

Something New for the Beach

LOOK INTO BANK SHORTAGE

Des Moines.—M. G. Bacon, cashier of the First National bank at Loring, was jailed here on a federal charge of embezzlement pending an investigation of a $25,000 shortage discovered by officers during the banking holiday. Bacon was quoted by federal operatives as saying the alleged shortage was used to "cover old losses." The charge which accuses him of having misappropriated $10,000 of the bank's funds, is only technical, federal officers said. They explained that provision to restore the shortage was underway.

NAVY PROJECT HELD BACK
Washington.—Secretary Swanson repeated he favors building up the navy to treaty limits as rapidly as possible, but said in the interview that plans for such a program depend entirely upon government economies to be laid out by President Roosevelt.

The secretary had not consulted subordinates and no arrangements had been formulated for construction to reach maximum strength. Final decision rests with the president. In drafting any plans now, the secretary would have close at hand Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, who reached the age of retirement on March 1, but who is remaining at his post until May 1, at the request of the president and the secretary of the navy.

Last night the officers were called to the farm of John Halmes, west of this city on the Cedar Creek road, where someone had visited the farm and made off with the chickens. The officers were unable to get any trace of the robbers who had plenty of opportunity to make a getaway before the loss was discovered.

NEWSPAPERS GIVEN CREDIT
Berkeley.—Expressing the belief that the country had reached "the bottom of the economic curve," Dr. Paul F. Cadman, economist of the University of California, said the newspapers had "made possible the feeling of confidence which upheld the people during the bank holiday."

"The newspapers devoted themselves to setting forth the facts in calm, clear fashion, which helped very materially to prevent panic," said Dr. Cadman. "Not only the general public, but also the bankers in many instances, had to rely on the newspapers to bring them exact information as to what was going on in Washington."

Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Wainwright

Murray Garden Club Organizes.
The Sunny Side Garden Club of Murray held their first meeting Saturday to organize and get started again for this year. Mrs. W. E. Mackey will again lead the club and she says she expects to have about twenty members. Every town in Cass county should have a 4-H garden club this year. There never was a time when young boys and girls can be of more value to themselves and their parents than this year by taking care of the home garden and enjoy the association of other boys and girls in a garden club.

Swine and Dairy Clubs Organize
The Super Swine Producers and the Weeping Water Dairy Club held their organization meetings last week. Nine members enrolled in the pig club and lected the same set of officers who served last year. Seven members enrolled in the Dairy Club. Both of these clubs are led by Warren Fager of Avoca. Anyone interested in joining may notify the county agent or get in touch with the club leader.

More 4-H Baby Bees in County.
Cass County 4-H boys and girls are feeding more baby bees than usual this year. A partial check-up on the three clubs in the county show that there are well over fifty on feed.

The interest has shifted somewhat from swine to baby beef, no doubt due to the discouraging prices for hogs. Those members that shift around from one project to another do not usually get as far as those that continue to improve themselves in the project they are especially interested in. So it may again prove out that the members in swine clubs that produce good stock will be rewarded for their efforts next fall.

4-H Enrollment Heaviest in Agent Counties.
Over 90 per cent of the 4-H club enrollment reported so far in 1933 to the state club office in Lincoln is from counties with Farm Bureau and county 4-H club committees, L. I. Frisbie stated today.

The percentage is in line with the records for the past ten years, he added. During that time about half the counties have had Farm Bureau and county agents while the other half have not. Ninety per cent of the enrollment and about 92 per cent of the completion of projects has been in the Farm Bureau counties.

Asked regarding the action of the house of representative Thursday, Frisbie said the inquiries were beginning to come in again regarding the future of 4-H clubs if the Farm Bureau law is repealed. Friends of club work as well as the members and local leaders want to know if they can continue to have their clubs without county agents.

The answer is the same as has been stated many times before, Frisbie said. They can have their clubs, but they won't. History of such cases has always been the same. Voluntary leaders will carry on for a year or two but seldom can they stand the personal expense and time for very long. One county with a part-time club agent three years ago, had 471 club members. In 1932, without the help of an agent, they had but 19 members.

Oats and Barley Smut Treatment
Numerous inquiries are being received at the Farm Bureau office for information as to the best methods of treating oats and barley to control smut. Covered smut in barley may destroy as much as 50 per cent of the crop. It can be controlled by treating the seed with one pint of formaldehyde in 40 gallons of water. This may be sprinkled over 40 to 50 bushels of seed or the seed may be dipped into the solution. The amount of water used as a carrier of the formaldehyde may be reduced to ten gallons, this treatment preferred in many cases since it wets the grain less. Care should be taken to see that the one point of formaldehyde is applied at the rate of one pint to 40 to 50 bushels of grain. If applied stronger than this, the germination may be injured.

The formaldehyde treatment outlined for barley may be used for oats. Some prefer to use a small hand sprayer to apply the formaldehyde in proportions of one pint of formaldehyde to one pint of water, spraying this over 40 to 50 bushels of grain. This so-called dry treatment can be used for both oats and barley.

Seed grain sprinkled with a solution of formaldehyde solution should be covered for about six hours and then spread out to dry or be seeded. Formaldehyde should be purchased in sealed cans or bottles.

What is Your Pasture Program?
Have you planned on some temporary pasture to take the place of your bluegrasses when it dries up in July and August? What will you do for a late fall pasture? Write the Farm Bureau office for pasture Circular 102. It is a new circular and will help solve your problems.

Fix-It Club Organizes.
A 4-H Fix-It Club was organized in the Alvo community recently, with fourteen members enrolled. Both boys and girls belong to this club and they elected Marie Franks president; Ellsworth Dodrill vice president; Mabe Dodrill, secretary; Opal Frank pianist and Rosa Williams news reporter. Mrs. Glenn Lewis is leader of the club and she will be assisted by Mr. Lewis.

Much interest is being shown in the new Fix-It project and it is expected that many clubs will be organized this spring. If you are interested, see or write the county extension agents.

OHIO WORKERS HIRED ANEW
Cleveland.—More than five thousand families in industrial Ohio cocked an ear for the factory whistle as their breadwinners prepared to go back to work. The call went out in Cleveland, Steubenville, Youngstown, Toledo, and other cities—and men grinned broadly when they got the news.

For industry had responded to the impetus of open banks, whose number had mounted well past the 500 mark in Ohio.

Thompson Products company of Cleveland announced it would recall between 300 and 400 men Monday. There followed a call by the Cleveland Graphite Bronze company for more men to join the 350 already working full time.

The Cleveland branch of Fisher Bodies company notified some 3,000 former employes to appear for duty Monday. The Toledo branch of the Chevrolet Motor company then announced that operations would be resumed Monday after a week's shutdown. The plant had been employing more than 1,500 men.

Scrap iron yards at Youngstown put fifty men to work sorting and preparing scrap for use in open hearth furnaces. The Bellansee Brothers Co., Steubenville, O., disclosed plans for increased operations by Monday at its Pollansee, W. Va., mill plant. Some seventy-five men will be added to the payroll.

New York.—There is now more buoyancy to general commercial activity than has been in evidence in years, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., said. The Mercantile Review said that further progress was made this week toward restoring confidence in all branches of business endeavor, that retail buying improved and that sales in some lines went ahead of seasonal.

When prices are very high it is hard to believe there will ever be a change. When prices are very low it is still harder to believe that there will ever be a change. But a little study of history assures us that the change always comes.

In Path of Storm

The tornado that swept the Tennessee-Kentucky border caused a property damage estimated at more than $1,000,000. The storm struck Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tenn., damaged roofs on the college buildings, destroyed small structures and uprooted a number of trees. Photo shows one of the school houses that was damaged by the storm.

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!
