council and the county commissioners ruled that "farmers of Cheyenne county can use the district courtroom or city auditorium for public meetings provided that no outside organizer or speakers appear before the gathering."—World-Herald.

A Few Words with Readers of Journal

Cost of Printing and Mailing Semi-Weekly Still Far in Excess of Pre-War Days when the Subscription Price was Same.

In answer to query from a considerable number of our readers as to possibility of a reduced subscription rate, it is the desire of the Journal publisher to enter into a frank discussion of the various factors that make up the cost of producing and mailing the Journal twice each week and to compare such cost with that of pre-war days and standards.

From the time of the establishment of the Semi-Weekly paper to better serve the needs of our readers back in 1905, the subscription price has been maintained at the same low figure of $2 per year.

Then the cost of print paper was less than 2 cents per pound, a living wage for printers and linotype operators was from $18 to $25 per week, the expense of mailing was a negligible sum and advertisers ran ads two and three issues without reset.

Came the inflation days, with prices soaring skyward in every department. Print paper costs doubled, trebled and even more. Wages kept pace. Even news ink, a relatively small part of the expense, rose to an unthought-of figure. Advertisers increased the efficiency of their messages by frequent changes of voluminous copy, set to exacting measurement requirements, greatly increasing costs of production without perceptibly increasing the revenue. Thus, the advertising revenue, once counted upon to bear a considerable portion of the expense, was well nigh consumed in salaries to those who work in that department. Added to this, the Postoffice Department secured enactment of a law by Congress to double and treble the postage rates on newspapers.

Throughout this period of changing conditions, while small weekly papers that sold generally for $1 per year, and larger ones at $1.50 a year were raising their subscription rates repeatedly, the Journal has retained its low rate of $2 per year. Six months ago, the smallest weekly papers in Nebraska—papers that cost but $1 a year a decade ago—were all getting a $2 subscription price—exactly 100 per cent advance. Today, under stress of existing circumstances, many of those papers are coming back to their former rates—and rightfully should.

With us, the situation is different. Having never raised the rate to Semi-Weekly subscribers a single penny, it is obvious to fair-minded readers there can be no perceptible step-down now.

The cost of printing and mailing twice a week is nearly double that of sending out the paper once a week, but the advantage to the subscriber in getting a half week's news at a time, instead of an entire week bunched into compact form to fit space requirements or left out as occasion demands, we have always felt to be worth more than the few cents additional subscription charge.

Another thing, your Journal of 20 and even 15 years ago carried but one news department from outlying Cass county towns. Today, in our Thursday issue will be found exclusive news services from Murray, Union, Nehawka and Weeping Water, while on Mondays Manley, Avoca, Murdock and Greenwood are represented.

We are in hearty sympathy with present day conditions, particularly as they affect the farmer, and we hope and believe they will be greatly improved before the end of the present year. But, even that does not take care of the present, and realizing this and the general shortage of cash in the hands of our subscribers, we have not insisted unduly on subscription payments, although we, too, must have money to carry on our business and keep the paper coming to your mail box regularly.

It is a problem that has received our earnest attention, and we believe that in laying the cards on the table, as we have endeavored to do in the foregoing statement, you will realize that our position is well taken and there can be no decrease in subscription price if the Journal is to be maintained as a semi-weekly paper, and that you will further agree it is worth the one cent a week additional cost, coming to you twice a week, rather than in an abbreviated weekly issue.

'Holiday' Leaders are Fighting for Control

"Outsiders" Versus the "Dirt Farmers" Is Bone of Contention in Holiday Group.

Sidney, Neb., Jan. 31.—Contest over control of the farm holiday movement in western Nebraska is expected here Wednesday night, Henry Blome of Dalton, chairman, and Mrs. L. A. Pearson, vice-chairman, have disagreed over organization details.

Mrs. Pearson asserted Blome was "attempting to straddle the fence" and has called upon her faction to oust him as chairman "unless he makes up his mind whose back he wants to pat."

Blome, as chairman of the group, has thrown all meetings open to the public. In his absence last Saturday Mrs. Pearson ascended to command and put through a resolution to exclude all but dirt farmers.

CANNOT SERVE IN CABINET

New York.—A special dispatch from Washington to the Times says Owen D. Young, who has been prominently mentioned for secretary of state in the Roosevelt cabinet, has written a letter to the president-elect informing him that he cannot be considered for a cabinet position. The dispatch continues:

"This information was made known here by democrats in the confidence of Mr. Young. According to them, he was prompted to send such a message to Mr. Roosevelt, now making up his cabinet, because he understood the latter had seriously discussed him for secretary of state, with leading democrats with whom he had consulted about cabinet timbers. It was emphasized that Mr. Young had not received an offer of the post."

NEWSPAPERMEN HOLD SESSION AT NORFOLK

Norfolk, Jan. 27.—Sixty-five newspaper men from this section of the state were here Friday for the opening of the two-day mid-winter convention of the Northeast Nebraska Editorial association.

After round table discussions, the group attended a banquet at which the speakers were J. E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star; Prof. Gayle Walker of the University of Nebraska school of Journalism, Mrs. Nellie Benson of the state board of control, and Charles Best of Neigh, veteran Nebraska editor. The session will close Saturday with election of officers.
