Roy Gerking was a visitor in town on Tuesday of this week and was securing some lumber for the construction of a hog house for the farm.

Edward P. Shumacher was in town and secured some lumber a few days ago to be used in the erection of some cribs on the Wm. Knaupe place.

Lee Nickles, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Murray last Monday and was looking after some business matters and visiting with his many friends.

Business called James E. Hatchett to Plattsmouth on last Saturday where he also took an occasion to vote for the Christian church of Murray in the voting contest.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Stewart were over to Lincoln on last Wednesday where they were spending the day with their friends Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilmore and their son John.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, March 26

By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

Review: Jesus Our Example in Service

A three months' study in Mark's Gospel, has brought out to the student, who has seriously applied himself to find that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and servant of men, a clear and indelible picture, of the matchless Preacher, Teacher and Healer "who went about doing good." (Acts 10:38).

A review by lessons brings out the following important facts:

Lesson I—Description of the forerunner, John, the Baptist, his style of preaching, which prepared the way for Christ. The great success of his work; his pointing to Jesus as one "mightier than I," who would not baptize with water but baptise "in the Holy Ghost." Finally the baptism of Jesus "to fulfill all righteousness."

Lesson II—Brings out the facts of Jesus anointing with the Holy Ghost, acknowledged by his Father, and then undergoing the test—a 40 days testing time—before he can begin actual work. His first work is calling men to "faith in Him." Four men show that they believe in Him. It was a good beginning. So Jesus calls men today for service. Do all follow as quickly and as willingly as these four? Why not?

Lesson III—Shows us Jesus at work. His time is short. The work of establishing the Kingdom is a momentous undertaking. But he plunges right into the work. The first day's work shows with what zeal and determination he goes at it. He teaches as "having authority" and it causes "astonishment." His control over demons brings "amazement" to the people. It shows Jesus also as the "great Physician." The evening session is a busy one, all receive help, but it leaves Him exhausted. A night in prayer restores his strength and he is ready for another day.

Lesson IV—Brings to us the intelligence that Jesus is indeed God incarnate. It is the prerogative of God alone, to forgive sin. God has never anywhere delegated this power to sinful men. Some have assumed it, but without authority. Peter would not try it, as we read in Acts 8:22. "Pray God, if perhaps the thought of this heart may be forgiven thee." Man might be partial in forgiving sin, not God.

Lesson V—Shows Jesus as the Lord of the Sabbath. By a fine demonstration he convinces his hearers and the crowd that follows, that his critics are wrong, by citing David's acts; that the Sabbath was given to men for a blessing. Also that acts of kindness and mercy can be performed on the Sabbath and have God's approbation.

Lesson VI—Brings us to the day when the work became too heavy for Jesus, and saw the necessity of appointing helpers. It was a solemn occasion, preceded by a night in prayer. Out of the great number of his disciples he selects twelve men. Very carefully and deliberately he calls one after another, "that they might be with him," to be especially instructed and prepared to carry on the work. Did Jesus make a mistake in appointing Judas Iscariot? Much of the success of the Kingdom would depend on these men who were called to apostleship.

Lesson VII—Reveals to us a new form of teaching by Jesus—the parable—an earthly story with a heavenly meaning. The great truths of the Kingdom were expressed in language and form well adapted to the understanding of his hearers. Great and wise men use simple words. In forty parables Jesus sets forth the beauty and grandeur of the Kingdom. One only is explained, "Four Kinds of Hearers."

Lesson VIII—Shows in parables the growth of the Kingdom. It is unostentatious; in secret it develops its strength and power. It shines, but makes no noise. The faithful workers sow the seed, goes about his other business, his daily toil and leaves the seed to the elements. He has done his part, God must give rain and sunshine. But the seed grows. It is a secret and slow process—but, thank God, it grows.

Lesson IX—Shows us the power of Jesus. After a hard day's work, he seeks a place to commune with God. The disciples were told to go home; they try to cross the lake; a storm delays them. Jesus sees their peril. He goes to their aid, walks on the water, they see him and cry out in fright. "It is I, be not afraid." He rebukes the wind, "Peace, be still." Jesus has power; it is ours for the asking.

Lesson X—Teaches us that Jesus gives life and health. Death must give up his prey; disease cannot abide in the presence of the great Physician. The woman is made whole by touching his garments; Jairus and wife receive their child back. All power is given unto him. "And He is mine."

Lesson XI—Shows Jesus' compassion for man. The apostles give a report of their work; meanwhile the multitude gathers. They want to hear Jesus. He preaches a long sermon, the day wanes, they are far from home and they are hungry. "Give them to eat." Five loaves and two little fish—five thousand people—but all are fed, the fragments gathered and the people dismissed. What a wonderful picture of Jesus "going about doing good." The Son of God, the servant of man. Who follows in His train?

an operation will have to be resorted to in order to effect a cure.

Representative George E. Nickles and wife were home for over the week end last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Nickles looking after some business matters on Sunday and on their return they went by Omaha, where they visited with the sister of Mrs. Nickles, Mrs. Bertha Shrader, who is still confined to the hospital, following two accidents each of which caused a fracture of her leg, but which is healing slowly now.

Picking Up the Truckers
Frank Mrasek and son Earl were in Omaha last Monday morning and report that many truckers who have their new license plates have been checked up and made to pay excessive fines because of a few inches additional length of their trailers or a few extra pounds in the weight of their trucks. Mr. Mrasek and son are weighing their truck on each wheel and being very careful not to be caught by a trivial mistake and assessed a heavy fine.

The Voting Contest
Much interest is being shown in the voting contest being conducted by two Plattsmouth stores and which is to end Saturday night. $50 in cash will be awarded to a Plattsmouth organization and a like amount to one from out of town, and the Murray Christian church is one of the active participants in the latter group. A large number of those interested in the outcome are making daily trips to the county seat to register and some to purchase goods for the additional vote value.

Caring for Office Alone
Mrs. Ella Barker, manager of the Murray telephone exchange, has been looking after the office for some time alone, being compelled to do so as the revenue is not sufficient since the removal of so many phones to enable her to pay for additional help. Many young girls here are practicing at odd times that they may be familiar with the switch board when Mrs. Barker is called away.

Murray Study Club.
The Murray Study club met at the home of Mrs. D. C. Rhoden on Thursday, March 16th. Twenty-two members answered to roll call, with some incident which happened in grandmother's life. The song for the month was sung, led by Mrs. Guy Wiley. The salute to the flag was given, after which the business was taken care of the lesson was turned over to the leader, Mrs. Myra McDonald who gave some interesting points of early life in Nebraska. Miss Bertha Nickles and Mrs. Lou Crosser also gave paper. Mrs. Boedecker read a beautiful poem. Mrs. Albert Young gave a book review in keeping with the lesson. The ladies had brought a nice display of articles that had been in the family for years. After the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Rhoden and Mrs. Albert Young, which brought to a close another interesting club meeting.

Gave Pleasant Party.
The Loyal Circle class of the Christian Bible school with an invited guest composed of the members of the church and the Bible school, gave a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutz last Wednesday when they honored Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lutz and made a happy evening for them. This meeting they denominated a party and a charivari as well.

Taken to the Hosvital.
Mrs. George W. Rhoden, who with the husband have been keeping house for George Troop has been quite poorly for some time and on last Wednesday was taken to the University hospital at Omaha for treatment of her lungs which have become affected following an illness of acute influenza.

First Day of Spring Brings a Small Blizzard

Rain and Electric Storm of Saturday Merges Into Old Time Blizzard from the Northwest.

Those who have not studied the calendar might not be aware that today is the first day of spring, but such is the case, despite the blanket of snow and blizzard like conditions that prevail.

The storm opened Saturday when a drizzle started to fall and later was followed by a small electrical storm that gave intimation of the nearness of the spring and summer season. In the night the rain was turned to snow as the wind whipped to the north and swept down over the entire state from the northwest.

The snowfall ranged from four to ten inches in different sections of the state and whipped by the wind it was soon drifting and closing many of the east and west roads in this locality. The snow was very heavy north of Omaha and also in the south part of the state where along the Kansas-Nebraska line the snow was reported to be extremely heavy.

In this county there was a great deal of damage done in the vicinity of Weeping Water where telephone lines were down and made necessary the call for workmen who were sent out and called upon to repair the lines and establish communication.

PHILATHEA CLASS MEETS

From Wednesday's Daily
Last evening the Philathea class of the Methodist church held a very pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. William Heinrich and were entertained by the hostesses, Mrs. Zella Trout, Mrs. Carl Groff, Mrs. Fred Howland and Mrs. Carl Hall.

The meeting was opened with the songs and the devotional period of the class.
The business session was presided over by Mrs. Zella Trout, the class president, and the ladies discussed paint for the next weeks in the work of the class, preparing to carry on the campaign in the contests being held by local stores.

After the close of the business session the time was devoted to mystery games and in which a great deal of pleasure was derived.
The ladies had as guests of the evening Mrs. Clarence Akeson, Mrs. Everett Noble and Miss Bernice Arn.

The evening was closed by the serving of refreshments by the hostesses that added much to the enjoyment of all of the members of the party.

DIVISION OF SENTIMENT ON RAILROAD AID PLANS

Official Washington is somewhat divided on the railroad problem, admittedly the next to be tackled by President Roosevelt. Some favor a speedy enactment of relief measures, similar to those being considered for farm relief and unemployment, while others prefer a slow, deliberate consideration of the matter.
Although there has been some dissection on the farm relief bill, it is expected to pass in very near its original emergency status, covering a one-year trial of withholding land from production, while a complete revamping of existing farm legislation is under way, as the means of providing permanent relief from low price eras. Henry Morgenthau, head of the farm board is assisting Secretary Wallace with the drafting of that plan.

Repair Old Shades.

Badly cracked and torn window shades spoil the effect of an otherwise well curtained window. Oftentimes it is possible to just shorten the shade by cutting off the worn part, or take the shade off the roller and reverse it using the top, which generally is less worn, for the bottom.

Worn shades in the sun-room, kitchen or bathroom may be replaced by tacking heavy cretonne or muslin to the roller, with a hem in the bottom for the stick. Muslin shades can be taken off easily for laundering.

Had Successful Machinery Schools.

About one hundred Cass county farmers attended the two farm machinery and shop schools last week. The first was held at the Herman Schweppe farm near Murdock Friday and the second at the Roy O. Cole farm near Mynard, Saturday.

I. D. Wood, extension engineer of the College of Agriculture, gave the farmers many valuable tips on the following subjects: How to make rope for 7c per lb. of a quality as good or better than that which you buy for about 25c; Making halters, hitches and splices; Sharpening farm tools such as saws, bits, chisels, scissiors, shears, etc.; How to do a good job of soldering without a torch, by using the storage battery of a car.

On the machinery, Mr. Wood explained the alignment of the cutter bar, pitman, and all adjustments to make the machinery run properly. Most of the binder work was devoted to the common troubles the farmer usually has with timing and tying. All the different wrong kinds of knots that binders sometimes tie were shown and the causes pointed out.

Circulars on all the above subjects were passed out and can be had at the Farm Bureau office.

The Farm Vegetable Garden.

The management of a farm vegetable garden can be greatly simplified if planned so it can be handled with horse drawn machinery. Plans, problems and management of such a garden are discussed in detail in Extension Circular 1211, "The Farm Vegetable Garden," which is available at the Farm Bureau office.

Farmers Go to Ag Shop Friday.

About twenty-five farmers from different communities throughout the county will attend the all day Forge School at the Ag College this week. The arrangements have been made by the agent for these men to have one day's instruction under Prof. Runnals, instructor in shop and forge work. All of these men have a farm shop and the school will be of great help to them.

Plant Potatoes on New Ground.

For best results potatoes should be planted in ground that has not had potatoes growing in it for any of the preceding five years. The so-called "running out" of potatoes in central and southeastern Nebraska is due usually to a virus disease called "spindle tuber." This disease is so common in central and southeastern Nebraska that it generally pays to use new seed from northwestern Nebraska or from northern states each year. The disease, however, may be held in check fairly well by mulching the potato patch after the potatoes are up with six to eight inches of coarse straw. Potatoes grown under the mulch will outyield potatoes grown under reutilization in three out of five years in central and eastern Nebraska. Potatoes grown under straw are also less likely to produce knobs and growth cracks.

It takes from one-fourth to one-third of an acre to provide enough potatoes for the average farm family of five persons. The Irish cobbler variety is replacing Early Ohio potatoes in central and southeastern Nebraska. Seed potatoes should be cut into blocky pieces that average 1 1/2 to 2 ounces in weight. Each piece should have at least one good eye.

Use Lead Arsenate in Controlling White Grubs

White grubs in strawberry beds and lawns can be controlled with a fair degree of success by the use of powdered arsenate of lead. Eight ounces per one hundred square feet is sufficient for strawberry beds. If difficulty is experienced in distributing the lead arsenate powder evenly, it may be thoroughly mixed with several pounds of loose, dry soil or sand before distributing. In either case it should be worked as well as possible into the upper few inches of soil. On the lawn the lead arsenate powder

United Customers Benefit Sale and Community Free Voting Game Ends Saturday Night at 10

TWO MORE DAYS and it will all be over. You and everybody else will be here. Friday and Saturday will be very busy days. Following the usual plan of the campaign one more special stunt feature should be used on Friday and it has been advertised to some extent, but for lack of sufficient room at the Toggery store we shall be compelled to change the plan and not use any more special stunts. Rather than have any one disappointed as we wish everyone to continue taking advantage of the free registration votes every day in order to help their church as much as possible, we will on Friday and Saturday give every one two hundred votes for registering, instead of the usual one hundred, and on Saturday morning everyone registering before 1 o'clock will be given four hundred votes. The voting will close Saturday night promptly at 10:00 o'clock and the final count will be announced just as soon as the votes can be tabulated, possibly about 30 minutes. You are welcome to wait and hear who the winners are, if you wish. The race is pretty close, so keep up the pep!

TO DISMANTLE RUM FLEET
Buffalo.—Buffalo's gray navy, the rum chasing fleet of the United States coast guard, soon will be dismantled and its officers and men shipped to other stations throuout the country. Lieut. Comm. Martin W. Rasmussen, veteran head of the Buffalo district, expects to be shifted to Washington. He pointed out that with the legislative changes toward banishment of prohibition, the local coast guard service will revert to its former functions as a life saving station, and the present force of 218 men, seven 75 foot coast guard cutters and sixteen 36 foot picket boats all armed with one pound guns, machine guns and rifles will be reduced drastically.
