"Jesus Answers His Adversaries"
Mark 12:28-40.

This chapter was enacted the third day of passion week, while teaching in the temple—his last visit to the temple. Teachers will use the whole chapter to get the complete discourse with those who sought to destroy him, and to show us the wickedness of his enemies. First, the parable of the vineyard and its keepers, which is to expose the leaders of Israel. Next the question of the Pharisees and Herodians. Two parties that made common cause to embarrass Christ. Their question had two bars to it, they believed that Jesus would be impaled on one or the other. But they did not know the Lord; he confounded them with making them answer their own question. The Roman coin decided the matter. "Give to Caesar what belongs to him, and to God what belongs to him."
From that day this incomparable answer has defined the proper boundaries of church and state. No wonder the hearers marveled at the Lord's reply.
The Sadducees, the aristocrats of the Jewish leaders, came with an old question, in regard to men's relation in the other world—if such there was—by quoting a hypothetical case, of seven brothers and one woman. Jesus lifts this question to a higher plane—into heaven, where there is no marriage and no need to perpetuate the race by childbearing, since there is no death any more.
Now comes a lawyer, who has observed the other parties and how the Lord had answered their questions. This man seemed to be a fair-minded man—would like to have Jesus' opinion on one of their debatable questions: "Which is the most important commandment to be observed?" According to the reckoning of the Rabbis, the law contained 613 precepts, and these were divided into two classes—"heavy" and "light." Often the inquiry would crop up, "Which of these commandments is the most binding of all?"
Jesus does not quote the Decalog, but quotes the introductions to the ten commandments which teaches the unity of God, which really apprehended, is a basis for the human will to repose upon, and to become self-consistent and at peace.
Loving God with man's whole being—heart, soul, mind, strength—means union with God. We are one with him. We are wrapped in his destiny. Our personal existence is identified with his personal existence. We live as long as he lives. This is the unique and hitherto unheard-of truth that Christ revealed.
The second is this, "Thou shalt

Hessenflow and Mrs. Emil Hill, at Council Bluffs.
Mrs. Dove Asch spent the past week in Omaha, also making arrangements for her trip to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.
John Hobscheidt and family, Mrs. Fred Slagle, Hank Coons and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ganaway took dinner in Omaha Sunday, with relatives.
The Murray Hardware and Implement company on last Monday sold to J. J. Toman two single cultivators and one two row cultivator of the John Deere type.
Mrs. Peter Johnson and son, Albert of near Nehawka, were visiting on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Nelson, where all enjoyed Mother's day.
Charles Hula of Plattsmouth, who is the hustling agent for the Metropolitan life Insurance company was looking after business in his line in Murray on last Tuesday.
Wm. Patterson was a visitor in Weeping Water for the remainder of the week after Tuesday when he went over to the center of the county to visit with brothers.
The Young Peoples class at the Christian Bible school which is a very active class and one doing fine work for the Bible school had twenty-six members at the class on last Lord's day.
Ray Friedrich, owner of the Farmers Elevator came down from Greenwood on last Tuesday to assist A. J. Weideman receive and ship some 3,500 bushels of corn which they were receiving from Anderson Lloyd.
Mrs. Pearle Lash, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Gustie Brubacher, wife of her brother, making her home at Auburn was spending the past two weeks at the Brubacher home, departed for her home early this week.
Word was received from Stevenson, Wash., that Mr. Will Gray passed away April 23rd at the age of 94 years. He was an old resident of Cass county for many years, and love thy neighbor as thyself." Here again our Lord quotes from the old testament (Lev. 19:18). Love to God sums up the first table of the law; love to one's neighbor, the second table. Man is responsible to God for himself, first of all. Hence, he must first take care of himself and to do this must love himself. "There is no greater commandment than these." Christ inspires the life of love in us, through which the law of love becomes the law of our being. This lawyer did acknowledge that the Lord had given a good definition of the question; and Jesus had rarely found anyone to understand him so promptly and so thoroughly, and his intelligent sympathy was welcome to his burdened and lonely spirit.

Now, the Lord turns questioner. "In what sense is Christ the Son of David? (Matt. 22:41). We see that Jesus spoke to the Pharisees. "How can he be David's son, when David calls him his Lord? This question has never been answered. But David in prophetic vision sees Christ as the Lord over all his enemies, the Lord of all (Ps. 110:1-3); and yet Christ is a direct descendant from David, as the genealogy in Matt. 1 reveals.
Here now follows Christ's condemnation of the Jewish leaders in stern language. These men that had assailed him, "Beware of the scribes." This must have sounded strange indeed to Christ's hearers. But Christ goes on to give his reasons in the form of a description. "Who desire to walk in long robes." The salient points in their character were ostentation, avarice and religious hypocrisy. This tribe has not died out yet—they are still with us. Why should these mortals be so proud? "What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" (Ps. 8:4). "Man is like to vanity; his days are as a shadow that passeth away." (Ps. 144:4). Then why so haughty?
Jesus closes this chapter with a beautiful scene, which he observed, how a poor widow makes her humble gift to the temple treasury. The rich made quite a display in pouring their gifts into the treasury, their coins making a prodigious rattling. The poor widow, with her quarter of a cent gift, was not noted by the others—but Jesus saw it; she gave all she had—that was sacrifice and self-denial. The gospel of the widow's mite has been preached thru the centuries, and has found many imitators. God notes the gifts we bring!
"My life, my love, I give to thee, thou Lamb of God who died for me; O may I ever faithful be, my Savior and my God."

also a brother-in-law of the late W. F. Moore.
Mr. and Mrs. Lucean Carper enjoyed a visit from his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Carper and brother, Gust Nelson on last Sunday, as well as the parents of Mrs. Carper, Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin of Lincoln, all coming to celebrate Mother's day.
Carl McGeehon, from Pittsburg Seminary will preach at the Murray United Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. Sunday May 21st. The public is cordially invited. He will continue Sunday morning services throughout the summer months in Murray.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster entertained at their country home on Mothers day and had as their guests for the occasion John Eppings and wife and their son, Richard of Murdock, and Daniel Horchar, wife and little daughter where all enjoyed the occasion very pleasantly.
Mrs. Jennie Jenkins, whose birthday anniversary came on last Sunday, Mother's day, with a large crowd of her friends, were celebrating the passing of the event and enjoying the day in the open with a fine picnic dinner and as well the very fine time. The guest of honor, Mrs. Jenkins, received the congratulations and good wishes of the entire merry group.
Mrs. Eugene Deles Dernier entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening for the following young people of Omaha: Misses Marian Taggart, Florence Bartlett and Rene Deles Dernier and the Messrs Edward Britton, Donald Redlinger and Mack McKenzie. The table was beautifully decorated with a large center piece of red tulips, a gift from Rene for Mother's Day. The dinner was very much enjoyed by all. The young people left for Plattsmouth at 9 p. m. to attend the dance that followed the Junior-Senior banquet there. Mrs. W. S. Smith assisted in serving and entertaining the party.

Bible Schools Well Attended.
The two Bible schools at Murray were well attended on last Sunday, Mother's day, with no church services except the young people they seemed to get out a good attendance. The Bible school at the Christian church had one hundred and three in attendance while the Presbyterian was a very close second with an even hundred and with Mother's day exercises at both places made the services very interesting.
The senior Christian Endeavor of the Christian church had arranged to attend services of this body with the same society of the Christian church of Plattsmouth, and as the Murray society have been meeting at seven o'clock they had counted on the same society of the Christian church but they had just changed to six thirty and thus the meeting was partly over when they arrived. They all enjoyed the occasion, nevertheless. Those in the delegation from Murray were Neva Lancaster, S. Perry, wife and daughter, Melvern Reed, Mae Wilson, Thelma Thomas, Hazel Cowan who were on their way from Leo and Marie Davis, Homer Wartham, Eugene Gruber.

Entertained Friends Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Boedeker, Jr., entertained at their home on last Sunday and had as their guests for the occasion Dr. and Mrs. Thomas owan who were on their way from their home in the east to San Francisco, where Dr. Cowan is to locate as one of the physicians of a hospital. It will be remembered that a few years ago Dr. Cowan was a practicing physician in Murray while Dr. G. H. Gilmore was away for a time. They also had Robert Wilson and his lady friend Miss Margaret Kearns both of Nebraska City.

Mother's Day Picnic.
A party of Murray people who desired to get away from the busy hum of city life and consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sporer and son, Charles Martin Sporer and family, Chester Sporer and family, Guy Kiser and family, A. W. Leonard and family, went to King Hill on last Sunday where they took their cars and had a picnic dinner and enjoyed the entire day in the open with an abundance of beautiful views, shade and sun-

Greeted the Granddaughter.
On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilson, parents of Font Wilson and who make their home near Cedar Creek, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Font Wilson for Mother's day, and as well was also Levi Wilson, parents of Font Wilson and T. Wilson and also Herbert Beins, who came to see the good wife and was presented with a very charming little daughter weighing nine pounds which was born a few days before and was claiming the greater portion of the attention of the happy throng. All are getting along very fine. Mrs. Beins and the little daughter are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Font T. Wilson.

To See the World.
See America first is a good motto, and after the United States and North America it is well to see South America, so Ed Mackey and Will Griffin departed some two weeks ago with the end in view of seeing that wonderful country on the other side of the equator, Argentina, and where so much wheat grows.

V. A. Kennedy Funeral Friday.
V. A. Kennedy, 92, veteran of the Civil war, died at the Soldiers' Home at Grand Island Tuesday. The funeral will be held at his late home in Murray at 2 p. m., Friday, May 19th. Interment will be at Young's cemetery.

REAL DEPRESSION PARTY
On Thursday evening, May 4, a real friendly hard times depression party was given at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. James Tigner, who are now living on the old George Rhoden farm west of Mynard, where they have resided for the past year, and this party gathering was given in honor of the first year in this home.
The whole affair was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Tigner, and there were about forty-five friends and neighbors who came with well filled baskets with not a sign of depression times in a single basket, but their costumes represented real hard times.
After an evening of pleasure at cards and various other games, about midnight these baskets were spread before the guests, and the good eats contained in those baskets proved the feature of the evening. Prizes were offered at the card games, which were won by Mrs. John Blotzer, first ladies, and Dan Hoscher, first gents. Bernard Meisinger captured the booby number. There were a number of real costumes for the occasion, and were in keeping with the long days of depression, but a few hours of much pleasure to all.

BEING IN COYOTES
The flood of coyotes continues at the office of County Clerk George R. Sayles. The latest to bring in the scalps of the animals are Harold Dumke of Louisville with six; M. M. Fussler, of Union, six and O. E. Domingo of Weeping Water, one.

SOON TO LEAVE FOR CAMP
The Cass county quota of young men who have been selected for the reforestation work under the U. S. government plan, will be called into service this week, advices from Lincoln state. The young men are to report at Plattsmouth on Friday afternoon, promptly for the physical examination and preparatory to leaving for the training camp.
The men will be given a physical examination by an army surgeon and all who pass will be immediately prepared for leaving for the training camp at Fort Crook.
The total number of men called will be 1,206 and the quota of this county will be thirty-six. In case those who have been selected, fail to report or to pass the physical examination, their places will be taken by others who have made application.
The men will remain at Fort Crook for a two weeks period and during which time they will be given a conditioning to place them in the best of shape physically for the work that is awaiting them.
The war department has authorized the purchase of athletic equipment to be used at conditioning camps, and to be taken with the men to forest camps. An initial athletic kit is to be bought for each company of approximately 200 men. The equipment comprises two volley balls and nets and baseball equipment. Playground equipment may be substituted for baseball equipment if desired. The baseball kit comprises one catcher's mask, two catcher's mitts, two basemen's mitts, fourteen fielder's gloves, one catcher's protector, one pair of catcher's leg guards, one score book, one set of baseball bases.

DOINGS IN POLICE COURT
From Wednesday's Daily
This morning Frank Dovel, 18, and Gale Bohl, 29, of Auburn, were present in the court of Judge Charles L. Graves to answer to complaint that had been filed against them by City Attorney J. A. Capwell. Dovel was charged with reckless driving and Bohl with possession of liquor.
The two young men were picked up here on Sunday after complaint was made by two different auto parties of the reckless manner in which the car of the Nemaha county young men was being operated. The young men were later released on a bond of $200 for the appearance here today.
In the hearing of the case today Dovel plead guilty to the charge of reckless driving and was given a fine of $5 and costs which was settled. In the case of Bohl, he was assessed a fine of $100 and costs, the same being suspended for a period of three months, the young man to report here to the court each week and to refrain from any further trouble.
