Bruce Gideon, Citizen
The pastor of the Methodist church is just one common ordinary citizen and a brother to everybody and especially to those in need of a friend. He does not desire to be called the "Rev. Gideon," but Bruce Gideon, and when addressing him do not fear to offend him by calling him by his given name, "Bruce." He will know who you mean and will counter by evidencing his friendliness as well.

There was a Hallow'en party held at the Methodist church on Friday of last week, at which time there were a large number of the members and others present. Death of Old Resident
Mrs. Louisa Conn, age 84, and a resident of Greenwood and vicinity for the past 53 years, died at her home near here Thursday, October 19th. Her husband preceded her in death some twenty years ago.

Mrs. Conn is survived by five children, two daughters, Mrs. Mabel J. Wiedeman, of Lincoln, and Grace M. Conn, at home; three sons, Arthur J. C. of Dakota City, Erwin O. and Cassius C., both of Greenwood. Also a sister, Minerva J. Meredith, of Los Angeles, Calif., and three grandchildren. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Sunday, October 22, with Rev. J. W. Hilton in charge. Pallbearers were L. A. and D. E. Grady, Harvey Schroeder, Roy Comstock, Ed Fisher and Warren Boucher. Burial was in the Greenwood cemetery.

Organize Christian Brotherhood
The men of the Methodist church and Bible school have organized a Christian Brotherhood, which will work to the end of making the town of Greenwood and vicinity a better place to live. The matter arose as there was no Rotary or Kiwanis club here, that there should be something to do the work which such organizations do for other places, and more. At a meeting held at the church last Friday, October 20, the organization was perfected that had been talked of for some time.

A program was arranged for this meeting with good speakers, the principal one being Dr. Mays, pastor of the Second Methodist church of Lincoln, who outlined a plan for the organization of the proposed Brotherhood. A supper was also served, and at the conclusion, twenty-seven signed the list, and from this number the officers were elected, they being: H. E. Warren, superintendent of Greenwood schools, president; Warren A. White, of the firm of White & Bucknell, vice president, and Ben Conley, secretary-treasurer. All are a very fine set of gentlemen and should provide the new organization with the right kind of officers.

Some forty have now signified their desire of becoming charter members and it is confidently expected that the charter roll will be signed by half a hundred men of the community by the time of the next meeting, which is set for the second Thursday of November.

The purpose of this organization is to work with the church in the furthering of work beneficial to the town and to the upbuilding of the community as well as the church, to make all newcomers welcome to the town and aid them to feel at home in the church of their preference, in short to make them welcome citizens of the new Greenwood.

JUSTIFIES NAVAL PROGRAM
Little Rock, Ark.—The United States should "maintain equality of naval strength with Great Britain and our sea power justly should be superior to that of all other nations," Senator Robinson said in a "navy day" program address before a civic club here.

"This conclusion," he said, "is based on the responsibilities devolving on the navy as the first line of our defense, upon the obligation of our government to safeguard the commerce of our citizens against seizure and destruction in very widely scattered places and upon the fact that we have sought to set the example of refusing to enter into competition in the hope and the belief that this policy will promote and facilitate just limitation in the future."

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE
In the District Court of Cass County, Nebraska.
In the matter of the application of N. D. Talcott, administrator of the estate of William D. Coleman, deceased, for license to sell real estate to pay debts.

Now on this 28th day of October, 1933, came N. D. Talcott, Administrator of the estate of William D. Coleman, deceased, and presents his Petition for License to Sell the Real Estate of the deceased party in order to pay the claims filed and allowed against said estate, and the expenses of administering said estate. It appears from said petition that there is an insufficient amount of personal property in the hands of the administrator to pay the claims presented and allowed by the County Court and the expenses of the administration of said estate; and that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate of the deceased in order to pay the aforesaid claims and the costs of administration.

It is Therefore Considered, Ordered and Adjudged, that all persons interested in the estate of William D. Coleman, deceased, appear before me, James T. Begley, Judge of the District Court, in the District Court room in the court house in the City of Plattsmouth, Cass County, Nebraska, on the 9th day of December, 1933, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any there be, why such license should not be granted to N. D. Talcott, Administrator of the estate of William D. Coleman, deceased, to sell all of the real estate of said deceased, so as to pay claims presented and allowed with the costs of administration and of this proceedings.

It is Further Considered, Ordered and Adjudged, that notice be given to all persons interested by publication of this Order to Show Cause for four successive weeks in the Plattsmouth Journal, a legal newspaper published and of general circulation in the County of Cass, Nebraska.

By the Court,
JAMES T. BEGLEY,
District Judge.

Commodities Pushed Up by New Gold Plan

Government Likes Results of First Day's Buying Above London; To Tell Price Daily.

Washington, Oct. 25.—America was well embarked upon the Roosevelt policy of higher prices through a managed currency Wednesday night with the commodity markets responding strongly to the economic stimulus of the program.

High government officials met and fixed the price of Reconstruction Corp. purchases of newly mined gold at $31.36, a figure 27 to 36 cents higher than the price paid on the London Exchange. Then, they sat back to watch the results. They were pleasing.

Commodities led a general advance. Wheat was three to three and one-quarter cents higher. Corn gained two to three cents. All stock groups closed firmly one to five points higher.

The theory behind Mr. Roosevelt's idea was that, by raising the price of domestic gold above world prices, he could influence domestic commodity quotations upward. The basis of the latter, economists pointed out, was gold despite America's departure from the gold standard.

Announce Price Daily.
For the present, it was said of gold authority, the economic factors involved in the plan will be reviewed daily, and each morning the day's gold price will be announced.

This did not mean, it was added, that the quotation would necessarily change from day to day, as it might be deemed advisable in certain circumstances to let one price stand.

Wednesday's figure was set by Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC, Henry Morgenthau jr., representing the president, and Dean Acheson, acting secretary of the treasury.

The three met at 9:40 a. m., received foreign exchange quotations and the London gold rate. After short deliberation, newsmen were called and Jones read the following statement:

"The Reconstruction Finance Corp. will accept subscriptions today for its 90-day debentures payable in newly mined gold, recovered from natural deposits in the United States and any territory subject to its jurisdiction at the rate of $31.36 per ounce of fine gold."

New Departure.
The method of payment brought a new departure in RFC financing. In the past, the corporation has obtained cash by selling the debentures, unsecured bonds, to the treasury. The gold transactions carried the debentures to the general public for the first time.

Jones said the gold mining industry could easily convert them into cash. Meanwhile, treasury experts worked on a plan under which debentures would be issued at a premium sufficient to cover a bank's discounting charge, so sellers of the gold might receive the full announced purchase price.

The $31.36 price compared with a London price that fluctuated from $31.00 to $31.09, as the foreign exchange value of the dollar in pounds changed during the day.

It was disclosed President Roosevelt had no immediate intention of carrying out the second section of his "managed currency plan." This involves buying and selling gold on the European market with a resulting influence on foreign exchange.

Mr. Roosevelt's gold policy, as outlined in his address Sunday night, is first of all to restore prices to a level that would give the farmer and manufacturer profitable prices and thus encourage business expansions with a consequent increase of employment. When that objective has been attained, he said, the next step would be to so stabilize the dollar that its purchasing and debt paying power would not change through the ensuing generation.—Omaha Bee-News.

Chicago.—Oil men attending the American Petroleum institute's convention heard the industry's palm read by two forecasters. "The president's recovery program," said Warren C. Platt, "holds terrible possibilities for the oil industry."

"The average man is more and more going to make your business public business," said Edward L. Bernays.

Platt is editor of the National Petroleum News. Bernays is a New York public relations advisor. "I doubt if we will ever get out from under the heavy hand of the law," said Platt. He charged that government officials "are abusing and will abuse" their authority over the industry.

ATTACKS ROCKEFELLER MOVE

New York.—Mrs. Muriel McCormick Huppard of Middletown, Conn., charged in a supreme court action filed Wednesday that her grandfather, John D. Rockefeller, sr., had no legal right to change the terms of a trust fund established for her mother, the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick of Chicago.

Under terms of the trust fund after the change was made, Mrs. Hubbard asserted, the late Mrs. McCormick could not bequeath the fund to her children outright. Mrs. Hubbard's action was in answer to a suit brought by the Chase National bank, fund trustee, against the Chicago Title and Trust Co., executor of her mother's estate, to obtain judicial determination of the rights of Mrs. McCormick's children.

Mrs. Hubbard claimed four-sevenths of the trust. Under the original agreement, Mrs. Hubbard contended, Rockefeller gave his daughter the right to dispose of the trust in her will so that its principal might be divided among her children and charities in outright gifts.

HAYES PLAYS NO POLITICS
Danville, Ill.—Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, in an address here declared there will be "no politics played" in any of the organization's programs as long as he is its head.

"You will find your national commander will forget about politics in his assertions that we have got to uphold the hand of the chief executive on a variety of things conceived by the legion in which the rank and file have directed me to make expression, things that have been advocated by the chief executive of the nation."
