Nebraska Gets Two Million for Street Paving

Long Awaited Opportunity to Repave Sixth Street Here Seems Lot Nearer Realization.

A most interesting announcement has just been made in Washington, namely, that the federal government intends to spend $2,000,000 on paving or repaving streets in Nebraska cities which bear federal highways.

State Engineer Roy Cochran has been issued regulations from Washington providing that at least 25 per cent of the $7,824,000 federal road allotment to the state be spent on "extensions of the federal aid highway system into and through municipalities."

Omaha newspapers today say that Mr. Cochran has tentatively planned to set aside $300,000 of the government money for federal highway extensions in Omaha.

For a long time, Cochran has been passing up the request of Plattsmouth for aid in repaving Sixth street, although there has been a law on the statute books in Nebraska for two years, that the highway department MAY extend such aid to cities of more than 2,500 population and MUST do so in towns and villages of smaller size. It was the contention that with limited funds it would be a dangerous precedent to establish in the larger size towns and if all were treated alike, once it was started, a large amount of money would be required for this work alone.

In the meantime, Sixth street has grown well nigh impassible due to the heavy traffic that passes over it daily. Abutting property owners have twice repaved this street, but the sand cushion underlying the cobblestone paving is inadequate to bear the load and the only solution of the problem seems to be in heavily reinforced concrete base, similar to that on Chicago and Washington avenues, and brick pavement, or a reinforced concrete pavement similar to that on the main highways paved the last two or three years to withstand heavy load. In order to protect the lighter concrete paving on Seventh street from being pounded to pieces warning signs were posted at its juncture with Pearl and Vine streets, advising truckers to follow U. S. 75.

The estimated cost of repaving the two blocks on Sixth street is not great, even including the proposed widening of the street and cutting down on sidewalk width, as well as installing additional box sewer inlets to pick up flood waters before they pile up at the intersection of Sixth and Main.

Whether government money will be available for all of this work, or merely for repaving the street to regulation width has not been determined, but officials of the city of Plattsmouth will get busy at once on the proposition of securing aid for the work, which may then be done at small or no expense to the taxpayers.

It was to correct this seeming injustice that city officials and the Chamber of Commerce got behind a bill that was passed by the last legislature and becomes a law August 9th, providing for distribution of a part of the counties' share of gas tax money to cities located therein, to be used in maintaining roads and streets within the city limits. Heretofore only the town's share of the precinct road levy has been turned over to the cities, all gasoline money being expended on highways outside of city limits.

25 Per Cent for Feeders
Another provision in the federal aid regulations that may be applied to secure improvement of connecting roads not in the federal aid system is that proclaiming that not more than 25 per cent of the total allotment can be spent on feeder roads, while not more than 50 per cent can be spent on the federal aid system roads themselves.

In other words, only about 4 million of the 8 million allotment to Nebraska can be expended on federal aid highways, and the rest must go to paving and "extensions" in cities and towns and the improvement of feeder roads.

RE-ENLISTS IN NAVY

Tom Sutton, local young man, who has been here on a visit with his parents, has again enlisted in the navy and expects to leave in the next few weeks for the west coast to take up his duties. Tom has just completed his term of service and given his discharge, taking advantage of this to come home to visit the relatives and old friends. He decided after several days of life as a civilian that the good old navy was not so bad and accordingly Wednesday again enlisted for another hitch in the service. He will report to Bremerton, Washington, where he will be assigned to a ship.

Eagle Chief to Lead Drive for Local Aerie

Ralph Emerson to Assist in Campaign That Has Fifty New Members as Goal.

Ralph Emerson, deputy grand president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, from Kansas City, will guide the membership drive campaign to be launched by Plattsmouth Aerie No. 265 F. O. E. at a special meeting held Thursday night at the Eagle Home. Emerson arrived in Plattsmouth last Sunday from Hastings. The membership drive goal has been set at 50. Emerson announced that Herman Thomas has been selected as captain of the Red team and that W. C. Lynch would captain the Blues. These two leaders are marshalling their forces for the drive. The present membership of the aerie here is 150. Glen Hutchinson is worthy president and A. R. Blunt will be the chairman of the membership drive. Emerson said today that the class of 50 now being recruited would be initiated Thursday, July 6th.

Leo Boynton and Wm. Barclay stated that if the people of Plattsmouth only knew of the good work the F. O. E. has done, membership in Plattsmouth Aerie would come voluntarily. The lodge pays a weekly benefit to its members who are sick or injured and a funeral benefit and the services of an able physician for its members and their dependant families. It also keeps open house for the members in a social recreation room in their building, which they own. The aerie also has money in the banks on checking accounts and time deposits.

Mr. Emerson will be in our city until after the class initiation, July 6th. He has made headquarters at the Hotel Riley.

The Eagle old age pension bill passed by the Nebraska legislature and signed by Governor Bryan, will be in effect this year. Wm. Barclay was one of the committee present at the time Governor Bryan signed the bill.

POLICE MAKE ARRESTS

Last night following the awards of Merchant's night considerable excitement was occasioned on North Fifth street when a party of three men, who gave their homes as Nebraska City, were arrested. Officer David Pickrel had pursued the men and the car they were occupying, for alleged speeding. When the car was overhauled there was considerable cursing on the part of one of the occupants of the car and which culminated in two of the party being lodged in jail by the officers.

The three men were riding in a heavily loaded car and which from the many filled jugs and packages first led to the suspicion that a rum runner had fallen afoul of the law. The car was taken to the Bauer garage where it was searched later by Officer Pickrel, Sheriff Homer Sylvester and Deputy Sheriff Lancaster. The car was found to contain a large number of jugs of "Fly-Tox" as well as boxes of furniture polish, but no evidence of any liquor was to be found in the car altho a thorough search was made.

The men gave the names of Glen Martin and B. C. Boggs, the latter being the driver of the car. Complaint was filed against both of these men, charging them with being intoxicated. The third member of the party was not held.

Wedding of a Well Known Young Couple

Miss Esther B. Haertel United in Marriage to Mr. Carl L. Meierjurgan at Murdock.

On Wednesday evening, June 28th, 1933, at 5:30, a very beautiful and impressive wedding occurred at the Callahan Evangelical church near Murdock, when Miss Esther B. Haertel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Haertel of Murdock, was united in marriage to Mr. Carl L. Meierjurgan, oldest son of Mr. Henry Meierjurgan of Murdock. Rev. H. R. Knosp, pastor of the Murdock Evangelical church, assisted by H. A. Noerzberg, pastor of the Callahan Evangelical church, officiated and read the marriage lines which made these worthy young people one for life. The impressive double ring ceremony was used.

The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with three large white candelabra with seven white hand tapers each and on either side of in the foreground were two large gladiolus bouquets with baby breath in woven flower baskets. These made a very pretty setting for the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Esther Meierjurgan, of Lincoln, a cousin of the groom, sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Elmer Miller of Murdock, a sister of the groom; Mr. Elmer Miller sang, "I Love You Truly," also accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Miller. Mr. Harry Ziegenbein of Lincoln, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ziegenbein, gave two excellent violin selections. Mrs. Elmer Miller played the Lohengrin wedding march and the Mendelssohn for the recession.

The bride was very beautiful and charming, being attired in white mousseline de soie, fashioned in sheath-like mode with a modified Empire waistline peak and taffeta bow in back. Two rows of soft ruffles cascading to low flounces gave a flowing movement to the silhouette, which was repeated in butterfly shoulder ruffles. She wore lace gloves. Her white cap was of lace with orange blossoms at both sides and her veil was a long flowing train, edged in lace same as cap. She carried a very beautiful bouquet of bride's roses and swansonia. Miss Nora Haertel, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and was gowned in pink chiffon dress and wore a pastel shade hat and carried a bouquet of pink ophelia and white roses.

The groom was dressed in a conventional blue. Walter Meierjurgan was the groom's only attendant, while John and Jonas Meierjurgan acted as ushers. Marie Reuter of Alvo, a niece of the bride, acted as flower girl and carried a small basket of roses. Bernard and Emmet Bockelman, nephews of the bride, acting as ring bearers, carried the rings on pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at Murdock, where a very delicious wedding dinner was served. The home was beautifully decorated in pink and white and a large white wedding bell hung from the linel between the dining room and the parlor and a large bouquet of ophelia and white roses adorned the dining room table. The color scheme of pink and white was further carried out in the menu; the white wedding cake and pink ice cream with white wedding bells serving as a dessert. Miss Esther Meierjurgan baked the wedding cake. Mrs. Dan Reuter of Alvo, Mrs. August Bockelman of Murdock, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Joe Gustin of Murdock, prepared the wedding dinner, and the Misses Clara and Irene Reuter, nieces of the bride, were in charge of the serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ziegenbein favored the guests with several musical numbers which added highly to the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Meierjurgan were the recipients of many useful and lovely gifts. They are both well and favorably known in this community, as both were born and reared at Murdock and have lived there all their life and the entire community joins in wishing them much happiness and joy in their new home.

After an extended honeymoon that will take them to Denver and other points of interest in Colorado and to the Pacific coast, they will be at home at Murdock to their many friends.

ENTERTAINS FOR FRIENDS

Mrs. James G. Mauzy entertained very delightfully on Wednesday evening at her home on South Ninth street, the occasion being a bridge in honor of Mrs. Allen J. Beeson, of Long Beach, California. There were three tables of bridge and in the contests Mrs. Jess Wurga was awarded the first honors and the guest prize presented to Mrs. Beeson. The home was arranged in the decorations of the summer flowers. At a suitable hour Mrs. Mauzy, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. H. Hallstrom, served a very dainty and much enjoyed luncheon.

Conservation Camp Life in the Wilds of Oregon

Oakland Tribune Has Excellent Account of Camp Tye Where Many from Here Located

The Oakland (Oregon) Tribune has a very interesting article on the camp of the Civilian Conservation Corps that has been established near there and which has many Plattsmouth young men in its membership.

This is Camp Tye, located near Oakland and some thirty miles from Roseburg, Oregon, where the camp is arranged in a ten acre clearing near the north side of Wolf creek, a fine mountain stream.

The tents are arranged in a semi-circle just at the edge of the clearing. The tents are 16x24 feet in size and each one cares for twelve men. Wooden floors and folding camp cots are a part of the tent equipment. A pressure water system is being installed in the camp and which will provide plenty of drinking water as well as the water for the shower baths which will be placed in the camp for the comfort of the men.

The camp has a large hospital tent where the sick or injured may be cared for under the best of attention. Lieutenant Jules Kaufman of the medical corps of the army is in charge of the medical detachment and is assisted by several of the men. The camp commander is Lieutenant Colonel George P. N. Dailey, who accompanied the workers from Fort Crook, at which post he was assigned to this line of work.

That the men are fed well is shown by the sample menus given, the food being well prepared by expert cooks, five of whom are charged with looking after the needs of the 219 members of the camp.

With the preparation of the camp out of the way, the men are starting on their regular course of work in the area in which they have been located. The work will largely be in the nature of road building, the clearing of old trails and the removal of fire hazards in the large national forest in that section. In these projects the men work under a superintendent, selected from the trained forest workers.

The men have working hours from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. with an hour for their dinner period. They will have the evenings and Saturdays for recreation and rest. A baseball diamond has been built and which will aid in the entertainment which the men must furnish themselves. A radio also is installed in the tents to give entertainment to the camp life.

A sample menu of the day's food shows that the men are well fed:

Breakfast—Scrambled eggs, bacon, post toasties or granenuts, bread, jam, coffee and milk.

Dinner—Cold meat, lettuce salad, stewed corn, sliced pineapple, bread, jam and coffee.

Supper—Roast pork, mashed potatoes and gravy, green peas, blackberries and coffee.

Seasonable fresh vegetables and fruits will be added to the menu as they can be secured in the section of country where the camp is located.

Reynolds-Schmidtman Wedding

Ceremony Held at Dundee Presbyterian Church at Omaha Unites Two Well Known Families

On Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the Dundee Presbyterian church at Omaha occurred the marriage of Miss Ida Reynolds of Union and Dr. Carl F. Schmidtman, of Omaha, the event being attended by the members of the families of the contracting parties.

Preceding the wedding ceremony, Harry Woodward sang, "I Love You Truly," the accompaniment being played by Mrs. Albert Sands who also played the wedding march as the bridal party entered to have their lives joined in wedlock.

The marriage lines were read by the Rev. H. D. Talbot, pastor of the church.

The bride wore a coral dress of triple crepe trimmed in brown lace. She wore a hat of brown and accessories and wore a corsage of the Ophelia roses.

Miss Helen Brodner was bridesmaid, and wore a brown chiffon gown and hat to match with a corsage of yellow roses.

Dr. George Schmidtman, brother of the groom, served as the best man. Following the wedding ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Schmidtman departed on an auto trip to the east and on their return will make their home at the Underwood apartments in Omaha.

Both the bride and groom are members of prominent families of Cass county, the bride being a daughter of Mrs. J. T. Reynolds of Union, she having been born and reared to womanhood in that community. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidtman of this city and was brought up in this city where he was educated in the local schools. Following his service in the World war, Dr. Schmidtman received his degree and has since been engaged in practice at Omaha where he has been very successful in his work.

Among those who attended the wedding from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidtman, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Goos and daughter, Miss Harriett, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidtman, Jr., of this city; Mrs. J. T. Reynolds, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Reynolds of Union and Mrs. F. H. Heitzhausen of Billings, Montana.

200 ENJOY A FINE OUTING

The Methodist Sunday school enjoyed a fine picnic at Riverview park in Omaha Thursday afternoon. The group left the church at 2:30 traveling in cars and a truck. One of the most enjoyable parts of the affair was the trip to and from Omaha in the big open trailer truck furnished by Rae McMaken, in which more than 100 of the children made the trip. At the park the afternoon was spent enjoying the many games provided by the committee, and making good use of the equipment provided by the park for the pleasure of visiting children and grown-ups. Just before the picnic supper the swimming pool was opened for those who cared to take a dip and many enjoyed the plunge in the cool, clean water. The pool having just been drained and refilled, it was especially pleasant and refreshing.

At the picnic supper the ladies of the church supplied a generous portion of all the popular picnic foods and the final count showed that a few more than 190 passed by the receiving end of the tables loaded with food. A little special feature of the picnic supper was the presentation of a fine cake to Rev. and Mrs. Troy in remembrance of their 25th wedding anniversary which the celebrated on this happy occasion.

Immediately following supper preparation for the homeward trip was made and the truck left the park with a well fed and happy group of Plattsmouth young folks. All were home and safe before the rain and the event was declared a big success by all.

American League Stages a Hard Fought Game

Iowa-Nebraska Light Co. Wins from Eagles by Score of 6 to 1—Game Well Played.

The Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co. team and the Eagles staged a real kittenball contest on Friday evening at the ball park east of the Burlington station which proved one of the best events in this line of sport that has been held in the city. The score was 6 to 1 for the power team.

Managers Ault and Blunt have good fast ball players in their two teams and the game was one that gave the fans plenty of excitement and interest from the start until the close.

In their games the junior league of the city has shown more closely contested games and lower scores than that of the first league and all of the games so far have been close and hard fought both on the part of the winners and the losers.

In the coming week there will be several games staged and all of the teams will have completed their first round play and the race be on in earnest for the honors of heading the league. With eight well balanced teams in this loop the race should be one of keen interest before the next two weeks.

The box score of the game was as follows:

New Paving Through Union Open to Travel

Dirt Removed from Concrete Slab—Cars Going Thru Last Night with Detour at Tracks.

From Saturday's Daily
The new paving from U. S. 75 westward through Union to a point a mile beyond the Nehawka corner, on the O street road (State highway 24) is now open to travel the entire distance, with a detour of one block to the north at the railroad crossing in Union. Cars were going through on the new pavement last night, although the detour signs are still up routing the general traffic over State highway No. 1 through Murray. A statement in the Nebraska City News-Press quotes District Engineer Herb Schwaderer as saying the route will be officially open the first of the week, when detour signs will be removed at the Murray corner.

Some deep cuts and equally high grades have been made along the six mile stretch now nearing completion by the "shaguling" force. Two fine new concrete bridges over the Weeping Water (east and west) have been built as part of the program, replacing narrow bridges at these points heretofore.

In Union the balance of Main street is being graded and is to be graded. Original plans calling for paving of this additional roadway by the Village of Union were given up when it was learned that the bonds could not be sold at par.

The new paving is smooth and inviting to would-be speedsters and will come in for the usual number of "trial runs" before the general public has opportunity to travel over it.

The work was started nearly nine months ago and dragged through the winter before grading was completed, but the past few weeks of dry weather have enabled the rapid laying of the concrete roadway, which is constructed with Ash Grove quick setting cement, thus accounting for its being thrown open to travel in a week's time, instead of the customary three weeks of a few years ago when U. S. 75 was paved across Cass county.

The people of Union are pleased to have the road opened up once more, as it will carry much east and west tourist traffic, being accessible to car owners who cross the Missouri at either Plattsmouth or Nebraska City, and affording a direct straight-line route thru the capital city.

Surveyors are at work on the unpaved gap of some 19 miles and it is predicted this, too, will be paved within the next few months with federal funds being supplied the state for use on highway projects.

ON THE BANKS OF THE WABASH

From Friday's Daily
Reports arriving here late yesterday gave the location of Tuesday night's Boy Scout camp as near the city of Huntington, Indiana (some 30 miles west of Fort Wayne), on the banks of the Wabash. The boys enjoyed a swim in the cooling waters of Indiana's largest river and then turned in for a good night's rest to make up for sleep lost Monday night when they camped in the lowlands along the Mississippi and were about at up by mosquitos.

Tuesday's mileage was around 350, and with anywhere near that average maintained Wednesday and yesterday, the boys should now be in Washington, D. C.

As they move further away, an extra day is consumed getting mail back, so that reports of Wednesday night's camp are not expected to arrive here until tomorrow morning.
