Herbert Boue, of Winside, was a visitor at the Teddy Harms home for the last week end. Herman Dall was looking after some business matters in Omaha for the day last Monday. Arnold Harms, who has been staying in Lincoln for some time, was home over last Sunday. Wm. Scheehan and Rudolph Bergman each shipped two cows to the Omaha market on last Monday. William Scheehan was looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth for a time on last Saturday. Rev. Father Patrick Hartie was a visitor in Omaha for the day last Monday, looking after some business matters as well as calling on a number of friends. August Pautsch, of Louisville, was a visitor in Manley on last Tuesday afternoon and was looking after some business matters and visiting with his many friends. Miss Anna Rauth was a visitor in Manley and at the home of the father for over the week end last week and was taken to her school on last Sunday evening by the parents. With the hang-over of the flu, Ralph Murphy was not able to continue his part in the play which is to be given by the St. Patrick Catholic church, so the place was taken by Jack Robinson. The home of P. H. Clarke was made happy on last Sunday by the arrival of a very fine son who with the young man and his mother are both doing fine, while the father is getting along tolerably well. Herman Rauth during his spare time has been making a trailer from the chassis of a Willys-Knight auto which he had run for a long time, and being supplied with another car now, is transforming this one into a trailer for use on the farm and road. William Birkman and wife of Talmage, relatives of Teddy Harms, were in Manley for over the week-end, where they were enjoying a very fine visit with Mr. Harms and family. They were also accompanied by Mrs. Henry Peters and daughter, Miss Leta. A meeting of farmers was held on last Tuesday evening with a view to making a trip to Lincoln to appear before the legislature and a meeting of the railway commission protesting against the discontinuance of the train on the branch of the Missouri Pacific running through Manley. John A. Stander and family and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rauth were over to Plattsmouth on last Saturday, where they were visiting with friends and as well were looking after some business matters. They also enjoyed a visit and a very fine dinner at the home of John Palicek, father of Mrs. Stander. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murphy, of Lincoln, former residents of this vicinity were here Sunday and Monday visiting with friends and also attending the farewell party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hill. Mr. Murphy reports that his son, Ralph, who has been so ill with the flu, is somewhat better.

Will Farm This Year

William Gerlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerlich, will farm the home place this summer. The father was a visitor at Manley and has been attending the various farm sales in this vicinity to pick up the needed stock and farming equipment to handle the work on the farm.

Gus Stander at Hospital

August Stander, who has been in rather poor health for some time past, was taken to the hospital, where he was given an exhaustive clinic, and is now under observation as to whether it will be required that he undergo an operation or not. It is hoped that he will not have to undergo that ordeal. He is at the St. Elizabeth hospital and was visited by his two sons, John and Andrew, during the past week, they finding him resting fairly well.

Many Attend Lincoln Meet

The Farmers Holiday organization members from over the state who journeyed to Lincoln to interview the state legislature regarding the passage of laws they are especially interested in, numbered a total of several thousand, of whom some 35 were from this vicinity. The delegation felt that their visit had accomplished considerable good, and been instrumental in their being able to present the true facts of their plight before the men chosen to legislative positions. The farmers are asking only one thing—an opportunity to make a living out of their labor in tilling the soil and working long hours. Until they get cost of production and a small profit, present conditions will continue, even growing worse. So it behooves all of us to "lend an ear" to the troubles of the farmer and do all we can to help alleviate them.

Will Make Home Elsewhere

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hill are soon to leave Manley to make their home elsewhere, probably in or near Chicago. This fact coming to the attention of their many friends, on last Monday evening some 35 gathered at the Hill home and gave this excellent couple a very merry evening, in which a very fine time was had by all. Games were indulged in, including a session at cards, and afterwards a fine supply of eats which had been brought by the guests was spread before the assemblage. Mr. Hill has recently disposed of his home to Oscar Dowler, who will move into the place in the near future, with the departure of the Hill family for the east. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will take with them the best wishes of the entire community for success and happiness in their new home.

PHEASANT THRU GLASS

Gordon, Neb.—Mrs. Ernest Fuchser of Irwin was severely cut about the face when a pheasant crashed thru the windshield of the automobile in which she was riding with her husband. She was taken to an Omaha hospital. The husband, who was driving, was not injured.

CONVINCED BERN A SUICIDE

Los Angeles.—Paul Bern, suicide. For the second time that verdict was inscribed in county records in explanation of the tragedy that last September shocked Hollywood in cutting short the honeymoon of a popular figure of the movies, Jean Harlow. District Attorney Pitts disclosed that an exhaustive investigation has been carried on quietly into the strange end of the film executive. Fifty persons—servants, detectives, undertakers and others—were quizzed in the new probe conducted by two members of the grand jury and other investigators.

Most of the investigation centered upon a two sentence note inscribed in a diary, which read: "This is my only way to make amends for my abject humiliation. You understand that last night was only a comedy." It is accepted by the district attorney as the word of the dead film executive that he went to death by his own hand.

DISPUTE OVER ROAD ORDER

Hays, Kas., Feb. 20.—A dispute between Norton and Hays as to which city shall be permanent division No. 3 headquarters of the Kansas highway department seemed to be headed for the state supreme court today.

Last December the highway commission designated Hays. A group of Norton citizens was granted a temporary restraining order, prohibiting the highway commission from carrying out its order. Today Wint Smith, assistant state's attorney general, obtained a preliminary writ from the supreme court, ordering E. E. Kite, district judge, either to proceed with the hearing on the temporary injunction or show cause why the hearing should not be held by March 6.

Had Great Game Tuesday

We were given to understand that the basketball game which was played in Alvo between the home team and a team representing the Gold store of Lincoln furnished the fans with plenty of excitement and much merriment, the score at the close being 64 to 61.

Entertained W. C. T. U.

Mrs. W. C. Timlin entertained the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at her country home on last Wednesday afternoon, when a very pleasant meeting was had, and a social time enjoyed. The business of the meeting was the organizing of the temperance forces for the battle which is coming over the matter of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment to the National Constitution. The members were pleasantly entertained by their genial hostess, who served delicious refreshments following the meeting.

Home from the West

John B. Skinner and wife, who have been visiting the greater part of the winter at the home of the parents of Mrs. Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ober, on a farm near Fullerton, returned home last Friday and Mr. Skinner is back assisting in the operation of the trucking business of which he and R. M. Coatman are the proprietors. Mr. Skinner tells of the weather out there being very cold, at one time the mercury dropping to 28 degrees below zero.

Had Successful Social

Miss Doris Coatman, teacher of the Bushberry school, where she is teaching a very successful school year, arranged a program and box social at the school on last Wednesday evening, at which there was a good crowd present and a most enjoyable evening was provided for all. The sale of the boxes was most spirited as the boys vied with each other to purchase the particular box they wanted, and there were a few surprises. This brought in a neat sum, which will be used for the purchase of some needed schoolroom equipment.

TO OKLAHOMA HIGHWAY POSTS

Oklahoma City, Feb. 20.—Governor Murray named L. B. Selman of Walters, E. N. Arnold of Buffalo, and Ed McDonald as the three additional members of the new state highway commission, today, failing to re-appoint Sam Hawks and J. F. McKeel.

They will serve with L. V. Orton, Pawnee lawyer, who was named last week for a 4-year term and confirmed by the senate.

Arnold was nominated for the 6-year term; Selman for a 2-year term, and McDonald, present secretary, was nominated to remain at that position as commissioner-secretary, a 2-year job. In a statement the governor said it was "embarrassing to the governor to appoint worthy men of the old commission," because of the continued investigation by the senate.

Holds Fears of Crippling Navy Thru Economies

Secretary Adams Opposed a Five Percent Reduction Movement on Capitol Hill.

Washington.—A movement on capitol hill to trim five percent off the naval and other appropriations for next year was opposed by Secretary Adams as certain to "cripple our national defense for years" and place the United States far behind Great Britain and Japan in the number of fighting ships. In addition, the secretary of the navy said in a letter to Senator Bingham that certain east coast navy yards would have to be closed, ship construction would be slowed down and 14,650 sailors, marines and civilians would be added to the list of unemployed.

Adams said that thirty-three combatant ships would have to be taken out of active commission about 63 percent of the number of British and 56 percent of the number of Japanese ships which are in full commission, or fully manned. Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations, announced that the Atlantic fleet probably would be kept on the Pacific coast until July 1, 1934, "in the interest of economy." Pratt estimated the cost of returning the fleet to the east coast would run approximately $400,000 more than keeping it in the Pacific, where it has been since last March.

Naval officials have been following closely developments in the far east. Admiral Pratt told newspapermen, however, the Sino-Japanese situation had nothing to do with the decision. Commenting on the recent senate action in adopting the proposal by Senator Bratton to require department heads to cut their expenditures by 5 percent next year, Pratt said it would "lay up ships without a doubt" and that "anything that interferes with the policy of keeping the navy in top-notch condition is dangerous."

In his letter, Adams said the ships to be taken out of commission would include three battleships, two aircraft carriers, four heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, thirteen destroyers, six submarine and two light mine sweepers. Also, Adams indicated that the airship Akron would have to be taken out of commission. That would leave the United States with only one rigid airship—the Macon—which is to be launched next month.

The navy supply measure, now before the house appropriations committee, provides $308,669,562 for the department during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. A 5 percent cut would trim off more than $15,000,000.

PUZZLES OMAHANS

Omaha.—Many Omahans are trying to figure if Dr. Stephen S. Wise, noted New York rabbi-lecturer, was sarcastic in an address he gave at Jewish community center here. In telling of municipal graft in New York and other large eastern cities, Rabbi Wise on several occasions interjected "of course, this could not happen in the pure and flawless atmosphere of politics in Omaha. I'm sure you have no idea of what I'm talking about." Continuing he said: "I don't know as much about Omaha as I'd like to, but I probably know more about your city than you think I do." Doctor Wise spoke on "Must a City Government Be Corrupt?" and flayed the Tammany organization which he has fought for many years.

HIT ON HEAD, DIES

Omaha.—Struck on the head during an argument Sunday night, John Hunter, Omaha negro, died early Tuesday at a local hospital. A skull fracture caused death. Hunter appeared to be only slightly injured when he and James Harp appeared in police court Monday and told Judge Lester Palmer that they had engaged in an argument but each exonerated the other. They were released with ten day suspended sentences. Monday night Hunter became ill and was taken to a hospital. Harp was rearrested.

Supreme Court Has Case in Its Hands to Decide

Fate of Voting Machine for Legislators to Be Decided Shortly by the Court.

The supreme court Wednesday afternoon took under advisement the case involving the constitutionality of legislators voting by electric machine, and a speedy decision is expected. The principal attack on the validity of this method of voting when the constitution says it shall be "viva voce" was that the departure from the old and recognized constitutional methods was so radical that the fact that the machine has the same characteristics, that of an open and uncoerced vote, does not justify its use, any more than the use of pencil and paper to cast a ballot would have complied with the ancient primitive law that voting should be by casting of pebbles.

It was argued that in any event the court has no authority to pass on the wisdom of expediency of adopting the more modern method, when the constitution so clearly expresses the intent of its framers. It was also contended that the fact that the use of the voting machine saves time and is more convenient cannot override a constitutional provision for votes by the living voice, the courts having held that even if any provisions of a constitution or law work injustice or hardships, relief must be addressed to those who framed it, not to the courts.

The attorney general insisted that the viva voce provision was never intended to bind future generations to archaic procedure when the same results were made possible by advances and progress in invention. He said the machine is a real advance in the art of legislation in that greater accuracy, economy and expedition are assured by its use. Journal Want-Ads cost only a few cents and get real results!

NEW FIX-IT ORGANIZATION

Eagle, Neb.—Twenty young men and women organized one of the new Fix It club projects at the high school. All of the members are over 17 years of age and have been in several other 4-H clubs. In explaining the new project, D. D. Wainwright, Cass county agent, told the group they could help their parents fix up the clothing, home equipment and furnishings, and the farm buildings, machinery, and farmstead during the spring and summer. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kildee will act as local leaders. James Wall is president of the club. Ralph Spahnke is vice president. Edith Nelson, secretary-treasurer, and Maize Foreman, news reporter.

RENEW OLD MURDER PROBE

McCook, Neb.—Ret Willow county officers hope for new light on a twenty-seven year old murder mystery at Danbury, Neb. They received word from Cheyenne police that a James DeLong was held there. Wyoming officers asked for data on the death of Henry Schneider, Danbury butcher. Schneider was found shot to death in his shop over a quarter of a century ago. A coroner's jury held that he came to his death at the hands of an unknown person. Sheriff McClain has been able to find but one man in Danbury who served on the coroner's jury.

SEARCHING FOR FARM HAND

Colby, Kas.—Thomas county officers began a search for Hubert Carpenter, a farm hand, after receiving reports that he shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Tom Ackard, his employer's wife, during a quarrel. Mrs. Ackard was in a dangerous condition in a Goodland hospital. Her daughter, Alta, told officers that Carpenter, formerly of David City, Neb., shot her mother and herself to accompany him by motorcar to a point near the farm of Marion Talley, the singer, where he forced them out.
