D. A. R. State Regent Has a Busy Program

Mrs. E. H. Wescott Returns Home After Three Day Visit at Chapters in East Nebraska.

Mrs. Edgar Hilt Wescott of Plattsmouth, state regent of the Nebraska Daughters of the American Revolution, was the guest on Tuesday afternoon of Ephraim Polk III chapter at Sterling. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Julia Merrick Turner, and so much enthusiasm was shown that another informal meeting was held that evening at the home of Mrs. Winifred Park Frerichs, the regent.

Mrs. Wescott left Sterling Wednesday morning for Lincoln, where she was the guest of Mrs. Kate Davis and Mrs. F. T. Darrow for luncheon. She attended a session of the Nebraska legislature during the afternoon, and was an honored guest of the advisory board of St. Leger Cowley chapter at a 6:30 dinner at the Y. M. C. A. that evening. Covers were laid for twenty at a table over which Miss Alice Hawes, regent, presided. Mrs. H. W. Meginnis, regent of Deborah Avery chapter, was another honored guest.

After dinner, the party adjourned to one of the parlors of the Y. W. C. A., where the annual guest night reception and program of the chapter was held. Dr. Jane B. Ringer, a member of St. Leger Cowley chapter and a former state regent, presiding. In the receiving line besides Miss Hawes, regent, and Mrs. Wescott, state regent, were Dr. Ringer, Mrs. Meginnis, and Mrs. E. J. Williams, state auditor. Dr. Ringer introduced to the assembly Mrs. E. H. Polley, of the school of fine arts of the University of Nebraska, who, with the assistance of her husband, who operated a picture machine, and a number of her pupils, who sang, gave a unique and beautiful program, combining lecture, pictures, and song, on "The Music of Washington."

Mrs. Wescott spoke briefly on various phases of D. A. R. work, stressing particularly its work in furthering education. She urged the attendance of visitors, as well as of delegates at the state conference to be held in Hastings March 14-16. After the state regent's address, Dr. Ringer, on behalf of St. Leger Cowley chapter, and in honor of their regent, Miss Alice Hawes, who has long been a diligent worker on the board of the Y. W. C. A., presented two beautiful girandoles to the new Y. W. C. A. building. The gifts were accepted by Mrs. B. F. Williams, chairman of the furnishings committee, who in turn presented them to Mrs. F. T. Darrow, president of the Y. W. C. A. board, who, in expressing her thanks, spoke of the co-operation that was evidenced between the Y. W. C. A. and other organizations of the city.

Mrs. Wescott was the house guest Wednesday night of Mrs. E. J. Williams, state auditor. She left Lincoln Thursday morning for Blair, where, in the afternoon, she made the dedicatory speech at the unveiling of the marker which Nikumi chapter has placed in Rhoades park, in memory of the old military trail from Omaha to Decatur, and also in memory of the first schoolhouse in Blair. The state regent returned to her home in Plattsmouth Thursday evening.

OMAHA PEOPLE WEDDED

From Thursday's Daily
This noon at the residence of County Judge A. H. Duxbury, occurred the wedding of Henry A. Degan, well known Omaha resident, and Miss Emily Bauer, who recently arrived from Germany. The marriage lines were read by the genial judge and the ceremony witnessed by Mrs. Rose Mae Duxbury and C. C. Cotner. The parties came here with Mr. Cotner and returned with him at 1 o'clock.

HAVE TONSIL OPERATIONS

Two of the little lads of the city were operated on Thursday for the removal of tonsils, they being John Sanders, Jr., and Bobbie Gaines. The operation was performed here and the little lads are reported as doing nicely although they are still feeling the effects of the ordeal, but in a few days should be back in their former good spirits.

"Absent Minded Bridegroom," presented by Manley Dramatic club, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Legion building. Sponsored by St. John's church. Admission 25 and 10c. The public invited.

Orders Retrial of Lincoln Auto Damage Case

Damage Recovery in Automobile Accidents Not Barred by Accepting Invitation to Ride.

Accepting an invitation to go to the city with a friend who thinks he has a better car, does not constitute embarking upon a joint enterprise and does not bar the guest from recovering damages from the friend if injured thru gross negligence while riding with him. This is what the supreme court said Friday in determining the case from Lancaster county of Ruel Mick against Edward Oberle, while sending it back for a new trial because of an improper construction. The verdict was for $2,975.

Where persons go on a trip for a common purpose or there is a community of interest in the objects of the trip there can be no recovery, but the evidence was that when the two men got to Lincoln from Eagle one went to a dance and the other to a show. On the way home Mick drove Oberle's car at his request, but when a tire blew out, Oberle grabbed the wheel and, it was alleged, caused the car to hit a post, injuring Mick. Because the evidence lacked definiteness as to loss of earning ability and because the court said he should be allowed damages for mental injuries, a retrial is ordered.

ENJOY VISIT WITH FRIEND

From Friday's Daily
Last evening a number of the friends of Ernest Bintner, well known young farmer of near Murray, called at the Bintner farm home to spend a few hours visiting with the young man who is enjoying his last few days of bachelorhood. The marriage of Mr. Bintner and Miss Stacey Wurga is to occur the first part of the coming week. The evening was spent in visiting and at the homegoing hour all joined in their congratulations and well wishes to the young man who is soon to become a Benedict. Following their wedding Mr. and Mrs. Bintner expect to reside on a farm in the community where the Bintner family have so long made their home.

You will enjoy the "Absent Minded Bridegroom," at the American Legion building on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Presented by Manley Dramatic club and sponsored by St. John's church. Admission 25 and 10c.

Murdock Store Robber Draws a Five Year Term

H. J. Heckathorn of VanWert, Iowa, Given Sentence in the State Reformatory at Lincoln.

From Saturday's Daily
This morning in the district court, H. J. Heckathorn of VanWert, Iowa, was given a sentence of five years in the state reformatory at Lincoln for his part in the attempted robbery of a store at Murdock on the night of February 1st.

Heckathorn, when questioned by Judge James T. Begley, stated that he was entering a plea of guilty and also stated that he was a farm hand at VanWert, was twenty-four years of age. He had talked over the proposed robbery with P. F. O'Hare, who had broached the subject of the robbery of the Murdock store. They had come to Plattsmouth on the day of the robbery and later had gone on to Murdock.

The young man was remanded to the custody of the sheriff and will be taken later to Lincoln to start serving his time in the state reformatory.

LENT HERE SOON

Many people have been asking what is "Lent?" It is the observance of the forty days of retirement and fasting which Jesus went through before He began His ministry. Very soon after Christianity began to make headway it became the custom to prepare for Easter by a few days of solemnity. Sometimes this was forty hours, it gradually became general to keep away from amusements and to be very careful about feasting and to go more often to religious worship for forty days before Easter. Churches put away their bright colors and did not have any flowers during this period. In the middle ages Lent became a physical training period for the knights and warriors who had been lazy and sluggish during the long cold winter of the north. They needed rigid training to be strong for the tournaments and battle which would come with the spring days. The monks and priests therefore laid upon all a hard rule of fasting and purging. The heavy feasts of the winter were replaced by simple fare and plenty of exercise. The word "Lent" means Spring, it may be connected with the root of "length" the period of the year when the days "lengthen." It comes from the Anglo Saxon. Lent to us today means a period of greater religious activity, and serious thought and great care as to our living. It is the period to DO many good things we have neglected or forgotten. We think today not so much of giving up certain things as we do of DOING certain things we ought to have been doing long before. The first day of Lent, Ash Wednesday, will be observed in St. Luke's church at 10 a. m. by the reading of the penitential office and the administration of Holy Communion.

ATTEND ALUMNI MEETING

The alumni of the University of Nebraska, residing in and near Portland, Oregon, held a very interesting Charter Day program at that city and at which was present two former grads of the university from this city, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Heitzhausen. The affair was in the nature of a banquet and attended by seventy-five of the old students. The alumni enjoyed motion pictures of campus life at the university and several fine talks by former students. Alfred Lundin of Seattle, Washington, was the principal speaker. Elmer Lundberg of Portland, presided as the toastmaster of the occasion.

RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS

Charles McGuire, who for the past seven weeks has been confined to his home as the result of a very severe attack of the flu, was able to be down in the business section of the city Thursday for the first time since taken ill. Mr. McGuire, who is one of the veteran railroad employees of this city, shows the effect of the illness and the confinement but is gradually showing improvement and hopes soon to be back in his old time health. During the illness of the father, the daughter, Mrs. William Becker of McLenn, Nebraska, has been here assisting Mrs. McGuire in his care.

Do not fail to attend the "Absent Minded Bridegroom" at the Legion building on Tuesday evening. A good time and plenty of fun. Play is by the Manley Dramatic club and sponsored by St. John's church. Everyone invited to be present.

BOETTCHER RANSOM READY

Denver, Feb. 20.—Denial of authorities by Claude K. Boettcher, multimillionaire father of kidnaped Charles Boettcher II, who was firm in his decision to act independently of police was climaxed today by Boettcher's withdrawal of $65,000 from a Denver bank, presumably for ransom and reward payments.

PRANKETERS PRODUCE HOAX

Cambridge, Mass.—A group of unidentified pranksters, publishing a bogus edition of the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate publication, succeeded in announcing to a waiting world that a fictitious person named "Henry Elliot Clark, '04," had been named president of the Harvard university to succeed Dr. Lawrence Lowell. So well was the hoax arranged that if it were not for the Washington birthday holiday, with newspapers suspending publication in many places, the fake announcement would have been published in many cities before the fraud was discovered.

A group of persons, supposedly students, apparently entered the plant of the Crimson early in the morning while the building was empty, carrying with them hundreds of copies of the bogus edition, distributing them about the plant, and then notifying Boston newspapers of the announcement. The hoax was soon discovered when telephone calls to members of the board and to David Weld, president of the Crimson, revealed that there was no person known as Dr. Henry E. Clark ever considered as a successor to Dr. Lowell, or, in fact, who ever was graduated from Harvard university.

Authorities said they knew nothing of the transaction, but an employee of the Boettcher-Newton company, of which the missing man was a partner, said three checks totaling $65,000 and signed by Boettcher had passed through a bank this morning. He assumed the $60,000 was for ransom and the $5,000 for reward the older Boettcher posted the night of the kidnaping.
