

Alvo News

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warner, of Lincoln, were guests for the day on last Sunday, of Billie Warner, they all enjoying their visit.

Clyde Haswell, of South Bend, manager for a gasoline company, was delivering gas to Alvo as well as to Eagle on last Wednesday.

Will Niekel was shelling and delivering corn on last Wednesday at the Rehmeier elevator, the grain being delivered in the trucks of Coatsman & Skinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Banning were over to Lincoln on last Wednesday afternoon, where Mr. Banning was called to look after some business matters and Mrs. Banning was visiting with friends as well.

H. A. Perry and W. D. Sutherland, both of Kimball, Nebraska, and the former a son of Mrs. A. J. Gardner, formerly of Eagle, were in Alvo on last Wednesday, having with them a load of cabbage which they had trucked from Kimball and Kearney.

Robert Coaster was assisting at the Rehmeier elevator during the rush of work incident to the reception of corn from a number of shelling outfits that were busy during a portion of the week. The present crop of corn is getting so far along that it is crowding the farmers for crib room and on this account many are shelling the old crop and selling it in order to make room in their cribs for the new 1933 crop.

Enjoying Visit of Brother

Mrs. Charles Godbey and husband are enjoying a visit from the brother of Mrs. Godbey, who comes from Kokomo, Indiana, and who was also visiting at the home of two brothers who reside in Lincoln. Cassius Weiss, after concluding his visit with the Nebraska relatives, will return to his home in the east, where he is engaged in the truck gardening business.

Hold Enjoyable Gathering

The Parent-Teachers association, with the members of the school board and patrons of the school and members of the Methodist church joined in holding a most enjoyable gathering and program last Wednesday evening, September 27th, the meeting being held at the Methodist church.

There was a fine program rendered, which delighted all who attended, but the primary object of the meeting was a reception in honor of the faculty of the public schools, and especially Miss Kennedy and Mr. Goar, who are new teachers here this year, and the Rev. R. J. Kenzie and wife, who have been returned here for another year's service by the recent annual conference of the Methodist church.

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The county convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at the Methodist church in Alvo, the visitors being entertained by members of the W. C. T. U. of Alvo. A very worth-while meeting was had and a program well worth attending was rendered. The ladies looked after the details of the work which has been accomplished during the past year and outlined plans for the work of the coming year.

Miss Mary Anderson Improving

Miss Mary Anderson, a sister of Mrs. Eugene Barkhurst, who makes her home at Bushnell in the western portion of the state, and who has been critically ill with her recovery a matter of grave doubt, is now improving. Mrs. Barkhurst and husband, who went to the sister's bedside some two weeks ago, with her continuing improvement, were able to return home a few days ago.

Are Graveling the Detour

The Ossenkop contractors, with a force of men and trucks began the unloading and delivering of some eighty cars of gravel to the newly graded road which is to be used as a detour, extending from the farm of Henry L. Clapp to the corner near the farm of Edward Carr, and which will connect two other highways that are already graveled and give a continuous graveled road from the corner south of Elmwood, north to the town of Elmwood, thence west to a corner two miles north of Eagle, and south from there into Eagle to again pick up the O street road.

This route will be used as a detour during the time grading and paving work is in progress on the 7 mile stretch on the O street from Eagle east to the Elmwood corner. If the weather is favorable it is hoped to get this stretch improved and ready for use before winter sets in, although that seems well nigh impossible. When that is completed there will be left only a 14 mile stretch of unpaved road on East O street and that will doubtless be provided for in the early spring lettings. Work of graveling the detour road is being done by hand, with a force of eight men in the car shoveling the gravel into the trucks. They work six hour shifts, with a maximum of 30 hours per week per man. Two shifts are employed at the present time, affording work for a large number of men.

Has Moved to Alvo

Turner M. McKinnon and wife, who were farming north and a little west of Alvo for a number of years past have moved to town and are occupying the residence property of Clarence Curryea, who now makes his home in Lincoln. Donald McKinnon will remain on the farm and look after things there while Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon will make their home here.

Celebrates 90th Anniversary

The Louise Rosenow, better known as Grandmother Rosenow, was 90 years of age on September 20, and as a fitting recognition of the passing of the anniversary of her birth, the family, consisting of some seven sons gathered at the home of August Rosenow, of Lincoln, where they celebrated the occasion in a fitting manner. There were present for the occasion C. F. Rosenow and family, of Alvo; W. F. Rosenow and family, of Elmwood, as well as Edward Rosenow and family, residing south of Elmwood; Frank Rosenow, of Murdock; Ferdinand Rosenow and family, of Clay Center, Kansas. Herman Rosenow, who makes his home at Howard, Kansas, was so sick that he was not able to be present and Emil Rosenow of Elmwood was not able to get there on account of being so busy with his work.

Mrs. Rosenow was born in Germany where she spent many years of her life and was united in marriage with Franz Rosenow, they continuing in Germany until after six of their sons were born, when they came to America and moved to Cass county, making their home here for many years. The husband passed away a few years ago.

Corn Silage a Good Ration for Calves

Combines Well With Alfalfa Hay or Cottonseed Cake for Winter Feeding.

Answering inquiries from outside, Prof. R. R. Thalman of the Nebraska college of agriculture says calves can be wintered satisfactorily upon corn silage and alfalfa hay or corn silage and cottonseed cake.

There seems to be a great deal of interest in wintering cattle. Experiments conducted at the agricultural college show that calves have produced from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pounds gain on cut silage and one pound of cottonseed cake. With corn stover silage, farmers can expect, not to exceed, 75 percent as much gain as where normal corn silage is used.

Livestock producers find that steer calves consume 2 1/2 to 3 tons of silage per head in 200 days. The average of three years' work at the Nebraska experiment station shows that calves on silage and cottonseed cake will consume thirty-five to forty pounds of silage per head daily.

Nebraska farmers have shown a decided interest in feeding silage to calves this year due to the "spotted" condition of the 1933 corn crop. Several novel ways of feeding the silage have been suggested by various farmers. Horace Traulsen of Paxton plans to put corn stover in the silo to feed to wintering calves and the ears into another silo to finish the calves on. The plan, however, entails more work.

Thalman says the feeding value of ear corn silage is about equal, pound for pound, to ground ear corn. It makes a fairly good fattening feed and where fed in sufficient quantities to keep the silage fresh during the summer should make an excellent fattening ration.

FREIGHT RATE UPHELD

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission dismissed a complaint of the Alliance Motor company, of Alliance, Neb., against the Burlington railroad and others that rates on gasoline from Arkansas City and Coffeyville, Kas., to Alliance were unreasonable. The commission denied the freight rates violated the long and short haul provisions of the interstate commerce act.

WCTU Manual To Assist Work in Public Schools

Syllabus of Antialcohol Instruction on Way for General Use—To Teach Teachers.

Evanston, Ill.—Practical aid to temperance teaching in the public schools of the United States is being planned for the coming year by Miss Bertha Palmer, who on Nov. 1 will become director of scientific temperance instruction of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

An educator of many years' experience, six of them as superintendent of public instruction of North Dakota, Miss Palmer understands the problems of the busy teacher and is setting out to meet them. Her first work, she said in an interview, will be to prepare and have published a syllabus of anti-alcohol instructions to give much-needed information on the subject to those educators who believe in teaching temperance, who respect the state laws requiring it, but who do not know how to begin or what to teach. Her second objective will be to establish training centers where teachers, public lecturers, and directors of young people's groups can obtain brief, intensive instruction in this subject.

Just now Miss Palmer is giving her attention to planning the syllabus which she hopes to have published and sold at a nominal cost by the W. C. T. U. She has spent the current year at the headquarters of the Scientific Temperance Federation at Boston, studying the facts about alcohol as told by laboratory and other studies. These facts she intends to outline in a 50-page manual, giving references to more extensive writings on the subject.

The plan of the syllabus, as Miss Palmer has drafted it, is to begin with the facts about the source and nature of alcohol; to continue with an analysis of its four-fold harmful effect; to show how it deceives the drinker; to explain laboratory tests which are the source of current knowledge of the harm done by alcohol; and to end with a statement of the reasons for total abstinence.

The manual would not be graded, but would simply furnish the material needed by all those who draft curriculums for the different grades. Miss Palmer expects the syllabus to serve state departments of education, teachers colleges, denominational boards of education, institutions like the Young Men's Christian Association and Young Women's Christian Association and any other curriculum-makers.

The material is to be presented in nontechnical language. Miss Palmer finds that statements couched in scientific terms are hard for youngsters to grasp. Take a sentence like this, which she found in a textbook on her subject: "These tests prove that no appreciable amount of alcohol can be taken into the system without a correspondingly deleterious effect." Turned into simple English by Miss Palmer it comes out: "Much alcohol, much injury; less alcohol, less injury; no alcohol, no injury," a sentence which means something to an eighth grader.

The study centers, Miss Palmer's second project, are intended to teach teachers. The facts about alcohol are so easily learned, she believes, that two-day institutes would be sufficient to train teachers and public speakers in the latest findings on the subject. She hopes to conduct some of these study courses from her Evanston headquarters after she comes here to live in November. Her work may also take her about the country.

DISSATISFIED WITH RELIEF

Valley, Neb.—Announcement that Douglas county might soon withdraw from the joint emergency relief and a charge that the community chest is "a racket to a certain extent," were made by County Commissioners Riha and Jacobberger under cross examination by Dr. Jennie Callias before the sixth annual convention of the Douglas county federation of women's clubs here Thursday.

Riha "deplored" the confusion between Omaha authorities and the county in handling emergency cases. While being questioned by Doctor Callias Riha said:

"I have always contended that the community chest to a certain extent is just a racket—to be perfectly frank."

Jacobberger here interjected: "We can't give you all the information we'd like to because we would be razed."

MURDOCK ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. L. Neitzel enjoyed a visit at the home of their daughter and family, at Havelock, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Craig were in Lincoln last Friday, where they were looking after some shopping and Eddie was getting some barber supplies.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stroy departed last Thursday for Merriman, where they will spend the coming two weeks at the home of Mrs. Stroy's parents, enjoying a fine vacation.

Mrs. Ida Gallop, of Omaha, and John Kremppin, of Norfolk, and their families were in Murdock on last Tuesday to attend the funeral of the late Sophie Kremppin, who died in Beatrice last Sunday.

A. J. Bauer and wife were visitors in Weeping Water during fair week, being guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boldin, and as well were enjoying the fair, which they say was a very fine exhibition.

Mrs. Henry A. Tool was a visitor in Weeping Water on last Wednesday afternoon, where she was attending the meeting of the Federated Women's clubs of Cass county. There were a large number present from all over the county and a splendid time was had by the ladies.

Edwin McHugh and David Elchoff, who has been here all summer from his home in Oklahoma, departed last Friday for the western part of the state, where they went to work in the potato harvest area, as the digging of that important crop is under way at this time in that section.

Henry Heineman and wife were in Plattsmouth Friday of last week, at which place they looked after some matters of business and took in the King Korn carnival which was being held, including the industrial parade put on that day, which they say was very fine.

Messrs. A. J. Tool, Bryan McDonald and Lacey McDonald departed on last Tuesday for Fremont, where they went to enjoy a session of fishing and camping out. This compelled Mrs. Hannah McDonald to look after the drug store, while Mrs. A. J. Tool was taking care of the customers at the hardware store.

Attending Century of Progress

John Schlapoff, and his two sisters and a brother, accompanied by Loretta Ruge, departed last Friday for Chicago, where they expected to spend an entire week at the great exposition that has but about one more month to run.

Enjoyed Century of Progress

Miss Elsa Bornemeier, operator at the Murdock telephone exchange, who with three young ladies from other towns served by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, were awarded trips to the World's Fair in Chicago for leading in a recent campaign for installation of telephones, has been having a wonderful time in the big city, according to word received by friends here. She says the exposition is splendid and well worth seeing. Those who accompanied her on the trip were Misses Emma Slekjost and Lillian Ringberg, of Eustis, and Miss Levita Hartwick, of Friend. They will doubtless find their time at the fair much too short to permit of seeing everything, as many say it would take two or three months to visit all the exhibits and thoroughly assimilate the hundreds of educational and entertaining features.

Too Warm for the Kiddies

On Monday of last week, which was an exceptional day with the wind blowing like a tempest and as hot as well, never mind, hot enough, the kiddies who attend the Murdock school could not study and so during the afternoon it was deemed best to dismiss school and let them go home, where they could keep cool.

Death of Mrs. H. T. Richards

One of Nebraska's territorial pioneers and one of the first white girls to be born in this territory, Mrs. Edith M. Richards, widow of the late Horace T. Richards, died at the family home in Lincoln last Monday. Mr. Richards was a pioneer of Nebraska, having farmed near Wabash for a good many years, prior to their removal to Lincoln to spend their declining years. Mr. Richards passed away about a year and a half ago.

Mrs. Richards was born at Nebraska City September 16, 1862, several years before Nebraska was admitted to statehood. Her father, James E. Foote, homesteaded at Nebraska City in the year 1856.

Surviving her passing are a son, Warren T. of Wabash; two daughters, Mrs. William Otte, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. H. P. Stinson of San Antonio, Texas, together with a sister, Miss Clara E. Foote, of Nebraska City. Five grandchildren also are living.

The funeral services were held at the late home in Lincoln and interment was in the Wabash cemetery, near where she had spent the greater portion of her life.

Pioneer Buried Wednesday

Miss Sophia Kremppin was born near South Bend 57 years ago and has resided there almost her entire life. She has for the past two years, however, made her home at Beatrice. Not being in good health for some time, she passed away at Beatrice on last Sunday, September 24th. The remains were brought to Murdock and the funeral held on last Wednesday afternoon, with interment in the churchyard cemetery. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Krey, pastor of Trinity church, of which the deceased was a member.

She leaves one brother and one sister to mourn her departure, the parents both having preceded her to the other world. She is remembered by a large circle of friends who have known her all her life.

EPISCOPALIAN SYNOD ENDS

Hastings, Neb., Sept. 28.—The northwest province of Episcopal churches, in the final synod business meeting, voted to hold its 1935 synod at Fargo, N. D. The group will not meet in 1934, as that is the year of the general convention at Atlantic City.

The synod closed with a dinner Thursday evening at which James De Wolf Perry, bishop of Rhode Island and presiding bishop in the United States, was the principal speaker. Bishop Perry attended all sessions of the synod and spoke several times. Bishop Fred Ingley, of Denver, will continue as president of the province.

Bishop W. F. Faber, of Helena, Mont., and J. E. Whitney, of Hastings, were re-elected members of the executive council. Rev. Lee Burroughs, of Ames, Iowa, also was elected to the council. He takes the place of Rev. P. K. Edwards of Casper, Wyoming.

Elected to the Seabury western board of the synod were Bishop W. Blair Roberts of Sioux Falls; Rev. B. D. Dagwell of Denver and Benjamin Scandrett of Minneapolis.

DENIES INCITING FIRE PLOT

Leipzig, Germany.—A squad of storm troopers waited in the marble lobby below the supreme court room as Paul Zachow, a laborer, made a terrified denial that he ever incited Marinus Van Der Lubbe to set the series of fires culminating in the reichstag blaze, for which the Dutchman and four others are on trial. The storm troopers escorted fourteen witnesses here from Berlin to testify in the court's attempt to probe an alleged communist plot behind the reichstag fire. Van Der Lubbe begrudgingly admitted earlier this week that he had soaked rags in gasoline and fired three places in Berlin before the parliament building blaze.

Zachow told the court: "I am a good German. I have suffered enough." The laborer had been accused by Ernest Panknin, a nationalist laborer, who charges were cited by the prosecutor as showing a "bridge to Moscow." Panknin was held in protective custody.

Nebraska Farm Men Lauded for Cut in Acreage

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace Says This State and Kansas Set Pace on Wheat.

Washington.—Secretary Wallace requested wheat growers of eleven states to join in the wheat acreage reduction program, warning that even if the plan succeeds the nation is likely to produce a surplus of the grain next year. He said that 95 percent of Kansas farmers already have signed applications to take part in the program for cutting plantings 15 percent next year in return for cash benefits, and that 97 percent of Nebraska's farmers will sign.

Pointing to these states as "splendid examples of the reception of the plan," Wallace said that "there is urgent need for such acceptance in other states. We cannot expect nature to solve our national wheat problem with another crop disaster such as we had this year. Even if we got a 100 percent sign-up and took 9 million acres out of production, normal yields on reduced acreage would give us more than 700 million bushels of wheat next year," Wallace said. "Current estimates show that the carryover a year from now will be much larger than the normal should be. With the fullest success of the wheat market program, there is likely to be wheat from the 1934 crop to add to the surplus. Our hope lies in the greatest possible acceptance of the plan. Our reports indicate that success of the plan demands that farmers in states where the campaign is still in progress co-operate to the same extent as farmers in the leading wheat states."

Wallace's message was directed to farmers of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Minnesota, Ohio, Indiana, Oklahoma and Texas, where many counties were reported to be lagging.

"The reports from Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota are inspiring," Wallace said. "They should be matched by equal effort in other states if the wheat campaign is to achieve its purpose of substantially controlling 1934 production."

Nebraska has reported 916,405 acres covered, with applications for contracts from farmers controlling 400,000 additional acres expected to come in. The three year average acreage there is 3,633,700.

PLEADS GUILTY TO BANK JOB

Pierce, Neb.—Bert T. Robertson 24, pleaded guilty before County Judge McDonald to robbing the Farmers & Merchants bank of Foster of $247 on Sept. 12, 1932, and was bound over to the district court. County Sheriff Schwartz said Robertson will be taken to Stanton Friday to face District Judge Chase, and that Robertson had indicated he would plead guilty there and be sentenced immediately.

Judge McDonald set bond at $1,500, which Robertson was unable to produce. The prisoner was placed in the Pierce county jail.

Robertson was brought here after being taken to Lincoln from Denver where he was arrested last Sunday after a chase by Colorado officers. Nebraska authorities had been trailing him for months.

U. S. EXPECTS DEBTORS WILL CHISEL AGAIN

Washington.—A survey of Treasury estimates on the debt payments due this government Dec. 15 from European nations Thursday showed the United States will be out nearly $300,000,000 if the debtor nations make no larger payments than they did June 15.

With the start of the debt revision parade of the nondefaulting nations a week away, American officials conceded privately there seems little hope at present of any larger payments being received in December than were made in June unless a new settlement was reached in the meantime calling for a lump sum payment.

Even in the event such a settlement was reached, it could not become effective until acted upon by congress and that body does not meet until Jan. 3, more than two weeks after the December payments fall due.

Thus, the most that can be expected outside lump sum offers toward a final settlement are the so-called "token" payments such as were made in June. These June payments totaled only a little more than $11,000,000, less than 8 per cent of the $143,605,295 due.

Default by France on the $22,200,926.54 installment due in December is regarded as a foregone conclusion. It is considered highly probable at least two of France's satellites, Poland and Belgium, will follow suit. These three nations defaulted on the last two payments.

HOOVERS TO TRENTON TODAY

Trenton, Mo., Sept. 28.—Ex-President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, accompanied by Arthur M. Hyde, former secretary of agriculture, were expected to arrive here by motor car time Thursday in his native village while on his way from Chicago to Trenton, Mo.

Tomorrow the Hoovers plan to motor to the ex-president's 80-acre farm near Graham, Mo., for their first inspection of the place acquired in 1928. Mr. Hyde will accompany them. Charles D. Gipson of Trenton, a friend of Hyde, drove the latter's car to Des Moines to get the party. The Hoovers are on their way back to California after spending nine days in Chicago.
