HOLD PLEASANT MEETING

On Thursday afternoon the members of the St. Mary's Guild and the Woman's Auxiliary of the St. Luke's church were entertained in a joint meeting at the home of Mrs. A. E. Stewart.

There was an unusually large number of the members present and the meetings in charge of Mrs. James T. Begley, president of the Auxiliary and Miss Barbara Gerling, president of the guild.

The roll call was most interesting and on current religious events and to which all responded.

Frederick Fricke, one of the local high school students, was heard in a very fine dramatic reading and which added a great deal to the interest of the meeting.

The members decided to receive corporate communion on Maunday Thursday at the St. Luke's church and all members of the group are urged to take part. The institution of the Eucharist nineteen centuries ago will be observed at the Maunday Thursday services.

Canon Petter, rector of the church gave a short talk on "Why Jews Have Been Persecuted Through the Ages." One reason was that the Jews in the old world were never assimilated by the nationalities in which they come in contact. Rev. Petter stated. Another of the reasons was that of economic and social which had set the Jews among themselves. The third and last reason was that of religion and which had led to the various outbreaks over the world.

BASEBALL TO TAKE STAGE

With the passing of the winter and the first breath of spring, King Baseball and track are commencing to demand their places in the sun that have been occupied by football and basketball.

The local ball players who were last year with the Murray Red Sox are preparing to again play there if the team is organized for the season as now seems probable.

The lack of a field suitable for a baseball grounds here has served for the past several years, prevented the playing of the game here as it should be, the shortness of the athletic field on Washington avenue, making necessary special ground rules and proving an inconvenience to the outfielders.

The grounds here have been used by the youthful players of the city, however, and in the past season was the scene of many a hard fought battle.

The local grounds also will be in use from now on a great deal of the time by the track team of the high school, which under the guidance of Coach Fred Rothert, will start their seasonal workout and prepare to participate in the last athletic events of the school year. There are several excellent track prospects out this year and should make a good record for themselves.

CARS CRASH

Friday afternoon there was more or less excitement created along the block on Main street from Fifth to Sixth, in a small car accident. The car of Warren Tulene was parked on the north side of the street and as Mr. Tulene was moving out of the parking, the car driven by Frank Mrasek of Murray was coming west on Main street. The drivers of the two cars did not see each other until too late and the crash occurred. Neither car was seriously damaged and both were able to be driven from the scene.

HERE FROM NEHAWKA

Mr. Ahrens while here was a caller at the Journal office and renewed his subscription to the Evening Journal of which he has been a reader for a great many years. Mr. Ahrens is looking fine and has the feeling that the nation and particularly the west is awaiting a great revival of prosperity and which is already on the way.

A Booster for Cement Houses; Has One Himself

Harry Long, Near South Bend, Who Built Home Before Louisville Plant Started, Enthusiast

Harry Long, prominent Cass county farmer, living south of South Bend, was in Louisville Monday patronizing the local blacksmith, H. W. Bloodgood. Mr. Long, accompanied by his son Robert and Mr. Bloodgood, drove to Omaha, where they purchased a steel drive shaft and pulleys to be placed in his elevator on the farm. Aside from elevating grain power will be applied to the driving of a feed grinder, corn sheller and other machines used on the farm.

Mr. Long has one of the finest farms in that part of the county and is equipped with all modern labor saving appliances. His large, commodious dwelling is built entirely of concrete, making it absolutely fire proof. Mr. Long designed and built the house himself, which required several years' labor. It was perhaps the first dwelling in Cass county to be built of cement. Although in no way interested in the manufacture of cement—his house having been built before the local cement plant was thought of—he is a booster for cement construction and uses a great deal of this material about his farm. —Louisville Courier.

W. C. T. U. PETITIONS BRYAN

Request that the governor refrain from setting up any machinery for a convention to vote on dry law repeal was voted in a statement issued Thursday by three state officers of the W. C. T. U.: Mrs. Iva M. Innis of Lincoln, president; Mrs. Park Edgar of Ashland, vice president; and Mrs. Lela J. Dyer of Albion, secretary. The statement:

"In answer to many questions coming to the W. C. T. U. relative to our views as to a state convention for the purpose of voting on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, we wish to say that as long as the state doesn't express itself in regard to repeal, it remains on the side of the present amendment.

"We understand the question of calling a convention is optional with the governor of the state. Therefore we request Governor Bryan to refuse to set up any machinery for a state convention on repeal."

Champion Bar Maid

To this 25-year-old young woman, Sylvia Dean, secretary to Representative Carroll Beedy, of Maine, goes the honor of being the youngest woman ever admitted to the bar of the U. S. Supreme Court. She was but 22 years old when she was admitted to the bar of the District Supreme Court, likewise earning the "Baby" championship of that bar.

METCALFE ACQUITS OFFICER

Omaha.—Mayor Metcalfe Wednesday said he has been unable, thru private investigation, to verify a charge by Arthur C. Storz before the city council Tuesday that Detective Inspector Danbaum demanded $500 from certain persons and received five $20 bills. Storz is a candidate for city commissioner in the April primary.

Mayor Metcalfe also said that after confidential inquiry into Storz' charge that a man was threatened with arrest if he did not support a certain candidate, he did not believe it fair to give the matter serious consideration.

Police Commissioner Hopkins in a statement Wednesday covered in detail the charges made by Storz that police officers were using threats in the city campaign. Hopkins asserted "the old gang" did not become active in the campaign until Inspector Danbaum made a trip to Los Angeles to investigate the Harry Lapidus murder further.

Danbaum detailed detectives to investigate the suicide of Christian R. Frederiksen here early Wednesday and if possible to find out at what places he had lost money in gambling. Frederiksen's family told police that addiction to gambling caused him heavy losses which led to his ending his life.

FUNERAL OF MRS. RHODEN

From Saturday's Daily

McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who gave a short sketch of the life of the departed lady and spoke comforting assurance to the members of the family circle who had been stricken in the death of the wife and mother and whose loss leaves a place hard to fill in the home and hearts of the loved ones.

The male quartet composed of Frank A. Cloldt, Raymond C. Cook, L. D. Hiatt and H. G. McClusky, gave two of the old hymns at the service, "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

At the close of the service the body was borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was laid to the last long rest.

Test Tube is Seen as Key to World Power

Difficulties Arising from Distribution of Mineral and Natural Resources May Be Solved.

Washington.—A future in which the test tube of the chemist holds the key to world power and the problem of international relations, with additions to human knowledge now undreamed-of, was pictured before the opening session of the American Chemical Society.

"The difficulties which arise in world politics from distribution of mineral, and, quite generally, natural resources," said Prof. Hugh S. Taylor of Princeton university, "may be intensified because progress in scientific, and, most often, chemical achievement may profoundly modify the extent of power accruing from the possession of a raw material."

Achievements Barely Begun. Chemistry's contributions to civilization, although already so vast as to startle chemists themselves, have barely begun, it was predicted by Harry L. Derby of New York, president of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corporation. Chemistry plays a part in production of almost every product, he said, and "as necessity has been the mother of invention, it will be the mother of chemical application."

Professor Taylor stressed the importance of a nation's progress in scientific utilization of its natural resources.

"The distribution of mineral resources of the world is an international responsibility," he said; "a factor of manifest importance in the problem of international friendship and hatreds."

He pointed out that before 1914 Chile for example had an almost complete monopoly of nitrates, essential both for agriculture and manufacture of explosives. Today chemists have enabled all great nations to draw large supplies of nitrates from the air. Chile now is suffering from governmental troubles with increased taxation necessary.

Similar Threat in Oil. "Now all monopolies of raw materials," Professor Taylor went on, "may be exposed to similar threats from technical-chemical progress. The efforts of Germany and Great Britain at the present time to derive synthetic oil fuels from coal, to offset the advantages accruing to the United States from her production of 71 per cent of the world's petroleum is a further illustration of the impact of technical achievement on the conclusions of economic geology."

He said that new discoveries about atomic energy threaten to change the whole structure of modern chemistry, which is becoming increasingly interrelated with other sciences, especially physics.

HEAR MOTION TODAY

From Friday's Daily
This afternoon Judge A. C. Thomson, member of the district bench of the fourth district at Omaha, was in the city to hear a motion and demurrer in the case of the Plattsmouth Bridge Co. vs. John E. Turner, county treasurer, et al.

The motion to strike and the demurrer has been offered by the large group of defendants in the case.

This action is one in which the plaintiff bridge company seeks to prevent the placing of the Missouri river bridge in the first school district for taxation purposes and contends that the bridge has been and should remain in the second school district.

SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

The many friends here will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Henry Brinkman of Sedalia, Missouri, is showing some improvement at this time and while quite low for several days she has rallied and under the treatment it is hoped to have her illness from diabetes checked. Mrs. Cyril Janda, Sr., her mother, and Mrs. J. A. Pitz, a sister, have been with Mrs. Brinkman for the past week and have just returned home. The condition of the patient was such that it was felt that her improvement was quite distinct.
