Red Sox Win Battle from the Soldiers, 8 to 3

Game Featured by Good Work of Sylvester and Hitting of Stone and Krejci—Many Errors.

The Red Sox took their second game of the season on Sunday afternoon at the Athletic park when they trimmed Co. M of the 17th infantry by the score of 8 to 3 in a battle in which the doughboys at no time grew dangerous altho in the last inning of the game they made a strong bid to save themselves from the terrific batting attack that was kept on them by the local sluggers, led by Stone.

In the opening inning the locals started their batting spree when Stone planted one of the offerings of Altizer down into Washington avenue for a home run and was followed by Joe Krejci, celebrating his return from New Mexico, who tapped the old sphere for a three sacker, later scoring on a passed ball.

The visitors in the second were able to tally with a double by Reed and who stole third and later scored on a single.

The Plattsmouth batting stars again took a spree in the third and seventh innings of the conflict to run their total to eight scores and to put the game on ice.

In the first of the ninth Perry opened for the visitors with a three bagger and scored on the hit of Maize and who scored on the single of Miles to complete their scoring, as the succeeding batters were retired in order and closed the conflict.

The locals looked much better in their second conflict and are commencing to hit their slugging stride that for three seasons made the Sox the terror of the visiting hurlers.

The Sox during the game gave their pitching staff an opportunity of doing their stuff, Sylvester hurling the first three innings, Geo. Hamilton, the next four and Harry Newman closing the last two frames of the struggle.

The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

Heat Draws a Large Number to Swimming Places

Sand Pits North of City Attract Hundreds as the Result of Severe Heat of Past Few Days.

From Tuesday's Daily
The heat that has been felt in this section for the past two days has caused a general rush of the residents to the watering places where they might refresh themselves in the cooling waters from the effects of the warmth.

The sand pits located just north of the city have proven the most popular spot in this immediate vicinity, not only for the residents of this city but for large groups from Omaha who motor here each evening for a dip in the cooling waters of the pits.

Monday afternoon many car loads of young people from this city were to be found at the pits, as well as auto parties from Omaha, basking in the pleasant coolness of the water of the pits and in the evening this number was swelled to some 400 who departed for hours in the water and its pleasantness after the heat of the day.

The pits are not in any way provided for use as regular bathing places and lack springboards and other devices that are to be found at the bathing beaches, but has the one thing that seems to be most sought, good cooling water that refreshes and makes the heat worn people comfortable after the heat of the day.

Last year several fatalities occurred at the pits where inexperienced swimmers from Omaha suffered injuries and death from drowning.

PRESENTS FINE APPEARANCE
The Oak Hill cemetery at this time presents a very neat and attractive appearance as the city has had the entire cemetery cleaned up in nice shape for the memorial day services. All sections of the cemetery have been worked over and the grass cut and raked and with the profusion of the flowers that marks this season of the year has made the cemetery a pleasing sight. The work of clearing the cemetery was in the hands of the cemetery committee of the council and was Chairman Henry Jasper's first experience in looking after this work, but has given some fine results. The cutting of the grass and the cleaning up was carried out by the force of veteran workers who have been engaged by Sexton Warren Tulene for a great many years.

Louisville to Have Camp of Park Workers

Site for Camp of Young Men Will Be Located Near "Stout House" Northeast of Town.

The state parks and fisheries in the vicinity of Louisville and Gretna have been approved as one of the projects in which the reforestation and park improvement work will be done this coming summer.

The state has offered as one of the projects the state parks at Louisville and Meadow where there are lakes and fishing grounds as well as small wooded tracts, which with the state fisheries at Gretna will furnish the summer work for the young men in cleaning up and beautifying so that they will be among the show places of this portion of Nebraska.

The location of the projects has been approved and the camp for the young men will be located at the land near what is known as the "Stout House," northeast of Louisville, where many years ago the structure was built in the expectation that the state penal institution might be located there.

The work of piping water from Louisville to the new camp site is now under way and it will be a short time when the company of 200 young men arrive to start in on their preparation of the camp.

The improving of the Louisville parks will make them real beauty spots and which will attract visitors from all parts of the state, adding to the many other attractions in the park line near that city. The Camp-fire Girls camp is located west of Louisville while the Lincoln Scout camp at Camp Quivera, is located east of where the new reforestation camp is to be laid out.

START PACKING PEAS

The local plant of the Norfolk Packing Co., Monday started the packing of the pea crop of the early summer and all day and into the evening trucks were rolling into the plant bringing in the products of the acreages near this city.

The coming on of the pea crop makes the packing plant a hive of activity as the spinach pack is also on in full blast and with the peas now being canned makes work for a very large number of the residents here.

The hot and dry weather of May was not the most favorable for the crops used in the packing plant, but the quality of the peas received is very fine and will make canned products for the future.

The peas, vine and all are hauled into the plant and placed through a special machine that removes the pea pods and prepares the peas for the cannery.

The farmers of this locality who have leased acreages for the raising of the crops for the paint here have realized a neat sum from the crops produced so far and which has proven a valuable asset to the income of the farms and the small acreages.
