

Nehawka

Mrs. Sarah Young was a visitor late last week with the sister, Mrs. Ida Young, of Weeping Water, where they both enjoyed a very pleasant time.

Fred Miller was a visitor in Plattsmouth on last Sunday afternoon, where he went to play second base for the Red Sox.

George Troop was a visitor in Plattsmouth for over the week end, visiting with friends and relatives, and returned to take up the farming question early Monday.

Mrs. John Frizzle and two sons, Leonard and William, of Weeping Water, were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Creamer, where all enjoyed a very pleasant visit.

Mrs. Albert Wolfe, who is manager of the Nehawka exchange of the Lincoln Telephone company, was in attendance at the district meeting of the managers of the various exchanges of the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rood and their daughter, of Burr, were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Anderson, where all enjoyed the day most pleasantly, and as well the very fine dinner that was served.

Miss Hazel Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gregg, who is attending business college at Grand Island, and who was home for over the week end last week, returned to her studies early this week, after having enjoyed the visit here very much.

Word from Long Beach, Calif., is to the effect that John Perry, who has been quite ill with a cancer still remains in a very bad condition. Every care, both in the matter of medical attention and nursing, is being given, but the patient does not seem to show the desired improvement.

Mrs. Mollie Magney and daughter, Doris, of Lincoln, were visiting in Nehawka on last Monday, being guests at the home of Mrs. Edna Tucker and as well coming to attend the funeral of their life-time friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Whiteman, which occurred on last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. William Presho, of Des Moines, Iowa, who was a visitor here on Decoration day, when she was accompanied home by her little niece, Miss Doris Creamer, brought the little visitor home on last Saturday and after enjoying a few hours visit, accompanied by her husband, drove back to their home in Iowa.

Enjoyed 36th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop were celebrating their 36th wedding anniversary on last Sunday at the farm home north of Nehawka, when all the children with the single exception of Robert and Earl, who were not able to get home, were present at the family dinner, rounding out a very large family circle. A sumptuous dinner was served and all enjoyed the fine food and the sociability that was had.

Sophomores Have Picnic

On Friday of last week, the members of the Sophomore class of the Nehawka high school, who will become Juniors with the beginning of the next school year, got together for a good time and enjoyed themselves with a picnic dinner in the grove.

Funeral of Shirley Webber

The funeral of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Webber was held last Saturday morning from the Christian church, the sermon being delivered by the Rev. Lloyd Schubert, pastor of the church. The pall bearers were little girl friends of Shirley. Following the funeral here the cortege proceeded to Thurman, Iowa, at which place interment was made. The friends here provided cars and aided the parents in every way possible. The sympathy of the many friends of this little girl and her parents go out to the latter in their hour of sorrow.

Whose Gooseberries

A certain man of this vicinity has rented ground for pasture at a cost of $7 per month. Now it happens that there grows on the land, besides the grass consumed by his cattle, a number of gooseberry bushes. These are a source of attraction to the boys and girls from town who go into the pasture and pick the berries without asking permission or so much as even saying "Thank you." It would seem that the parents could do a fine thing by instructing the lads and lassies that the berries belong to the man who pays rent on the pasture and should be left unmolested.

Found Tough Going

On last Sunday night, R. D. Taylor and Frank Trotter, with their two trucks assayed to deliver a shipment of cattle for Eugene Nutzman to the stock yards at South Omaha, and during the fore part of the night delivered two loads, returning for the rest, but the rainstorm which was a short distance ahead of them, halted their plans. The road became very muddy and the hill south of Nehawka was so slippery that one of the trucks slid into the ditch and the other in attempting to assist it in getting out, also slid off the road. The rain was pouring down by the time the boys got both vehicles out and they decided it would be best to wait till morning, which they did, before taking the rest of the cattle to market.

Longest in Business in State

Uncle David D. Adams, of the Adams Pharmacy of Nehawka is the oldest druggist in line of service in the state as a dispenser of drugs and medicines and in honor of his long-time record was presented with a Conklin fountain pen as a gift from the Schwartz Paper company. A second pen, to have been awarded to the oldest druggist in attendance at the convention in Lincoln last week was won by Mr. Adams, who is past 80, but he asked that it be passed on to another, who was but a few months younger than he, as he had already received one pen and felt that someone else should get the other. Mr. F. C. Fricke, of Plattsmouth, who is an old time druggist, and some five years older than Mr. Adams, was unable on account of ill health to attend the convention.

Harking to the Past

A company of Archaeologists, many from Omaha, some from Wahoo and not a few from Lincoln were in Nehawka on last Sunday and were looking after the flint mines of the Aborigines, and in company with J. H. Steffens, visited a number of places, where they secured samples of the flint deposits of this section. One of the points visited was the place where the Hon. Levi Pollard has dug considerable, and they paid a compliment to this former citizen of Nehawka for the excellent work he has done in this line. They visited the hill which is composed almost entirely of these deposits. In speaking of the deposits found here they said the flint here had been used by the Aborigines in the making of spear heads, arrow points, crudely fashioned tools and knives many years ago and a lot of these articles are unearthed whenever digging is engaged in.

Lightning Strikes Homes

At the homes of James Miller and Herman Schumacher there was great consternation early Monday morning when a bolt of lightning struck in the immediate vicinity and the thunderbolt that accompanied it shook glassy from the window frames at both places. No other damage was done, but all agreed that the lightning struck too close for comfort.

Sarah Elizabeth Whiteman

Mrs. Sarah E. Whiteman was born in 1867 in Indiana, where she lived during her girlhood days, but came to Nebraska when a young woman. Her maiden name was Sarah Elizabeth Fetteruff, and she was united in marriage to Mr. Ephriam Tucker on August 18, 1884. He died five years later. Some time afterwards, she was united in marriage to John Whiteman, who passed away in 1918. Mrs. Whiteman has resided in this county for many years and has been a kind and loving mother and a good citizen of the community. She had not been in good health for some time.

She leaves eight children to mourn her departure, they being William Tucker and Eva Tucker, residing in the west, Abner Tucker and Edna Tucker, of Nehawka; Mrs. Olive Johnson, of Plattsmouth, Glen Whiteman, of Plattsmouth, and Ray and Howard Whiteman, of Nehawka.

Another son, John, passed away some five years ago. The funeral of this excellent woman was held at the Methodist church at Nehawka, being conducted by the Rev. W. A. Taylor, of Union. Interment was in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Whiteman was a wonderful woman, a member of the Daughters of Rebekah, Royal Neighbors of America, the Nehawka Woman's club and the Legion Auxiliary.

The Hobson Funeral Home of Weeping Water cared for the body, taking it to Weeping Water and returning for the funeral.

AGED RESIDENT POORLY

Anton Koubek, one of the old time residents of this city, who will in July observe his eighty-second birthday, is quite poorly at his home in the northwest part of the city. Mr. Koubek up until three weeks ago was able to look after many of the matters on the farm, but is now largely confined to his home. Mr. Koubek has resided here since 1885 and lived on the small farm northwest of the Missouri Pacific station.

Ask $5,000,000 Loan for Project on Loup River

Nebraskans to Advance Their Request Within the Next Few Weeks.

Washington.—A $5,000,000 loan will be asked of the federal government within the next few weeks to finance the Loup river power project in Nebraska. It was announced by Harold Kramer of Columbus, secretary of the Loup river public power district. Kramer explained he would confer with various officials in Washington, but would not apply for a loan until Fred Albert, Columbus engineer, arrives to present the project to federal engineers.

Whether funds will be asked from the Reconstruction Finance corporation as a direct loan, or whether it will be asked under the Wagner bill for self-liquidating projects, is not certain, Kramer said. Under Wagner's bill, 30 percent of the sum used for labor and materials would be an outright grant—or "donation," Kramer explained. He explained the district hopes to prove its project self-liquidating by presenting contracts with existing distribution plants, municipal and private, showing they will purchase power from the district.

Between 1,500 and 1,700 men would be employed for two years in construction of the project, Kramer said, while 75 men would be employed permanently in its maintenance. The project involves construction of a dam three miles west of Genoa on the Loup river, which would divert water from the steady flowing Loup into power channels. Just north of Monroe one power plant would be built, with a 26 foot drop in the channel. The main plant would be three miles north of Columbus, at a 100 foot drop.

Arthur Mullen of Omaha, democratic national committeeman, will assist in securing the loan, Kramer said. Kramer is setting up temporary headquarters in the office of Representative Howard.—State Journal.

Our Funeral Home

IN planning our funeral home, we desired to provide a place where the funeral service, and the necessary preliminaries to it, may be conducted with the greatest efficiency and comfort in the quiet, dignified atmosphere of a home.

WE believe that we have achieved this. The use of our mortuary is available to all our patrons, though we, of course, are willing to conduct the services from the church or residence when so desired.

SUFFERS SEVERE INJURY

Font Wilson, manager of the Murray elevator, is suffering from the effects of a severe injury received Tuesday at the elevator. Mr. Wilson was assisting in the unloading of a load of corn, the dump failed to act and he climbed on the dump to hasten its descent when his right foot and leg was caught. The force crushed the leg and ankle very badly and the victim of the accident was pinned in the dump for several minutes. The farmer who was unloading the corn had a team of mules that was restless and he was unable to go to the assistance of the injured man, who by his cries attracted the attention of P. A. Hild, who hastened to the scene and released Mr. Wilson and assisted him to the office of a physician where the injuries were dressed. He will be compelled to make his way on crutches for some time as the result of the accident.

Members of the road crew of the Missouri Pacific that was working near the scene of the accident, heard the cries of Mr. Wilson and started for the elevator on their hand car and which was derailed on the way.

Wind and Sun Provide Shaft in New Mexico

Countless Tons of Pure Gypsum are Deposited and Great Dunes Result—To be Playground

Alamogordo, N. M., June 10.—In a vast manufacturing plant of her own devising, Nature has produced countless tons of pure gypsum and piled it to an average depth of twenty feet over an area of 100 square miles in South Central New Mexico.

Wind and sun, working together, have shaped up the white sands—as much gypsum, chemists estimate, as all the gypsum mines in the country, operating at their usual rate, could produce in 3,100 years.

The dunes, in some places 100 feet high, are not a "freak of nature," but merely the result of the action of wind, natural chemistry and evaporation. Recently they were set aside as a national monument.

Nature's "factory" includes 117 square miles of alkali flats and an alkali lake eight square miles in extent. Drainage from the surrounding mountains enters the lake, which is underlaid with beds of gypsum, causing the surface and underground waters in the vicinity of the lake to become saturated with calcium sulphate.

In the slow losses of water by evaporation the calcium sulphate in solution builds up crystals of gypsum. The "product" is then ready for transportation to nature's storehouse—the white sand dunes.

When the surface is dry the prevailing winds drive the crystals northwestward, gradually transforming them from an angular shape into more or less rounded grains of soft white sand along the 10-mile route.

Not a vestige of human or animal life is to be found anywhere in the dunes.

Under a proclamation of President Hoover in January of this year, an area 225 miles square has been set aside in the Tularosa, N. M., Basin to be known as the White Sands National monument.

A part of the sands, however, has been reserved for possible commercial development, while the remainder has been made into a playground area under the supervision of the forestry and national park service.
