Plattsmouth People Write of Earth Shock

None of the Former Residents Here Have Suffered Injuries as Far as Reported.

The reports received here by messages and letters from former Plattsmouth residents at Los Angeles and Long Beach, are to the effect that while the property damage to several was extensive, there has been none of the Plattsmouth colony injured.

The most serious sufferer from the earthquake shock from this section was former County Attorney C. H. Taylor, residing at Long Beach. The Taylor home was badly wrecked by the earth shock and while the family was fortunately not injured they have suffered a heavy loss to the home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hartford of this city have received word from their daughter, Mrs. "Chick" Hartley, formerly Miss Elva Hartford, Mrs. Hartley writes she was preparing the evening meal at their apartment home when the first shock of the quake struck. The walls of the kitchen were trembling and the floor swaying, the force being so strong that a floor lamp was overturned while articles were tossed around. Mr. and Mrs. Hartley made their escape from the apartment house and later hastened to the home of a friend who resided in a one story bungalow and where they remained for the night. Hundreds were sleeping in cars parked in vacant lots in fear of the collapse of the buildings.

E. H. Schulhof also has received word from a niece assuring him that the John A. Schulhof family were all right altho the home of Mr. Schulhof suffered some damage and the chimney of the house is badly damaged.

ROOSEVELT TO HAVE POOL From Tuesday's Daily President Roosevelt will have his desired swimming pool in the white house, without it costing the government a single penny. Some time ago congress frowned on the proposal to appropriate money for the construction of such a pool for use of the incoming president.

Today the New York Daily News headed a subscription list to be made up wholly by people of his home state of New York, with a contribution of $1,000 and announced that it would receive the contributions and see that the pool is provided.

ZANGARA TO DIE IN WEEK Next Tuesday, March 21, is set as the date for the electrocution of Zangara, would-be presidential assassin and murderer of Mayor Cermak. A Florida deputy sheriff was named as the one to pull the lever, sending the electricity through the body of the ex-bricklayer who hates capitalists and whose stomach is due for one more terrible ache in the short seconds required to bring death.

Congress Not to Recess; Gets Farm Relief Bill Next

"Full Steam Ahead," Says Roosevelt, Gleeful at Manner Solons are Supporting His Program

So gratified is President Roosevelt at the 100 per cent co-operation he is receiving from congress, not alone the members of his own party, but republican members as well, that the first plans calling for a recess of a few weeks following passage of the economy and beer bills have been given up and the chief executive of the nation will go right ahead with all the emergency measures that he deems advisable to have passed at this time.

The next problem to be tackled is that of farm relief, and the president is busy today preparing his message to the solons on this subject.

After it will come the unemployment problem, probably the last of the emergency measures to demand immediate attention.

Although senate democrats today refused to bind themselves under the unit rule to vote solidly for the economy bill as presented, the big majority will be with the president and joined by a number of republican senators, will probably pass it with about the same ratio of majority it was carried in the house.

The beer bill, being speeded to an early passage will complete the list of recommendations so far offered by President Roosevelt, and all passed within little more than a week at the most, whereas the congress has been wont to argue for months without even getting to a vote on legislation of far less importance.

The manner in which the president is tackling these emergency problems that confronted him when he took office ten days ago, has resulted in widespread confidence in his policies and a belief among those of all political faith that he is really the Moses sent to lead the people out of the slough of despond and deliver them from the well nigh bottomless pit of depression.

His characteristic for action, not unlike that of the other Roosevelt in the white house, meets with a responsive feeling on the part of the American public.

"Full steam ahead," says the new engineer, and with his hand on the throttle and a clear mind to the momentous problems before him, there seems little likelihood of derailment as the prosperity special pulls out onto the mainline.

NAMED AS CHICAGO MAYOR Chicago.—Overriding rebellion in its ranks, the Cook county democratic organization succeeded in placing its candidate, Frank J. Corr, alderman from the Seventeenth ward, in the chair as mayor pro tempore to succeed the slain Anton J. Cermak.

The election of a temporary mayor came in a few hours after Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton gave the council in special session an opinion that such a procedure was illegal without enabling legislation by the state legislature. The democratic caucus decided, however, that the interim mayor so elected would resign within a few days, as soon as legislation was provided for the election of a mayor.

FUNERAL IN ALASKA The funeral of Russell York was held on Sunday at St. Petersburg, Alaska, word received by the relatives here state. Mr. York died suddenly several days ago and owing to the great distance the relatives from this section were unable to make the trip for the services.
