"Jesus and His Friends"

Mark 13:23; 14:9. I—Jesus warns his friends, Mark 13:1-37. The coming end of the world, Christianity has no more precious possession than the memory of Jesus during the week when he stood face to face with death. Driven from the temple by his foes, never to enter it again, our Lord devoted himself during these last few days to his little band of loving friends. Our lesson shows him faithfully warning them of the trials that were to come upon them. In the background we see the dark menace of his foes, plotting his death. It is a most moving picture. Jesus foresaw the end of the Jewish nation; the horrors that would accompany the destruction of Jerusalem. But he sees also his return in glory and power to receive his own and take them to their everlasting abode. He also points out the uselessness of figuring out the time of the end of the world, because no one knows—not even the son—so as Son of Man. Then why waste time in speculations? "Take ye heed." A heedless life cannot be a Christian life. The Christian is full of joy, but it is a solemn joy; for he sees clearly, the vast, eternal issues at stake in his life. Thoughtfulness becomes a Christian, for he knows that his life here determines his life throughout the endless years. Every day brings the Lord's coming one day nearer. There is no day which may not be our last. "Watch and pray." "Lest coming suddenly, he finds you sleeping." Think of Peter, James and John sleeping on the mount of transfiguration and in Gethsemane. Christians asleep! How many of them are. Laymen and preachers, Sunday school pupils as well as teachers. To all, without a single exception, the Master is coming. "What I say to you, I say to all, Watch!" II—Jesus plotted against, Mark 14: 1, 2. While Jesus was with his friends in Bethany, a dark plot was incubated in Jerusalem. The clan of the chief priests with the scribes got together and passed sentence on Jesus to kill him. (Gangsters of today, put their victim on the spot.) Trickery and murder—these filled their cruel hearts in place of praise to God and love to men that befit the solemn and joyous festival. The time was not propitious, the crowds were too great, too many Galileans, whom Jesus had benefited, they might take his part; wait until after the passover. The crowds so great that sometimes as many as 25,000 lambs were required for slaughter in the temple, one lamb for each household. The Romans were prepared to quell riots, keeping a heavy guard on hand. And so they waited. III—Jesus anointed by Mary. He stayed at the home of Simon, the Leper, whom he had healed some some business matters, making the trip on his motorcycle. Martin Sporer and his little daughter were over to Union on last Monday, where they were looking after some business matters as well as visiting with friends for a few hours. J. A. Scotten, the contractor, and George E. Nickles, the lumberman, were called to Omaha on Tuesday to look after some matters of business, driving up in the car of Mr. Nickles. W. G. Boedeker of the Murray State Bank, and Wm. Sporer, were in Plattsmouth last Saturday evening, where they were called to look after some business matters for a short time. Vac Mickluskey, the blacksmith, was in Omaha over the week-end, visiting with the family and also looking after some business matters. He returned to Murray Monday to look after the business at the shop. Edward Mutz and wife have accepted positions at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Leonard, where they will assist with the farming operations. They have been in the farming game for many years and are well acquainted with its various kinds of work. Business brought E. W. Thimgan, former sheriff of Cass county, to Murray on last Monday, and after having looked after some matters here, he went to Weeping Water, Elmwood and Murdock, where he also had some business matters to look after. Thomas Nelson, who is always looking for something sweet, scented a newly escaped swarm of bees on last Sunday and soon had them hived and placed in his colony at his home. This is an addition to the already large colony of bees which he has now at the home. Chester Sporer and the wife are caring for their kiddies, two of whom have gotten the measles and are getting along nicely with them, as the weather is now mild and the best time of the year to have such an affliction. They are also receiving the best of care from the parents. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster and the family were over to Murdock last Sunday, where they were enjoying a visit for the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eppings. Mrs. Eppings and Mr. Lancaster are sister and brother. The Lancaster family enjoyed the fine dinner that was prepared by Mrs. Eppings. Dewey Hobson, who has leased the corner building of J. W. Holmes, has moved his mill to the room and has been busily engaged in getting the machinery set in order that he may get to work grinding again and not have to keep the trade waiting, as he is here to accommodate whoever desires any work in his line. Mrs. C. V. Barrows received the sad news of the illness of her sister, Miss Marguerite Brown, of near Hubbell, Nebraska, and that she had to undergo an operation for a severe case of appendicitis. The appendix had burst and the case was one of very grave concern. Mr. and Mrs. Barrows hastened to Hubbell, where they went to see the sister and were pleased to find her feeling some better, but still not well. They remained over the week end with the sister. Entertained Last Sunday Miss Bertha Nickles entertained for the day and dinner on last Sunday, having her two cousins, Miss Etta and Mr. Lee Nickles, of Plattsmouth, as her dinner guests, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Nickles and wife of Murray, who with her brother, Alfred Nickles and her mother, Miss Mary Nickles, made up a very happy party who enjoyed the day and the fine dinner very much. Keeps Rustling Henry Heebner, who while he has attained a number of years, still keeps at the work notwithstanding the added fact that he has not been in the best of health. He has a number of gardens in the vicinity of Murray, which he is keeping up in fine shape. When it comes to growing a good garden, Henry Heebner knows how. The two ingredients that count most are hard work and keeping at it. He has both. Loses Three Friends Thomas Nelson has had the acquaintance of a number of friends for many years and occasionally he has found fault with some of them. Just lately he has had cause to complain of three of them and so, while it cost him some pain to sever his connection with them he did so, but not without bloodshed. They were three decayed teeth and he is now feeling some better. Have Good Record At the Christian Bible school on last Sunday nine of the students of that institution were presented with a wreath for not missing Bible school for over two years and three had a record of over four years without a skip, they being Richard Brendel, Charles Sporer and Raymond Lancaster. This makes a good record and shows well for the interest taken in Sunday school work. Getting Ready to Build The committee having in charge the rebuilding of the Murray school building, which was burned to the ground last winter, has taken steps to have the ground cleared and the basement which has been left since the fire, cleaned out and everything gotten in readiness to commence the work of rebuilding as soon as the preliminary arrangements can be made. Everett Dodds, the architect, who has been employed to draw the plans and furnish the specifications for the erection of the building, was down and looked over the grounds where the building was and where the new structure is to be erected. It has been decided to erect a ten grade building, although there was considerable talk of increasing the facilities of the school to make it a fully accredited twelve grade high school. The tenth grade is the highest that has been provided in the past and as the increased cost of providing for two more would have made necessary the voting of some bonds in addition to the insurance money on hand and proceeds of the sinking fund, it was thought best to only provide for the number of grades heretofore accommodated. Murray Study Club. The Murray Study club met at the home of Mrs. Betty Barrows on Thursday, the 18th at a 1 o'clock luncheon. There were 24 present. Meeting was called to order by the president at 2:30. All business of the club was discussed and among other

After the business was disposed of the president turned the meeting over to Mrs. John Young who had charge of the lesson subject "Among Nebraska Authors." She gave a very interesting paper on the life of John G. Neihardt and others. Her assistant, Mrs. Albert Young, gave papers on Willa Cather and other authors. After the lesson the salute to the flag was given. The club had as their luncheon guests the four teachers of the Murray school, Mesdames Marcell, Becker, Barrows and Miss Sans, and also Margaret Todd and Jane Boedeker. Mrs. G. M. Minford added her name to the membership list for next year. Our next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Albert Young, June 15.—Club Reporter.

The Junior baseball team proceeded to clean up on the team selected from the sophomore class 26 to 2 Tuesday afternoon following the close of school. The game was staged at the Athletic park. GANDHI IS WEAK, BUT WELL

Poona, India.—After completing two weeks of his projected three weeks fast Mahatma Gandhi was found to be well. Doctors, astonished at his condition, said it was almost a miracle that he remained so fit. But the pound the mahatma is losing each day is weakening him, and physicians will redouble their attention during the next week as well as in the week after the fast. They expressed some fear about a sudden change in his condition.

AN IRIS GARDEN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tidd on Oak street between Sixth and Seventh, is at this time a scene of real artistic beauty as the iris garden that Mr. Tidd has been cultivating is now blooming and in the next few days all of the varieties will be in full bloom. There are many varieties and some of the rarest of the iris can be found here. With the various colors and varieties the garden looks like a picture of an old world garden and is one that a person can enjoy for hours, each glance bringing some new beauty in the flowers.

Mr. Tidd has made a close study of the iris and the result is that he has one of the largest and best collections that can be found in this section. It is well worth the time to call at the Tidd home and look over his iris garden.

Wiley Post to Have Only Robot for Companion

Winnie Mae to Carry Him Again in Attempt to Beat Record He Set in 1931 with Gatty.

Oklahoma City.—Wiley Post, co-holder of the round-the-world flight record, announced today he would take off about July 1 in a solo attempt to set a new globe-circling record. The flight, Post said, would be made in the Winnie Mae, in which he and Harold Gatty flew around the globe in eight days, fifteen hours and fifty-one minutes in June, 1931. The fuselage is being rebuilt and the plane will carry a new motor. "I am simply going out to set a new record, my personal ambition," was Post's only comment. "I will have no backer, no manager and no partners."

Robot His Companion.

The attempt to beat the record will be financed by Post, interested aviation equipment and plane builders, and Oklahoma City aviation fans, the pilot said. Instead of a human companion, Post will be accompanied by a robot, which he has been testing several weeks in all kinds of weather, and over plains and mountains.
