Limit Uses of Former Wheat Raising Acres

Only Summer Fallow, Terracing, Home Food and Feeds Are Allowed.

Nebraska wheat growers who take some of their land out of wheat will not be able to plant or use the ground, in all probability, for the production of livestock which will be marketed. Such is the latest word received at the Nebraska agricultural college from M. L. Wilson, chief administrator of the wheat adjustment program in Washington.

"The contracted acres of 1934 and 1933 may be used only as follows: Summer fallowed; planted to soil improvement or erosion preventing crops; for food crops for home consumption on this farm, or for feed crops for the production of livestock produced for consumption or use on this farm, but not for the production of any nationally produced agricultural product for sale," reads the latest statement issued from Washington.

Livestock producers in Nebraska should welcome this news, Director W. H. Brokaw of the agricultural extension service believes. As a state, Nebraska gets several times as much income from the sale of livestock as it does from the sale of wheat.

Authorities at the college have submitted a plan to Washington which may help clear up the production problem on the reduction acreage. It suggested that rundown weedy permanent pasture might be locked up and stock allowed to graze on sudan grass, rye, or sweet clover planted on the acres taken out of production. Two acres of permanent pasture should be locked up for each acre used for temporary pasture, the Nebraska plan suggested.

Another suggestion offered to the administration in Washington is that the reduced acreage be seeded down to sweet clover or the like, and left idle until the two year period is over.

SUNNYSIDE GIRL'S ROOM CLUB MEETS

Members of the Sunnyside Girl's room club were delighted to hear that their president, Lois Giles, was selected as best girl camper at Camp Bellevue. Each of the eight groups of girls chose its best camper. The eight girls were then voted upon by the entire camp, and the prize, a clever binnacle light, was awarded to Lois. There were approximately one hundred and fifty girls at camp.

Two of our members, Lois Giles and Virginia Trivly, went to Weeping Water Sunday afternoon for the 4-H song elimination contest. Both girls were chosen to sing in the 4-H Cass county chorus of thirteen, which will compete against other counties at the state fair.

Achievement day plans were made and the following committees were appointed: Invitations — Mildred Cacy, Anna Marie Rea, Marjorie Wohlfarth. Food — Alice Wiles, Eleanor Giles, Madeline Wiles. Program — Lois Giles, Virginia Trivly.

The dresser scarfs will be judged at our next meeting, August 10, and the final reports are to be finished.

RETURN FROM CHICAGO

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Pease of this city, with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Waters, of Omaha, returned home last evening from Chicago. The party left Chicago at 10 a. m. Friday and last evening at 10 o'clock arrived at Omaha, a fine run and which was without accident. Mr. and Mrs. Pease while at Chicago, attended the merchants exposition there, a display by the wholesale houses and manufacturers of all lines of products and in which the local people were given the opportunity of selecting their lines for the Pease Style shop here from among the latest market creations. The party while at Chicago also enjoyed visits at the Century of Progress exposition and its many points of interest.

Sterling Hatt, former Plattsmouth young man, is here to enjoy a visit with his mother, brother and sister and as well with the many old time friends.

HERE FROM TEXAS

G. H. Raymond, one of the prominent residents of Harlingen, Texas, is in the city for a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. York, old friends and neighbors. Mr. Raymond is accompanied by Randall York, who has been visiting at Harlingen for several weeks past. The two gentlemen have had a most pleasant trip, visiting through the south with stops at New Orleans, Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago. The York family were residents for some ten years at Harlingen and are greatly enjoying the opportunity of the visit with the old friend.

Holstein Cows Making Records in Production

Two University Experimental Herds Set New Figures—Wanted for Breeding.

Holstein cows in the dairy herd at the University of Nebraska experimental sub-station at North Platte are again making outstanding production records, according to reports issued by the Holstein-Friesian association of America.

Butterfat yield for the twelve registered Holsteins in the last reported thirty day official test range from 30.3 to 100.5 pounds. N. P. Becky Bleske Piebe Ormsby, junior 4-year old, topped the herd with a yield of 100.5 pounds fat and 2898.9 pounds of milk. In sixty-two days she has 230.8 pounds fat to her credit.

The national breed association says the demand for registered Holsteins has shown a decided improvement in the past two or three months. Inquiries for Holstein breeding stock have shown an increase of over 400 percent as compared with last year. Breeders who are making production records on their cows are in the best position to furnish foundation stock and cash in on this demand.

Lincoln Records.
Excellent class A yearly records have also been made by several registered Holstein cows owned by the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Ormsby Empire of U. Neb., junior 4-year old, made 734.6 pounds fat. Quantity Susan of U. Neb., a senior 3-year old, made 615.6 pounds fat while the famous 10-year old La Verter Quantity of U. Neb., finished her year with a yield of 743.2 pounds. She is now the highest butterfat producing cow for eight lactations. Her total lifetime yield has been 6,832 pounds.

During the last reported monthly test at the University of Nebraska, fourteen cows in the herd made better than fifty pounds butterfat. Matador Selesis of U. Neb., was the top producing cow with a record of 96.5 pounds fat.

LATENSER SEES LAWRENCE

John Latenser, jr., Omaha, was in Lincoln Thursday for a conference with J. E. Lawrence, appointed third member of Nebraska's advisory board on public works by President Roosevelt and the two will meet Friday with Dan Stephens at Fremont. No business was transacted.

The meeting at Fremont, the first session of the board, will consider proposed projects, among them a $34,458 sewage disposal plant at Crete. Latenser had copies of regulations and instructions from Washington, Lawrence said, and they were studying powers granted them and endeavoring to formulate plans for procedure.

LADIES DO GOOD WORK

Wednesday was a busy day at the First Methodist church in this city, the members of the Social Workers taking up the task of housecleaning at the church building. The ladies arrived early in the morning with dust cloths and mops and proceeded to clean the building thoroughly, the auditorium as well as the basement rooms being given a thorough going over and placing them in first class shape. The ladies aid of the church also added to the good work by serving the workers with a fine chicken pie dinner and which was very much appreciated by the hard working group.

Attorney W. W. Wilson, of Nebraska City, was among the members of the bar here to attend to some matters of business in the district court, arguing motions before Judge Begley.

From Friday's Daily
Attorney C. E. Tefft of Weeping Water was here today to spend a few hours attending to some matters in the county and district court.

Says Bindweed is the King of All Growing Pests

Should Be Treated Roughly or Land Depreciates, Says Dr. Keim of Agricultural College.

Declaring that the bindweed is the "king" of all weeds, Dr. F. D. Keim of the Nebraska agricultural college suggests that farmers with small patches should treat them with sodium chlorate this fall or summer fallow these areas until the pest is completely killed out.

Presence of bindweed on land lowers its valuation in the eyes of Doctor Keim, as the productive power of the land is almost cut in two where the perennials cover the land.

"Urge the county commissioners to kill out the pest along the highways," Doctor Keim says. "This is especially important along our state and county highways that are continually being dragged. Railroads should be made to destroy these bad perennials along the right of way."

If bindweed is known to be present in a community, the greatest precaution should be used in moving the threshing machine or any other implements from one field to another. Sudan grass, cane, grain sorghums, oats, barley and wheat should be thoroughly examined for the presence of bindweed seeds.

Regarding other pests, Doctor Keim says where crab grass is thick in lawns, the lawns should be raked and the grass hoed out as early as Aug. 15. About Aug. 15 or 20 clean pure viable blue grass should be seeded. It can be broadcast and then raked into the soil. After seeded, it should be watered almost every day. Next spring some fertilizer should be added.

MANY ATTEND MEETING

A number of the business men of the city were at Weeping Water last evening where they were invited with representatives of other sections of the county to discuss problems of the NRA. The meeting brought large delegations from Louisville, Union, Nehawka, as well as this city and other points in the west part of the county.

The meeting was primarily to try and agree on a uniform schedule of opening and closing for the stores in the various communities over the county, many of whom have already adopted schedules of their own.

The matter of the hours was discussed at some length by the various representatives from all sections, but no definite schedule could be agreed upon by the group that would be satisfactory to all of the various communities.

MORTON BUYS PROPERTIES

Nebraska City.—Joy Morton of Lisle, Ill., millionaire salt king and donor of Arbor lodge here to Nebraska as a state park, paid approximately $23,000 at a recent auction sale for all properties put on the block by the Overland Investment company, holding company of the Morton family.

Morton, son of J. Sterling Morton, prominent Nebraska pioneer, bought several tracts of land, including the Overland theater building, the former site of the Overland Country club, and a tract near Morton-Gregson packing plant.

The property was offered for sale by Sterling Morton, II, grandson of the founder of Arbor day. Joy Morton was the principal stockholder of the Overland Investment company. After the sale he returned to his home.

From Saturday's Daily
Miss Helen Farley, who has been attending summer school at Lincoln for the past several weeks, returned home today, accompanying Miss Pearl Staats home from a visit of several days there.

Miss Esther Olson of Boston, arrived home to enjoy a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Olson. She has been at Chicago with her brother, Ralph Olson and enjoying a visit at the exposition.

MUCH STOCK HAULING

From Friday's Daily
One of the largest runs of stock and hogs for the past two weeks was passing through the city last night, there being an almost unending line of the trucks to the Omaha market. A large number from Iowa and Kansas were in the flow of trucks, the Kansas trucks bearing Nebraska as well as their own license plates, mute token of the truck war between the two states that have forced truckers to buy two licenses to operate in the states. Nebraska truckers operating into Kansas also being up against the same proposition.

ENJOYING VISIT IN EAST

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ruby of near Weeping Water, with their son, Floyd and family of Shenandoah, Iowa, are enjoying a very pleasant visit at Milwaukee and Chicago. At Milwaukee they are visiting with their son, Bernard Ruby and wife, who are now located in that city where Mr. Ruby and "Cousin Paul" are now featured on radio programs from the Milwaukee station.

The Nebraska visitors will then go on to Chicago where they will attend the Century of Progress exposition for a few days, with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ruby accompanying them to enjoy the fair.

MAKES SHORT VISIT HERE

From Friday's Daily
John W. Kern, of Auburn, well known newspaperman and merchant of the Nemaha county city, was here for a few moments today while en route to Omaha from his home town. Mr. Kern is much interested in the development of the plan of the NRA and particularly the codes that apply to the retail business interests of the nation. Mr. Kern was the speaker at the meeting held here on last Friday as the first move in the campaign for the restoration of prosperity. While here Mr. Kern was a caller at the Journal for a short time.
