SEE DRIFT FROM RELIGION

Washington, June 7.—An analysis of world affairs by the bishops of the administrative committee of the national Catholic welfare conference blamed the "unhappy conditions" upon a divorcement of every day matters from morality and religion and called for a restoration of Christian living as one of the prime essentials for recovery. "We have brought about our present unhappy condition by divorcing education, industry, politics, business and economies from morality and religion, and by ignoring for long decades the innate dignity of man and trampling on his human rights," the statement said.

The bishops signing the statement were the most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, archbishop of San Francisco; Most Rev. John T. McNichols, archbishop of Cincinnati; Most Rev. John G. Murray, archbishop of St. Paul; Most Rev. Thomas F. Lillis, bishop of Kansas City; Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, bishop of Cleveland; Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh and Most Rev. John F. Noll, bishop of Fort Wayne.

The statement asserted that further consequences of the divorce of religion from education and economics were the breakdown of the home and a decline in the birth rate with "the inhuman doctrine of birth prevention."

Association to Push U. S. Projects in State

Associated Industries Will Seek Funds for Works Under the New Recovery Act.

Associated Industries of Nebraska, an organization pledged to campaign for the federal funds for Nebraska projects, under President Roosevelt's $3,300,000,000 national recovery act, was formed Friday afternoon at the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. About 40 representatives of building industries, manufacturers, chamber of commerce and other groups attended. The meeting was called by O. H. Zumwinkel of Lincoln, commissioner of the Nebraska Manufacturers' association, who was elected its secretary.

Karl E. Vogel of the Omaha Steel Works was elected its permanent chairman.

The name of the organization and its plan of operation follows closely after "Missouri Industries, Inc.," which has prepared elaborate plans for securing federal aid for public works projects in that state.

Associated Industries of Nebraska will work in close co-operation with the trade recovery committee, of which John W. Towle of Omaha is chairman. Towle is now in Washington, seeking support for Nebraska projects. The new organization voted to wire Towle of its formation and action Friday.

Chairman Vogel appointed a committee of three men, George Rasmussen of Omaha, Art Dobson and Don Price of Lincoln to recommend a permanent working committee of possibly 20 members to be chosen from the various industries and from all parts of the state.

As soon as the committee of 20 is functioning the group plans to make up a list of projects, determine which are eligible to share in the federal works program, as it now stands, and to campaign for their inclusion in the program.

John Latenser jr., architect, spoke before the group, explaining the provisions of the national recovery act as it now stands.

FAIR MAY PAY FOR ITSELF

Chicago.—Word's fair dollars in the cash registers of Chicago business men and in the vaults of the Century of Progress exposition itself gave indications that the 1933 fair, only twelve days old, would find in business recovery and pay for itself. Railroads, hotels, department stores, restaurants and scores of related industries declared a Century of Progress had increased their business, some of them as much as 100 per cent.

From officials of the fair came declarations of satisfaction. Already, they said, about 800,000 visitors had paid admission at the gates and then gone inside to spend a total of $731,810 for amusements and food. Cash income for the exposition, including concessions as well as gate receipts, therefore has been well over $1,100,000 for twelve days, not counting hundreds of season and souvenir tickets sold in advance.

APPROVES STIFF SENTENCE

Omaha.—Major General Hagood, Seventh corps army commander, Tuesday approved sentence of ten years for a threat to kidnap, imposed by a courtmartial at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., in the case of Private Moses Clayborne.

Clayborne was accused of writing an unsigned letter to Maj. Samuel G. Cumming of Fort Leavenworth, instructing him to place $250 in a certain place at a certain time. If the instructions were not followed, the letter said, the writer would "get the baby," referring to Major Cumming's one year old child. The letter was turned over to military police and Clayborne's arrest followed.

General Hagood said that he approved the sentence because of the prevalence of kidnapping of civilian life, and as a warning to soldiers not to start any such activity.

U. S. Sends Notices to Countries to Pay

Rumor British Will Offer "Token," France Stands Pat—Silence at the White House.

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Notes were dispatched tonight to all of America's debtor nations reminding them of their payments due next Thursday. This is a practice that has been followed previously to all due dates.

The total due from the 13 nations will be $144,179,674.

Official silence at the white house, the state department, and the British embassy met reports from London that Great Britain might offer a "token payment" next Thursday.

Paris, June 9.—Another French default, affecting the war debt payment due the United States June 15, became evident today as Premier Daladier, replying in the chamber of deputies to interpellations on foreign policy, avoided any mention of the debts.

The premier was given two votes of confidence by the chamber. One stood 495 to 190 and the second 413 to 163. The votes backed the government's economic policy at the London parley.

The premier restricted himself to the government's policies at the world economic conference opening next week in London and to the reasons for initiating the Mussolini four-power peace pact.

He is leaving for London Sunday to head the French delegation to the conference and the chances of the debts coming up in the chamber are steadily fading.

France defaulted in the 19-million-dollar payment due the United States last December. The installment due June 15 is about 40 million dollars. The approval of the chamber of deputies is necessary before either payment may be made.

No British Decision

London, June 9.—The cabinet met for more than two hours today for discussion of the war debt question, but it was understood that the matter was not finally disposed of and that it still was under consideration.

It is expected that a note embodying the view of the British government on the subject of the June installment of $75,950,000 will be sent to America over the week-end.

Federal Employment Goal is Set at 7,000,000

Public Works Bill Designed to Start Industry of Country on a Speedy Climb.

Washington.—A direct offensive against the depression, in the description applied in official sources to the 3.3 billions public works program which is to be undertaken almost with enactment of the legislation by congress. In contrast to loans thru the Reconstruction corporation which have been dribbled out over a period of many months, the administration plans to release the new construction funds so fast that purchasing power will be shocked into activity. The artificial buying stimulus, officials hope, will in turn start industry moving and place workers back in their normal places.

With this in view, exploratory work has gone forward to step with consideration of the legislation by congress and ten thousand or more tentative projects are now in the hands of those who will administer the legislation. Official estimates are that a billion dollars judiciously spent to use the maximum in man power will employ one million persons, directly and indirectly, and it is the hope of the administrators to have this number at work by Oct. 1.

In addition, officials are envisioning the return of 2 million men to normal employment channels by fall and the view has been expressed that if jobs for these 3 million can be obtained the usual fall increase in business might place as many as 7 million back at work by the end of the year. The legislation gives the president and a board he selects almost unlimited powers in expenditure of the money which is to be raised by issuance of government securities.

Except for 400 millions allotted specifically for grants to states for highways, the chief executive is allowed wide leeway in selecting projects. Provision is made for construction, repair and improvement of highways and parkways, public buildings and any publicly owned instrumentalities; conservation and development of natural resources, including control, utilization and purification of waters, construction of sewage-disposal plants, prevention of soil or coastal erosion, development of water power, transmission of electrical energy, and construction of river and harbor improvements and flood control; construction under public regulation of low-cost housing and slum clearance. In his discretion, the president is also authorized to build the navy up to the limits of the London naval treaty, to purchase airplanes for both the navy and the army and buy army equipment.—State Journal.

TEN SHOT IN MINER FRAY

Springfield, Ill.—Ten persons were shot, one fatally, and two others were injured in a skirmish between pickets and miners on their way to work at the Peabody Coal company's Peerless mine. Governor Horner ordered mobilization of a company of national guardsmen here, replacing troops which were withdrawn quietly more than a month ago.

The skirmish occurred near the city limits. Like other labor battles in central and southern Illinois during the past year, members of the Progressive Miners of America, were arrayed against the older union, the United Mine Workers of America, which has a contract with the Peabody company. Chief Beyon said from 1,000 to 1,500 pickets ambushed working miners en route to the Peerless tipple. Hostilities opened before 5 a. m. and police restored order only when reinforced by three squads of guardsmen, rushed from Taylorville, twenty-seven miles away, where troops have been stationed for several months. Thomas Urban, a progressive picket, was shot in the abdomen and died several hours later.

Good Knocks Out Study of the State's Affairs

Senate Action in Creating Fact Finding Body Is Held Illegal by Attorney General.

Attorney General Good, by a light touch of his pen Thursday, saved the state $6,000 which the state senate had authorized a mid-summer committee to expend in ferreting out ways and means of "reducing the cost an improving state government."

He made public his opinion holding that the action of the committee would be withheld legal foundation and that expenses incurred would be subject to successful attack in the courts, "and for that reason we must hold that the attempt to create this committee was abortive and ineffectual."

It was addressed to Senator Welch of Milford, who with Senator Green of Sidney, chairman, and Senator Srb of Dodge, constituted the committee appointed by Lieutenant Governor Jurgensen, all democrats, altho the senate resolution calls for a "non-partisan committee."

Acting alone, the senate has no authority to create a committee with power to spend funds appropriated by both houses for legislative expenses, the attorney general finds.

The house refused to adopt a joint resolution, which had been passed by the senate, creating such committee. Later the senate amended the joint resolution, making the resolution its own, and authorized the appointment of a committee from the senate to employ clerk hire and to meet fater the legislature adjourned, proceed to make a "scientific study" of state, county and municipal governments, including school districts, and make such recommendations as the committee saw fit. It was to have office rooms in the capitol, the committeemen to serve without pay, but to be paid their necessary traveling expenses. Chairman Green had intended calling the committee together in June or July.

This was only one of the many investigations fatered by the senate during its recent session. At the time the senate acted, the house refused, some members of that body stating that the proposed "improvement of state government" was a slap at Governor Bryan.

The senate committee was supposed to work to the end that its fact finding would result in more efficient and economical administration of public affairs.
