Murray

Ralph Kennedy has been constructing a garage for G. M. Minford at his home in Murray and is making a good one.

The Murray Kensington club will meet at the home of Mrs. G. E. Brubacher June 15th. All members are requested to attend.

M. G. Churchill was called to the home of Joseph Sofora, where there has recently been a barn built and which he was asked to paint.

Mrs. J. W. Berger is in Omaha, where she is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown and also receiving treatment for her health.

Font Wilson and Tom Nelson were called to Nehawka on last Monday evening, where they were looking after some business matters for a short time.

Max Churchill was doing some work at the home of Mrs. Alice Plybon, of Nehawka, on last Monday, looking after the interior decorating of the home.

A. D. Bakke was a visitor in Nebraska City on last Tuesday, going for some repairs which he was in need of to complete the work he had in hand at the garage.

Deputy Sheriff Jarvis Lancaster, of Plattsmouth, was looking after some official business in Murray on last Monday evening and as well meeting his many friends.

Lon Cresser of the Garage of Murray was called some seven miles west of town to untangle a wrecked truck which a man from Dunbar had gotten into the ditch when his truck and trailer veered from the highway.

Joe Richter was thrown from his motorcycle one day last week, sustaining injuries that have caused him to be lame. He is game, however, and just smiles about the accident and says he will be well soon.

Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilmore and their son, John, who have been making their home in Lincoln during the past year, where John has been attending school, last week moved back to Murray and are now making their home here again.

Will S. Smith as general architect, assisted by some other master workmen, on last Monday engineered and constructed a bridge leading from the store of Mr. Smith to the highway in front of the store, making one which they were hoping will be permanent.

Clarke Jarvis, who has ability to draw and who for pastime would go to the railroad station, where he would look at the engine and go home and reproduce it, has recently drawn a picture of a castle which demonstrates that this young man has great merit.

A dog of the family Denver Peach-ereno, or something different from that, while in town last week discovered Tom Nelson and immediately adopted Tom as his master and has been making his home with the lumberman since. They both are getting along nicely and are now fast friends.

A. J. Scotten and his force of workmen have been constructing a barn at the farm home of Walter Engelkemeier, an improvement that he has long desired, and now with material and labor prices at low ebb, he decided to have it done before prices go up again. The materials were purchased from the Murray lumber yard.

Little Shirley Webber was taken with a severe pain in her ear, which became so intense that it could not be endured and the little one, who is but eight years of age, was hurried to the hospital, where she has been receiving treatment and was reported as being some easier, although still suffering greatly. Hopes are now entertained for her recovery.

Picnic in Honor of Visitors

A picnic was given by relatives here in honor of Mrs. J. W. Browne and two children of Eaton, Colorado, who have been spending some time in eastern Nebraska, visiting at the home of her parents, L. A. Tyson and wife, of Elmwood, as well as with her brother, Dr. R. W. Tyson here, and with other relatives at Elmwood and Omaha. The pleasant event was held Sunday and was attended by the parents of Mrs. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tyson, of Elmwood; Cyrus Tyson and family of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Robb and children, of Lincoln; Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Tyson, and the guest of honor and her two children.

Had a Fine Service

At the Presbyterian church in Murray on last Lord's day there was held a very fine service in the morning and the young people's meeting was well represented and much interest taken in both meetings. The Rev. Carl McGeehan, pastor of the church, has increased the interest in both the Bible school and the church services and many are coming to the services regularly now.

Arrangements have been made for a large number of the members of the young people's society and their pastor to attend a meeting which is to be held in South Omaha in the near future.

Passes 47th Milestone

Earl Lancaster was born in north-east Missouri near the town of Memphis, on June 3, 1886, and when he was old enough to want to heed the advice of Horace Greeley, came to Cass county, Nebraska, a move that he has never regretted. Here he has worked hard and prospered, meeting with all the ups and downs that come to the average of mortals. He has a happy home with many fine children and a grandchild and on the occasion of the passing of his 47th birthday, there were gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hoschar some 131 residents of the community who came to make the day a very pleasant one and to show that his labors for the good of the community throughout the years he has resided here have been appreciated.

Lost Watch Recovered

The watch that belonged to the late Dr. J. F. Brendel and which following the father's death has been carried by his son, Richard, was recently lost by that young man. Fortunately, however, it was found by his little friend, Bobby Long, and promptly returned to the owner. Richard was very pleased to have the watch returned to him and while the friendship between he and Bobby has always been very strong, it was cemented a wee bit tighter by this act.

Murray Study Club

The Murray Study club met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Sporer on June 1st at 8:30 where there were cars waiting to take the members to Omaha where they visited the Joslyn Memorial Hall. The ladies first listened to a talk in the beautiful lecture room, given by Mr. Grumman, director of the hall. His talk was on the different kinds of material used in the building and is an Egyptian structure, all of marble, costing $4,000,000. There are ten art galleries, five on each side of the hall.

After this talk the ladies were shown through the entire hall by the director, explaining the most important parts. The building is two blocks long. There are different kinds of marble used in each room and also different kinds of floors. The plans were made and carried out by John and Allen McDonald of Omaha. The ladies had the pleasure of listening to the pipe organ. This hall was built in honor of John Joslyn by his wife.

Around the noon hour the ladies departed for Elmwood park where they spent several hours in this beautiful park and where a picnic dinner was enjoyed. The 25 that went from Murray were joined at the Memorial Hall by Mrs. Fanny Cresser, one of the members who reside in Omaha, and Misses Gladys Young and Mary Park as guests. The day was ideal for such an outing and was greatly enjoyed by all who had the pleasure of going.—Club Reporter.

VISIT AT SHENANDOAH

Sunday Mrs. Charles Chriswiser and son, Carl, with Mrs. Bennett Chriswiser and Miss Patricia Ferris, motored to Shenandoah, Iowa, to spend the day. #### MANY ATTEND OPENING

From Wednesday's Daily
This morning the formal opening of the Home Dairy at Fifth and Main streets was held, a very large number of the residents of the city being in attendance during the day to view the handsomely arranged sales room and to enjoy the fine line of ice cream that is being handled by this company.

The room used as the salesroom has been entirely redecorated and is a place of real beauty and one that is a credit to this part of the business section of the city. The room has been arranged in a color scheme of green and white, making a neat, cool and inviting tone coloring that appears to the visitor. The installing of new equipment has added to the efficiency and comfort of the store room.

On the occasion of the formal opening the sales room was made even more attractive by the many baskets and bouquets of flowers in evidence.

Mr. Phil Hoffman, in charge of the Home Dairy has arranged for the handling of the Harding ice cream as well as his own home made cream in connection with the general business of the dairy.

A visit to the Home Dairy in their new quarters is a revelation in the handsome and attractive setting that the establishment has made.

SUFFERS SEVERE CUT

Howard Blue, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blue, suffered a severe injury Tuesday afternoon while he was engaged in swimming at the sand pits north of the city. The young man was wading and swimming near the north side of the pits he states and suddenly felt a pain in the right foot and investigating found that he had inflicted a severe gash on the bottom of the foot and blood was fast pouring from the wound. The injured boy was hurried to this city and it was a half hour after the accident before medical attention could be secured.

The victim of the accident lost a pint of blood as the result of the long wait and was quite weak after the dressing of the foot and the stopping of the flow of blood. That the young lad did not suffer even a worse loss of blood was due to the foresight of Otto Lutz, who brought his army first aid knowledge into practice and improvised a tourniquet on the leg of the accident victim and which checked the flow of the blood.

SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

Peter Claus, one of the old time residents of the city, who has for the past eight weeks been at an Omaha hospital, has returned to the home here. Mr. Claus, who has been in poor health for some time, was forced to undergo two serious operations at the hospital and which has greatly weakened him. He is, however, feeling much improved and it is hoped will soon be able to resume his activities and be on the highway to complete recovery.

Says Young Turkeys Need Much Calcium

J. R. Redditt, Poultryman, Prescribes Limestone or Oyster Shell for Leg Weakness.

Twenty pounds of ground limestone or fine oyster shells in 1,000 pounds of mash for young turkeys will help avoid leg weakness, a common trouble of young poults, J. R. Redditt, poultryman of the Nebraska agricultural college extension service, advises turkey raisers of Nebraska. The leg weakness, called perosis, was formerly thought to be due to too rich a protein mixture, lack of sunshine, or not enough cod liver oil.

Use of meat meal or meat scraps instead of meat and bone meal is also recommended by Redditt as a control or preventive measure. Research at the Nebraska experiment station showed that the young turkeys need more calcium and less phosphorus in their ration. The limestone or oyster shell furnishes calcium, while the meat meal or scrap contains less phosphorus than does meat and bone meal.

Enlarged hocks and swellings above or below the hocks are symptoms of perosis, Redditt explained. The condition may develop within a few days after the poults hatch, whereas rickets rarely show up before the third or fourth week and scarcely at all in flocks having free range and plenty of sunshine.

Discussing blackhead, the most serious turkey disease, Redditt tells the turkey growers candidly that if blackhead should start in their flock, they can take their choice of cleaning up, moving out, or courting "Miss Fortune."

A straw shed will make a satisfactory shelter for young turkeys during the rest of the summer. A shade can be made by setting posts, making a framework, and covering it with brush and hay or straw. Four hog waterers attached to the bottom of barrels on slatted platforms make ideal waterers for a growing flock of poults. Feed hoppers should be protected from sweeping winds, Redditt suggests, because winds will carry away almost as much feed as the turkeys eat some days in some parts of the state.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Friday afternoon, June 2nd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bierl there was given a miscellaneous shower in honor of their daughter, Mrs. D. W. Harris.

There were a large number of ladies present and the bride received many gifts. At the close of the afternoon a very delicious luncheon was served.

LAI'D TO LAST REST

The funeral services of the late Hans Rathmann were held on Sunday afternoon at the Sattler funeral home where a large number of the old time friends and neighbors had gathered to pay their last tributes of love and respect to the memory of the departed.

The service was conducted by the Rev. O. G. Wichmann, pastor of the St. Paul's Evangelical church of which the deceased had been a member for a great many years and in which faith he had been a member since his younger years in the old world. The musical numbers given by the choir of the church were selected from the old and loved hymns of the church.

With the completion of the service at the church the body was borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was consigned to the last long rest, the pall bearers being selected from the old friends and associates of the past years, they being T. E. Olson, George Lushinsky, H. M. Soennichsen, Edward Donat, P. F. Goos and Frank Schackneis.

ENJOY PICNIC PARTY

Tuesday marked the last meeting of the missionary society of the First Presbyterian church and in honor of the occasion the ladies enjoyed a picnic party and open air meeting at the farm home of Mrs. Fred W. Nolting, southeast of this city. There were five car loads of the ladies, each member bringing a guest and on their arrival at the Nolting a most pleasant time was enjoyed over the remainder of the day. At the noon hour a picnic luncheon was spread in the shade of the trees on the farm and here the dainties that had been provided were soon disposed of by the jolly group.

OFFICERS WATCH FOR OUTLAW

Late Saturday night and early Sunday morning Deputy Sheriff Lancaster as well as Sheriff Sylvester, who despite the mumps responded to the call of duty, were out patrolling the highways. The report was received here that "Pretty Boy" Floyd, most noted of the modern day bandits and whose exploits are the equal of any of the early day outlaws, was headed north. Floyd has been seen in his old haunts of Oklahoma and with his wife and two companions attended a dance at one of the towns in that state, after escaping in a battle with officers. The noted bandit however failed to appear in this section and no doubt made his way into the outlaw haunts where he has so often found shelter.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

This goes to show that the world is a small place and one meets home folks most everywhere one may go. Mr. N. W. Sawyer is superintendent of Cass county, Minnesota schools and was of Plattsmouth, Nebr., lived here 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903.

He presented these two girls, Marjorie and Madeline Sheldon their diplomas. They also were born in Plattsmouth, daughter of H. P. Sheldon of Plattsmouth Nebraska, now of Walker, Minnesota, Cass county. It seems rather nice to meet home folks in other states.
